

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

THE
OF THE
STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

AMENDMENTS OF 1917 AND 1919.

§ 52. Appellate jurisdiction of supreme court. The supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction:

1. In all cases in equity, except such as arise in justices' courts.

2. In all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real estate, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, or in which the demand, exclusive of interest or the value of the property in controversy, amounts to two thousand dollars.

3. In all such probate matters as may be provided by law.

4. In all cases, matters, and proceedings pending before a district court of appeal which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to itself for hearing and decision.

5. In all criminal cases where judgment of death has been rendered on questions of law alone. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 88.]

§ 52a. Appellate jurisdiction of appellate courts. The district courts of appeal shall have appellate jurisdiction:

1. In all cases at law upon appeal from the superior courts in which the demand, exclusive of interest or the value of the property in controversy, amounts to three hundred dollars and does not amount to two thousand dollars.

2. In all cases of forcible and unlawful entry and detainer (excepting such as arise in justices' courts), in proceedings in insolvency, and in actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; in proceedings of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, usurpation of office, contesting elections, and eminent domain, and in such other special proceedings as may be provided by law (excepting cases in which appellate jurisdiction is given to the supreme court).

3. In all criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or information in a court of record upon questions of law alone, excepting criminal cases where judgment of death has been rendered.

4. In all cases, matters, and proceedings pending before the supreme court which shall be ordered by the supreme court to be transferred to a district court of appeal for hearing and decision. [New section added April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 87.]

§ 67a. Judges in counties of first class. Appointment of two additional judges. Election. Salary. In counties of the first class there shall be twenty judges of the superior court, any one or more of whom may hold court, and there may be as many sessions of said court at the same time as there are judges thereof. The said judges shall choose from their own number a presiding judge, who may at any time be removed as presiding judge and another judge chosen in his place by a vote of any twelve of them. The presiding judge shall distribute the business of the court among the judges thereof, and prescribe the order of business and perform such other duties as the judges of the said court may by rule provide. The judgments, orders and proceedings of any session of the superior court held by any one or more of the judges of said court shall be equally as effective as if all the said judges of said court presided at such session. Within thirty days after this act goes into effect, the governor shall appoint two additional judges of the superior court in counties of the first class in addition to the eighteen superior court judges already provided by law in and for the said counties of the first class who shall hold office until the first Monday after the first day of January, 1919. At the next general election to be held in November, A. D. 1918, two additional judges of the superior court shall be elected in counties of the first class, who shall be successors of the judges appointed hereunder, to hold office for the term prescribed by the constitution and by law. The salaries of said additional judges shall be the same in amount and be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of the other judges of the said counties of the first class now authorized by law. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 247.]

§ 86. Justices' clerk in counties of over four hundred thousand. Office hours. Salaries. The supervisors of such city and county shall appoint a justices' clerk on the written nomination and recommendation of said justices or majority of them, who shall hold office during good behavior, and who shall receive a salary of three thousand six hundred dollars a year. Said justices' clerk shall take the constitutional oath of office and give bonds in the sum of ten thousand dollars for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office and in the same manner as is or may be required of officers of such city and county. A new or additional bond may be required by the supervisors of such city and county and in such amount as may be fixed by said supervisors whenever they may deem it necessary. The said clerk may appoint a chief deputy at a salary of two thousand four hundred dollars a year, a cashier at a salary of two thousand four hundred dollars a year, and three deputy clerks and one messenger each at a salary of one thousand nine hundred eighty dollars a year. Said justices' clerk and each of said appointees shall have authority to administer oaths, take and certify affidavits, and issue and sign writs, summons, and all other processes in any action, suit or proceedings in said justices' court, and generally to do all the acts specified in sections one hundred two and one hundred two a of this code.

They shall be at their respective offices for the dispatch of official business daily, except Sundays, holidays and Saturday afternoons, from the hour of nine o'clock A. M. to five o'clock P. M. The salaries of said justices' clerk and his appointees shall be paid out of the treasury of said city and county in the same manner as salaries of officers of such city and county are paid, and shall be in lieu of all fees collected by them. All persons who have been appointed to such positions and who have served a period of six months in their respective positions, and all persons who may be appointed to such positions shall, after they have served a period of six months in their respective positions, be entitled to all the benefits of the civil service laws of this state.

§ 2. Repealed. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1242.]

This section was also amended in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 121).

The changes in 1919 from the amendment of 1917 consisted in increasing the salaries of the clerk, his cashier and his deputies.

§ 103. Justices' courts in townships. In counties. In cities of various classes. Jurisdiction. Qualifications. Salaries. Fees. There shall be at least one justice's court in each of the townships of the state, for which one justice of the peace must be elected by the qualified electors of the township, at the general state election next preceding the expiration of the term of office of his predecessor. In any county where, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, the public convenience requires it, the said board may, by order, provide that two justices' courts may be established in any township, designating the same in such order; and in such case, one justice of the peace must be elected in the manner herein provided for each of said courts. In every city of the first and one-half class there must be five justices of the peace, and in every city of the second class there must be two justices of the peace, and in every city of the second and one-half class there must be one justice of the peace, and in every city of the third and fourth classes there must be one justice of the peace, to be elected in like manner by the electors of such cities or towns, respectively; and such justices of the peace of cities shall have the same jurisdiction, civil and criminal, as justices of the peace of townships and township justice's courts. Said justices of the peace of cities and justice's courts of cities shall also have jurisdiction of all proceedings for the violation of any ordinance of any city in which courts are established, both civil and criminal, and of all actions for the collection of any license required by any ordinance of any such city, and generally exercise all powers, duties and jurisdiction, civil and criminal, of police judges, judges of the police courts, recorder's court or mayor's courts, within such city. No person is eligible to the office of justice of the peace in any city of the first, first and one-half, second, second and one-half or third class, who has not been admitted to practice law in this state; and no justice of the peace shall be permitted to practice law before another justice of the peace in the city, town or county in which he resides, or to have a partner engaged in the practice of law in any justice's court in such city, town or county. Every city justice of the peace in any city of the first and one-half class shall receive a salary of four thousand two hundred dollars per annum, and every city justice of the peace in any city of the second class shall receive a salary of four thousand dollars per annum, and every city justice of the peace in any city of the second and one-half class shall receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum, and every city justice of the peace in any city of the third class shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum, and every city justice of the peace in any city of the fourth class shall receive a salary of one thousand five hundred dollars per annum; and each justice of the peace shall be provided by the city authorities, or by the board of supervisors in counties where the salary of the city justice of the peace is paid by the county, with a suitable office in which to hold his court. The compensation of the justice of the peace of any city shall be paid by warrants drawn each month upon the salary fund, or if there be no salary fund, then upon the general fund of such city or county, as the case may be, such warrants to be audited and paid as salaries of any other city or county officials. All fees which are chargeable by law for services rendered by such city justice of the peace in cities aforesaid shall be by them respectively collected, and on the first Monday of each month every such city justice, or his clerk, shall make a report, under oath, to the city or county treasurer, as the case may be, of the amount of fees so by him collected and pay the amount so collected into the city or county treasury, as the case may be, to the credit of the general fund thereof. Said salaries shall be the sole compensation of said city justices. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1357.]

This section also amended at the same session on May 10, 1919 (Stats. 1919, p. 467). The only differences between the two sections are that in the section as amended May 10th, at the end of the first paragraph there is the following sentence: "The board of supervisors may in similar manner, and for like cause abolish any such additional justices' courts heretofore or hereafter established by it." Also that the salary of justices in cities of the second class was three thousand six hundred dollars instead of four thousand dollars, and also that the section of May 10, 1919, contained a subdivision 2, providing that the act should take effect ninety-five days after the adjournment of the legislature.

§ 103c. Justices' clerks, counties of third class. Authority. Fees. Monthly report. In counties of the third class in townships having a population of more than seventy-five thousand there shall be one justice's clerk, and one deputy justice's clerk, who shall be appointed by the justice of the peace or justices, if more than one. Said clerk and deputy shall be appointed immediately on this act taking effect, and shall take the oath of office prescribed for county officers, and give a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of the office, which bond shall be approved and filed in the same manner as are bonds of county officers.

process in any action or proceeding in the justice's court of the township for which they are appointed or pending before any justice of the peace of said township in the name of the justice before whom the same is pending or out of whose court the same is issued, which shall be in substantially the following form:

Justice of the peace.

_____,
Clerk.

By _____,
Deputy clerk.

All legal papers of every kind in actions or proceedings in such justice's court shall be issued by the said justice's clerk in the manner and form hereinabove set out. The said justice's clerk shall issue, sign and certify to any and all papers, transcripts or records which are required to be issued, signed or certified by the said justice of the peace. All complaints, answers and other pleadings and papers required to be filed in said justice's court shall be filed with such justice's clerk who shall keep a permanent record of all such actions and proceedings in the justice's docket, now provided by law to be kept by the justice. The said clerk shall keep a record of the proceedings of said court and shall have the custody of all records and papers of the same.

All fees for the issuance of all process, or other fees, which are by law allowed for any official service of the justice of the peace shall be exacted and paid in advance into the hands of the justice's clerk, which, together with all fees, fines, forfeitures or penalties received in said justice's court shall be paid into the county treasury.

Said justice's clerk shall render each month to the county auditor and county treasurer, an exact account under oath of all fines, forfeitures, penalties and fees received by him or collected by said court. Said justice's clerk shall receive a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars per year and said deputy clerk shall receive a salary of one thousand two hundred dollars per year, which shall be payable in like manner and out of the same funds and at like times as county officers are paid. The board of supervisors shall provide in a convenient locality a suitable office for the justice's clerk. The said justice's clerk shall be in attendance at his respective office in the discharge of official business daily from nine A. M. until five P. M. [New section added May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1394.]

§ 103d. Counties of first class, justice's clerks. In any township in counties of the first class, where provision for the appointment of justice's clerks, their powers and compensation is not now provided for by law, the justice of the peace may appoint a clerk, who shall receive no pay or compensation whatever from the state, county or body politic, and for whose acts the said justice so appointing such clerk shall be liable upon his official bond.

Such justice's clerk shall be authorized to administer oaths, take and certify affidavits; to issue and sign writs, summons and all other process in any action or proceeding in the justice's court of the township for which they are appointed, or pending before any justice of the peace of said township, in the name of the justice before whom the same is pending or out of whose court the same is issued, which shall be substantially in the following form:

All legal papers of every kind in actions or proceedings in such justice's court and all papers, transcripts or records which are required to be issued, signed or certified by said justice of the peace may be signed, issued or certified by said clerk, and all complaints, answers and other papers required to be filed in said justice's court may be filed with such justice's clerk, and such clerk shall be authorized and is empowered to make entry in the official docket and other books required to be kept by said justice of the peace, of the actions and proceedings in said court, and such clerk shall have all the powers of justice's clerks now or hereafter provided by law. [Amendment approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 35.]

§ 103e. Justices' clerks in cities of second class. Powers and duties. Clerk of police court. In every city or town of the second class each justice of the peace of said city shall have a clerk who shall be appointed by each justice of the peace and who shall hold office during the pleasure of said justice. Said clerks shall be appointed immediately upon this act taking effect and shall take the oath of office prescribed for county officers, and each one shall give a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of the office, which bond shall be approved and filed in the same manner as are bonds of county officers. Each of said justice's clerks shall be authorized to administer oaths take and certify affidavits and shall be authorized to issue, and sign writs, summons and all other processes in any action or proceeding in the justice's court of the city for which they are appointed or pending before any justice of the peace in said city in the name of the justice before whom the same is pending or out of whose court the same is issued which shall be in substantially the following form:

_____,
Justice of the Peace.
By _____,
Clerk.

All legal papers of every kind in actions or proceedings in the justice's court shall be issued by each of said clerks in the manner and form hereinabove set out. The said justices' clerks shall issue, sign or certify to any and all papers, transcripts or records which are required to be issued, signed or certified by the said justices of the peace. All complaints, answers, and all other pleadings and papers required to be filed in said justice's court shall be filed with either one of the clerks, of said court who shall keep a permanent record of all such actions and proceedings in the justice's docket, now provided by law to be kept by the justice. The said clerks shall keep a record of the proceedings of said court and shall have the custody of all records and papers of the same. All fees for the issuance of all processes, or other fees, which are by law allowed for any official service of the justice of the peace shall be exacted and paid in advance into the hands of the clerk of said justice's court, which, together with all fees, fines, forfeitures or penalties received in said justice's court shall be paid into the city treasury. Each of the said clerks shall render each month to the city council an exact and detailed account under oath, of all fines, forfeitures, penalties or fees received. Each justice's clerk shall also act as a clerk of the police court of said city and the compensation provided for the clerk of said police court shall be in full compensation for all services rendered as clerk of the justice's court. Each justice's clerk shall be in attendance at his office in the discharge of official business daily from nine A. M. until five P. M. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 321.]

§ 142. Changes in place of holding court. The judge or judges authorized to hold or preside at a court appointed to be held at a particular place in a city and county, county, city, or town, may, by an order filed with the city and county or county clerk, and published as he or they may prescribe, direct that the court be held or continued at any other place in the city and county, county, city, or town than that appointed, when war, insurrection, pestilence, or other public calamity, or the danger thereof, or the destruction or danger of the building appointed for holding the court may render it necessary; and may in the same manner revoke the order, and in his or their discretion, appoint another place in the same city and county, county, city, or town, for holding the court; and may also, in the same manner in his or their discretion, whenever such judge or judges deem it necessary or advisable, direct that the court be held or continued at any other place in the city and county, county, city or town, not less than one hundred twenty miles distant from the county seat. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 523.]

§ 170a. Judges disqualified for appellate tribunal. No justice, judge, or justice of the peace, before whom a cause or question may have been tried or heard, shall sit or act, in an appellate tribunal, on the trial or hearing of such cause or question. [New section added May 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 454.]

§ 190. Jury defined. A jury is a body of persons temporarily selected from the citizens of a particular district and invested with power to present or indict a person for a public offense, or to try a question of fact. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1282.]

§ 192. Grand jury defined. A grand jury is a body of persons, nineteen in number, returned in pursuance of law, from the citizens of a county, or a city and county, before a court of competent jurisdiction, and sworn to inquire of public offense committed or triable within the county or city and county. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1282.]

§ 193. Trial jury. A trial jury is a body of persons returned from the citizens of a particular district before a court or officer of competent jurisdiction, and sworn to try and determine by verdict, a question of fact. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1283.]

§ 194. Number on trial jury. A trial jury shall consist of twelve persons; provided, that in civil actions and cases of misdemeanor, it may consist of twelve or any number less than twelve, upon which the parties may agree in open court. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1283.]

§ 195. Jury of inquest. A jury of inquest is a body of persons summoned from the citizens of a particular district before the sheriff, coroner, or other ministerial officers, to inquire of particular facts. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1283.]

§ 200. Exemptions from jury service. A person is exempt from liability to act as a juror if he be:

1. A judicial, civil, or military officer of the United States, or of this state;

2. A person holding a county, city and county, city, town or township office;

3. An attorney at law, or the clerk, secretary, or stenographer of an attorney at law;

4. A minister of the gospel, or a priest of any denomination following his profession;

5. A teacher in a university, college, academy, or school;

6. A practicing physician, or practicing licensed dentist, or druggist, actually engaged in the business of dispensing medicines;

7. An officer, keeper or attendant of an almshouse, hospital, or other charitable institution;

8. Engaged in the performance of duty as officer or attendant of the state prison or of a county jail;

9. Employed on board of a vessel navigating the waters of this state;

10. An express agent, mail carrier, or a superintendent, employee, or operator of a telegraph or telephone company doing a general telegraph or telephone business in this state, or keeper of a public ferry or tollgate.

11. An active member of the national guard of California, or an active member of a paid fire department of any city and county, city, town or village in this state, or an exempt member of a duly authorized fire company;

12. A superintendent, engineer, fireman, brakeman, motorman, or conductor on a railroad; or,

13. A person drawn as a juror in any court of record in this state, upon a regular panel, who has served as such within a year, or a person drawn or summoned as a juror in any such court who has been discharged as a juror within a year as hereinafter provided; provided, however, that in counties having less than five thousand population the exemption provided by this subdivision shall not apply. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 287.]

§ 201. When juror excused. A juror shall not be excused court for slight or trivial causes, or for hardship, or for inconvenience to said juror's business, but only when material injury or destruction to said juror's property or of property entrusted to said juror is threatened, or when said juror's health, or when the health or proper care of said juror's own family, or when the sickness or death of a member of said juror's family make it necessary for said juror to be excused. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1283.]

§ 204. Jury lists. In the month of January in each year it shall be the duty of the superior court in each of the counties of this state to make an order designating the estimated number of grand jurors and also the number of trial jurors, that will, in the opinion of said court, be required for the transaction of the business of the court, and the trial of causes therein, during the ensuing year; and immediately after said order designating the estimated number of grand jurors shall be made, the court shall select and list the grand jurors required by said order to serve as grand jurors in said superior court during the ensuing year, or until new lists of jurors shall be provided, and said selections and listings shall be made of men and women suitable and competent to serve as jurors, as set forth and required in sections two hundred five and two hundred six of this code, which list of persons so selected shall at once be placed in the possession of the county clerk; and immediately after said order designating the estimated number of trial jurors shall be made, the board of supervisors shall select, as provided in sections two hundred five and two hundred six of this code, a list of men and women to serve as trial jurors in the superior court of said county during the ensuing year, or until a new list of jurors shall be provided.

In counties and cities and counties having a population of one hundred thousand inhabitants or over, such selection shall be made by a majority of the judges of the superior court. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1283.]

year, and shall hold office at the pleasure of a majority of the judges of such court. Said salary shall be audited, allowed and paid out of the general fund of such county or city and county. [New section added May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1169.]

§ 204b. To furnish list of persons qualified for jurors. Annually, and pursuant to written rules or instructions adopted by a majority of the judges of such court, the jury commissioner shall furnish the judges of the court a list of persons qualified to serve as trial jurors or grand jurors during the ensuing year, or until a new list of jurors shall be required. A majority of the judges of the court may, from time to time, adopt such rules and instructions as may be necessary for the guidance of the jury commissioner, who shall at all times be under the supervision and control of the judges of the court. [New section added May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1169.]

§ 204c. Duties. It shall be the duty of the jury commissioner diligently to inquire and inform himself in respect to the qualifications of persons resident in his county or city and county who may be liable under the provisions of the laws of this state to be summoned for jury duty. He may require any person to answer, under oath to be administered by him, all such questions as he may address to such person, touching his name, age, residence, occupation and qualifications as a juror, and also all questions as to similar matters concerning other persons of whose qualifications for jury duty he has knowledge. The commissioner shall have power to administer oaths. He shall be allowed his actual traveling expenses incurred in the performance of his duties while visiting the respective townships in the county, such traveling expenses to be audited, allowed and paid out of the general fund of the county. [New section added May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1169.]

§ 204d. Jurors selected by majority of judges. Pursuant to the rules and instructions adopted by a majority of the judges of the court, the jury commissioner shall return to the judges the lists of persons recommended by him for jury duty. The judges of said superior court shall examine the jury lists so returned and from such lists a majority of said judges may select, to serve as trial jurors and grand jurors, respectively, in the superior court of said county or city and county during the ensuing year, or until a new list of jurors is required, such persons as, in their opinion, should be selected for such jury duties; provided, however, that the persons so selected shall, in the opinion of the judges selecting the same, be persons suitable and competent to serve as jurors, as set forth and required in this code. The judges, however, shall not be bound to select any names from said lists, but may, if in their judgment the due administration of justice requires, make all or any selections from among the body of persons in the county or city and county suitable and competent to serve as jurors regardless of the lists returned by the jury commissioner. [New section added May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1170.]

§ 204e. Secretary of superior judges as jury commissioner.

In any county or city and county where there is a secretary of the superior judges of such county or city and county, a majority of the superior judges may in their discretion require such secretary to perform the duties of jury commissioner in addition to his regular duties as secretary. In such case the salary of the secretary of the superior judges shall be three hundred fifty dollars a month. [New section added May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1170.]

§ 226. Order for jurors to appear forthwith. Whenever jurors are not drawn or summoned to attend any court of record or session thereof, or a sufficient number of jurors fail to appear, such court may order a sufficient number to be forthwith drawn and summoned to attend the court, or it may, by an order entered in its minutes, direct the sheriff, or an elisor chosen by the court forthwith to summon so many good and lawful persons of the county, or city and county, to serve as jurors, as may be required, and in either case such jurors must be summoned in the manner provided in the preceding section. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1284.]

§ 246. Excuses. Names deposited in box. At the opening of court on the day trial jurors have been summoned to appear, the clerk shall call the names of those summoned, and the court may then hear the excuses of jurors summoned; provided, that it may be left to the discretion of the court to accept an affidavit of excuse under section two hundred two of this code without a personal appearance in court of the juror summoned. The clerk shall then write the names of the jurors present and not excused upon separate slips or ballots of paper, and fold such slips so that the names are concealed, and there, in the presence of the court deposit the slips or ballots in a box, which must be kept sealed or locked until ordered by the court to be opened. [Amendment approved May 27, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1284.]

§ 276. Qualifications for admission as attorney and counselor. Every applicant for admission as an attorney and counselor must present to the district court of appeal of the appellate district in which he resides satisfactory testimonials of good moral character, together with satisfactory proof that for at least three years he has diligently and in good faith studied law in such manner, upon such subjects and under such conditions as the supreme court or the board of bar examiners shall have prescribed. Before being admitted he must produce a certificate showing that he has satisfactorily passed an examination conducted by the board of bar examiners.

Applicants must apply for admission to the district court of appeal of the appellate district in which they reside; provided, that a person may make application and be examined and admitted in another appellate district upon filing with his application a written statement showing good cause therefor, satisfactory to the court to which he applies, accompanied by the written consent of the presiding justice of the appellate district in which he resides. [Amendment approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 721.]

This section was also amended in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 906). As then amended it read as follows: "Every applicant for admission as an attorney and counselor must produce satisfactory testimonials of a good moral character, and satisfactory proof of having studied law for a period of at least two years, and undergo in open court a strict examination, a part of which must be in writing, as to his qualifications by the justices of one of the district courts of appeal. This section shall not take effect until January first, one thousand nine hundred eighteen."

§ 276a. Board of bar examiners. Fees. Bar examination fund. Salary of members of board. Persons ineligible on board. Term of office. The supreme court is empowered to appoint three competent attorneys to examine applicants for admission as attorneys and counselors at law. Such persons shall constitute the board of bar examiners. The said board shall hold examinations for admission to the bar of applicants who have regularly filed their applications and paid all necessary fees, upon such subjects, and at such times and places as the supreme court or said board may, by its rules or orders direct; provided, that said examinations shall be wholly or in part written examinations. The examinations may be conducted by two members of the board. Said board shall issue a certificate to each of said applicants who shall satisfactorily pass such examination and who shall satisfy said board as to his moral character. Nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the district courts of appeal from further examining any applicant where deemed proper.

In addition to any fee prescribed by law for certificate of admission of attorney or counselor, every applicant for examination shall pay to the clerk of the district court of appeal to which he presents his application, as a fee for such examination, the sum of fifteen dollars. Such fees must be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the bar examinations fund and accounted, settled and charged for, in the same manner as provided by law for other fees collected by said clerk. A bar examinations fund is hereby created for the salaries and expenses of said board of bar examiners, which fund is under the control of the supreme court. Upon the order of the supreme court the controller must without approval of any board, draw his warrant upon the treasurer for the amount specified, and in favor of the person designated in such warrant, which warrant must be paid out of such fund exclusively. Unused balances, if any, in such fund may be transferred to the general fund, from time to time, upon the order of the supreme court.

Each of the members of said board shall receive for his services annually a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars, to be fixed by the order of the supreme court, payable at such times as the supreme court may direct, together with necessary traveling and incidental expenses, including clerical assistance, all of which shall be paid exclusively out of the fees of applicants for examination as hereinbefore provided.

No person who is engaged in the teaching of law or who is connected with any law school, either in a teaching or an administrative capacity, shall during such employment be eligible as a member of said board or in any employment under said board.

The members of said board shall hold office during the pleasure of said supreme court, and all vacancies therein shall be filled by said court. [New section approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 721.]

§ 277. Certificate of admission. May practice in all courts. Upon presentation to it of the evidence required by section two hundred seventy-six, any district court of appeal shall admit the applicant as an attorney and counselor at law in all the courts of this state, and shall direct an order to be entered to that effect upon its records, and that a certificate of such admission be given to him by the clerk of the court, which certificate shall be his license. Every person admitted to practice by a district court of appeal, either upon examination or otherwise, may practice as an attorney in all of the courts of this state, including the supreme court; and every person now entitled to practice in the supreme court of this state may practice as an attorney in any district court of appeal. [Amendment approved May 19, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 722.]

§ 279. Attorneys of other states. Every citizen of the United States, or person resident of this state, who has, bona fide, declared his intention to become a citizen in the manner required by law, who has been admitted to practice law in the highest court of a sister state, or of a foreign country, where the common law of England constitutes the basis of jurisprudence, and who has been engaged in actual practice in such state or foreign country for a period of at least three years, may be admitted to practice in all the courts of this state, by any district court of appeal, upon the production of his license, and satisfactory evidence that his license has not been revoked and that he is of good moral character, and that he has been so engaged in actual practice in such state or foreign country for a period of at least three years; but the court shall before admitting any such person to practice require an investigation and report by the board of bar examiners as to his moral and other qualifications, unless the court shall otherwise direct in a particular case. [Amendment approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 723.]

§ 280a. Effect of diploma granted by Hastings College of the Law. [Repealed May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 880.]

§ 280b. Graduates of law schools admitted to practice. [Repealed May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 831.]

Under this section as it formerly read the graduates from the following institutions were admitted to practice without further examination: University of Southern California; Young Men's Christian Association; Law College of San Francisco; San Francisco Law School; University of California; Leland Stanford Junior University; University of Santa Clara, and Saint Ignatius University.

§ 299. Judgment in disbarment proceedings. Upon conviction, in cases arising under the first subdivision of section two hundred eighty-seven, the judgment of the court must be that the name of the party shall be stricken from the roll of attorneys and counselors of the court, and that he be precluded from practicing as such attorney or counselor in all the courts of this state; and upon conviction in cases under the other subdivisions of that section the judgment of the court may be according to the gravity of the offense charged; deprivation of the right to practice as attorney or counselor in the courts of this state permanently, or for a limited period.

Upon conviction and entry of judgment as hereinabove provided, such attorney shall be precluded from practicing as attorney at law, attorney or agent of another in all justice courts, recorder's courts, police courts and all other courts and tribunals in the state of California; or to hold himself out to the public as an attorney at law, during the time he is by such judgment deprived of the right to practice as attorney or counselor. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 140.]

§ 337. Actions commenced within four years. Within four years. 1. An action upon any contract, obligation or liability found upon an instrument in writing.

2. An action to recover (1) upon a book account whether consisting of one or more entries; (2) upon an account stated; (3) a balance due upon a mutual, open and current account; provided, however, that where an account stated is based upon an account of one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of said item, and where an account stated is based upon an account of more than one item, the time shall begin to run from the date of the last item. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 299.]

§ 339. Actions commenced within two years. Within two years. 1. An action upon a contract, obligation or liability not founded upon an instrument of writing, other than that mentioned in subdivision two of section three hundred thirty-seven of this code; or an action founded upon a contract, obligation or liability, evidenced by a certificate, or abstract or guaranty of title of real property, or by a policy of title insurance; provided, that the cause of action upon a contract, obligation or liability evidenced by a certificate, or abstract or guaranty of title of real property or policy of title insurance shall not be deemed to have accrued until the discovery of the loss or damage suffered by the aggrieved party thereunder.

2. An action against a sheriff, coroner, or constable upon a liability incurred by the doing of an act in his official capacity and in virtue of his office, or by the omission of an official duty including the nonpayment of money collected upon an execution. But this subdivision does not apply to an action for an escape. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 299.]

§ 341. Actions to be commenced within six months. Within six months:

An action against an officer, or officer de facto:

1. To recover any goods, wares, merchandise, or other property, seized by any such officer in his official capacity as tax collector, or to recover the price or value of any goods, wares, merchandise, or other personal property so seized, or for damages for the seizure, detention, sale of, or injury to any goods, wares, merchandise, or other personal property seized, or for damages done to any person or property in making any such seizure.

2. To recover stock sold for a delinquent assessment, as provided in section three hundred forty-seven of the Civil Code.

3. To set aside or invalidate any action taken or performed by a majority of the trustees of any corporation heretofore or hereafter dissolved by operation of law, including the revivor of any such corporation. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

§ 348. No limitation to certain actions. Not applicable to banks, etc. To actions brought to recover money or other property deposited with any bank, banker, trust company, building and loan association, or savings and loan society there is no limitation.

This section shall not apply to banks, bankers, trust companies, building and loan associations, and savings and loan societies which have become insolvent and are in process of liquidation and in such cases the statute of limitations shall be deemed to have commenced to run from the beginning of the process of liquidation; provided, however, nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to relieve any stockholder of any banking corporation or trust company from stockholder's liability as shall, at any time, be provided by law. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1573.]

§ 411. Service of summons. The summons must be served by delivering a copy thereof as follows:

1. If the suit is against a corporation formed under the laws of this state: to the president or other head of the corporation, vice-president, secretary, assistant secretary, cashier or managing agent thereof.

2. If suit as against a foreign corporation, or a nonresident joint stock company or association, doing business and having a managing or business agent, cashier or secretary within this state: to such agent, cashier or secretary.

3. If against a minor, under the age of fourteen years, residing within this state: to such minor, personally, and also to his father, mother, or guardian: or if there be none within this state, then to any person having the care or control of such minor, or with whom he resides, or in whose service he is employed.

4. If against a person residing within this state who has been judicially declared to be of unsound mind, or incapable of conducting his own affairs, and for whom a guardian has been appointed: to such person, and also to his guardian.

5. If against a county, city or town: to the president of the board of supervisors, president of the council or trustees, or other head of the legislative department thereof.

6. In all cases where a corporation has forfeited its charter or right to do interstate business in this state, the summons must be served by delivering a copy thereof to one of the persons who have become the trustees of the corporation and stockholders or members of the corporation.

7. In all other cases to the defendant personally. [Amendment approved April 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 63.]

§ 412. Cases in which service of summons may be by publication. Certificate of residence. Where the person on whom service is to be made resides out of the state; or has departed from the state; or cannot, after due diligence, be found within the state; or conceals himself to avoid the service of summons; or is a corporation having no officer or other person upon whom summons may be served, who, after due diligence, can be found within the state, and the fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court, or a judge thereof; and it also appears by such affidavit, or by the verified complaint on file, that a cause of action exists against the defendant in respect to whom the service is to be made, or that he is a necessary or proper party to the action; or when it appears by such affidavit, or by the complaint on file, that it is an action which relates to or the subject of which is real or personal property in this state, in which such person defendant or corporation defendant has or claims a lien or interest, actual or contingent, therein, or in which the relief demanded consists wholly or in part in excluding such person or corporation from any interest therein, such court or judge may make an order that the service be made by the publication of the summons; provided, that where service is sought to be made upon a person by publication upon the ground that he cannot, after due diligence, be found within the state, it must first appear to the court by the affidavit aforesaid that there has not been filed, on behalf of such person, either in the county in which such action was brought, or in the county in which such action is pending, the certificate of residence provided for by section one thousand one hundred sixty-three of the Civil Code; or that said certificate was so filed and that the defendant cannot be found at the place named in said certificate, which latter fact must be made to appear by the certificate of the sheriff of the county wherein said defendant claims residence in and by said certificate of residence, and which certificate of said sheriff must show that service of said summons was attempted upon said defendant at the place named in said certificate of residence but that said defendant was not to be found thereat. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 293.]

The act amending section 412 also contained the following provision:
 "§ 2. An act entitled 'An act to amend section four hundred twelve of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to publication of summons when defendant is absent from state, concealed, or is a foreign corporation having no agent, etc.,' approved April 23, 1913, is hereby repealed."

§ 416. When jurisdiction of action acquired. From the time of the service of the summons and of a copy of the complaint in a civil action, where service of a copy of the complaint is required, or of the completion of the publication when service by publication is ordered, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction of the parties, and to have control of all the subsequent proceedings. In all cases where a corporation has forfeited its charter or right to do interstate business in this state, the persons who become the trustees of the corporation and stockholders or members of the corporation may be sued in the corporate name of such corporation in like manner as if no forfeiture had occurred and from the time of service of the summons and of a copy of the complaint in a civil action, upon one of said trustees, or of the completion of the publication when service by publication is ordered, the court is deemed to have acquired jurisdiction of all said trustees, and to have control of all the subsequent proceedings. The voluntary appearance of a defendant is equivalent to personal service of the summons and copy of the complaint upon him. [Amendment approved April 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 65.]

§ 473. Pleading may be amended. Time for application. Action to recover personal property. The court may in furtherance of justice, and on such terms as may be proper, allow a party to amend any pleading or proceeding by adding or striking out the name of any party, or by correcting a mistake in the name of a party, or a mistake in any other respect; and may, upon like terms, enlarge the time for answer or demurrer. The court may likewise, in its discretion, after notice to the adverse party, allow, upon such terms as may be just, an amendment to any pleading or proceeding in other particulars; and may upon like terms allow an answer to be made after the time limited by this code; and may, also, upon such terms as may be just, relieve a party or his legal representative from a judgment, order, or other proceeding taken against him through his mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect; provided, that application therefor be made within a reasonable time, but in no case exceeding six months after such judgment, order, or proceeding was taken; and provided, further, that said application must be accompanied with a copy of the answer, or other pleading proposed to be filed therein, otherwise said application shall not be granted. When from any cause the summons in an action has not been personally served on the defendant, the court may allow, on such terms as may be just, such defendant or his legal representative, at any time within one year after the rendition of any judgment in such action, to answer to the merits of the original action. When, in an action to recover the possession of personal property, the person making any affidavit did not truly state the value of the property, and the officer taking the property, or the sureties on any bond or undertaking is sued for taking the same, the officer or sureties may in their answer set up the true value of the property, and that the person in whose behalf said affidavit was made was entitled to the possession of the same when said affidavit was made, or that the value in the affidavit stated was inserted by mistake, the court shall disregard the value as stated in the affidavit, and give judgment according to the right of possession of said property at the time the affidavit was made. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 242.]

§ 526. When injunction may be granted or may not. An injunction may be granted in the following cases:

1. When it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of the act complained of, either for a limited period or perpetually;

2. When it appears by the complaint or affidavits that the commission or continuance of some act during the litigation would produce waste, or great or irreparable injury, to a party to the action;

3. When it appears, during the litigation, that a party to the action is doing, or threatens, or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering to be done, some act in violation of the rights of another party to the action respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual;

4. When pecuniary compensation would not afford adequate relief;

5. Where it would be extremely difficult to ascertain the amount of compensation which would afford adequate relief;

6. Where the restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of judicial proceedings;

7. Where the obligation arises from a trust.

An injunction cannot be granted:

1. To stay a judicial proceeding pending at the commencement of the action in which the injunction is demanded, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of such proceedings;

2. To stay proceedings in a court of the United States;

3. To stay proceedings in another state upon a judgment of a court of that state;

4. To prevent the execution of a public statute by officers of the law for the public benefit;

5. To prevent the breach of a contract other than a contract in writing for the rendition or furnishing of personal service from one to another where the minimum compensation for such service is at the rate of not less than six thousand dollars per annum, and where the promised service is of a special, unique, unusual, extraordinary or intellectual character which gives it peculiar value the loss of which cannot be reasonably or adequately compensated in damages in an action at law, the performance of which would not be specifically enforced;

6. To prevent the exercise of a public or private office, in a lawful manner, by the person in possession;

7. To prevent a legislative act by a municipal corporation. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 325.]

§ 534. Actions concerning water rights. Defendant's answer. Plaintiff's reply. Appropriation and damages fixed. Appeal. No injunction, when. Jury trial. In any action brought by a riparian owner to enjoin the diversion of water appropriated or proposed to be appropriated, or the use thereof, against any person or persons appropriating or proposing to appropriate such waters, the defendant may set up in his answer that the water diverted or proposed to be diverted is for the irrigation of land or other public use, and, in such case, he shall also in such answer set forth the quantity of water desired to be taken and necessary to such irrigation of land or the public use, the nature of such use, the place where the same is used or proposed to be used, the duration and extent of the diversion or the proposed diversion, including the stages of the flow of the stream at and during the time in which the water is to be diverted, and that the same may be diverted without interfering with the actual and necessary beneficial uses of the plaintiff, and that such defendant so answering desires that the court shall ascertain and fix the damages, if any, that will result to the plaintiff or to his riparian lands from the appropriation of the water so appropriated or intended to be appropriated by defendant.

The plaintiff may serve and file a reply to the defendant's answer stating plaintiff's rights to the water and the damage plaintiff will suffer by the defendant's taking of the water, and plaintiff may implead as parties to the action all persons necessary to a full determination of the rights of plaintiff to the water and the damages plaintiff will suffer by the proposed taking by defendant, and the court shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine all the rights to water of the plaintiff and other parties to the action, and said parties shall have a right to state and prove their rights, and shall be bound by the judgment rendered the same as though made parties plaintiff at the commencement of the action.

Upon the trial of the case the court shall receive and hear evidence on behalf of the respective parties, and if the court finds that the allegations of such answer are true as to the aforesaid matters, and that the appropriation and diversion of such waters is for irrigation of land or other public use and that, after allowing sufficient water for the actual and necessary beneficial uses of the plaintiff and other parties, there is water available to be beneficially appropriated by such defendant so answering, the court shall fix the time and manner and extent of such appropriation and the actual damages, if any, resulting to the plaintiff or other parties on account of the same, and in fixing such damages the court shall be guided by paragraph four of section one thousand two hundred forty-eight of this code, and if, upon the ascertainment and fixing of such damages the defendant, within the time allowed in section one thousand two hundred fifty-one of this code for the payment of damages in proceedings in eminent domain, shall pay into court the amount of damages fixed and the costs adjudged to be paid by such defendant, or give a good and sufficient bond to pay the same upon the final settlement of the case, the injunction prayed for by the plaintiff shall be denied to the extent of the amount the defendant is permitted to appropriate, as aforesaid, and the temporary injunction, if any has been granted, shall be vacated to the extent aforesaid; provided, that any of the parties may appeal from such judgment as in other cases; and provided, further, that if such judgment is in favor of the defendant and if he upon and pending such appeal shall keep on deposit with the clerk of said court the amount of such damages and costs, or the bond, if it be given, so awarded to be paid to the plaintiff or other parties in the event such judgment shall be affirmed, no injunction against the appropriation of the amount the defendant is permitted to appropriate as aforesaid shall be granted or enforced pending such appeal, and, upon the acceptance by the plaintiff or other parties of such amount so awarded or upon the affirmation of such decision on appeal so that such judgment shall become final, the defendant shall have the right to divert and appropriate from such stream, against such plaintiff or other parties and his successors in interest, the quantity of water therein adjudged and allowed. Upon the filing of such answer as is herein provided for, the parties plaintiff or other parties and defendant shall be entitled to a jury trial upon the issues as to damages so raised, as provided in title seven, part three of this code, applying to actions in eminent domain. [New section added May 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 744.]

§ 540. Writ of attachment. If more than one defendant. The writ must be directed to the sheriff of any county in which property of such defendant may be, and must require him to attach and safely keep all the property of such defendant within his county not exempt from execution, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand against such defendant, the amount of which must be stated in conformity with the complaint, unless such defendant give him security by the undertaking of at least two sufficient sureties in an amount sufficient to satisfy such demand against such defendant, besides costs, or in an amount equal to the value of the property of such defendant which has been or is about to be attached; in which case to take such undertaking.

In the event that the action is against more than one defendant, any defendant whose property has been or is about to be attached in such action may give the sheriff such undertaking, and the sheriff shall take the same, and such undertaking shall not subject such defendant to or be answerable for any demand against any other defendant, nor shall the sheriff thereby be prevented from attaching or be obliged to release from attachment, any property of any other defendant; provided, however, that such defendant, at the time of giving such undertaking to the sheriff, shall file with the sheriff, a statement, duly verified under oath, wherein such defendant shall aver and declare that the other defendant or defendants in the action in which said undertaking was given has or have not any interest or claim of any nature whatsoever in or to said property. Such statement must further contain the character of such defendant's title and the manner in which he acquired title to such attached property; provided, further, that before said attachment shall be released, the undertaking required by this section must be approved by the judge of the court issuing same or if said writ of attachment is from another county, then by a judge of a court of similar jurisdiction in the county where the levy shall have been made.

Several writs may be issued at the same time to the sheriffs of different counties. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 938.]

§ 542a. Attachment liens on real property. Expiration. Extension. The lien of the attachment on real property attaches and becomes effective upon the filing of a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property attached, and a notice that it is attached are filed with the county recorder of the county wherein said real property is situate; provided, however, that in event that the sheriff does not complete the execution of said writ in the manner prescribed in section five hundred forty-two of this code within a period of fifteen days next following said filing in the recorder's office then said lien shall cease at the expiration of said period of fifteen days.

The attachment whether heretofore levied or hereafter to be levied shall be a lien upon all real property attached for a period of three years after the date of levy unless sooner released or discharged as provided in this chapter, by dismissal of the action or by entry and docketing of judgment in the action. At the expiration of three years the lien shall cease and any proceeding or proceedings against the property under the attachment shall be barred; provided, that upon motion of a party to the action, made not less than five nor more than sixty days before the expiration of said period of three years, the court in which the action is pending may extend the time of said lien for a period not exceeding two years from the date on which the original lien would expire, and the lien shall be extended for the period specified in the order upon the filing, before the expiration of the existing lien, of a certified copy of the order with the recorder of the county in which the real property attached is situated. The lien may be extended from time to time in the manner herein prescribed. [Amendment approved April 11, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 64.]

§ 554. Proceedings to release attachments. Whenever any defendant has appeared in the action, such defendant may upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, apply to the court in which the action is pending, or to the judge thereof, for an order to discharge the attachment wholly, or in part; and upon the execution of the undertaking mentioned in the next section, an order may be made releasing from the operation of the attachment, any or all of the property of such defendant attached; and all of the property so released and all of the proceeds of the sales thereof, must be delivered to such defendant upon the justification of the sureties on the undertaking, if required by the plaintiff. Such justification must take place within five days after the notice of the filing of such undertaking. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 939.]

§ 555. Requirements by court for release from attachment. Before making such order, the court or judge must require an undertaking on behalf of such defendant, by at least two sureties, residents and freeholders, or householders in the state to the effect that in case the plaintiff recovers judgment in the action against the defendant, by whom, or in whose behalf such undertaking shall be given, such defendant will, on demand, redeliver the attached property so released to the proper officer, to be applied to the payment of any judgment in such action against said defendant, or in default thereof, that such defendant and sureties will, on demand, pay to the plaintiff the full value of the property released not exceeding the amount of such judgment against such defendant. The court or judge making such order may fix the sum for which the undertaking must be executed, and if necessary in fixing such sum to know the value of the property released, the same may be appraised by one or more disinterested persons, to be appointed for that purpose. The sureties may be required to justify before the court or judge and the property attached cannot be released from the attachment without their justification if the same is required. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 939.]

§ 564. Appointment of receivers. A receiver may be appointed by the court in which an action is pending, or by the judge thereof.

1. In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim, or between partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund, on the application of the plaintiff, or of any party whose right to or interest in the property or fund, or the proceeds thereof, is probable, and where it is shown that the property or fund is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured;

2. In an action by a mortgagee for the foreclosure of his mortgage and sale of the mortgaged property, where it appears that the mortgaged property is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured, or that the condition of the mortgage has not been performed, and that the property is probably insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt;

3. After judgment, to carry the judgment into effect;

4. After judgment, to dispose of the property according to the judgment, or to preserve it during the pendency of an appeal, or in proceedings in aid of execution, when an execution has been returned unsatisfied, or when the judgment debtor refuses to apply his property in satisfaction of the judgment;

5. In the cases when a corporation has been dissolved, or is insolvent, or in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights;

6. In an action of unlawful detainer, in those cases in which the superior court has exclusive original jurisdiction;

7. In all other cases where receivers have heretofore been appointed by the usages of courts of equity. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 251.]

§ 570. Notice of unclaimed funds in receiver's hands. A receiver having any funds in his hands belonging to a person whose whereabouts are unknown to him, shall, before receiving his discharge as such receiver, publish a notice, in one or more newspapers published in the county, at least once a week for four consecutive weeks, setting forth the name of the owner of any unclaimed funds, the last known place of residence or postoffice address of such owner and the amount of such unclaimed funds. Any funds remaining in his hands unclaimed for thirty days after the date of the last publication of such notice, shall be reported to the court, and upon order of the court, all such funds must be paid into the state treasury accompanied with a copy of the order, which must set forth the facts required in the notice herein provided. Such funds shall be paid out by the state treasurer to the owner thereof or his order in such manner and upon such terms as are now or may hereafter be provided by law.

All costs and expenses connected with such advertising shall be paid out of the funds the whereabouts of whose owners are unknown. [Amendment approved April 25, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 203.]

§ 581. Dismissals of action and entry of nonsuit. An action may be dismissed, or a judgment of nonsuit entered, in the following cases:

1. By the plaintiff, by written request to the clerk, filed with the papers in the case, at any time before the trial, upon payment of his costs; provided, a counterclaim has not been set up, or affirmative relief sought by the cross-complaint or answer of the defendant. If a provisional remedy has been allowed, the undertaking must thereupon be delivered by the clerk to the defendant, who may have his action thereon;

2. By either party, upon the written consent of the other;

3. By the court, when either party fails to appear on the trial, and the other party appears and asks for the dismissal;

4. By the court, when, upon the trial and before the final submission of the case, the plaintiff abandons it;

5. By the court, upon motion of the defendant, when upon the trial the plaintiff fails to prove a sufficient case for the jury.

But no dismissal mentioned in subdivisions one and two hereof shall be entered unless upon written consent of his attorney of record, or if said consent is not obtained, upon order of the court, after notice to the attorney.

The dismissals mentioned in said subdivisions one and two hereof, when written consent of the attorney of record of the party requesting the dismissals are filed, may be made by entry in the clerk's register.

The dismissals mentioned in subdivisions three, four, and five of this section must be made by orders of the court entered upon the minutes thereof, and are effective for all purposes when so entered; but the clerk of the court must note such orders in his register of actions in the case. [Amendment approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 116.]

§ 601. Peremptory challenges, civil cases. Either party may challenge the jurors, but where there are several parties on either side, they must join in the challenge before it can be made. The challenges are to individual jurors, and are either peremptory or for cause. Each party is entitled to four peremptory challenges. If no peremptory challenges are taken until the panel is full, they must be taken by the parties alternately, commencing with the plaintiff, and each party shall be entitled to have the panel full before exercising any peremptory challenge. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 131.]

§ 651. Exceptions after judgment. Exceptions to any decision made after judgment may be presented to the judge at the time of such decision, and be settled or noted, as provided in section six hundred forty-nine, or a bill thereof may be presented and settled afterward, as provided in section six hundred fifty, and within like periods after written notice of entry of the order, upon appeal from which such decision is reviewable. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 288.]

§ 657. When new trial may be granted. The former verdict or other decision may be vacated and a new trial granted, on the application of the party aggrieved, for any of the following causes, materially affecting the substantial rights of such party:

1. Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury, or adverse party, or any order of the court or abuse of discretion by which either party was prevented from having a fair trial;

2. Misconduct of the jury; and whenever any one or more of the jurors have been induced to assent to any general or special verdict, or to a finding on any question submitted to them by the court, by a resort to the determination of chance, such misconduct may be proved by the affidavit of any one of the jurors;

3. Accident or surprise, which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

4. Newly discovered evidence, material for the party making the application, which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial;

5. Excessive damages, appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice;

6. Insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision, or that it is against law;

7. Error in law, occurring at the trial and excepted to by the party making the application.

When a new trial is granted upon the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence to sustain the verdict, the order shall so specify; otherwise, on appeal from such order, it will be presumed that the order was not based upon that ground. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 141.]

§ 660. Time of hearing motion for new trial. New trial hearing has precedence. The motion for a new trial must be heard at the earliest practicable time after the filing of affidavits and counteraffidavits, in case the motion is made on affidavits, in other cases after the filing of the notice. On such hearing reference may be had in all cases to the pleadings and orders of the court on file, and when the motion is made on the minutes, reference may also be had to any depositions and documentary evidence offered at the trial and to the report of the proceedings on the trial taken by the phonographic reporter, or to any certified transcript of such report, or if there be no such report or certified transcript, to such proceedings occurring at the trial as are within the recollection of the judge; when the proceedings at the trial have been phonographically reported, but the reporter's notes have not been transcribed, the reporter must, upon request of the court, or either party, attend the hearing of the motion, and shall read his notes, or such parts thereof as the court, or either party, may require. The hearing and disposition of the motion for a new trial shall have precedence over all other matters except criminal cases, probate matters and cases actually on trial, and it shall be the duty of the court to determine the same at the earliest possible moment. The power of the court to pass on motion for new trial shall expire within three months after the verdict of the jury or service on the moving party of notice of the entry of the judgment. If such motion is not determined within said three months, the effect shall be a denial of the motion without further order of the court. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 240.]

§ 671. Judgment liens. Continues five years. Immediately after filing the judgment-roll, the clerk must make the proper entries of the judgment under appropriate heads, in the docket kept by him, noting thereon the hour and minute of the day of such entry; and from the time the judgment is docketed it becomes a lien upon all the real property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in the county, owned by him at the time, or which he may afterward acquire, until the lien ceases. The lien continues for five years unless the enforcement of the judgment be stayed on appeal by the execution of a sufficient undertaking as provided in this code, in which case the lien of the judgment and any lien by virtue of an attachment that has been issued and levied in the action ceases. [Amendment approved April 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 141.]

§ 671a. Filing judgments of United States courts. Transcripts of judgments and copies of judgments rendered in the district or other courts of the United States within the state of California, when certified by the clerk of said courts under the seal thereof, may be filed and recorded in the office of the county clerk of any county in this state, and when so filed the clerk shall immediately enter the same in the judgment docket in the same manner as judgments rendered in the superior court are entered and such transcripts of judgments and copies of judgments, when so certified, may be filed for record in the office of any county recorder of this state and when so filed for record the county recorder shall record and index the same in the same manner as transcripts of judgments and copies of judgments of the courts of this state are recorded and indexed; and from such recording the judgment becomes a lien upon all the real property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in such county, owned by him at the time, or which he may afterward, and before the lien expires, acquire. [New section approved April 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 142.]

§ 710a. Payment of claim of contractor on public work. In the event the judgment debtor named in any transcript of judgment filed under the provisions of section seven hundred ten of this code, approved March 21, 1903, be a contractor upon any public work, the cost of which is to be paid out of any public moneys voted, appropriated or otherwise set apart for the purpose of paying therefor, only so much of the contract price shall be deemed owing to the contractor, within the meaning of said section, as may remain payable to him under the terms of his contract, upon the completion thereof, after the sums severally due and to become due to all persons who perform labor upon such work or who bestow skill or other necessary services, or furnish materials, appliances, teams or power used or consumed in the performance of such work, have been ascertained and paid. The controller, auditor, or other public disbursing officer whose duty it is to make payments under the provisions of such contract shall not draw his warrant in favor of the court from the docket of which the transcript was taken until said contract is completed and the payments above specified are made, and then only for the excess, if any, of the contract price over the aggregate of the sums so paid. [New section approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 451.]

§ 752. Who may bring actions for partition. When several cotenants own real property as joint tenants, or tenants in common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or lives, or for years, an action may be brought by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for a sale of such property, or a part thereof, if it appears that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 319.] •

§ 752a. Action for partition of personal property. When several persons are co-owners of any personal property, an action may be brought by any one or more such co-owners for a partition thereof; or in case partition cannot be had without great prejudice to the owners, for the sale thereof, and partition of the proceeds according to the respective interests of the parties. In all such actions the provisions of this chapter shall govern wherever applicable. Real and personal property may be partitioned in the same action. [New section added April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 73.]

§ 850. Notice of hearing in justices' courts. Docket entries. When all the parties served with process shall have appeared, or some of them have appeared, and the remaining defendants have made default, the justice must fix the day for the trial of said cause, whether the issue is one of law or fact, and give notice thereof to the parties to the action who have appeared, but in case any of the parties are represented by an attorney, then to such attorney; provided, however, that where a party has appeared in person, such party shall leave with the justice or justice's clerk, and the same shall be entered upon the register in the action, an address where service of the notice of hearing of such matter may be made; provided, further, that such notice shall be personally served on said person if he can be found at said address, but in case said person cannot, after due diligence, be found at said address and such fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court or a judge thereof, then the service of such notice may be by registered mail and in the manner hereinafter provided for service of notice by mail. Such notice shall be in writing, signed by the justice, and substantially in the following form, filling blanks according to the facts:

In the justice court, — township (or city, or city and county), county, or city and county of —, State of California.
— plaintiff, vs. — defendant.

To — plaintiff, or — attorney for plaintiff, and to defendant, or — attorney for defendant.

You and each of you will please take notice that the undersigned justice of the peace before whom the above-entitled cause is pending, has set for hearing the demurrer of —, filed in said cause (or has set the said cause for trial, as the case may be), before me at my office in said township (or city, or city and county), at — o'clock — M., on the — day of —, 19—.

Dated this — day of —, 19—.

(Signed) — —,
Justice of the peace.

Said notice shall be served by mail or personally. When served by mail the justice of the peace shall deposit copies thereof in a sealed envelope in the postoffice at least ten days before the trial or hearing addressed to each of the persons on whom it is to be served at their place of residence and the postage prepaid thereon; provided, that such notice shall be served by mail only when the person on whom service is to be made resides out of the county in which said justice's court is situated, or is absent therefrom or has appeared in person. When personally served said notice shall be served at least five days before the trial or hearing on the persons on whom it is to be served by any person competent and qualified to serve a summons in a justice's court, and when personally served it shall be served, returned and filed in like manner as a summons. When a party has appeared by attorney the notice may be served in the manner prescribed by subdivision one of section one thousand eleven of this code. The justice shall enter on his docket the date of trial or hearing; and when such notice shall have been served by mail the justice shall enter on his docket the date of mailing such notice of trial or hearing and such entry shall be prima facie evidence of the fact of such service. The parties are entitled to one hour in which to appear after the time fixed in said notice, but are not bound to remain longer than that time unless both parties have appeared and the justice being present is engaged in the trial of another cause. [Amendment approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 190.]

§ 857a. When affirmative judgment may be rendered to defendant. Affirmative judgment may be rendered for the defendant on his cross-complaint whenever the defendant proves that he is entitled to more than the plaintiff has proven or whenever the plaintiff fails to prove that he is entitled to any judgment. [New section added May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 727.]

§ 868. Attachment by sheriff or constable. Keeper. If more than one defendant. Service out of county. The writ may be directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county in which such justice court is situate and must require him to attach and safely keep all of the property of the defendant within his county not exempt from execution, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's demand against the defendant, the amount of which must be stated in conformity with the complaint, unless the defendant, whose property has been or is about to be attached, give him security by the undertaking of two sufficient sureties, in an amount sufficient to satisfy such demand against such defendant besides costs; in which case to take such undertaking; provided, however, that whenever a levy shall be made upon personal property, other than money, belonging to a going concern, then the sheriff must, if the defendant consents, place a keeper in charge of said attached property at plaintiff's expense for at least two days or more, and said keeper's fees must be prepaid by the attaching creditor. After the expiration of said two days, the sheriff shall take said property into his immediate custody, unless other disposition is made by the court or parties.

In the event that the action is against more than one defendant, any defendant whose property has been or is about to be attached in such action may give the sheriff such undertaking, and the sheriff shall take the same, and such undertaking shall not subject such defendant to or be answerable for any demand against any other defendant, nor shall the sheriff thereby be prevented from attaching or be obliged to release from attachment, any property of any other defendant; provided, however, that such defendant, at the time of giving such undertaking to the sheriff, shall file with the sheriff a statement duly verified under oath, wherein such defendant shall aver and declare that the other defendant or defendants in the action in which said undertaking was given has or have not any interest or claim of any nature whatsoever in or to said property. Such statement must further contain the character of such defendant's title and the manner in which he acquired title to such attached property.

Several writs may be issued at the same time to the sheriffs or constables of different counties; provided, that where a writ of attachment issued by a justice of the peace is to be served out of the county in which it was issued, the writ of attachment shall have attached to it a certificate under seal by the county clerk of such county, to the effect that the person issuing the same was an acting justice of the peace of said county at the date of the writ. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 939.]

§ 883. Waiving jury trial. A jury may be waived—

1. By consent of parties, entered in the docket;
2. By a failure of either party to demand a jury within two days after service upon him of notice of trial of an issue of fact, as provided in section eight hundred fifty;
3. By the failure of either party to appear at the time fixed for the trial of an issue of fact. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1013.]

§ 890a. Entry of judgment of dismissal. Judgment of dismissal must be entered whenever the plaintiff fails to bring the action to trial within two years after the case is brought to an issue of law or fact, except where the parties have stipulated in writing that the time may be extended; provided, however, that in any action pending when this act takes effect, a judgment of dismissal shall not be entered under the direction hereof sooner than January 22, 1920. [New section added May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 137.]

§ 900a. Correction of clerical mistakes in judgment. The justice shall have power upon motion of the injured party and notice to the adverse party to correct any clerical mistakes in his judgment as entered, so as to conform to the judgment ordered. Said justice shall have power to set aside any void judgment upon motion of either party to the action after notice to the adverse party, and thereupon said action shall be treated as if no judgment had been entered. [New section added May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 730.]

§ 953. Certification of copies and undertakings. The copies provided for in the last three sections must be certified to be correct by the clerk or the attorneys, and must be accompanied with a certificate of the clerk or attorneys that an undertaking on appeal, in due form, has been properly filed, or a stipulation of the parties waiving an undertaking. If it appear that there is any paper or record in the custody of the clerk of the trial court which was before the trial court but which is not included in the record on appeal, and an examination of such paper or record will assist in a determination of the appeal on its merits, the court in which the appeal is pending may, on motion of either party, or on its own motion, require the production of a certified copy of such paper or record, and the same shall thereupon be deemed a part of the record on appeal. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 290.]

§ 953c. Clerk to transmit prepared record on appeal. Omissions from record may be filed as supplement. Where, on appeals taken from judgments, orders or decrees of the superior court to the supreme court or district courts of appeal the appellant elects to avail himself of the provisions of the three preceding sections, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court from which the appeal is taken, within ten days after the preparation of the record, to transmit to the clerk of the court to which the appeal is taken, the record prepared in accordance with the provisions of the two preceding sections. Said records shall be filed with the clerk of the court to which the appeal is taken and no transcript thereof need be printed. In filing briefs on said appeal the parties must, however, print in their briefs, or in a supplement appended thereto, such portions of the record as they desire to call to the attention of the court.

No appeal shall be dismissed nor shall any appeal be decided adversely to any party for failure to print in his brief the portion of the record or any part thereof in support of his points, but in such case the court hearing the appeal shall direct such party to print and serve on the adverse party and file with it a supplement to his brief in which shall be set forth in full that portion of the record relied on by such party and not printed in any former brief. The court shall fix the time within which such supplement shall be served and filed and shall permit or require such additional portions of the record to be printed, served and filed as may be desirable for the full presentation of the points at issue. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 261.]

§ 958. Certification of judgments on appeal. When judgment is rendered upon the appeal, it must be certified by the clerk of the appellate court to the clerk with whom the judgment-roll is filed, or the order appealed from is entered. In cases of appeal from the judgment, the clerk with whom the roll is filed must attach the certificate to the judgment-roll, and enter a minute of the judgment of the appellate court on the docket, against the original entry. In cases of appeal from an order, the clerk must enter at length in the records of the court the certificate received, and minute against the entry of the order appealed from, a reference to the certificate, with a brief statement that such order has been affirmed, reversed, or modified, by the appellate court on appeal. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 290.]

§ 963. Cases in which an appeal may be taken. An appeal may be taken from a superior court in the following cases:

1. From a final judgment entered in an action, or special proceeding, commenced in a superior court, or brought into a superior court from another court;

2. From an order granting a new trial in an action or proceeding tried by a jury where such trial by jury is a matter of right, or granting or dissolving an injunction, or refusing to grant or dissolve an injunction, or appointing a receiver, or dissolving or refusing to dissolve an attachment, or changing or refusing to change a place of trial, from any special order made after final judgment, from any interlocutory judgment, order, or decree, hereafter made or entered in actions to redeem real or personal property from a mortgage thereof, or lien thereon, determining such right to redeem and directing an accounting; and from such interlocutory judgment in actions for partition as determines the rights and interests of the respective parties and directs partition to be made, and interlocutory decrees of divorce.

3. From a judgment or order granting or refusing to grant, revoking or refusing to revoke, letters testamentary, or of administration, or of guardianship; or admitting or refusing to admit a will to probate, or against or in favor of the validity of a will, or revoking or refusing to revoke the probate thereof; or against or in favor of setting apart property, or making an allowance for a widow or child; or against or in favor of directing the partition, sale or conveyance of real property, or settling an account of an executor, administrator or guardian, or refusing, allowing or directing the distribution or partition of an estate, or any part thereof, or the payment of a debt, claim, or legacy, or distributive share; or confirming or refusing to confirm a report of an appraiser or appraisers setting apart a homestead; from an order, judgment or decree fixing inheritance tax or determining that no inheritance tax is due. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 624.]

§ 982. Papers returned on dismissal of appeal. Upon dismissal of the appeal the clerk of the superior court shall return all the papers to the court from which the appeal was taken, and the justice of said court shall have jurisdiction the same as if no appeal had been taken. [New section approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 179.]

§ 1005. Notice of motion, when to be given. When a written notice of a motion is necessary, it must be given, if the court is held in the county in which at least one of the attorneys of the party notified has his office, five days before the time appointed for the hearing; otherwise, ten days. When the notice is served by mail, the number of days before the hearing must be increased one day for every twenty-five miles of distance between the place of deposit and the place of service; such increase, however, not to exceed in all thirty days; but in all cases the court, or a judge thereof, may prescribe a shorter time. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 289.]

§ 1011. Notices and papers, when and how served. The service may be personal, by delivery to the party or attorney on whom the service is required to be made, or it may be as follows:

1. If upon an attorney, it may be made during his absence from his office, by leaving the notice or other papers with his clerk therein, or with a person having charge thereof; or when there is no person in the office, by leaving them between the hours of nine in the morning and five in the afternoon, in a conspicuous place in the office; or, if it is not open so as to admit of such service, then by leaving them at the attorney's residence, with some person of not less than eighteen years of age, if his residence is in the same county with his office; and if his residence is not known, or is not in the same county with his office, or being in the same county it is not open, or there is not found thereat any person of not less than eighteen years of age, then by putting the same, inclosed in a sealed envelope, into the postoffice directed to such attorney at his office, if known; otherwise to his residence, if known; and if neither his office nor his residence is known, then by delivering the same to the clerk of the court for the attorney;

2. If upon a party, it may be made by leaving the notice or other paper at his residence, between the hours of eight in the morning and six in the evening, with some person of not less than eighteen years of age; if at the time of attempted service between the said hours no such person can be found at his residence, the same may be served by mail; and, if his residence is not known, then by delivering the same to the clerk of the court for such party. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 289.]

§ 1027. Costs on appeal. The prevailing party on appeal shall be entitled to his costs excepting when judgment is modified, and in that event the matter of costs is within the discretion of the appellate court. The party entitled to costs, or to whom costs are awarded, may recover all amounts actually paid out by him in connection with said appeal, and the preparation of the record for the appeal, including the costs of printing briefs; provided, however, that no amount shall be allowed as costs of printing briefs in excess of one hundred dollars to any one party. The appellate court may reduce costs in case of the insertion of unnecessary matter in the record. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 73.]

§ 1034. Costs on appeal. Whenever costs are awarded to a party by an appellate court, if he claims such costs, he must, within thirty days after the remittitur is filed with the clerk below, deliver to such clerk and serve upon the adverse party a memorandum of his costs, verified as prescribed by the preceding section. The party dissatisfied with the costs claimed may move to have the same taxed in the same manner and within a like time after notice of filing of the bill of costs, as prescribed by the preceding section. After such costs have been taxed, or the time for taxing the same has expired, execution may issue therefor as upon a judgment. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 291.]

§ 1102. Writ of prohibition defined. The writ of prohibition is the counterpart of the writ of mandate. It arrests the proceedings of any tribunal, corporation, board, or person exercising judicial functions, when such proceedings are without or in excess of the jurisdiction of such tribunal, corporation, board or person. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 291.]

§ 1110a. Appeal from writ of mandate ordering delivery of water. If an appeal be taken from an order or judgment directing the issuance of a writ of mandate commanding a party to deliver water, for irrigation purposes, such appeal shall not stay the operation of the order, judgment or writ as to the delivery of such water, but such water must until the final determination of said appeal be delivered as commanded by said writ; provided, that if any expense is necessary to be incurred by the defendant in connecting the water supply with the land to be irrigated, said defendant shall not be obliged to furnish water unless the plaintiff shall provide a bond in such sum as the court may fix, conditioned that in the event of the judgment being reversed, plaintiff will pay defendant the amount of the expense so incurred not exceeding the amount of said bond. [New section added May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 754.]

§ 1184. Notice to owner of labor performed and materials furnished. Any of the persons mentioned in the preceding section, except the contractor, may at any time prior to the expiration of the period within which claims of lien must be filed for record, as prescribed by the provisions of section one thousand one hundred eighty-seven of this code, give to the owner a notice that they have performed labor or furnished materials, or both, to the contractor or other person acting by the authority of the owner, or that they have agreed to do so, stating in general terms the kind of labor and materials and the name of the person to or for whom the same was done or furnished, or both, and the amount in value, as near as may be, of that already done or furnished, or both, and of the whole agreed to be done or furnished, or both, and any of said persons who shall on the written demand of the owner refuse to give such notice shall thereby deprive himself of the right to claim a lien under this chapter. Such notice must be verified by the claimant, or by some person acting in his behalf, and may be given by delivering the same to said owner personally, or by leaving it at his residence or place of business with some person in charge, or by delivering it to his architect, if any; provided, however, that in all cases in which said work is being done under a contract with the state, or with any public board, commission, or officer thereof, or with any political subdivision thereof, such notice must be filed, within said time, in the office of the controller, auditor or other public disbursing officer whose duty it is to make payments under the provisions of such contract. No such notice shall be invalid by reason of any defect in form, provided it is sufficient to inform the owner of the substantial matters herein provided for. Upon such notice being given it shall be lawful for the owner to withhold, and in the case of property which, for reasons of public policy or otherwise, is not subject to liens in this chapter provided for, the owner or person who contracted with the contractor, shall withhold from his contractor sufficient money due or that may become due to such contractor to answer such claim and any lien that may be filed therefor including the reasonable cost of any litigation thereunder. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 452.]

§ 1184a. Time of commencing action. No action to enforce the payment of any such claim shall be commenced against the owner, nor against the state or any public board, commission, or officer thereof, nor against any political subdivision of the state or the disbursing officer thereof whose duty it is to make payments under provisions of such contract, prior to the expiration of the period within which claims of lien must be filed for record, as prescribed by section one thousand one hundred eighty-seven of this code, nor shall any such suit be commenced later than ninety days following the expiration of such period. Any number of persons who have given such notices may join in the same action and when separate actions are commenced the court first acquiring jurisdiction may consolidate them. Upon the demand of the owner the court shall require all claimants to the moneys withheld by the owner in response to such notices to be impleaded in said action, to the end that the respective rights of all parties may be adjudicated and settled therein. [New section added May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 453.]

§ 1184b. Pro rata distribution when moneys insufficient. In the event the moneys so withheld by the owner shall be insufficient to pay in full the valid demands of all the persons by whom such notices were given, the same shall be distributed among such persons in the same ratio that their respective claims bear to the aggregate of such valid demands. Such pro rata distribution of said moneys shall be made among the persons entitled to share therein, without regard to the order of priority in which their respective notices may have been given or their respective actions, if any, commenced. [New section approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 453.]

after the completion of his contract, and every person save the original contractor claiming the benefit of this chapter, at any time after he has ceased to perform labor or furnish material, or both, for any work of improvement mentioned in this chapter, and until thirty days after the completion of such work of improvement, may file for record with the county recorder of the county or city and county in which such property or some part thereof is situated a claim of lien containing a statement of his demand after deducting all just credits and offsets, the name of the owner or reputed owner, if known, a general statement of the kind of work done or materials furnished by him, or both, the name of the person by whom he was employed or to whom he furnished the materials, and a description of the property sought to be charged with the lien sufficient for identification; which claim of lien must be verified by oath of claimant or some other person. Any trivial imperfection in the said work, or in the completion of any contract by any lien claimant, or in the construction of any building, improvement or structure, or of the alteration, addition to, or repair thereof, shall not be deemed such a lack of completion as to prevent the filing of any lien; and in all cases, any of the following shall be deemed equivalent to a completion for all the purposes of this chapter; the occupation or use of a building, improvement or structure, by the owner, or his representative, accompanied by cessation from labor thereon; or the acceptance by the owner, or said agent, of said building, improvement or structure; or cessation from labor for thirty days upon any contract or upon any building, improvement or structure, or the alteration, addition to, or repair thereof; the filing of the notice hereinafter provided for.

The owner shall within ten days after the completion of any contract or improvement provided for in this chapter, or within ten days after there has been a cessation from labor thereon for a period of thirty days, file for record in the office of the county recorder of the county where the property is situated, a notice setting forth the date when the same was completed, or on which cessation from labor occurred, together with his name and the nature of his title, and a description of the property sufficient for identification, which notice shall be verified by himself or some other person on his behalf. The fee for recording the same shall be one dollar. In case such notice be not so filed, then all persons claiming the benefit of this chapter shall have ninety days after the completion of said improvement within which to file their claims of lien. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 190.]

§ 1238. Right of eminent domain. Subject to the provisions of this title, the right of eminent domain may be exercised in behalf of the following public uses:

1. Uses of United States. Fortifications, magazines, arsenals, navy yards, navy and army stations, lighthouses, range and beacon lights, coast surveys, and all other public uses authorized by the government of the United States.

2. Uses of state. Public buildings and grounds for the use of the state, or any state institution, and all other public uses authorized by the legislature of the state.

3. Public utilities, counties, cities, etc. Any public utility, and public buildings and grounds, for the use of any county, incorporated city, or city and county, village, town or school districts, ponds, lakes, canals, aqueducts, reservoirs, tunnels, flumes, ditches or pipes, lands, water system plants, buildings, rights of any nature in water, and any other character of property necessary for conducting or storing or distributing water for the use of any county, incorporated city, or city and county, village or town or municipal water district, or the inhabitants thereof, or any state institution, or necessary for the proper development and control of such use of said water, either at the time of the taking of said property, or for the future proper development and control thereof, or for draining any county, incorporated city, or city and county, village or town; raising the banks of streams, removing obstructions therefrom, and widening and deepening or straightening their channels; roads, highways, boulevards, streets and alleys; public mooring places for water craft; public parks, including parks and other places covered by water, and all other public uses for the benefit of any county, incorporated city, or city and county, village or town, or the inhabitants thereof, which may be authorized by the legislature; but the mode of apportioning and collecting the costs of such improvements shall be such as may be provided in the statutes by which the same may be authorized.

4. Wharves, ferries, bridges, etc. Wharves, docks, piers, warehouses, chutes, booms, ferries, bridges, tollroads, byroads, plank and turnpike roads; paths and roads either on the surface, elevated, or depressed, for the use of bicycles, tricycles, motorcycles and other horseless vehicles, steam, electric, and horse railroads, canals, ditches, dams, poundings, flumes, aqueducts and pipes for irrigation, public transportation, supplying mines and farming neighborhoods with water, and draining and reclaiming lands, and for floating logs and lumber on streams not navigable, and water, water rights, canals, ditches, dams, poundings, flumes, aqueducts and pipes for irrigation of lands furnished with water by corporations supplying water to the lands of the stockholders thereof only, and lands with all wells and water therein adjacent to the lands of any municipality or of any corporation, or person supplying water to the public or to any neighborhood or community for domestic use or irrigation.

5. Roads, flumes, etc., for mines. Roads, tunnels, ditches, flumes, pipes and dumping places for working mines; also outlets, natural or otherwise for the flow, deposit or conduct of tailings or refuse matter from mines; also an occupancy in common by the owners or possessors of different mines of any place for the flow, deposit, or conduct of tailings or refuse matter from their several mines.

6. Byroads. Byroads leading from highways to residences, farms, mines, mills, factories and buildings for operating machinery, or necessary to reach any property used for public purposes.

7. Telegraph. Telegraph and telephone lines, systems and plants.

8. Sewerage. Sewerage of any incorporated city, city and county, or of any village or town, whether incorporated or unincorporated, or of any settlement consisting of not less than ten families, or of any buildings belonging to the state, or to any college or university, also the connection of private residences and other buildings, through other property, with the mains of an established sewer system in any such city, city and county, town or village.

9. Roads. Roads for transportation by traction engines or road locomotives.

10. Pipe-lines. Oil pipe-lines.

11. Lumbering. Railroads, roads and flumes for quarrying, logging or lumbering purposes.

12. Canals, reservoirs, dams, etc. Canals, reservoirs, dams, ditches, flumes, aqueducts and pipes and outlets natural or otherwise for supplying, storing, and discharging water for the operation of machinery for the purpose of generating and transmitting electricity for the supply of mines, quarries, railroads, tramways, mills, and factories with electric power; and also for the applying of electricity to light or heat mines, quarries, mills, factories, incorporated cities and counties, villages or towns; and also for furnishing electricity for lighting, heating or power purposes to individuals or corporations; together with lands, buildings and all other improvements in or upon which to erect, install, place, use or operate machinery for the purpose of generating and transmitting electricity for any of the purposes or uses above set forth.

13. Power lines. Electric power lines, electric heat lines, electric light lines, electric light, heat and power lines, and works or plants, lands, buildings or rights of any character in water, or any other character of property necessary for the generation, transmission or distribution of electricity for the purpose of furnishing or supplying electric light, heat or power to any county, city and county or incorporated city or town, or the inhabitants thereof, or necessary for the proper development and control of such use of such electricity, either at the time of the taking of said property, or for the future proper development and control thereof.

14. Cemeteries. Cemeteries for the burial of the dead, and enlarging and adding to the same and the grounds thereof.

15. Public records. The plants, or any part thereof or any record therein of all persons, firms or corporations heretofore, now or hereafter engaged in the business of searching public records, or publishing public records or insuring or guaranteeing titles to real property, including all copies of, and all abstracts or memoranda taken from, public records, which are owned by, or in the possession of such persons, firms or corporations, or which are used by them in their respective businesses; provided, however, that the right of eminent domain in behalf of the public uses mentioned in this subdivision may be exercised only for the purposes of restoring or replacing, in whole or in part, public records, or the substance of public records, of any city, city and county, county or other municipality, which records have been, or may hereafter be, lost or destroyed by conflagration or other public calamity; and provided further, that such right shall be exercised only by the city, city and county, county or municipality, whose records, or part of whose records, have been, or may be, so lost or destroyed.

16. Fairs. Expositions or fairs in aid of which the granting of public moneys or other things of value has been authorized by the constitution.

17. Gasworks, etc. Works or plants for supplying gas, heat, refrigeration or power to any county, city and county, or incorporated city or town, or the inhabitants thereof, together with lands, buildings, and all other improvements in or upon which to erect, install, place, maintain, use or operate machinery, appliances, works and plants for the purpose of generating, transmitting and distributing the same and rights of any nature in water, or property of any character necessary for the purpose of generating, transmitting and distributing the same, or necessary for the proper development and control of such use of such gas, heat, refrigeration, or power, either at the time of the taking of said property, or for the future proper development and control thereof.

18. Trees along highways. Standing trees and ground necessary for the support and maintenance thereof, along the course of any highway, within a maximum distance of three hundred feet on each side of the center thereof; and ground for the culture and growth of trees along the course of any highway, within a maximum distance of three hundred feet on each side of the center thereof. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 59.]

§ 1269. Action on behalf of state. Description of property. Order to appear. If proceedings for administration have been instituted. State treasurer to hold property. At any time after two years after the death of any decedent, leaving property to which the state is entitled by reason of its having escheated to the state, the attorney general shall commence a proceeding on behalf of the state in the superior court for Sacramento county to have it adjudged that the state is so entitled. Such action shall be commenced by filing a petition, which shall be treated as the information elsewhere referred to in this title. There shall be set forth in such petition a description of the property, the name of the person last possessed thereof, the name of the person, if any, claiming such property, or any portion thereof, and the facts and circumstances by virtue of which it is claimed the property has escheated. Upon the filing of such petition, the court must make an order requiring all persons interested in the estate to appear and show cause, if any they have, within sixty days from the date of the order, why such estate should not vest in the state. Such order must be published at least once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper published in said county of Sacramento, the last publication to be at least ten days prior to the date set for the hearing. Upon the completion of the publication of such order the court shall have full and complete jurisdiction over the state, the property, and the person of everyone having or claiming any interest in the said property, and shall have full and complete jurisdiction to hear and determine the issues therein, and render the appropriate judgment thereon. If proceedings for the administration of such estate have been instituted, a copy of such order must be filed with the papers in such estate in the office of the county clerk where such proceedings were had. If proceedings for the administration of any estate of any such decedent have been instituted and none of the persons entitled to succeed thereto have appeared and made claim to such property, or any portion thereof, before the decree of final distribution therein is made, or before the commencement of such proceeding by the attorney general, or if the court shall find that such persons as have appeared are not entitled to the property of such estate, or of any portion thereof, the court shall, upon final settlement of the proceedings for the administration of such estate, after the payment of all debts and expenses of administration, distribute all moneys and other property remaining to the state of California. The property so distributed shall be held by the state treasurer for a period of five years from the date of the decree making such distribution within which time the same may be claimed in the manner in this title hereafter provided, but a nonresident foreigner claiming succession in any case must appear and claim within five years from the death of the decedent, and any person who does not appear and claim as herein required shall be forever barred, and such property, or so much thereof as is not so claimed, shall vest absolutely in the state. In any proceeding brought by the attorney general under this title any two or more parties and any two or more causes of action may be joined in the same proceeding and in the same petition without being separately stated, and it shall be sufficient to allege in the petition that the decedent left no heirs to take the estate and the failure of heirs to appear and set up their claims in any such proceeding, or in any proceedings for the administration of such estate, shall be sufficient proof upon which to base the judgment in any such proceeding or such decree of distribution. Where proceedings for the administration of any estate have not been commenced within six months from the death of any decedent the attorney general may direct the public administrator to commence the same forthwith. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 253.]

§ 1272a. Petition showing claim to estate deposited with state treasurer. Claim for less than $300. When the estate, or any portion thereof, of any decedent has been deposited with the state treasurer under the provisions of this code, any person entitled to succeed and not a party or privy to any proceeding had under any of the foregoing sections of this title, and who has not appeared in the proceedings for the administration of such estate, may, within five years after the date of the decree of final distribution, unless otherwise barred, file a petition in the superior court for Sacramento county against the state of California showing his claim or right to the property, or the proceeds thereof, or to any portion thereof. Said petition shall be verified, and, among other things, must state the facts required to be stated in a petition filed under section one thousand two hundred and seventy-two of this code, and upon the filing thereof the same proceedings shall be had as are therein required. Whenever the amount claimed by any such person is less than three hundred dollars any such claimant may, in lieu of filing such petition, present his claim to the state board of control, showing the same facts required to be stated in such petition and said board may, upon recommendation of the attorney general, allow and order paid such claim, provided that no such claim shall be so allowed or paid until at least five years after the death of the decedent and then, only, in the event that no other claim is made to such property. When payment has been made under this title to any claimant no suit shall thereafter be maintained by any other claimant against the state, or any officer thereof, for or on account of such property. [New section added May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 254.]

§ 1274. Sale of escheated property by board of control. The state board of control is hereby authorized to sell, on behalf of and in the name of the state of California, at any time and in any manner it may deem advisable, personal property heretofore or hereafter distributed to the state of California pursuant to the provisions of section one thousand two hundred sixty-nine of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the proceeds of such a sale shall be delivered to and held by the state treasurer. Any real property so distributed to the state may be sold by the board of control, at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, after notice thereof by publication, as hereinafter provided, in a newspaper published in the county in which such real property is situate, or, in an adjoining county if there be no newspaper published in such county. Such notice shall be published once a week for at least three weeks immediately preceding the date of such sale, and shall be sufficient for all the purposes of such sale if said real property be described therein in general terms. The board of control may, in its discretion, reject any and all bids. [New section approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 189.]

§ 1274a. Deposit of unclaimed property. Proceeding to vest title in state. All money or other property distributed in the administration of an estate of a decedent and heretofore or hereafter deposited with a county treasurer to the credit of the distributee, must be forthwith delivered into the state treasury by the county treasurer upon the expiration of one year from the date of such deposit.

Money or other property so deposited in the state treasury, if not claimed by the person or persons entitled thereto within five years from the date of such deposit, shall become the property of the state of California by escheat, and the attorney general shall commence a proceeding on behalf of the state in the superior court for Sacramento county, in accordance with this title, to have it adjudged that the title to such property has vested in the state. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 451.]

§ 1304. Notification of time for probate of will. Copies of the notice of the time appointed for the probate of the will must be addressed to the heirs of the testator and the devisees and legatees named in the will, resident in the state, at their places of residence, if known to the petitioner, and deposited in the postoffice, with the postage thereon prepaid, at least ten days before the hearing. If their places of residence be not known, the copies of notice may be addressed to them, and deposited in the postoffice at the county seat of the county where the proceedings are pending. A copy of the same notice must in like manner be mailed to the person named as executor, if he be not the petitioner; also, to any person named as coexecutor not petitioning, if their places of residence be known. Proof of mailing the copies of the notice must be made at the hearing. Personal service of copies of the notice at least ten days before the day of hearing is equivalent to mailing. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 139.]

§ 1323. Probate of foreign will. When a copy of the will, and the order or decree admitting same to probate, duly authenticated, shall be produced by the executor, or by any other person interested in the will, with a petition for letters, the same must be filed, and the clerk of the court must appoint a time for the hearing; notice whereof must be given as hereinbefore provided for an original petition for the probate of a will. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 165.]

nuncupative will until the lapse of ten days from the death of the testator, nor must such petition at any time be acted on until the testamentary words are, or their substance is, reduced to writing and filed with the petition, nor until the surviving husband or wife (if any), and all other persons resident in the state interested in the estate are notified as hereinbefore provided. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 165.]

§ 1349. Issue of letters. If no objection is made as provided in section one thousand three hundred fifty-one, the court admitting a will to probate, after the same is proved and allowed, must issue letters thereon to the persons named therein as executors who are competent to discharge the trust, unless they or either of them have renounced their right to letters. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 165.]

§ 1365. Order of persons entitled to administer. Administration of the estate of a person dying intestate must be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, the relatives of the deceased being entitled to administer only when they are entitled to succeed to his estate or some portion thereof; and they are, respectively, entitled thereto in the following order:

1. The surviving husband or wife, or some competent person whom he or she may request to have appointed.
2. The children.
3. The father and mother.
4. The brothers and sisters.
5. The grandchildren.
6. The next of kin entitled to share in the distribution of the estate.
7. The public administrator.
8. The creditors.
9. Any person legally competent.

If the decedent was a member of a partnership at the time of his decease, the surviving partner must in no case be appointed administrator of his estate. This section shall apply to the relatives of the previously deceased spouse of decedent when entitled to succeed to some portion of the estate under subdivision eight of section one thousand three hundred eighty-six of the Civil Code. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 80.]

§ 1380. Request for special notice of proceedings. At any time after the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration upon the estate of any decedent, any person interested in said estate (including the state controller), whether as heir, devisee, legatee or creditor, or the attorney for any such person may serve upon the executor or administrator (or upon the attorney for the executor or administrator) and file with the clerk of the court wherein administration of such estate is pending, a written request, stating that he desires special notice of any or all of the following mentioned matters, steps or proceedings in the administration of said estate, to wit:

- (1) Filing of petitions for sales, leases or mortgages of any property of the estate.
- (2) Filing of accounts.
- (3) Filing of petitions for distribution.
- (4) Filing of petitions for partition of any property of the estate.

Such request shall state the postoffice address of the person making same, and thereafter a brief notice of the filing of any of such petitions or accounts, except petitions for sale of perishable property or other personal property which will incur expense or loss by keeping, shall be addressed to such person making such request, or his attorney, at his stated postoffice address, and deposited in the United States postoffice with the postage thereon prepaid, within two days after the filing of such petition or account; or personal service of such notices may be made on the person making such request or his attorney, within said two days and such personal service shall be equivalent to such deposit in the postoffice, and proof of mailing or of personal service must be filed with the clerk before the hearing of such petition or account. If upon the hearing it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the said notice has been regularly given, the court shall so find in its order or judgment and such judgment shall be final and conclusive upon all persons. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 166.]

This section was also amended in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 276). The amendment of 1917 read as follows:

§ 1380. At any time after the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration upon the estate of any decedent, any person interested in said estate (including the state controller), whether as heir, devisee, or legatee, or the attorney for such heir, devisee, or legatee, may serve upon the executor or administrator (or upon the attorney for the executor or administrator) and file with the clerk of the court wherein administration of such estate is pending, a written request, stating that he desires special notice of any or all of the following mentioned matters, steps or proceedings in the administration of said estate, to wit:

1. Filing of petitions for sales, leases or mortgages of any property of the estate.
2. Filing of accounts.
3. Filing of petitions for distribution.

4. Filing of petitions for partition of any property of the estate.

Such request shall state the postoffice address of such heir, devisee, or legatee, state controller, or his attorney, and thereafter a brief notice of the filing of any of such petitions or accounts, except petitions for sale of perishable property or other personal property, which will incur expense or loss by keeping, shall be addressed to such heir, devisee, or legatee, state controller, or his attorney, at his stated postoffice address, and deposited in the United States postoffice with the postage thereon prepaid, within two days after the filing of such petition or account; or personal service of such notices may be made on such heir, devisee, or legatee, state controller, or his attorney, within said two days and such personal service shall be equivalent to such deposit in the postoffice, and proof of mailing or of personal service must be filed with the clerk before the hearing of such petition or account. If upon the hearing it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the said notice has been regularly given, the court shall so find in its order or judgment and such judgment shall be final and conclusive upon all persons. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 276.]

§ 1415. Duties of special administrators. The special administrator must collect and preserve for the executor or administrator, all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects of the decedent, all incomes, rents, issues and profits, claims and demands of the estate; must take the charge and management of, enter upon, and preserve from damage, waste and injury, the real estate, and for any such and all necessary purposes may commence and maintain or defend suits and other legal proceedings as an administrator; he may sell such perishable property as the court may order to be sold, and exercise such other powers as are conferred upon him by his appointment, but in no case is he liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against the decedent. The special administrator may commence and maintain all proceedings, do all acts, and apply for and obtain all orders and decrees, authorized and provided for, in or by article five of chapter seven of title eleven of part third of this code, in the same manner and with like effect as an executor or administrator. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 71.]

This section was also amended in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. S1). The amendment of 1917 read as follows:

§ 1415. The special administrator must collect and preserve for the executor or administrator, all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects of the decedent, all incomes, rents, issues and profits, claims, and demands of the estate; must take the charge and management of, enter upon, and preserve from damage, waste and injury, the real estate, and for any such and all necessary purposes may commence and maintain or defend suits and other legal proceedings as an administrator; he may sell such perishable property as the court may order to be sold, and exercise such other powers as are conferred upon him by his appointment, but in no case is he liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against the decedent. The special administrator may commence and maintain all proceedings, do all acts, and apply for and obtain all orders and decrees, authorized or provided for, in or by article five of chapter seven of title eleven of this code, in the same manner and with like effect as an executor or administrator.

§ 1418. Payment of secured debts by special administrators. If it shall appear by the verified petition of any special administrator, or other person interested in any estate in the charge of any special administrator, that any of the property of said estate is subject to any mortgage, lien or deed of trust, to secure the payment of money, and that any amount so secured, either principal or interest, is past due and unpaid; that the holder of the security threatens or is about to enforce or foreclose the same and that the said property exceeds in value the amount of the entire obligation thereon, and an order is asked directing or permitting said special administrator to pay all or any part of the amount so secured, the court or a judge thereof shall fix a time for the hearing of said petition and shall direct notice of not less than ten days to be given by posting in three public places and by personal service on all parties who have appeared or their attorneys. At the time so appointed, if the allegations of such petition shall be proven to the satisfaction of the court and it shall appear to be for the best interests of said estate, the court may order the special administrator to pay interest or other portions or the whole of the secured debt, and, in its discretion, may direct the special administrator to take proceedings under article five of chapter seven of title eleven of this code to secure funds for such purpose. Any such order for payment of interest may also direct that interest not yet accrued be paid as it becomes due and such order shall remain in effect and cover such future interest until and unless thereafter for good cause set aside or modified by the court upon similar petition and notice to that hereinabove provided. [New section added April 6, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 82.]

§ 1444. Appraisers of estates of deceased persons. To make the appraisement, the court, or a judge thereof, must appoint three disinterested persons, one of whom must be one of the inheritance tax appraisers provided for by law (any two of whom may act, provided that one of them be the inheritance tax appraiser); provided, that the court may, in its discretion, appoint said inheritance tax appraiser as sole appraiser to appraise said estate. Each of said appraisers is entitled to receive, from each estate he appraises, as compensation for his services, not to exceed five dollars per day (together with his actual and necessary expenses), to be allowed by the court or judge. The appraisers or appraiser must, with the inventory, file a verified account of their or his services and disbursements. If any part of the estate is in any other county than that in which letters issued, an appraiser or appraisers thereof may in the same manner as above provided, be appointed, either by the court or judge having the jurisdiction of the estate, or by the court or judge of such other county, on request of the court or judge having jurisdiction. No clerk or deputy, nor any person related by consanguinity or affinity to or connected by marriage with, or being a partner or employee of the judge of the court, shall be appointed or shall be competent to act as appraiser in any estate, or matter or proceeding pending before said judge or in said court. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 329.]

§ 1455. Who may collect balances due deceased or insane annuitants from teachers' retirement salary fund. Claim payable by salary fund board on receipt of affidavit. The surviving husband or wife, or the guardian of the estate of any insane or incompetent husband or wife, of any deceased person who had been the recipient of an annuity from the public school teachers' retirement salary fund, or if no husband or wife is living, then the children or the guardian of the estates of any minor or insane or incompetent children of said deceased, or, if no children are living, then the father or mother or the guardian of the estate of any insane or incompetent father or mother of such decedent, and if neither the father nor mother is living, then the brothers and sisters or the guardian of the estates of any minor or insane or incompetent brothers and sisters of such decedent, may, without procuring letters of administration, collect from the public school teachers' retirement salary fund, in the state treasury, any balance of retirement salary accrued to the credit of said deceased annuitant remaining unpaid at the time of death. The public school teachers' retirement salary fund board, upon receiving an affidavit stating that said annuitant is dead, and that affiant is the surviving husband or wife or the guardian of the estate of an insane or incompetent husband or wife, as the case may be, of said decedent, or stating that decedent left no husband or wife, and that affiant is the child, or that affiants are the children, or the guardians of the estates of the minor, insane or incompetent children, as the case may be, of said decedent, or stating that decedent left neither husband, wife nor children, and that affiant is the father or mother, or the guardian of the estate of the insane or incompetent father or mother, as the case may be, of said decedent, or stating that the decedent left neither husband, wife, children, father nor mother, and that the affiants are the brothers and sisters, or the guardians of the estates of the minor, insane or incompetent brothers and sisters, as the case may be, of said decedent, shall, at the next quarterly meeting of said board, when claims for retirement salaries are certified, include and certify a claim in favor of said affiant or affiants for the balance due said decedent, and the controller shall draw his warrant in favor of the affiant or affiants in the same manner as warrants are drawn for the payment of retirement salaries, and the indorsement of such affiant or affiants upon such warrant is sufficient acquittance therefor. [New section added April 6, 1917; Stats. 1917, p: 78.]

§ 1469. Administration of estates not exceeding $1,500 in value. If a deceased person leave a widow or minor child or minor children and upon the return of the inventory of the estate of such deceased person it shall appear to the court or a judge thereof by the verified petition of the personal representative of such deceased person or of his widow or of the guardian of his minor children or of any of them that the net value of the whole estate of said deceased over and above all liens or encumbrances of record at the date of the death of said deceased does not exceed the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars, the court, or a judge thereof, shall, by order, require all persons interested to appear on a day fixed to show cause why the whole of said estate should not be assigned for the use and support of the family of the deceased. Notice thereof shall be given and proceedings had in the same manner as provided in section one thousand four hundred sixty-five a of this code. If upon the hearing, the court finds that the net value of the estate over and above all liens or encumbrances of record at the date of the death of said deceased does not exceed the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars, it shall, by decree for that purpose, assign to the widow of the deceased, if there be a widow, or if there be no widow, then to the minor children of the deceased, if there be minor children, the whole of the estate, subject to whatever mortgages, liens, or encumbrances there may be upon said estate at the time of the death of said deceased, after the payment of the expenses of the last illness of the deceased, funeral charges, and expenses of administration, and the title thereof shall vest absolutely in such widow, if there is a widow, or if there is no widow, in the minor children or child, subject to whatever mortgages, liens or encumbrances there may be upon said estate at the time of the death of the deceased, and there must be no further proceedings in the administration, unless further estate be discovered. [Amendment approved April 25, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 195.]

§ 1475. Setting off of recorded homestead. If the homestead selected and recorded prior to the death of the decedent be returned in the inventory appraised at not exceeding five thousand dollars in value, or was previously appraised as provided in the Civil Code, and such appraised value did not exceed that sum, the superior court must, by order, set it off to the persons in whom title is vested by the preceding section. If there be subsisting liens or encumbrances on the homestead, the claims secured thereby must be presented and allowed as other claims against the estate. If the funds of the estate be adequate to pay all claims against the estate, the claims so secured must be paid out of such funds. If the funds of the estate be not sufficient for that purpose, the claims so secured shall be paid proportionately with other claims allowed, and the liens or encumbrances on the homestead shall only be enforced against the homestead for any deficiency remaining after such payment; provided, that it shall be the duty of any executor or administrator, within sixty days after the first publication of notice to creditors, to notify in writing the record holder of any such lien or encumbrance upon real property subject to a declaration of homestead of the death of the testator or intestate, and unless so notified, the rights of the holder of such lien or encumbrance shall not be affected by his failure to present such claim as hereinabove required. [Amendment approved May 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 783.]

§ 1490. Notice to creditors of decedents' estates. Every executor or administrator must, immediately after his letters are issued, cause to be published in some newspaper of the county, if there be one, if not, then in such newspaper as may be designated by the judge or court, a notice to the creditors of the decedent, requiring all persons having claims against said decedent to file them, with the necessary vouchers, in the office of the clerk of the court from which the letters were issued, or to exhibit them, with the necessary vouchers, to the executor or administrator, at the place of his residence or business to be specified in the notice; provided, said residence or place of business shall be in the county in which said proceeding is had. Such notice must be published not less than once a week for four weeks. In case such executor or administrator resigns, or is removed, before the time expressed in the notice, his successor must give notice only for the unexpired time allowed for such filing or presentation. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 166.]

§ 1498. Rejection of claim against estates. When a claim is rejected either by the executor or administrator, or a judge of the superior court, written notice of such rejection shall be given by the executor or administrator to the holder of such claim or to the person filing or presenting the same, and the holder must bring suit in the proper court against the executor or administrator within three months after the date of service of such notice if the claim be then due or within two months after it becomes due, otherwise the claim shall be forever barred. If the residence of the claimant is not known, and the same shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, the court shall by its order require the notice to be served on the claimant by filing with the clerk. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 186.]

§ 1516. Estate chargeable with debts. No priority. All of the property of a decedent shall be chargeable with the payment of the debts of the deceased, the expenses of administration, and the allowance to the family, except as otherwise provided in this code and in the Civil Code. And the said property, personal and real, may be sold in the manner prescribed in this chapter. There shall be no priority as between personal and real property for the above purposes. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1517. No sales valid, except by order of superior court. The executor or administrator may sell any property of the estate of a decedent without order of court, and at either public or private sale, as the executor or administrator may determine; but no sale of such property is valid unless the same be under oath reported to and confirmed by the court, and the title to the property does not pass until such sale be so confirmed by the court. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1178.]

§ 1522. Perishable and depreciating property to be sold. At any time after receiving letters, the executor, administrator, or special administrator may sell perishable and other personal property likely to depreciate in value, or which will incur loss or expense by being kept, and so much other personal property as may be necessary to pay the allowance made to the family of the decedent. The executor, administrator, or special administrator is responsible for the property, unless, after making a sworn return, and on a proper showing, the court shall approve the sale. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1178.]

§ 1523. Order to sell personal property. If claims against the estate have been allowed, and a sale of property is necessary for their payment, or for the expenses of administration, or for the payment of legacies, the executor or administrator may sell so much of the personal property as may be necessary therefor. He may also make a sale from time to time, so long as any personal property remains in his hands, and sale thereof is necessary. If it appear for the best interests of the estate, he may, at any time after filing the inventory, in like manner, and after giving notice by publication for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in the county, sell the whole of the personal property belonging to the estate, whether necessary to pay debts or not; provided, that the court may, by order, shorten the time of notice to like publication for one week. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1178.]

§ 1525. Order of sales. In making orders and sales for the payment of debts or family allowance, such articles as are not necessary for the support and subsistence of the family of the decedent, or are not specially bequeathed, must be first sold. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1178.]

§ 1536. When executor or administrator may sell property. When a sale of property of the estate is necessary to pay the allowance of the family, or the debts outstanding against the decedent, or the debts, expenses, or charges of administration, or legacies; or when it is for the advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate, and those interested therein, that the real estate, or some part thereof, be sold, the executor or administrator may sell any real as well as personal property of the estate. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1179.]

§ 1537. Verified petition for sale, what to contain and to what it may refer. [Repealed 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1543. Order of sale, when to be made. [Repealed 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1544. What order of sale must contain. May be at public or private sale. [Repealed 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1545. Interested persons may apply for order of sale. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to sell the property of the estate when it is necessary or when it is for the advantage, benefit and best interests of the estate and those interested therein, that the real estate or some portion thereof be sold, any person interested may make application to the court, that the executor or administrator be required to sell, and notice of such application must be given to the executor or administrator before the hearing. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1179.]

§ 1547. Posting of public auction sale notice. When a sale is to be made at public auction, notice of the time and place of sale must be posted in three of the most public places in the county in which the land is situated, and published in a newspaper, if there be one printed in the same county, but if none, then in such paper as the court may direct, for two weeks successively next before the sale; provided, however, that when it appears from the inventory and appraisalment that the value of the whole estate does not exceed five hundred dollars the court, or a judge thereof, may in his discretion dispense with the publication in a newspaper and order notices be posted. The lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty in the notice. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1179.]

§ 1549. Private sale of real estate. Bids. Time of notice may be shortened when. When a sale of real estate is to be made at private sale, notice of the same must be posted up in three of the most public places in the county in which the land is situated, and published in a newspaper, if there be one printed in the same county, if none, then in such paper as the court or judge may direct, for two weeks successively next before the day on or after which the sale is to be made, in which the lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty. The notice must state a day on or after which the sale will be made, and a place where offers or bids will be received. The day last referred to must be at least fifteen days from the first publication of notice; and the sale must not be made before that day, but must be made within six months thereafter. The bids or offers must be in writing and may be left at the place designated in the notice, or delivered to the executor or administrator personally, or may be filed in the office of the clerk of the court to which the return of sale must be made, at any time after the first publication of the notice and before the making of the sale. If it be shown that it will be for the best interests of the estate the court or judge may, by an order, shorten the time of notice, which shall not, however, be less than one week, and may provide that the sale may be made on or after a day less than fifteen but not less than eight days from the first publication of the notice in which case the notice of sale and the sale may be made to correspond with such order; provided, however, that when it appears from the inventory and appraisement that the value of the whole estate does not exceed five hundred dollars the court, or a judge thereof, may in his discretion dispense with the publication in a newspaper and order notices be posted. The lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty in the notice. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1179.]

§ 1552. Return of execution. Notice of hearing of return. May vacate sale and order new one. The executor or administrator, after making any sale of real estate, must make a return of his proceedings to the court, which must be filed in the office of the clerk at any time subsequent to the sale. A hearing upon the return of the proceedings may be asked for in the return or by petition subsequently, and thereupon the clerk must fix the day for the hearing, of which notice of at least ten days must be given by the clerk, by notices posted in three public places in the county or by publication in a newspaper, and must briefly indicate the land sold, and must refer to the return for further particulars. Upon the hearing the court must examine into the necessity for the sale, or the advantage, benefit and interest of the estate in having the sale made, and must examine the return and witnesses in relation to the sale, and if good reason does not exist for such sale, or if the proceedings for the sale were unfair or the sum bid disproportionate to the value and it appears that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent exclusive of the expenses of a new sale may be obtained, the court may vacate the sale and direct another to be had, of which notice must be given and the sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place. If an offer of ten per cent more in amount than that named in the return be made to the court in writing, by a responsible person, it is in the discretion of the court to accept such offer and confirm the sale to such person or to order a new sale. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1179.]

§ 1554. Order of confirmation of sale. Resale. If it appears to the court that there is reason for a sale upon the grounds set forth in section one thousand five hundred thirty-six of this code and that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bid was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a greater sum, as above specified, cannot be obtained, or if the increased bid mentioned in section one thousand five hundred fifty-two be made and accepted by the court, the court must make an order confirming the sale, and directing conveyances to be executed. The sale, from that time, is confirmed and valid, and a certified copy of the order confirming it and directing conveyances to be executed must be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the land sold is situated. If, after the confirmation, the purchaser neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the sale, the court may, on motion of the executor or administrator, and after notice to the purchaser, order a resale to be made of the property. If the amount realized on such resale does not cover the bid and the expenses of the previous sale, such purchaser is liable for the deficiency to the estate. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1180.]

§ 1555. Conveyances. Conveyances must thereupon be executed to the purchaser by the executor or administrator, and they must refer to the orders of the court confirming the sale of the property of the estate, and directing conveyances thereof to be executed, and to the record of the order of confirmation in the office of the county recorder, either by the date of such recording, or by the date, volume, and page of the record, and such reference shall have the same effect as if the orders were at large inserted in the conveyance. Conveyances so made convey all the right, title, interest, and estate of the decedent, in the premises, at the time of his death; if prior to the sale, by operation of law or otherwise, the estate has acquired any right, title, or interest in the premises, other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of his death, such right, title, or interest also passes by such conveyances. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1181.]

§ 1559. Commissions for sales of real estate. Any executor or administrator may enter into a contract with any bona fide real estate agent to secure a purchaser for any real property belonging to an estate, which contract shall provide for payment to such agent out of the proceeds of sale to any purchaser secured by him of a commission, the amount of which must be fixed and allowed by the court upon confirmation of the sale. If a sale to a purchaser obtained by such agent is returned to the court for confirmation and said sale be confirmed to such purchaser, such contract shall be binding and valid as against the estate for the amount so fixed and allowed by the court.

By the execution of any such contract no personal liability shall attach to the executor or administrator, and no liability of any kind shall be incurred by the estate unless an actual sale is made and confirmed. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1181.]

§ 1565. Sale of contracts for purchase of lands. If a decedent, at the time of his death, was possessed of a contract for the purchase of lands, his interest in such land and under such contract may be sold by his executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had died seized of such land, and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this chapter for the sale of lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1570. Holder of lien or mortgage may purchase lands. At any sale of lands upon which there is a mortgage or lien, the holder thereof may become the purchaser, and his receipt for the amount due him from the proceeds of the sale is a payment pro tanto. If the amount for which he purchased the property is insufficient to defray the expenses and discharge his mortgage or lien, he must pay the court, or the clerk thereof an amount sufficient to pay such expenses. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1177.]

§ 1598. Petition for executor to make conveyance. On the presentation of a verified petition by the executor or administrator, or by any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance from an executor or administrator, setting forth the facts upon which the claim is predicated, the court, or a judge thereof, must appoint a time and place for hearing the petition, and must order notice thereof to be served on the executor or administrator personally when he is not the petitioner, and published at least once a week for four successive weeks before such hearing, in such newspaper in this state as the court may designate; provided, however, that if such contract was of record at the date of the death of the person executing such contract, notice of such hearing shall be served on the executor or administrator personally, when he is not the petitioner, and posted in three public places in the county where the court is held for at least ten days prior to the date of hearing. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 72.]

§ 1663. Partial distribution of estates of deceased persons.
Costs. Where the time for filing or presenting claims has expired, and all claims that have been allowed have been paid, or are secured by a mortgage upon real estate sufficient to pay them, and the estate is not in a condition to be finally closed and distributed, the executor or administrator, or co-executor or coadministrator, may present his petition to the court for ratable payment of the legacies, or ratable distribution of the estate to all the heirs, legatees, devisees, or their assignees, grantees or successors in interest. Notice of such application must be given to all persons interested in the estate, in the same manner that notice is required to be given of the settlement of the account of an executor or administrator. Any person interested in the estate may appear at the time named and resist the application. If, at the hearing, it appears that the allegations in the petition of said executor, administrator, coexecutor, or coadministrator, are true, and the court is satisfied that no injury can result to the estate by granting the petition, the court must make an order directing the executor or executors, administrator or administrators, as the case may be, to deliver to the heirs, legatees, devisees, or to their assigns, grantees or successors in interest, the whole portion of the estate to which they may be entitled, or only a part thereof, designating it.

If, in the execution of the order, a partition is necessary between two or more of the parties interested, it must be made in the manner hereinafter prescribed. The costs of the proceedings under this section must be paid by the estate, excepting that in case a partition is necessary, the costs of such partition must be apportioned amongst the parties interested in such partition. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 575.]

§ 1714. Motion for new trial in probate proceedings. The provisions of part two of this code, relative to new trials and appeals, except in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this title, apply to the proceedings mentioned in this title; provided, that hereafter a motion for a new trial in probate proceedings can be made only in cases of contests of wills, either before or after probate, in proceedings under section one thousand six hundred sixty-four of this code and in those cases where the issues of fact, of which a new trial is sought, were tried by a jury or were of such character as to entitle the parties to have them tried by a jury whether or not they were so tried. [Amendment approved April 13, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 117.]

§ 1723. Persons dying who owned life estate or homesteads. Interested persons may petition. Decree of court. Inheritance tax. If any person has died or shall hereafter die who at the time of his death was the owner of a life estate which terminates by reason of the death of such person; or if such person at the time of his death was one of two or more persons holding land in joint tenancy, which land by reason of his death vests absolutely in the surviving joint tenant or tenants; or if such person at the time of his death was the spouse of a person owning land upon which either spouse had declared a homestead, the homestead interest of which deceased person absolutely terminated by reason of his death; any person interested in the land, or in the title thereto, in which such estate or interest was held, may file in the superior court of the county in which the land or any part thereof is situated, his verified petition setting forth such facts, and thereupon and after such notice by publication or otherwise as the court may order; provided, that notice shall be given in each county where any part of said land is situated in the same manner as in the county where said petition is filed, the court shall hear such petition and the evidence offered in support thereof, and if upon such hearing it shall appear that such estate or interest so terminated or vested, the court shall make a decree to that effect, and thereupon a certified copy of such decree shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of each county in which any part of said land is situated, and thereafter shall have the same effect as a decree of final distribution so recorded; provided, that if such estate or interest was a joint tenancy, any inheritance tax which is due and payable by reason of the death of such deceased person, must be fully paid before such decree is made; and the amount of said inheritance tax shall be fixed, and said tax shall be paid, in the same manner as in the case of an administration upon the estate of a decedent. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1397.]

§ 1726a. Burial expenses of deceased persons. Whenever a public administrator takes possession of the estate of a deceased person, as provided in section one thousand seven hundred and twenty-six of this code, and the method of the defrayal of the expense of the burial of said deceased is not otherwise provided for by law, or by the rules, agreement or death benefits of any order or lodge to which the deceased may at the time of his death belong, or with which he may have been affiliated, the public administrator may, in order to defray the proper expenses of the burial of the body of the deceased, and the expenses of the last illness apply to a judge of the superior court of the county in which said public administrator is acting for an order permitting the public administrator to summarily sell any personal property belonging to the deceased, and to withdraw any money that the deceased may have on deposit with any bank, and to collect any indebtedness or claim that may be owing to or due the deceased. If upon such application it appears to the court by competent evidence, that the total value of the estate of the deceased is less than one hundred dollars the judge shall make an order granting the application and there shall be no administration upon the estate of the deceased unless additional estate be found or discovered. No notice of the application need be given and no fee shall be charged by the clerk of the court or the public administrator or his attorney for the filing of said application, or for any duty or service of the clerk or public administrator or his attorney connected therewith. Upon the sale of the personal property of the deceased, or the collection of any money, claim or indebtedness by the public administrator under said order the public administrator shall use the same for the expenses of the burial of the deceased, and the expenses of the last illness. The public administrator shall file with the clerk of the court a statement showing the property of the deceased that came into his hands and the disposition of the property of the deceased, and shall file with the clerk vouchers showing what disposition was made of the said property or of the proceeds thereof. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 100.]

§ 1764a. Appointment as guardian. In awarding letters of guardianship of the person and estate, or person or estate, of an insane or incompetent person, the court shall appoint as guardian such person as may have been designated pursuant to section two hundred forty-two of the Civil Code, in which cases such persons shall be appointed unless good cause to the contrary be shown. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 644.]

§ 1768. Payment of ward's debts by guardian. Every guardian appointed under the provisions of this chapter, whether for a minor or any other person, must pay all just debts due from the ward out of his personal estate and the income of his real estate, if sufficient; if not, then out of his real estate upon obtaining an order for the sale or mortgage thereof, and disposing of the same in the manner provided in article four of this chapter. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 155.]

The act amending section 1768 also contained the following provision repealing the prior section 1768:

§ 2. Act, Stats. 1907, p. 981, repealed. An act entitled "An act to amend section one thousand seven hundred sixty-eight of the Code of Civil Procedure," approved March 23, 1907, printed as chapter five hundred twenty-six, Statutes of 1907, is hereby repealed.

There were two sections 1768 enacted at the session of 1907. See Stats. 1907, pp. 944 and 981. It was the section as found at page 981 that was repealed by the above statute.

§ 1810b. Attorney's fees against minor fixed by court. Judgment not in excess of five hundred dollars. All contracts for attorney's fees made by or for the benefit of minors shall be void, and whenever a judgment shall be recovered by or on behalf of a minor, the attorney's fees chargeable against said minor shall be fixed by the court in which said judgment is rendered; and if said judgment is for money, and there is no general guardian of said minor, one shall be appointed by the court, and the entire amount of the judgment shall be paid to and shall be cared for by such general guardian, under the control of the court; provided, that where a minor has brought an action by a guardian ad litem and has recovered a money judgment not in excess of five hundred dollars, exclusive of costs, and the guardian ad litem is a parent or blood relative of said minor, then, with the approval of the court that rendered the judgment the whole amount of said judgment may be paid directly to such guardian ad litem without any bond being required therefor. The court in any of the cases provided for herein may direct the amount fixed as attorney's fees to be paid directly to the attorney, and the balance to be paid to such guardian ad litem of said minor, or to the general guardian of said minor if a general guardian has been appointed or is required by the court. [Amendment approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 556.]

§ 1810c. Parent's right to compromise claim of minor. Where a minor shall have a disputed claim for money against a third person, the father, and if the father be dead or has deserted or abandoned the minor, then the mother of said minor, shall have the right to compromise such claim, but before the compromise shall be valid or of any effect the same shall be approved by the superior court of the county where the minor resides, upon a verified petition in writing, regularly filed with said court. If the court approves such compromise, the said superior court may direct the money paid to the father or mother of such minor, with or without the filing of any bond, or it may require a general guardian or guardian ad litem to be duly appointed and the money to be paid to such guardian or guardian ad litem with or without a bond as in the discretion of the court seems to the best interests of said minor. The clerk of the superior court shall not charge any fee for filing said petition for leave to compromise or for placing the same upon the calendar to be heard by the court. [New section approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 557.]

§ 1881. Cases in which witnesses may not be examined. There are particular relations in which it is the policy of the law to encourage confidence and to preserve it inviolate; therefore, a person cannot be examined as a witness in the following cases:

1. Husband and wife. A husband cannot be examined for or against his wife without her consent; nor a wife for or against her husband, without his consent; nor can either, during the marriage or afterward, be, without the consent of the other, examined as to any communication made by one to the other during the marriage; but this exception does not apply to a civil action or proceeding by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceeding for a crime committed by one against the other; or in an action brought by husband or wife against another person for the alienation of the affections of either husband or wife or in an action for damages against another person for adultery committed by either husband or wife.

2. Attorney and client. An attorney cannot, without the consent of his client, be examined as to any communication made by the client to him, or his advice given thereon in the course of professional employment; nor can an attorney's secretary, stenographer, or clerk be examined, without the consent of his employer, concerning any fact the knowledge of which has been acquired in such capacity.

3. Confessor and confessant. A clergyman or priest cannot, without the consent of the person making the confession, be examined as to any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs.

4. Physician and patient. A licensed physician or surgeon cannot, without the consent of his patient, be examined in a civil action as to any information acquired in attending the patient, which was necessary to enable him to prescribe or act for the patient; provided, however, that after the death of the patient, the executor of his will, or the administrator of his estate, or the surviving spouse of the deceased, or, if there be no surviving spouse, the children, of the deceased personally, or, if minors, by their guardian, may give such consent, in any action or proceeding brought to recover damages on account of the death of the patient; provided, further, that where any person brings an action to recover damages for personal injuries, such action shall be deemed to constitute a consent by the person bringing such action that any physician who has prescribed for or treated said person and whose testimony is material in said action shall testify; and provided, further, that the bringing of an action, to recover for the death of a patient, by the executor of his will, or by the administrator of his estate, or by the surviving spouse of the deceased, or if there be no surviving spouse, by the children personally, or, if minors, by their guardian, shall constitute a consent by such executor, administrator, surviving spouse, or children or guardian, to the testimony of any physician who attended said deceased.

5. Public officer. A public officer cannot be examined as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interest would suffer by the disclosure. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 954.]

to any notary public, judge or justice of the peace or commissioner selected by the court or judge or justice issuing it. If issued to any country out of the United States, it may be directed to a minister, ambassador, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, or judge of a court of record in such country, or to any person agreed upon by the parties. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 280.]

examined as to any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs.

4. Physician and patient. A licensed physician or surgeon cannot, without the consent of his patient, be examined in a civil action as to any information acquired in attending the patient, which was necessary to enable him to prescribe or act for the patient; provided, however, that after the death of the patient, the executor of his will, or the administrator of his estate, or the surviving spouse of the deceased, or, if there be no surviving spouse, the children, of the deceased personally, or, if minors, by their guardian, may give such consent, in any action or proceeding brought to recover damages on account of the death of the patient; provided, further, that where any person brings an action to recover damages for personal injuries, such action shall be deemed to constitute a consent by the person bringing such action that any physician who has prescribed for or treated said person and whose testimony is material in said action shall testify; and provided, further, that the bringing of an action, to recover for the death of a patient, by the executor of his will, or by the administrator of his estate, or by the surviving spouse of the deceased, or if there be no surviving spouse, by the children personally, or, if minors, by their guardian, shall constitute a consent by such executor, administrator, surviving spouse, or children or guardian, to the testimony of any physician who attended said deceased.

5. Public officer. A public officer cannot be examined as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interest would suffer by the disclosure. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 954.]

OF THE

AMENDMENTS OF 1917 AND 1919.

§ 51. All persons have equal personal rights. All citizens within the jurisdiction of this state are entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurants, hotels, eating-houses, barber-shops, bathhouses, theaters, skating-rinks, public conveyances, and all other places of public accommodation or amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law, and applicable alike to all citizens. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 309.]

§ 52. Damages for violation of personal rights. Whoever denies to any citizen, except for reasons applicable alike to every race or color, the full accommodations, advantages, facilities, and privileges enumerated in section fifty-one of this code, or who aids, or incites, such denial, or whoever makes any discrimination, distinction or restriction on account of color or race, or except for good cause, applicable alike to citizens of every color or race whatsoever, in respect to the admission of any citizen to, or his treatment in, any inn, hotel, restaurant, eating-house, barber-shop, bathhouse, theater, skating-rink, public conveyance, or other public place of amusement or accommodation, whether such place is licensed or not, or whoever aids or incites such discrimination, distinction or restriction, for each and every such offense is liable in damages in an amount not less than one hundred dollars, which may be recovered in an action at law brought for that purpose. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 309.]

§ 73. Authentication of marriages. The person solemnizing a marriage must make, sign and indorse upon or attach to the license a certificate showing:

1. The fact, time and place of solemnization; and
2. The names and places of residence of one or more witnesses to the ceremony.
3. A statement of the official position of the person solemnizing the marriage, or of the denomination of which said person is a priest or minister. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 156.]

§ 137. Action for permanent support of wife. When an action for divorce is pending, the court may, in its discretion, require the husband to pay as alimony any money necessary to enable the wife to support herself and her children, or to prosecute or defend the action. When the husband willfully deserts the wife or when the husband willfully fails to provide for the wife or when the wife has any cause of action for divorce as provided in section ninety-two of this code, she may, without applying for divorce, maintain in the superior court an action against him for permanent support and maintenance of herself or of herself and children. During the pendency of such action the court may, in its discretion, require the husband to pay as alimony any money necessary for the prosecution of the action and for support and maintenance, and execution may issue therefor in the discretion of the court. The court, in granting the wife permanent support and maintenance of herself, or of herself and children, in any such action, shall make the same disposition of the community property and of the homestead, if any, as would have been made if the marriage had been dissolved by the decree of a court of competent jurisdiction. The final judgment in such action may be enforced by the court by such order or orders as in its discretion it may from time to time deem necessary, and such order or orders may be varied, altered, or revoked at the discretion of the court. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 35.]

§ 164. What is community property. All other property acquired after marriage by either husband or wife, or both, including real property situated in this state, and personal property wherever situated, acquired while domiciled elsewhere, which would not have been the separate property of either if acquired while domiciled in this state, is community property; but wherever any property is conveyed to a married woman by an instrument in writing, the presumption is that the title is thereby vested in her as her separate property. And in case the conveyance is to such married woman and to her husband, or to her and any other person, the presumption is that the married woman takes the part conveyed to her, as tenant in common, unless a different intention is expressed in the instrument, and the presumption in this section mentioned is conclusive in favor of a purchaser or encumbrancer in good faith and for a valuable consideration. And in cases where married women have conveyed, or shall hereafter convey, real property which they acquired prior to May nineteenth, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine, the husband, or their heirs or assigns, of such married women, shall be barred from commencing or maintaining any action to show that said real property was community property, or to recover said real property, as follows: As to conveyances heretofore made, from and after one year from the date of the taking effect of this act; and as to conveyances hereafter made, from and after one year from the filing for record in the recorder's office of such conveyances, respectively. [Amendment approved May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 827.]

§ 172. Management of community personal property. The husband has the management and control of the community personal property, with like absolute power of disposition, other than testamentary, as he has of his separate estate; provided, however, that he cannot make a gift of such community personal property, or dispose of the same without a valuable consideration, or sell, convey, or encumber the furniture, furnishings, or fittings of the home, or the clothing or wearing apparel of the wife or minor children that is community, without the written consent of the wife. [Amendment approved May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 829.]

§ 172a. Management of community real property. The husband has the management and control of the community real property, but the wife must join with him in executing any instrument by which such community real property or any interest therein is leased for a longer period than one year, or is sold, conveyed, or encumbered; provided, however, that the sole lease, contract, mortgage or deed of the husband, holding the record title to community real property, to a lessee, purchaser or encumbrancer, in good faith without knowledge of the marriage relation shall be presumed to be valid; but no action to avoid such instrument shall be commenced after the expiration of one year from the filing for record of such instrument in the recorder's office in the county in which the land is situate. [New section added May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 829.]

§ 172b. Permit to sell, etc., community property if husband or wife insane. Where real property is held as community property, and either the husband or wife has been adjudged insane, the husband or wife not insane may petition the superior court of the county in which such community real property is situated for an order permitting the husband or wife, not insane, to sell and convey, mortgage or lease, such community real property to raise moneys to provide for the support and care either of the sane or insane spouse, or of their minor children, and also to raise moneys for the payment of the necessary taxes, interest and other charges incurred and required to be paid for the protection and preservation of the community estate. Such petition must be subscribed and sworn to by the applicant, setting forth the name and age of the insane husband or wife; a description of the premises constituting the community real property petitioned to be sold, mortgaged, or leased; the value of same; the county in which it is situated; and such facts, in addition to the insanity of the husband or wife, relating to the circumstances and necessities of the applicant and his or her family as he or she may rely upon in support of the petition. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1284.]

§ 172c. Notice of application for permit. Notice of the application for such order must be given by publication of the same, in a newspaper published in the county in which such community real property is situated, if there is a newspaper published therein, once each week for three successive weeks, prior to the hearing of such application, and a copy of such notice must also be personally served upon the nearest relative of such insane husband or wife, resident in this state, at least three weeks prior to such application; and in case there is no such relative known to the applicant, a copy of such notice must be so served upon the public administrator of the county in which such community real property is situated; and in such case it is the duty of such public administrator to appear and represent the interests of such insane person. For all such services rendered by the public administrator he must be allowed a reasonable fee, to be fixed by the court, and the same must be taxed as costs against the person making application for the order herein provided for. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1284.]

§ 172d. Validity of sale, etc. If it appears to the court that such husband or wife has been adjudged insane, the court may make an order permitting the husband or wife, not insane, to sell and convey, or mortgage or lease such community real property, and thereafter any sale, conveyance, mortgage or lease, made in pursuance of such order is as valid and effectual as if the property affected thereby was the absolute property of the person making such sale, conveyance, mortgage or lease. If a sale is ordered it must be reported to and confirmed by the court. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1285.]

§ 224. Consent to adoption of children. Father or mother deprived of control of child. Father or mother declared insane. Deserted child. Child relinquished for purpose of adoption. Child in orphan asylum. A legitimate child cannot be adopted without the consent of its parents if living, nor an illegitimate child without the consent of its mother if living, except that consent is not necessary in the following cases, to wit:

1. From a father or mother if deprived of civil rights.
2. From a father or mother adjudged guilty of adultery or cruelty and for either cause divorced.

3. From a father or mother who has been judicially deprived of the custody and control of such child on the ground of abandonment, cruelty, neglect or habitual intemperance, either by order of the juvenile court declaring said child to be free from the custody and control of its parents as provided in the juvenile court law of the state of California, approved June 5, 1915, and any act or acts superseding or amending same, or by order of the juvenile court of the county, where such child was left in the care and custody of another by its parent or parents, without any provisions for its support, for the period of one year, determining such child to be an abandoned child as defined in said juvenile court law; provided, however, that said juvenile court shall never make such order of abandonment without first giving notice of said abandonment proceeding by personal service of citation or other court process on the parent or parents or person having the custody of such child residing within the state, if their residence is known, and also such other or further notice to said parent or parents or person having the custody of such child, or other person or persons as the court may require, or by order of any other court of competent jurisdiction.

4. From a father or mother who has been declared either feeble-minded or insane by the state commission in lunacy or by three competent persons appointed by said commission; provided, that if so declared insane, said father or mother shall have subsequently been determined to be incurably insane by the superior court of the county where he or she resides.

From a father or mother of any child deserted by its parents without provision for their identification:

From a father or mother of any child relinquished by its parent or parents for the purpose of adoption expressed in writing signed and acknowledged by such parent or parents before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments, or signed by such parent or parents before two subscribing witnesses and acknowledged by such parent or parents before the secretary of any organization or society engaged in the work of placing dependent or deserted children into homes in this state, which organization or society has obtained a permit therefor, duly executed in writing, from the state board of charities and corrections, and when a copy of this relinquishment shall have been filed with the state board of charities and corrections prior to the commencement of any adoption proceedings affecting such child.

Any child, the consent of whose parents is not necessary for its adoption within the meaning of this section maintained by or in the custody of any orphan asylum within this state, any charitable organization or society receiving state aid or receiving commitments from the juvenile court, may be adopted with the consent of the president of such orphan asylum, charitable organization or society, or with the consent of such officer as may be authorized by the directors or managers of such asylum, organization or society to consent to adoption in such cases. Any orphan child for whose support no provision has been made by any person for a period of one year, but who has been maintained during said year, by or in the custody of any orphan asylum within this state, any charitable organization or society receiving state aid or receiving commitments from the juvenile court may be adopted with the consent of the president of such orphan asylum, charitable organization or society or with the consent of such officer as may be authorized by the directors or managers of such asylum, organization or society to consent to adoption in such cases. [Amendment approved May 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 770.]

§ 242. Appointment by will or deed of guardian. A guardian of the person or estate, or of both, of an insane or incompetent person may be appointed by will or deed, to take effect upon the death of the person appointing:

1. If the insane or incompetent person be unmarried, or be a person whose marriage has been annulled or dissolved by death or divorce, by the father, with the written consent of the mother, or by either parent if the other be dead or incapable of consent.

2. If the insane or incompetent person be married and a person whose marriage has not been annulled or dissolved by divorce, then by the spouse. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 645.]

§ 290a. Certificate of approval of superintendent of banks. Before any corporation, authorized in its articles of incorporation to conduct the business of acting as executor, administrator, guardian of estates, assignee, receiver, depository, or trustee under appointment of any court or by authority of any law of this state, or as trustee for any purpose permitted by law, or to engage in the business of banking, or of receiving the money of others on deposit, may file with the secretary of state a certified copy of its articles of incorporation, or of a certificate of extension of its term of existence, or of a certificate increasing or decreasing the number of its directors, or of a certificate increasing or decreasing its capital stock, or of its amended articles of incorporation, or of its articles of incorporation and consolidation, there must be attached thereto the certificate of approval of the superintendent of banks; provided, that this section shall not apply to any corporation authorized to engage in the business of receiving and holding in escrow money or its equivalent, pending investment in real estate or securities for or on account of its principal, or to act as trustee under deeds of trust given solely for the purpose of securing obligations for the repayment of money other than corporation bonds, nor shall such corporations be subject to the supervision of the superintendent of banks. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 621.]

§ 309. Limitations on directors of corporations. Liability. Pending rights not affected. Sec. 1. Unless they shall have been first permitted or authorized so to do by the commissioner of corporations, directors of corporations must not make dividends except from the surplus profits arising from the business thereof; nor must they create any debts beyond their subscribed capital stock; nor must they divide, withdraw, or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock, except as hereinafter provided, nor reduce or increase the capital stock, except as provided in section three hundred fifty-nine of this code. For a violation of the provisions of this section, the directors under whose administration the same may have happened (except those who may have caused their dissent therefrom to be entered at large on the minutes of the directors at the time, or were not present when the same did happen) are, in their individual or private capacity, jointly and severally liable to the corporation, and to the creditors thereof, to the full amount of the capital stock so divided, withdrawn, paid out, or reduced or debt contracted. Nothing herein prohibits a division and distribution of the capital stock of any corporation which remains after the payment of all its debts, upon its dissolution, or the expiration of its term of existence.

Sec. 2. No right, cause of action, or liability now existing or any action or proceeding now pending, shall be affected by this act and such right, cause of action or liability may be enforced and such action or proceeding may be prosecuted in the same manner and with the same effect as if this act had not been passed; excepting only the liability of a director of a corporation heretofore incurred shall not exist in any case where all of the debts and liabilities of the corporation to creditors having been paid, the capital stock divided, withdrawn, or paid out constituted all of the capital stock of the corporation and the same was paid out, withdrawn, or divided with the consent of all of the stockholders to or among themselves. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 657.]

§ 321a. Change of principal place of business. Procedure. Every corporation that has been or may be created under the general laws of this state may change its principal place of business from one place to another in the same county, or from one city or county to another city or county within this state. Before such change is made, the consent in writing, of the holders of two-thirds of the capital stock of the corporation must be obtained and filed in its office; or if the corporation has no capital stock, then the consent in writing of two-thirds of the members thereof, must be obtained and filed in its office. When such consent is obtained and filed, notice of the intended removal or change must be published, at least once a week, for three successive weeks, in some newspaper published in the county, wherein said principal place of business is situated, if there is one published therein; if not, in a newspaper of an adjoining county, giving the name of the county or city where it is situated and that to which it is intended to remove it. Whenever any such change is made, a copy of the resolution or action of the board of directors authorizing the same together with a copy of an affidavit of the publication above required, all duly certified by the president and secretary of the corporation with the corporate seal affixed shall be filed in each office where the original articles of incorporation are, or any copy thereof is required to be filed. This section shall not be construed to require such consent, notice or publication in the case of any such removal from one location to another in the same city, town or village. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 252.]

§ 321c. Voting trust agreements in marketing corporations. Nothing contained in this article shall prevent the execution of valid pooling or voting trust agreements by the stockholders of a corporation organized for the purpose of marketing agricultural products, and the principal business of which is the preparation for and the marketing of such products, the majority of the stock of which is owned by producers of such products; and it shall be lawful for any number of the owners of the capital stock of such corporation, in order to prevent the capital stock thereof from being controlled by interests hostile to such producers and to secure safe and prudent management of the corporation in the interests of the whole number of its stockholders, to enter into agreements with each other by which, for a definite period of time stated therein, the capital stock of such corporation owned by them shall be voted as the owners of a majority of the stock represented by such agreement shall direct from time to time, or to enter into agreements by which the stock to which they shall be entitled shall be issued to trustees selected from among the signers to be held and voted by such trustees for the period specified in and in accordance with the terms of said agreement, and the mutual promises of the several signers of any such agreement shall be sufficient consideration for the making thereof. [New section approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 123.]

§ 322. Liability of stockholders in corporations. Stockholders of corporations shall be liable for the payment of corporate debts and liabilities as follows:

1. Corporations not limited. Each stockholder of a corporation, other than a corporation hereafter organized under the laws of this state which shall adopt and use as the last word of its corporate name the word "Limited," or its abbreviation, "Ltd.," is individually and personally liable for such proportion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder as the amount of stock or shares owned by him at the time the debt or liability was incurred bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation; and such liability is not released by any subsequent transfer of stock. If any stockholder pays his proportion of any debt due from the corporation, incurred while he was such stockholder, he is relieved from any further personal liability for such debt; and if an action has been brought against him upon such debt, it must be dismissed as to him upon his paying the costs or such proportion thereof as may be properly chargeable against him.

2. Corporation without capital stock. In a corporation having no capital stock, each member is individually and personally liable for an equal share of its debts and liabilities.

3. "Limited" corporation. In a corporation hereafter organized under the laws of this state, having a capital stock, and which shall adopt and use as the last word of its corporate name, the word "Limited," or its abbreviation, "Ltd.," if its subscribed and issued shares have not been fully paid, in money paid, labor done, or property actually received by the corporation, and the capital paid in shall be insufficient to satisfy its debts and obligations, each stockholder shall be liable to the creditors of the corporation for an amount equal to that not paid up on the shares held by him, or such proportion of that sum as shall be required to satisfy such debts and obligations; provided, that no judgment upon such liability shall be satisfied out of the property of such stockholder until judgment upon the debt or obligation upon which such liability is founded shall have been first entered against the corporation, and an execution thereon shall have been returned unsatisfied in whole or in part; and the enforcement of any judgment against the stockholder, and of any execution levied thereunder, shall be stayed until such return shall have been made. Any stockholder in such corporation who shall pay any debt or obligation for which he is made liable by the provisions of this subdivision of this section, may recover the amount so paid in an action against the corporation, in which action only the property of the corporation shall be taken in satisfaction of any judgment obtained therein, and not the property of any stockholder. Any amount so paid by such stockholder, and not repaid to him by the corporation or recovered in such action, shall be considered as having been paid on his shares.

4. Foreign corporation. Joint or several actions by creditor. Application of "stockholder" and "member." Trust funds. The liability of each stockholder of a corporation formed under the laws of any other state or territory of the United States, or of any foreign country, and doing business within this state, is the same as the liability of a stockholder of a corporation created under the constitution and laws of this state.

Any creditor of a corporation may commence joint or several actions against any of its stockholders or members for the amount or proportion of his claim payable by each; and in such action the court must ascertain the amount or the proportion of the claim or debt for which each defendant is liable, and a several judgment must be rendered against each, in conformity therewith. The terms "stockholder" and "member," as used in this section, applies not only to such persons as appear by the books of the corporation to be such, but also to every equitable owner of stock or of a membership, although the same appears on the books in the name of another; and also to every person who has advanced the installments or purchase money of stock or a membership in the name of a minor, so long as the latter remains a minor; and also to every guardian, or other trustee, who voluntarily invests any trust funds in the stock or membership. Trust funds in the hands of a guardian, or trustee, are not liable under the provisions of this section by reason of any such investment; nor must the person for whose benefit the investment is made be responsible in respect to the stock until he becomes competent and able to control the same; but the responsibility of the guardian or trustee making the investment continues until that period. Stock held as collateral security, or by a trustee, or in any other representative capacity, does not make the holder thereof a stockholder within the meaning of this section, except in the cases above mentioned, so as to charge him with any proportion of the debts or liabilities of the corporation; but the pledgor, or person or estate represented, is to be deemed the stockholder, as respects such liability.

The act amending § 322 of the Civil Code also contained the following provision:

§ 2. In effect when. This act shall take effect and be in force upon the approval and ratification by the people of an amendment to section three of article twelve of the constitution of this state submitted by the forty-second session of the legislature to the people; and if such amendment so submitted shall not be so approved and ratified, this act shall thereafter be void. [Amendment approved May 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 786.]

The constitutional amendment referred to in section 2 of the above amendment was not adopted, so the amendment never took effect.

§ 331a. Trustee not liable for assessments on stock. Whenever shares of the capital stock of any corporation stands in the name of a trustee with the names of the beneficiaries of the trust disclosed thereon or whenever the corporation has notice that any of its shares of stock is held in trust, and has a list of the names of the beneficiaries of such trust, even though the certificate representing said shares is issued in the name of the trustee individually, and without any notice thereon of such trust, the person holding such stock as trustee shall not be personally liable for assessments made or levied by the corporation upon such stock, but such personal liability for stock assessments shall only be upon and against the beneficial owners of such stock or the beneficiaries of the trust of which such stock may constitute a part. [New section added May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 356.]

§ 361. Changing number of directors of corporations. Any corporation or association may increase or diminish the number of its directors or trustees by the vote or written assent of stockholders representing a majority of its subscribed capital stock, or, if it has no capital stock, by the vote or written assent of a majority of the members. A certificate over the corporate seal, setting forth the action taken by the stockholders, or members, and stating the new number of directors, shall be signed by the president and secretary of such corporation or association, and filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where its original articles of incorporation were filed, and a copy of said certificate, certified by such county clerk, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, whereupon the number of directors or trustees shall be changed as stated in said certificate. This section shall apply to all corporations existing under the laws of the state of California, whether organized and incorporated prior to the enactment of this code, or subsequent thereto. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 327.]

§ 377. Records required to be kept by corporations. All corporations for profit are required to keep a record of all their business transactions; a journal of all meetings of their directors, members, or stockholders, with the time and place of holding the same, whether regular or special, and if special, its object, how authorized, and the notice thereof given. The record must embrace every act done or ordered to be done; who were present, and who absent; and, if requested by any director, member, or stockholder, the time shall be noted when he entered the meeting or obtained leave of absence therefrom. On a similar request, the ayes and noes must be taken on any proposition, and a record thereof made. On similar request, the protest of any director, member, or stockholder, to any action or proposed action, must be entered in full. Such records shall be open to the inspection of any legislative committee, board, commission, or officer of the state of California whose duty it is to inspect or examine the same, and of any director, member, or bona fide stockholder thereof; provided, however, the board of directors may, by unanimous vote, deny such examination or inspection to a stockholder who demands the same with intent to use to the injury of the corporation the information to be acquired thereby, and a satisfactory showing of such intent shall be a complete defense to any action or proceeding brought by any such person to compel the officers of any such corporation to submit any of such records for his inspection or examination. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1407.]

§ 378. Stock and transfer books. In addition to the records required to be kept by the preceding section, corporations for profit must keep a book, to be known as the "stock and transfer book," in which must be kept a record of all stock; the names of the stockholders or members, alphabetically arranged; installments paid or unpaid; assessments levied and paid or unpaid; a statement of every alienation, sale, or transfer of stock made, the date thereof, and by and to whom; and all such other records as the by-laws prescribe. Corporations for religious and benevolent purposes must provide in their by-laws for such records to be kept as may be necessary. Such stock and transfer book shall be open to the inspection of any officer, bona fide stockholder, member, or creditor of the corporation. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1407.]

§ 400. Directors of corporation are trustees of creditors. Unless other persons are appointed by the court, the directors or managers of the affairs of a corporation at the time of its dissolution are trustees of the creditors and stockholders or members of the corporation dissolved, and have full powers to settle the affairs of the corporation, collect and pay outstanding debts, sell the assets thereof in such manner as the court shall direct, and distribute the proceeds of such sales and all other assets to the stockholders. Such trustees shall have authority to sue for and recover the debts and property of the corporation, and shall be jointly and severally personally liable to its creditors and stockholders or members, to the extent of its property and effects that shall come into their hands. Death, resignation or failure or inability to act shall constitute a vacancy in the position of trustee, which vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the superior court upon petition of any person or creditor interested in the property of such corporation. Such trustees may be sued in any court in this state by any person having a claim against such corporation or its property. Trustees of corporations heretofore dissolved or whose charters have heretofore been forfeited by law shall have and discharge in the same manner and under the same obligations, all the powers and duties herein prescribed. Vacancies in the office of trustees of such corporations shall be filled as hereinbefore provided. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 380.]

§ 405. Designation of person upon whom process may be served. Service on secretary of state, when valid. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

Designation of person upon whom service may be had. See post, Act 756.

§ 406. Foreign corporations, statute of limitations in favor of. Proof of corporate existence. Change of designation. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

§ 408. Foreign corporations to file certified copies of articles of incorporation. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

Filing copies of articles. See post, Act 756.

§ 409. Foreign corporations, fees to be paid by on filing certified copies of articles of incorporation. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

Fees to be paid by. See post, Act 756.

§ 410. Foreign corporations failing to comply with law. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 381.]

Failure to comply with law. See post, Act 756.

§ 421. Legal investments of insurance companies. Corporations organized under the laws of this state for the transaction of any kind of insurance business authorized by such laws may invest their capital, surplus and accumulations in the purchase of, or loans upon any of the securities specified in subdivisions one to five inclusive of this section.

1. U. S. bonds. Bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations of the United States or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for the payment of principal and interest.

2. State bonds. Bonds of this state or those for which the faith and credit of the state of California are pledged for the payment of principal and interest and bonds of any other state in the United States that has not, within five years next preceding such investment by such insurance company, defaulted in payment of any part of either principal or interest due upon any legally authorized bond issue.

3. County, etc., bonds. Bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations issued under authority of law by any county, municipality or school district in this state, or in any other state or territory of the United States; provided, that said county, municipality or school district or the state or territory in which it is located has not, within two years next preceding such investment by such insurance company, defaulted in payment of any part of either principal or interest due upon any legally authorized bond issue.

4. Road division, etc., bonds. Bonds of any permanent road division in this state, and any irrigation district bonds which the law may now or hereafter authorize as legal investments for insurance companies; provided, that the total amount of bonds issued by any such irrigation district does not exceed sixty per centum of the aggregate market value of the lands within such district, and of the water, water rights, canals, reservoirs, reservoir sites and irrigation works owned or to be acquired or constructed with the proceeds of any such bonds, by such district, such facts in reference to bonds of irrigation districts to be determined by a commission now or hereafter authorized by law to ascertain and report upon such facts.

5. First mortgage notes. (a) Notes or bonds secured by first mortgage or deed of trust or other first lien upon real estate, improved or unimproved; provided, that the principal so loaned or the entire note or bond issue so secured shall not exceed sixty per centum of the market value of such real estate, or of such real estate with improvements taken as security at the date of investment; provided, also, in case said loan is made, or said note or bond issue created for a building loan on real estate, that at no time shall the principal so loaned or the entire outstanding note or bond issue exceed sixty per centum of the market value of the real estate and the actual cost of the improvements thereon taken as security; or

(b) Notes guaranteed by policy of mortgage insurance. Notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust, payment of which is guaranteed by a policy of mortgage insurance, and mortgage participation certificates, issued by a mortgage insurance company in accordance with the provisions of chapter eight of title two of part four of division first of the Civil Code; provided, that no insurance corporation shall make any investment in any of the securities specified in subdivisions one, two, three, four and five of this section in an amount exceeding the market value of such security, at the date of such investment.

6. Investment of balance of capital. Record of investment. Corporations organized for and engaged in the business of fire, life or marine insurance, may, after the investment of two hundred thousand dollars, and corporations organized for and engaged in the business of transacting any other kind of insurance authorized by law, except mortgage insurance, may also, after the investment of one hundred thousand dollars in any of the securities specified in subdivisions one, two, three, four and five of this section, invest the balance of their capital, surplus and any accumulations in the purchase of or loans upon the stock of any corporation (except a mining corporation) organized and carrying on business under the laws of this state, or the laws of the United States, which stocks have, at the date of such investment, a market value of not less than their paid-in value, or in the purchase of, or loans upon, interest-bearing bonds issued by a corporation organized under the laws of any state or territory in the United States, which corporation has not, within five years next preceding the date of such investment, defaulted in payment of any part of either principal or interest of any bond of the issue of which the bonds which comprise such investment form a part, and which stocks or bonds must, in each case, be rated as first-class securities; provided, that any investment made, under the provisions of this subdivision of this section shall be approved by vote of two-thirds of all the directors of the investing corporation. Such approval shall be entered upon the records or minutes of such corporation. Such entry must show the fact of making such investment, the amount thereof, the name of each director voting to approve the same, the amount, character and value of the security purchased or taken as collateral, and if the investment be a loan, the name of the borrower, the rate of interest thereon, and the date when the loan will become due or payable. It shall be the duty of the secretary of any such investing corporation to report in writing during the months of January and July of each year to the insurance commissioner, the data above set forth respecting each such investment, and the insurance commissioner may, if any such investment is not approved by him, require the corporation to sell or dispose of the same.

7. Policy loans. Life insurance companies may also loan upon their own policies; provided, that the amount so loaned upon each policy shall not exceed the reserve against said policy at the time said loan is made; provided, further, that no policy loans whatever shall ever be used as security which may be deposited with the insurance commissioner under section six hundred thirty-four of the Political Code; and provided, further, that whenever any such loan in any amount is made on a policy registered with the insurance commissioner under said section six hundred thirty-four of the Political Code, such registration shall be forthwith canceled.

8. Securities issued in foreign country. Any insurance company of this state doing business in any foreign country may invest so much of its funds as are required to meet its obligation incurred in such foreign country and in conformity to the laws thereof, in the same kind of securities issued in such foreign country that such company is by law allowed to invest in this state, and subject to the limitations imposed by law in this state. [Amendment approved May 28, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 976.]

§ 453e. Corporations for insurance on assessment plan. Investment in bonds. Certificate of insurance commissioner. Corporations may be formed to carry on the business of mutual insurance upon the assessment plan, and are subject only to the provisions of this chapter. No such corporation may issue contracts of insurance until at least five hundred persons have applied, in writing, to the insurance commissioner, for membership or insurance therein, and have paid to the treasurer of such corporation the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars. This sum must be invested in bonds or securities, approved by the insurance commissioner of this state, or deposited in some bank in this state where it will earn interest. Said bonds or securities, or evidence of such deposit, must be placed, through the insurance commissioner of this state, with the state treasurer, and the principal sum must be held in trust for the contract holders of such corporation, with the right in the corporation to exchange said bonds, securities, or evidence of bank deposit for others of like value. Such corporation must also, as a condition precedent to issuing any contracts of insurance, obtain the written certificate of the insurance commissioner that it has complied with the requirements of this chapter; and that the name of the corporation is not the same as that of any other corporation of this or other states, as indicated by the insurance department reports in his office; nor must the commissioner approve any name or title so closely resembling another as to mislead the public. No corporation formed hereunder has legal existence after one year from the date of its articles, unless its organization has been completed and business commenced; nor shall any corporation or individual solicit, or cause to be solicited, any business, until such corporation has complied with the provisions of section six hundred thirty-three of the Political Code. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to exempt any corporation from the provisions of sections two hundred ninety-six and two hundred ninety-nine of this code. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 955.]

§ 594. Incorporation of associations having no fixed place of business. Any association of this state mentioned in title twelve of part four of division first of the Civil Code made up of constituent or member clubs, or other subordinate bodies, having a common periodical or occasional convention or other general assemblage whether, of members or delegates, and operating on the federation plan, whether state, district or otherwise, or having no fixed meeting place for such assemblages, or having no fixed office or principal place of business in any one county or city and county or for the meetings of its agencies or committees or officers, and which association determines such place or places from time to time through its agencies and according to its rules and customs, may incorporate under the provisions of said title for purposes other than profit and without capital stock. The articles of incorporation upon there being therein stated any of the matters hereinabove mentioned inconsistent with any part or parts of section two hundred ninety of the Civil Code need not make, as to such inconsistent matters, the statements required by said section; but such articles shall be governed otherwise by said section and the rules of section six hundred three of said code as it now stands, except that the same officers who acted as such at the meeting authorizing the incorporation shall be the ones to execute the articles and that the word incorporation is to be deemed substituted for the word authority where the latter is used in said section; and provided, further, that it shall be immaterial whether such authorization is made after or before this section goes into effect if the proceedings show it to have been made in view thereof; and, further, that such articles of incorporation, shall set forth a means whereby its office and constitutional principal place of business, which must be in this state, as it exists from time to time, may be ascertained; or must state that same shall be provided by constitution or by-law; and, until such provision is otherwise made, said place shall be the place of business, or if none such the residence, from time to time, in this state of the chief executive officer of the corporation. [New section added May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 830.]

§ 604a. Formation of religious corporations. Directors. Attesting of certificate of incorporation. Powers. For the administration of the temporalities, and for the management of the property and estate of any church, diocese, synod, or district or other organization of such church, or for the administration of the temporalities, and for the management of the property and estate of any religious society or order, community, or other organization of said religious society or order, any church, diocese, synod or other organization of such church, or any community or other council, or other organization of any such religious society or order, or of any community or other organization of such religious society or order, may elect directors and become an incorporation in the manner prescribed in this title, and with all the powers and duties and for the uses and purposes in this title provided for benevolent or religious incorporations, and subject to all the limitations and provisions in said title prescribed, except as otherwise provided in this section; provided, that directors of any such incorporation may be elected and by-laws for its government may be made and amended in accordance with the constitution, by-laws, discipline, rules and regulations of such church, diocese, synod, or district or other organization of such church, or in accordance with the constitution, by-laws, discipline, rules and regulations of such religious society or order, or of any community, or other organization of such religious society or order, at any meeting; and provided, the certificate of incorporation and of the election of directors to be filed shall be sufficiently attested by the signatures of the presiding officer, president, or other head, and acting secretary of such church, diocese, synod, or other organization of such church, or of the community or other council or other organization of such society or order, and that the limitations of section five hundred ninety-five shall not apply to such corporations heretofore organized or formed, or hereafter organized under this section when land is held or used for churches, hospitals, schools, colleges, asylums, or parsonages. Every such corporation heretofore organized or formed, or hereafter organized pursuant to the provisions of this section shall have power to contract in the same manner and to the same extent as a natural person, and may sue and be sued, and may defend in all courts and places in all matters and proceedings whatsoever and shall have authority to borrow money, give promissory notes therefor, and secure the payment thereof by mortgage or other lien upon property real or personal, and may buy, sell, lease, mortgage and deal in real and personal property in the same manner that a natural person may, subject, however, to the provisions of section five hundred ninety-eight of this code; and may receive bequests and devises for its own use, or upon trusts, to the same extent as a natural person, subject, however, to the provisions of section one thousand three hundred thirteen of the Civil Code of the State of California and may appoint attorneys in fact. [Amendment approved May 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 784.]

§ 638. Security for loans. Interest. For every loan made a note or obligation, expressing and setting forth the exact rate of interest, must be executed by the borrower, secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust upon unencumbered real estate having an appraised value of not less than twenty-five per cent in excess of the face of the loan, except such loans as may be made upon the security of bonds specified in section six hundred forty-seven; or in lieu of a mortgage or deed of trust, loans to the extent of not exceeding ninety per cent of the then withdrawable value, may be made upon the pledge of free shares or certificates as security for their repayment. The board of directors may from time to time fix the rate of interest to be charged on loans. A borrower may at any time repay his loan together with interest or arrears due thereon and upon the surrender of the shares, or certificate pledged as security therefor. [Amendment approved May 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 780.]

§ 647a. Consolidation of building and loan associations. Consent of shareholders. Approval. Any two or more building and loan associations may unite and become incorporated in one body, with or without any dissolution or division of the funds of either of them; or any such corporation, association or society may transfer its engagements, funds and property to any other like corporation, association or society upon such terms as may be agreed by an unanimous vote of their respective boards of directors, ratified by the written consent of the shareholders holding more than two-thirds of the shares in force in each of the respective contracting associations; provided, however, that any such consolidation or transfer must also be approved by the official or officials vested by law with powers of state supervision and license. [New section approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 37.]

§ 715. Restraints upon alienation. Except in the single case mentioned in section seven hundred seventy-two, the absolute power of alienation cannot be suspended, by any limitation or condition whatever, for a longer period than as follows:

1. During the continuance of the lives of persons in being at the creation of the limitation or condition; or

2. For a period not to exceed twenty-five years from the time of the creation of the suspension. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 699.]

§ 718. Period of lease of city lots. Property of minor or incompetent. Tide-lands. Purposes for which tide-lands may be leased. No lease or grant of any town or city lot for a longer period than ninety-nine years, in which shall be reserved any rent or service of any kind, shall be valid; provided, that the property of any municipality, or any minor or incompetent person, shall not be leased for a longer period than ten years, excepting that the sewer farm of a municipality and all waters and sewage used or discharged thereon may be leased for a period not exceeding twenty-five years; and excepting that the tide-lands and submerged lands granted to any city by the state, or any lands belonging to such city adjacent to such tide-lands and submerged lands, may be leased for a period not exceeding forty years if the grant from the state of California of the use of said tide-lands and submerged lands does not provide specifically for a term of years for which said lands may be leased. Said tide-lands and submerged lands and lands adjacent thereto can only be leased for industrial uses, the purpose of improvement and development of the harbor of said city, and the construction and maintenance of wharves, docks, piers or bulkhead piers or for other public uses and purposes consistent with the requirements of commerce or navigation at said harbor. [Amendment approved May 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 798.]

§ 1207. Defectively acknowledged deeds, etc., validated. Any instrument affecting the title to real property, including any instrument executed by a married woman on or after the first day of July, 1891, which was, previous to the first day of January, 1919, copied into the proper book of record, kept in the office of any county recorder, imparts, after that date, notice of its contents to subsequent purchasers and encumbrancers, notwithstanding any defect, omission, or informality in the execution of the instrument, or in the certificate of acknowledgment thereof, or the absence of any such certificate; but nothing herein affects the rights of purchasers or encumbrancers previous to the taking effect of this act. Duly certified copies of the record of any such instrument may be read in evidence with like effect as copies of an instrument duly acknowledged and recorded; provided, when such copying in the proper book of record occurred within fifteen years prior to the trial of the action, it is shown first that the original instrument was genuine. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 244.]

§ 1271. Consent to dispose of property by will. Either husband or wife may, by will, dispose of his or her half of the community property by and with the consent of the other, which consent must be in writing upon or attached to the will; but either spouse may, without the consent of the other, make such testamentary disposition in favor of the other spouse or of the lineal descendants of the testator. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1275.]

Sections 1271, 1401, 1402 and 1402a of the Civil Code, constituting chapter 611 of the Laws of 1919 (Stats. 1919, p. 1274), were delayed from going into effect by a referendum petition filed with the Secretary of State. They will be voted on at the next general election in November, 1920, or at any special election which may be called by the Governor.

§ 1300. Effect of marriage of woman on her will. If, after making a will, the testatrix marries, and the husband survives the testatrix, the will is revoked, unless provision has been made for him by marriage contract, or unless he is provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision; and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of revocation can be received. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1239.]

§ 1300a. Revocation by marriage and birth of issue. If, after making a will, the testatrix marries, and has issue of said marriage, born either in her life time or after her death, and the husband or issue survives her, the will is revoked, unless provision has been made for such issue by some settlement, or unless such issue are provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision; and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of such revocation can be received. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1240.]

§ 1313. Restriction on devise for charitable uses. Exceptions. No estate, real or personal, shall be bequeathed or devised to any charitable or benevolent society or corporation, or to any person or persons in trust for charitable uses, except the same be done by will duly executed at least thirty days before the decease of the testator; and if so made at least thirty days prior to such death, such devise or legacy and each of them shall be valid; provided, that no such devise or bequest shall collectively exceed one-third of the estate of the testator, leaving legal heirs, and in such case a pro rata deduction from such devises or bequests shall be made so as to reduce the aggregate thereof to one-third of such estate; and all dispositions of property made contrary hereto shall be void, and go to the residuary legatee or devisee, next of kin, or heirs, according to law; and provided, further, that bequests and devises to the state, or to any state institution, or for the use or benefit of the state or any state institution, or to any educational institution which is exempt from taxation under section one a of article thirteen of the constitution of the state of California, or for the use or benefit of any such educational institution, are excepted from the restrictions of this section; provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall apply to bequests or devises made by will executed at least six months prior to the death of a testator who leaves no parent, husband, wife, child or grandchild, or when all of such heirs shall have by writing, executed at least six months prior to his death, waived the restriction contained herein. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 324.]

This section was also amended in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 272). The amendment of 1917 read as follows:

§ 1313. No estate, real or personal, shall be bequeathed or devised to any charitable or benevolent society or corporation, or to any person or persons in trust for charitable uses, except the same be done by will duly executed at least thirty days before the decease of the testator; and if so made at least thirty days prior to such death, such devise or legacy and each of them shall be valid; provided, that no such devise or bequest shall collectively exceed one-third of the estate of the testator, leaving legal heirs, and in such case a pro rata deduction from such devises or bequests shall be made so as to reduce the aggregate thereof to one-third of such estate; and all dispositions of property made contrary hereto shall be void, and go to the residuary legatee or devisee, next of kin, or heirs, according to law; and provided, further, that bequests and devises to the state, or to any state institution, or for the use or benefit of the state or any state institution, are excepted from the restrictions of this section.

§ 1401. One-half of community subject to testamentary disposition of wife. Upon the death of the wife, one-half of the community property belongs to the surviving husband, and the other half is subject to the testamentary disposition of the wife, subject, however, to the provisions of section one thousand two hundred seventy-one of the Civil Code; and in the absence of such testamentary disposition, the entire community property goes to the surviving husband without administration, except such portion thereof as may have been set apart to the wife by judicial decree for her support and maintenance, which portion is subject to her testamentary disposition, and in the absence of such disposition goes to her descendants or heirs, exclusive of her husband, and the fact of intestacy may be determined by proceedings under section one thousand seven hundred twenty-three of the Code of Civil Procedure. When the wife makes testamentary disposition of her interest in the community property, the entire community property is subject to the community debts, and the charges and expenses of administration. Prior to admission of any such will to probate, the husband shall continue in the management and control of the community property; after the admission of the will to probate, the court may and so far as the proper and advantageous administration of the estate will permit, must continue the management and control of the community property in the husband, who from time to time shall account to the estate for such management and control. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1274.]

The going into effect of this section was delayed by the filing of a referendum petition. See note to § 1271.

§ 1402. One-half subject to testamentary disposition of husband. Upon the death of the husband, one-half of the community property belongs to the surviving wife, and the other half is subject to the testamentary disposition of the husband, subject, however, to the provisions of section one thousand two hundred seventy-one of the Civil Code, and in absence of such testamentary disposition, it all goes to the surviving wife upon administration. In case of the dissolution of the community by the death of the husband, the entire community property is equally subject to his debts, the family allowance and the charges and expenses of administration. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1274.]

The going into effect of this section was delayed by the filing of a referendum petition. See note to § 1271.

§ 1402a. Share of surviving spouse exempt from inheritance tax, etc. The one-half of the community property which belongs to the surviving spouse shall not be subject to inheritance tax or be reckoned as part of the estate of the deceased spouse for the purpose of fixing the compensation of executors or administrators or fixing attorneys fees. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1275.]

The going into effect of this section was delayed by the filing of a referendum petition. See note to § 1271.

§ 1405. Escheat property. Recovery. Whenever any person dies leaving any property in this state not disposed of by will, and there are no persons entitled to succeed thereto under the laws of this state, the same shall escheat to the state as of the date of the death of the decedent. The property or proceeds of any estate deposited in the state treasury after final decree of distribution or judgment of the superior court by reason of the failure of heirs to make claim thereto may be recovered upon judgment of the superior court or order of the state board of control as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 255.]

§ 1861a. Liens of keepers of furnished apartment houses. Keepers of furnished apartment houses shall have a lien upon the baggage and other property of value belonging to their tenants or guests, which may be in such furnished apartment house, for the proper charges due from such tenants or guests, for their accommodation, rent, services, meals, and such extras as are furnished at their request, and for all moneys expended for them, at their request, and for the costs of enforcing such lien, with the right to the possession of such baggage and other property of value until such charges are paid, and such moneys are repaid; and unless such charges shall be paid and unless such moneys shall be repaid within sixty days from the time when such charges and moneys, respectively, become due, said keeper of a furnished apartment house may sell said baggage and property, at public auction to the highest bidder, after giving notice of such sale by publication of a notice containing the name of the debtor, the amount due, a brief description of the property to be sold, and the time and place of such sale, once every week, for four successive weeks, prior to the date of sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which said furnished apartment house is situated, and also by mailing, at least fifteen days prior to the date of sale, a copy of such notice addressed to such tenant or guest at his postoffice address, if known, and if not known, such notice shall be addressed to such tenant or guest at the place where such furnished apartment house is situated; and, after satisfying such lien out of the proceeds of such sale, together with any reasonable costs that may have been incurred in enforcing said lien, the residue of said proceeds of sale, if any, shall, upon demand made within six months after such sale, be paid by said keeper of a furnished apartment house to such tenant or guest; and if not demanded within six months from the date of such sale, said residue, if any, shall be paid into the treasury of the county in which such sale took place; and if the same be not claimed by the owner thereof, or his legal representative, within one year thereafter, it shall be paid into the general fund of the county; and such sale shall be a perpetual bar to any action against said keeper of a furnished apartment house for the recovery of such baggage or property, or of the value thereof, or for any damages growing out of the failure of such tenant or guest to receive such baggage or property. [New section added June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1662.]

§ 1917. Legal rate of interest. [Repealed by initiative act adopted November 5, 1918; Stats. 1919, p. lxxxiii.]

See post, Act 1675.

§ 1918. Parties may agree on any rate of interest. [Repealed by initiative act adopted November 5, 1918; Stats. 1919, p. lxxxiii.]

See post, Act 1675.

§ 1919. Interest becomes part of principal when. [Repealed by initiative act adopted November 5, 1918; Stats. 1919, p. lxxxiii.]

See post, Act 1675.

§ 1920. Interest on judgments. [Repealed by initiative act adopted November 5, 1918; Stats. 1919, p. lxxxiii.]

See post, Act 1675.

§ 1980. Contracts for service limited to five years. A contract to render personal service, other than a contract of apprenticeship, as provided in the chapter on master and servant, cannot be enforced against the employee beyond the term of five years from the commencement of service under it; but if the employee voluntarily continues his service under it beyond that time, the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1074.]

DIVISION III.

PART IV.

TITLE VII.

CHAPTER III.

ARTICLE III.

Bills of Lading.

- Subdivision I. Issue of bills of lading, §§ 2126-2126i.
 II. Obligation and rights of carriers upon their bills of lading, §§ 2127-2128k.
 III. Negotiation and transfer of bills, §§ 2129-2130g.
 IV. Criminal offenses, §§ 2131-2131f.
 V. Interpretation, § 2132-2132d.

SUBDIVISION I.

Issue of Bills of Lading.

- § 2126. Bills governed by this article.
 § 2126a. Form of bills. Essential terms.
 § 2126b. Form of bills. What terms may be inserted.
 § 2126c. Definition of non-negotiable or straight bill.
 § 2126d. Definition of negotiable or order bill.
 § 2126e. Negotiable bills must not be issued in sets.
 § 2126f. Duplicate negotiable bills must be so marked.
 § 2126g. Non-negotiable bills shall be so marked.
 § 2126h. Insertion of name of person to be notified.
 § 2126i. Acceptance of bill indicates assent to its terms.

§ 2126. Bills of lading. Bills of lading issued by any common carrier shall be governed by this article.

NOTE.—All of Article III of Chapter III of Title VII of Part IV of Division III of the Civil Code, containing §§ 2126 to 2132d, inclusive, and relating to bills of lading, was repealed by an act approved May 21, 1919 (Stats. 1919, p. 762), and a new Article III was adopted in its place. The new article adopted is what is known as the Uniform Bill of Lading Law. The repealing act contained the following clause (Stats. 1919, p. 775): "Nothing contained herein shall be construed as limiting in any way the powers of the railroad commission under the Public Utilities Act, or any re-enactment, revision or amendment thereof."

§ 2126a. Essential terms of bill of lading. Every bill must embody within its written or printed terms—

- (a) The date of its issue;
 (b) The name of the person from whom the goods have been received;

- (c) The place where the goods have been received;
- (d) The place to which the goods are to be transported;
- (e) A statement whether the goods received will be delivered to a specified person, or to the order of a specified person;
- (f) A description of the goods or of the packages containing them which may, however, be in such general terms as are referred to in section two thousand one hundred twenty-eight of this code; and
- (g) The signature of the carrier.

A negotiable bill shall have the words "order of" printed thereon immediately before the name of the person upon whose order the goods received are deliverable.

A carrier shall be liable to any person injured thereby for the damage caused by the omission from a negotiable bill of any of the provisions required in this section.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126b. What terms may be inserted. A carrier may insert in a bill, issued by him, any other terms and conditions, provided that such terms and conditions shall not—

- (a) Be contrary to law or public policy, or
- (b) In any wise impair his obligation to exercise at least that degree of care in the transportation and safekeeping of the goods intrusted to him which a reasonably careful man would exercise in regard to similar goods of his own.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126c. Non-negotiable or straight bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to a specified person, is a non-negotiable or straight bill.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126d. Negotiable or order bill. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to the order of any person named in such bill, is a negotiable or order bill.

Any provision in such a bill that it is non-negotiable shall not affect its negotiability within the meaning of this article.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126e. Negotiable bills must not be issued in sets. Negotiable bills issued in this state for the transportation of goods to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, shall not be issued in parts or sets.

If so issued the carrier issuing them shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods described therein to anyone who purchases a part for value in good faith, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to a holder of one of the other parts.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126f. Duplicate negotiable bills must be so marked. When more than one negotiable bill is issued in this state for the same goods to be transported to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill shall be placed plainly upon the face of every such bill, except the one first issued. A carrier shall be liable for the damage caused by his failure so to do to anyone who has purchased the bill for value in good faith as an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to the holder of the original bill.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126g. Non-negotiable bills must be marked. A non-negotiable bill shall have placed plainly upon its face by the carrier issuing it "non-negotiable" or "not negotiable."

This section shall not apply, however, to memoranda or acknowledgments of an informal character.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126h. Insertion of name of person to be notified. The insertion in a negotiable bill of the name of a person to be notified of the arrival of the goods shall not limit the negotiability of the bill, or constitute notice to a purchaser thereof of any rights or equities of such person in the goods.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2126i. Acceptance of bill indicates assent to terms. Except as otherwise provided in this article where a consignor receives a bill and makes no objection to its terms or conditions at the time he receives it, neither the consignor nor any person who accepts delivery of the goods, nor any person who seeks to enforce any provision of the bill, shall be allowed to deny that he is bound by such terms and conditions, so far as they are not contrary to law or public policy.

See note to § 2126.

SUBDIVISION II.

Obligations and Rights of Carriers upon Their Bills of Lading.

- § 2127. Obligation of carrier to deliver.
- § 2127a. Justification of carrier in delivering.
- § 2127b. Carrier's liability for misdelivery.
- § 2127c. Negotiable bills must be canceled when goods delivered.
- § 2127d. Negotiable bills must be canceled or marked when parts of goods delivered.
- § 2128. Altered bills.
- § 2128a. Lost or destroyed bills.
- § 2128b. Effect of duplicate bills.
- § 2128c. Carrier cannot set up title in himself.
- § 2128d. Interpleader of adverse claimants.
- § 2128e. Carrier has reasonable time to determine validity of claims.
- § 2128f. Adverse title is no defense, except as above provided.
- § 2128g. Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods.
- § 2128h. Attachment or levy upon goods for which a negotiable bill has been issued.
- § 2128i. Creditor's remedies to reach negotiable bills.
- § 2128j. Negotiable bill must state charges for which lien is claimed.
- § 2128k. Effect of sale.

§ 2127. Obligation of carrier to deliver. A carrier, in the absence of some lawful excuse, is bound to deliver goods upon a demand made either by the consignee named in the bill for the goods, or if the bill is negotiable, by the holder thereof, if such demand is accompanied by—

(a) An offer in good faith to satisfy the carrier's lawful lien upon the goods;

(b) An offer in good faith to surrender, properly indorsed, the bill which was issued for the goods if the bill is negotiable; and

(c) A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the carrier.

In case the carrier refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the consignee or holder so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the carrier to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal or failure.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2127a. Justification of carrier in delivering. A carrier is justified, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, in delivering goods to one who is—

(a) A person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods, or

(b) The consignee named in a non-negotiable bill for the goods, or

(c) A person in possession of a negotiable bill for the goods by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order, or which has been indorsed to him or in blank by the consignee or by the mediate or immediate indorsee of the consignee.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2127b. Carrier's liability for misdelivery. Where a carrier delivers goods to one who is not lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the carrier shall be liable to anyone having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions (b) and (c) of the preceding section; and, though he delivered the goods as authorized by either of said subdivisions, he shall be so liable if prior to such delivery he—

(a) Had been requested, by or on behalf of a person having a right of property or possession in the goods, not to make such delivery, or

(b) Had information at the time of the delivery that it was to a person not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods.

A request or information to be effective within the meaning of this section must be given to an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a request or information, and must be given in time to enable the officer or agent to whom it is given, acting with reasonable diligence, to stop delivery of the goods.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2127c. Negotiable bills must be canceled upon delivery of goods. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred twenty-eight k of this code, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the bill, such carrier shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods to anyone who for value and in good faith purchases such bill, whether such purchaser acquired title to the bill before or after the delivery of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2127d. When part of goods are delivered. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred twenty-eight k of this code, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers part of the goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued and fails either—

(a) To take up and cancel the bill, or

(b) To place plainly upon it a statement that a portion of the goods has been delivered, with a description, which may be in general terms, either of the goods or packages that have been so delivered or of the goods or packages which still remain in the carrier's possession, he shall be liable for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the bill, to anyone who for value and in good faith purchases it, whether such purchaser acquired title to it before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding such delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128. Altered bills. Any alteration, addition or erasure in a bill after its issue without authority from the carrier issuing the same either in writing or noted on the bill shall be void, whatever be the nature and purpose of the change, and the bill shall be enforceable according to its original tenor.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128a. Lost or destroyed bills. Where a negotiable bill has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the court to protect the carrier or any person injured by such delivery from any liability or loss, incurred by reason of the original bill remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the carrier's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section, shall not relieve the carrier from liability to a person to whom the negotiable bill has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128b. Effect of duplicate bills. A bill upon the face of which the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill is placed plainly shall impose upon the carrier issuing the same the liability of one who represents and warrants that such bill is an accurate copy of an original bill properly issued, but no other liability.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128c. Carrier cannot set up title in himself. No title to goods or right to their possession, asserted by a carrier for his own benefit, shall excuse him from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of a bill issued for them, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the consignor or consignee after the shipment, or from the carrier's lien.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128d. Interpleader of adverse claimants. If more than one person claims the title or possession of goods, the carrier may require all known claimants to interplead, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods, or as an original suit, whichever is appropriate.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128e. Reasonable time to ascertain validity of claim. If someone other than the consignee or person in possession of the bill, has a claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the carrier has information of such claim, the carrier shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods either to the consignee or person in possession of the bill, or to the adverse claimant, until the carrier has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128f. Adverse title no defense except as provided. Except as provided in the two preceding sections and in section two thousand one hundred twenty-seven a of this code, no right or title of a third person unless enforced by legal process shall be a defense to an action brought by the consignee of a non-negotiable bill or by the holder of a negotiable bill against the carrier for failure to deliver the goods on demand.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128g. Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods. Liability of carrier. If a bill of lading has been issued by a carrier or on his behalf by an agent or employee the scope of whose actual or apparent authority includes the issuing of bills of lading, the carrier shall be liable to—

- (a) The consignee named in a non-negotiable bill, or
- (b) The holder of a negotiable bill,

Who has given value in good faith relying upon the description therein of the goods, for damages caused by the nonreceipt by the carrier or a connecting carrier of all or part of the goods or their failure to correspond with the description thereof in the bill at the time of its issue.

If, however, the goods are described in a bill merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind or quantity, or in a certain condition, or it is stated in the bill that packages are said to contain goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition, or that the contents or condition of the contents of packages are unknown, or words of like purport are contained in the bill, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the carrier issuing the bill, although the goods are not of the kind or quantity or in the condition which the marks or labels upon them indicate, or of the kind or quantity or in the condition they were said to be by the consignor. All carriers must issue to shippers of carload freight from agency stations a clean bill of lading at the request of the shipper and in such cases shall discontinue the practice of noting on bill of lading "Shipper's load and count." Upon request of shipper of carload freight from a nonagency station, the carrier shall send a man to check the loading and shall issue a clean bill of lading, the expense, except transportation of man to and from point of loading to perform service of checking, to be borne by the shipper.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128h. Attachment or levy upon goods. If goods are delivered to a carrier by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser for value in good faith would bind the owner and a negotiable bill is issued for them, they cannot thereafter, while in the possession of the carrier, be attached by garnishment or otherwise, or be levied upon under an execution, unless the bill be first surrendered to the carrier or its negotiation enjoined. The carrier shall in no such case be compelled to deliver the actual possession of the goods until the bill is surrendered to him or impounded by the court.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128i. Creditor's remedies to reach negotiable bills. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable bill shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such bill, or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which cannot readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128j. Bill must state charges for lien claim. If a negotiable bill is issued the carrier shall have no lien on the goods therein mentioned, except for charges on those goods for freight, storage, demurrage and terminal charges, and expenses necessary for the preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation subsequent to the date of the bill, unless the bill expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall also be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are allowed by law and the contract between the consignor and the carrier.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2128k. Effect of sale. After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a carrier's lien, or because they have not been claimed, or because they are perishable or hazardous, the carrier shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the consignee or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the bill given for the goods when they are shipped, even of [if] such a bill be negotiable.

See note to § 2126.

SUBDIVISION III.

Negotiation and Transfer of Bills.

- § 2129. Negotiation of negotiable bills by delivery.
- § 2129a. Negotiation of negotiable bills by indorsement.
- § 2129b. Transfer of bills.
- § 2129c. Who may negotiate a bill.
- § 2129d. Rights of person to whom a bill has been negotiated.
- § 2129e. Rights of person to whom a bill has been transferred.
- § 2129f. Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement.
- § 2129g. Warranties on sale of bill.
- § 2130. Indorser not a guarantor.
- § 2130a. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt.
- § 2130b. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, accident, mistake, duress, or conversion.
- § 2130c. Subsequent negotiation.
- § 2130d. Form of bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller.
- § 2130e. Demand, presentation or sight draft must be paid, but draft on more than three days' time merely accepted before buyer is entitled to the accompanying bill.
- § 2130f. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien.
- § 2130g. When rights and remedies under mortgages and liens are not limited.

§ 2129. Negotiation of negotiable bills by delivery. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by delivery where, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the bill has indorsed it in blank.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129a. By indorsement. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are deliverable by the tenor of the bill. Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129b. Transfer of bills. A bill may be transferred by the holder by delivery, accompanied with an agreement, express or implied, to transfer the title to the bill or to the goods represented thereby.

A non-negotiable bill cannot be negotiated, and the indorsement of such a bill gives the transferee no additional right.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129c. Who may negotiate bills. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have been acquired if, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129d. Rights of person to whom bill has been negotiated. A person to whom a negotiable bill has been duly negotiated acquires thereby—

(a) Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the bill to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and also such title to the goods as the consignee and consignor had or had power to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and

(b) The direct obligation of the carrier to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the bill as fully as if the carrier had contracted directly with him.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129e. Rights of person to whom bill has been transferred. A person to whom a bill has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby as against the transferrer, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferrer. If the bill is non-negotiable, such person also acquires the right to notify the carrier of the transfer to him of such bill, and thereby to become the direct obligee of whatever obligations the carrier owed to the transferrer of the bill immediately before the notification.

Prior to the notification of the carrier by the transferrer or transferee of a non-negotiable bill, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the carrier may be defeated by garnishment or by attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferrer, or by a notification to the carrier by the transferrer or a subsequent purchaser from the transferrer of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferrer.

A carrier has not received notification within the meaning of this section unless an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a notification, has been notified; and no notification shall be effective until the officer or agent to whom it is given has had time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to communicate with the agent or agents having actual possession or control of the goods.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129f. Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement.

Where a negotiable bill is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferrer is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferrer to compel him to indorse the bill, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. This obligation may be specifically enforced.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2129g. Warranties on sale of bill. A person who negotiates or transfers for value a bill by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a bill, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants—

- (a) That a bill is genuine;
- (b) That he has a legal right to transfer it;
- (c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the bill; and
- (d) That he has a right to transfer the title of the goods, and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied, if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a bill the goods represented thereby.

In the case of an assignment of a claim secured by a bill, the liability of the assignor shall not exceed the amount of the claim.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130. Indorser not a guarantor. The indorsement of a bill shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the carrier or previous indorsers of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130a. No warranty implied from accepting payment of debt. A mortgagee or pledgee, or other holder of a bill for security who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such bill is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person, shall not be deemed by so doing to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such bill or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130b. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, etc. The validity of the negotiation of a bill is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the bill was deprived of the possession of the same by fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion, if the person to whom the bill was negotiated, or a person to whom the bill was subsequently negotiated, gave value therefor, in good faith, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130c. Subsequent negotiation. Where a person having sold, mortgaged, or pledged goods which are in the carrier's possession and for which a negotiable bill has been issued, or having sold, mortgaged, or pledged the negotiable bill representing such goods, continues in possession of the negotiable bill, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith, for value and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or bill had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130d. Form of bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller. Where goods are shipped by the consignor in accordance with a contract or order for their purchase, the form in which the bill is taken by the consignor shall indicate the transfer or retention of the property or right to the possession of the goods as follows:

(a) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to his agent, or to the order of the buyer or of his agent, the consignor thereby transfers the property in the goods to the buyer.

(b) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the seller or to his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods. But if, except for the form of the bill, the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods, the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

(c) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent, but possession of the bill is retained by the seller or his agent, the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods, as against the buyer.

(d) Where the seller draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the draft and bill together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the draft, the buyer is bound to return the bill if he does not honor the draft, and if he wrongfully retains the bill he acquires no added right thereby. If, however, the bill provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer, or to the order of the buyer, or is indorsed in blank or to the buyer by the consignee named therein, one who purchases in good faith, for value, the bill or goods from the buyer, shall obtain the title to the goods, although the draft has not been honored, if such purchaser has received delivery of the bill indorsed by the consignee named therein, or of the goods, without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130e. Draft on buyer by seller of goods. Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price of the goods and transmits the draft and a bill of lading for the goods either directly to the buyer or through a bank or other agency, unless a different intention on the part of the seller appears, the buyer and all other parties interested shall be justified in assuming:

(a) If the draft is by its terms or legal effect payable on demand or presentation or at sight, or not more than three days thereafter (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

(b) If the draft is by its terms payable on time, extending beyond three days after demand, presentation or sight (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require acceptance, but not payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

The provisions of this section are applicable whether by the terms of the bill the goods are consigned to the seller, or to his order, or to the buyer, or to his order, or to a third person, or to his order.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130f. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien. Where a negotiable bill has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such bill has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier who issued such bill of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. Nor shall the carrier be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless such bill is first surrendered for cancellation.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2130g. When rights and remedies are not limited. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred thirty f of this code, nothing in this article shall limit the rights and remedies of a mortgagee or lienholder whose mortgage or lien on goods would be valid, apart from this article, as against one who for value and in good faith purchased from the owner, immediately prior to the time of their delivery to the carrier, the goods which are subject to the mortgage or lien and obtained possession of them.

See note to § 2126.

SUBDIVISION IV.

Criminal Offenses.

- § 2131. Issue of bill for goods not received.
- § 2131a. Issue of bill containing false statement.
- § 2131b. Issue of duplicate bills not so marked.
- § 2131c. Negotiation of bill for mortgaged goods.
- § 2131d. Negotiation of bill when goods are not in carrier's possession.
- § 2131e. Inducing carrier to issue bill when goods have not been received.
- § 2131f. Issue of non-negotiable bill not so marked.

§ 2131. Issue of bill for goods not received. Any officer, agent, or servant of a carrier, who with intent to defraud issues or aids in issuing a bill knowing that all or any part of the goods for which such bill is issued have not been received by such carrier, or by an agent of such carrier or by a connecting carrier, or are not under the carrier's control at the time of issuing such bill, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131a. Issue of bill containing false statement. Any officer, agent, or servant of a carrier, who with intent to defraud issues or aids in issuing a bill for goods, knowing that it contains any false statement, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131b. Issue of duplicate bill not so marked. Any officer, agent, or servant of a carrier, who with intent to defraud issues or aids in issuing a duplicate or additional negotiable bill for goods in violation of the provisions of section two thousand one hundred twenty-six f of this code, knowing that a former negotiable bill for the same goods or any part of them is outstanding and uncanceled, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131c. Negotiation of bill for mortgaged goods. Any person who ships goods to which he has not title, or upon which there is a lien or mortgage, and who takes for such goods a negotiable bill which he afterwards negotiates for value with intent to deceive and without disclosing his want of title or the existence of the lien or mortgage, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131d. Negotiation of bill when goods not in carrier's possession. Any person who with intent to deceive negotiates or transfers for value a bill knowing that any or all of the goods which by the terms of such bill appear to have been received for transportation by the carrier which issued the bill, are not in the possession or control of such carrier, or of a connecting carrier, without disclosing this fact, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131e. Bill issued when goods have not been received. Any person who with intent to defraud secures the issue by a carrier of a bill knowing that at the time of such issue, any or all of the goods described in such bill as received for transportation have not been received by such carrier, or an agent of such carrier or a connecting carrier, or are not under the carrier's control, by inducing an officer, agent, or servant of such carrier falsely to believe that such goods have been received by such carrier, or are under its control, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2131f. Issue of non-negotiable bill not so marked. Any person who with intent to defraud issues or aids in issuing a non-negotiable bill without the words "not negotiable" placed plainly upon the face thereof, shall be guilty of a crime, and upon conviction shall be punished for each offense by imprisonment not exceeding five years or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.

See note to § 2126.

SUBDIVISION V.

Interpretation.

- § 2132. Rule for cases not provided for in this article.
- § 2132a. Interpretation shall give effect to purpose of uniformity.
- § 2132b. Definitions.
- § 2132c. Article does not apply to existing bills.
- § 2132d. Inconsistent legislation repealed.

§ 2132. Rules for cases not provided for in this article. In any case not provided for in this article, the rules of law and equity including the law-merchant, and in particular the rules relating to the law of principal and agent, executors, administrators and trustees, and to the effect of fraud, misrepresentation, duress or coercion, accident, mistake, bankruptcy, or other invalidating cause, shall govern.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2132a. Interpretation and construction. This article shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it.

§ 2132b. Definitions. (1) In this article, unless the context or subject matter otherwise requires—

“Action” includes counterclaim, setoff, and suit in equity.

“Bill” means bill of lading.

“Consignee” means the person named in the bill as the person to whom delivery of the goods is to be made.

“Consignor” means the person named in the bill as the person from whom the goods have been received for shipment.

“Goods” means merchandise or chattels in course of transportation, or which have been or are about to be transported.

“Holder” of a bill means a person who has both actual possession of such bill and a right of property therein.

“Order” means an order by indorsement on the bill.

“Owner” does not include mortgagee or pledgee.

“Person” includes a corporation or partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest.

To “purchase” includes to take as mortgagee and to take as pledgee.

“Purchaser” includes mortgagee and pledgee.

“Value” is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or pre-existing obligation, whether for money or not, constitutes value where a bill is taken either in satisfaction thereof or as security therefor.

(2) A thing is done “in good faith,” within the meaning of this article, when it is in fact done honestly, whether it be done negligently or not.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2132c. Not applicable to existing bills. The provisions of this article do not apply to bills made and delivered prior to the taking effect thereof.

See note to § 2126.

§ 2132d. Inconsistent legislation repealed.

There is no section of this number in the body of the act, although in the classification of this subdivision this section number with the above headline is given.

§ 2767. Disposition by beneficiary of interest in installment. The beneficiary under a policy of life insurance, providing for the payment of the proceeds thereof in periodical installments, may be restrained from disposing of or encumbering his interest in any such installment, prior to the date when it shall become due and payable by the insurer, by a condition or stipulation in the policy. [New section added May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1314.]

§ 2924. Transfer, when mortgage, when pledge. Power of sale to be exercised when. Every transfer of an interest in property, other than in trust, made only as a security for the performance of another act, is to be deemed a mortgage, except when in the case of personal property it is accompanied by actual change of possession, in which case it is to be deemed a pledge.

Where, by a mortgage hereafter created, of any estate in real property, other than an estate at will or for years, less than two, or in any transfer in trust hereafter made of a like estate to secure the performance of an obligation, a power of sale is conferred upon the mortgagee, trustee, or any other person, to be exercised after a breach of the obligation for which such mortgage or transfer is a security, such power shall not be exercised (except where such mortgage or transfer is made pursuant to an order, judgment, or decree of a court of record, or to secure the payment of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness authorized or permitted to be issued by the commissioner of corporations, or is made by a public utility subject to the provisions of the public utilities act), until, (a) the mortgagee or beneficiary shall first record, in the office of the recorder of the county wherein the mortgaged or trust property or some part thereof is situated, a notice of such breach and of his election to sell or cause to be sold such property to satisfy the obligation; (b) not less than three months shall thereafter elapse; and (c) the mortgagee, trustee or other person authorized to make the sale shall give notice of the time and place thereof, in the manner and for a time not less than that required by law for sales of real property upon execution. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 300.]

(2) Must contain an unconditional promise or order to pay a sum certain in money;

(3) Must be payable on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time;

(4) Must be payable to order or to bearer; and

(5) Where the instrument is addressed to a drawee, he must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty.

NOTE.—All of Title XV of Part IV of Division Third of the Civil Code, containing Sections 3086 to 3262, inclusive, and relating to negotiable instruments, was repealed by an act approved June 1, 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 1533), and a new Title XV was adopted in its place. The new title adopted is what is known as the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law. Crawford, in his work on the Annotated Negotiable Instruments Law, treats this law fully.

§ 3083. Sum payable certain. The sum payable is a sum certain within the meaning of this act, although it is to be paid—

(1) With interest; or

(2) By stated installments; or

(3) By stated installments, with a provision that upon default in payment of any installment or of interest, the whole shall become due; or

(4) With exchange, whether at a fixed rate or at the current rate; or

(5) With costs of collection or an attorney's fee, in case payment shall not be made at maturity.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3084. Unqualified promise unconditional. An unqualified order or promise to pay is unconditional within the meaning of this act, though coupled with—

(1) An indication of a particular fund out of which reimbursement is to be made, or a particular account to be debited with the amount; or

(2) A statement of the transaction which gives rise to the instrument. But an order or promise to pay out of a particular fund is not unconditional.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3085. Time for payment. An instrument is payable at a determinable future time, within the meaning of this act, which is expressed to be payable—

(1) At a fixed period after date or sight; or

(2) On or before a fixed or determinable future time specified therein; or

(3) On or at a fixed period after the occurrence of a specified event, which is certain to happen, though the time of happening be uncertain.

An instrument payable upon a contingency is not negotiable, and the happening of the event does not cure the defect.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3086. Non-negotiable instrument. An instrument which contains an order or promise to do any act in addition to the payment of money is not negotiable. But the negotiable character of an instrument otherwise negotiable is not affected by a provision which—

(1) Authorizes the sale of collateral securities in case the instrument be not paid at maturity; or

(2) Authorizes a confession of judgment if the instrument be not paid at maturity; or

(3) Waives the benefit of any law intended for the advantage or protection of the obligor; or

(4) Gives the holder an election to require something to be done in lieu of payment of money.

But nothing in this section shall validate any provision or stipulation otherwise illegal.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3087. Negotiability not affected. The validity and negotiable character of an instrument are not affected by the fact that—

(1) It is not dated; or

(2) Does not specify the value given, or that any value has been given therefor; or

(3) Does not specify the place where it is drawn or the place where it is payable; or

(4) Bears a seal; or

(5) Designates a particular kind of current money in which payment is to be made.

But nothing in this section shall alter or repeal any statute requiring in certain cases the nature of the consideration to be stated in the instrument.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3088. Payable on demand. An instrument is payable on demand—

(1) Where it is expressed to be payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation; or

(2) In which no time for payment is expressed.

Where an instrument is issued, accepted, or indorsed when overdue, it is, as regards the person so issuing, accepting, or indorsing it, payable on demand.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3089. Payable to order. The instrument is payable to order where it is drawn payable to the order of a specified person or to him or his order. It may be drawn payable to the order of—

- (1) A payee who is not maker, drawer, or drawee; or
- (2) The drawer or maker; or
- (3) The drawee; or
- (4) Two or more payees jointly; or
- (5) One or some of several payees; or
- (6) The holder of an office for the time being.

Where the instrument is payable to order the payee must be named or otherwise indicated therein with reasonable certainty.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3090. Payable to bearer. The instrument is payable to bearer—

- (1) When it is expressed to be so payable; or
- (2) When it is payable to a person named therein or bearer; or
- (3) When it is payable to the order of a fictitious or non-existing person, and such fact was known to the person making it so payable; or
- (4) When the name of the payee does not purport to be the name of any person; or
- (5) When the only or last indorsement is an indorsement in blank.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3091. Language of instrument. The instrument need not follow the language of this act, but any terms are sufficient which clearly indicate an intention to conform to the requirements hereof.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3092. True date. Where the instrument or an acceptance of any indorsement thereon is dated, such date is deemed prima facie to be the true date of the making, drawing, acceptance, or indorsement as the case may be.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3093. Ante or post dating. The instrument is not invalid for the reason only that it is antedated or postdated, provided this is not done for an illegal or fraudulent purpose. The person to whom an instrument so dated is delivered acquires the title thereto as of the date of delivery.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3094. Instrument undated. Where an instrument expressed to be payable at a fixed period after date is issued undated, or where the acceptance of an instrument payable at a fixed period after sight is undated, any holder may insert therein the true date or issue or acceptance, and the instrument shall be payable accordingly. The insertion of a wrong date does not avoid the instrument in the hands of a subsequent holder in due course; but as to him, the date so inserted is to be regarded as the true date.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3095. Filling up blanks. Where the instrument is wanting in any material particular, the person in possession thereof has a prima facie authority to complete it by filling up the blanks therein. And a signature on a blank paper delivered by the person making the signature in order that the paper may be converted into a negotiable instrument operates as a prima facie authority to fill it up as such for any amount. In order, however, that any such instrument when completed may be enforced against any person who became a party thereto prior to its completion, it must be filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time. But if any such instrument, after completion, is negotiated to a holder in due course, it is valid and effectual for all purposes in his hands, and he may enforce it as if it had been filled up strictly in accordance with the authority given and within a reasonable time.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3096. Incomplete instrument not delivered. Where an incomplete instrument has not been delivered it will not, if completed and negotiated, without authority, be a valid contract in the hands of any holder, as against any person whose signature was placed thereon before delivery.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3097. Delivery necessary. Every contract on a negotiable instrument is incomplete and revocable until delivery of the instrument for the purpose of giving effect thereto. As between immediate parties, and as regards a remote party other than a holder in due course, the delivery, in order to be effectual, must be made either by or under the authority of the party making, drawing, accepting or indorsing, as the case may be; and in such case the delivery may be shown to have been conditional, or for a special purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring the property in the instrument. But where the instrument is in the hands of a holder in due course, a valid delivery thereof by all parties prior to him so as to make them liable to him is conclusively presumed. And where the instrument is no longer in the possession of a party whose signature appears thereon, a valid and intentional delivery by him is presumed until the contrary is proved.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3098. Rules of construction. Where the language of the instrument is ambiguous or there are omissions therein, the following rules of construction apply:

(1) Where the sum payable is expressed in words and also in figures and there is a discrepancy between the two, the sum denoted by the words is the sum payable; but if the words are ambiguous or uncertain, reference may be had to the figures to fix the amount;

(2) Where the instrument provides for the payment of interest, without specifying the date from which interest is to run, the interest runs from the date of the instrument, and if the instrument is undated, from the issue thereof;

(3) Where the instrument is not dated, it will be considered to be dated as of the time it was issued;

(4) Where there is a conflict between the written and printed provisions of the instrument, the written provisions prevail;

(5) Where the instrument is so ambiguous that there is doubt whether it is a bill or note, the holder may treat it as either at his election;

(6) Where a signature is so placed upon the instrument that it is not clear in what capacity the person making the same intended to sign, he is to be deemed an indorser;

(7) Where an instrument containing the words "I promise to pay" is signed by two or more persons, they are deemed to be jointly and severally liable thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3099. Liability on instrument. No person is liable on the instrument whose signature does not appear thereon, except as herein otherwise expressly provided. But one who signs in a trade or assumed name will be liable to the same extent as if he had signed in his own name.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3100. Signature by agent. The signature of any party may be made by a duly authorized agent. No particular form of appointment is necessary for this purpose; and the authority of the agent may be established as in other cases of agency.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3101. Liability of agent. Where the instrument contains or a person adds to his signature words indicating that he signs for or on behalf of a principal, or in a representative capacity, he is not liable on the instrument if he was duly authorized; but the mere addition of words describing him as an agent, or as filling a representative character, without disclosing his principal, does not exempt him from personal liability.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3102. Signature by "procuration." A signature by "procuration" operates as notice that the agent has but a limited authority to sign, and the principal is bound only in case the agent in so signing acted within the actual limits of his authority.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3103. Indorsement by corporation or infant. The indorsement or assignment of the instrument by a corporation or by an infant passes the property therein, notwithstanding that from want of capacity the corporation or infant may incur no liability thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3104. Forged signature. When a signature is forged or made without the authority of the person whose signature it purports to be, it is wholly inoperative, and no right to retain the instrument, or to give a discharge therefor, or to enforce payment thereof against any party thereto, can be acquired through or under such signature, unless the party, against whom it is sought to enforce such right, is precluded from setting up the forgery or want of authority.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE II.

Consideration.

- § 3105. Presumption of consideration.
- § 3106. Consideration, what constitutes.
- § 3107. What constitutes holder for value.
- § 3108. When lien on instrument constitutes holder for value.
- § 3109. Effect of want of consideration.
- § 3110. Liability of accommodation party.

§ 3105. Presumption of consideration. Every negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie to have been issued for a valuable consideration; and every person whose signature appears thereon to have become a party thereto for value.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3106. Consideration, what constitutes. Value is any consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. An antecedent or pre-existing debt constitutes value; and is deemed such whether the instrument is payable on demand or at a future time.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3107. Holder for value. Where value has at any time been given for the instrument, the holder is deemed a holder for value in respect to all parties who become such prior to that time.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3108. Lien on instrument. Where the holder has a lien on the instrument, arising either from contract or by implication of law, he is deemed a holder for value to the extent of his lien.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3109. Effect of want of consideration. Absence or failure of consideration is matter of defense as against any person not a holder in due course; and partial failure of consideration is a defense pro tanto, whether the failure is an ascertained and liquidated amount or otherwise.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3110. Liability of accommodation party. An accommodation party is one who has signed the instrument as maker, drawer, acceptor, or indorser, without receiving value therefor, and for the purpose of lending his name to some other person. Such a person is liable on the instrument to a holder for value, notwithstanding such holder at the time of taking the instrument knew him to be only an accommodation party.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE III.

Negotiation.

- § 3111. What constitutes negotiation.
- § 3112. Indorsement; how made.
- § 3113. Indorsement must be of entire instrument.
- § 3114. Kinds of indorsement.
- § 3115. Special indorsement.
- § 3116. Blank indorsement; how changed to special indorsement.
- § 3117. When indorsement restrictive.
- § 3118. Effect of restricting indorsement; rights of indorsee.
- § 3119. Qualified indorsement.
- § 3120. Conditional indorsement.
- § 3121. Indorsement of instrument payable to bearer.
- § 3122. Indorsement where payable to two or more persons.
- § 3123. Effect of instrument drawn or indorsed to a person as cashier.
- § 3124. Indorsement where name is misspelled, etc.
- § 3125. Indorsement in representative capacity.
- § 3126. Time of indorsement; presumption.
- § 3127. Place of indorsement; presumption.
- § 3128. Continuation of negotiable character.
- § 3129. Striking out indorsement.
- § 3130. Transfer without indorsement; effect of.
- § 3131. When prior party may negotiate instrument.

§ 3111. Negotiation. An instrument is negotiated when it is transferred from one person to another in such manner as to constitute the transferee the holder thereof. If payable to bearer it is negotiated by delivery; if payable to order it is negotiated by the indorsement of the holder completed by delivery.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3112. Indorsement. The indorsement must be written on the instrument itself or upon a paper attached thereto. The signature of the indorser, without additional words, is a sufficient indorsement.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3113. Indorsement of entire instrument. The indorsement must be an indorsement of the entire instrument. An indorsement which purports to transfer to the indorsee a part only of the amount payable, or which purports to transfer the instrument to two or more indorsees severally, does not operate as a negotiation of the instrument. But where the instrument has been paid in part, it may be indorsed as to the residue.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3114. Kinds of indorsement. An indorsement may be either special or in blank; and it may also be either restrictive or qualified, or conditional.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3115. Special indorsement. A special indorsement specifies the person to whom, or to whose order, the instrument is to be payable; and the indorsement of such indorsee is necessary to the further negotiation of the instrument. An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument so indorsed is payable to bearer, and may be negotiated by delivery.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3116. Blank indorsement, how changed to special indorsement. The holder may convert a blank indorsement into a special indorsement by writing over the signature of the indorser in blank any contract consistent with the character of the indorsement.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3117. Indorsement restrictive. An indorsement is restrictive, which either—

- (1) Prohibits the further negotiation of the instrument; or
- (2) Constitutes the indorsee the agent of the indorser; or
- (3) Vests the title in the indorsee in trust for or to the use of some other person.

But the mere absence of words implying power to negotiate does not make an indorsement restrictive.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3118. Rights conferred. A restrictive indorsement confers upon the indorsee the right—

- (1) To receive payment of the instrument;
- (2) To bring any action thereon that the indorser could bring;
- (3) To transfer his rights as such indorsee, where the form of the indorsement authorizes him to do so.

But all subsequent indorsees acquire only the title of the first indorsee under the restrictive indorsement.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3119. Qualified indorsement. A qualified indorsement constitutes the indorser a mere assignor of the title to the instrument. It may be made by adding to the indorser's signature the words "without recourse" or any words of similar import. Such an indorsement does not impair the negotiable character of the instrument.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3120. Conditional indorsement. Where an indorsement is conditional, a party required to pay the instrument may disregard the condition, and make payment to the indorsee or his transferee, whether the condition has been fulfilled or not. But any person to whom an instrument so indorsed is negotiated, will hold the same, or the proceeds thereof, subject to the rights of the person indorsing conditionally.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3121. Payable to bearer. Where an instrument, payable to bearer, is indorsed specially it may nevertheless be further negotiated by delivery; but the person indorsing specially is liable as indorser to only such holders as make title through his indorsement.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3122. Payable to two or more persons. Where an instrument is payable to the order of two or more payees or indorsees who are not partners, all must indorse, unless the one indorsing has authority to indorse for the others.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3123. Indorsed to person as "cashier." Where an instrument is drawn or indorsed to person as "cashier" or other fiscal officer of a bank or corporation, it is deemed prima facie to be payable to the bank or corporation of which he is such officer; and may be negotiated by either the indorsement of the bank or corporation, or the indorsement of the officer.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3124. Name misspelled. Where the name of a payee or indorsee is wrongly designated or misspelled, he may indorse the instrument as therein described, adding, if he think fit, his proper signature.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3125. In representative capacity. Where any person is under obligation to indorse in a representative capacity, he may indorse in such terms as to negative personal liability.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3126. Time of indorsement. Except where an indorsement bears date after the maturity of the instrument, every negotiation is deemed prima facie to have been effected before the instrument was overdue.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3127. Place of indorsement. Except where the contrary appears, every indorsement is presumed prima facie to have been made at the place where the instrument is dated.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3128. Continuation. An instrument negotiable in its origin continues to be negotiable until it has been restrictively indorsed or discharged by payment or otherwise.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3129. Striking out indorsement. The holder may at any time strike out any indorsement which is not necessary to his title. The indorser whose indorsement is struck out, and all indorsers subsequent to him, are thereby relieved from liability on the instrument.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3130. Transfer without indorsement. Where the holder of an instrument payable to his order transfers it for value without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferor had therein, and the transferee acquires, in addition, the right to have the indorsement of the transferor. But for the purpose of determining whether the transferee is a holder in due course, the negotiation takes effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3131. Prior party may negotiate. Where an instrument is negotiated back to a prior party such party may, subject to the provisions of this title, reissue and further negotiate the same. But he is not entitled to enforce payment thereof against any intervening party to whom he was personally liable.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE IV.

Rights of the Holder.

- § 3132. Right of holder to sue; payment.
- § 3133. What constitutes a holder in due course.
- § 3134. When person not deemed holder in due course.
- § 3135. Notice before full amount paid.
- § 3136. When title defective.
- § 3137. What constitutes notice of defect.
- § 3138. Rights of holder in due course.
- § 3139. When subject to original defenses.
- § 3140. Who deemed holder in due course.

§ 3132. Right to sue. The holder of a negotiable instrument may sue thereon in his own name and payment to him in due course discharges the instrument.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3133. Holder in due course. A holder in due course is a holder who has taken the instrument under the following conditions:

- (1) That it is complete and regular upon its face;
- (2) That he became the holder of it before it was overdue, and without notice that it had been previously dishonored, if such was the fact;
- (3) That he took it in good faith and for value;
- (4) That at the time it was negotiated to him he had no notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating it.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3134. Not holder in due course. Where an instrument payable on demand is negotiated an unreasonable length of time after its issue, the holder is not deemed a holder in due course.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3135. Notice before full amount paid. Where the transferee receives notice of any infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same before he has paid the full amount agreed to be paid therefor, he will be deemed a holder in due course only to the extent of the amount theretofore paid by him.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3136. When title defective. The title of a person who negotiates an instrument is defective within the meaning of this title when he obtained the instrument, or any signature thereto, by fraud, duress, or force and fear, or other unlawful means, or for an illegal consideration, or when he negotiates it in breach of faith, or under such circumstances as amount to a fraud.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3137. Notice of defect. To constitute notice of an infirmity in the instrument or defect in the title of the person negotiating the same, the person to whom it is negotiated must have had actual knowledge of the infirmity or defect, or knowledge of such facts that his action in taking the instrument amounted to bad faith.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3138. Rights of holder in due course. A holder in due course holds the instrument free from any defect of title of prior parties, and free from defenses available to prior parties among themselves, and may enforce payment of the instrument for the full amount thereof against all parties liable thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3139. When subject to original. In the hands of any holder other than a holder in due course, a negotiable instrument is subject to the same defenses as if it were non-negotiable. But a holder who derives his title through a holder in due course, and who is not himself a party to any fraud or illegality affecting the instrument, has all the rights of such former holder in respect of all parties prior to the latter.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3140. Who deemed holder in due course. Every holder is deemed prima facie to be a holder in due course; but when it is shown that the title of any person who has negotiated the instrument was defective, the burden is on the holder to prove that he or some person under whom he claims acquired the title as holder in due course. But the last-mentioned rule does not apply in favor of a party who became bound on the instrument prior to the acquisition of such defective title.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE V.

Liabilities of Parties.

- § 3141. Liability of maker.
- § 3142. Liability of drawer.
- § 3143. Liability of acceptor.
- § 3144. When person deemed indorser.
- § 3145. Liability of irregular indorser.
- § 3146. Warranty where negotiation by delivery, etc.
- § 3147. Liability of general indorser.
- § 3148. Liability of indorser where paper negotiable by delivery.
- § 3149. Order in which indorsers are liable.
- § 3150. Liability of an agent or broker.

§ 3141. Liability of maker. The maker of a negotiable instrument by making it engages that he will pay it according to its tenor, and admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3142. Liability of drawer. The drawer by drawing the instrument admits the existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse; and engages that on due presentment the instrument will be accepted or paid, or both, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored, and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it. But the drawer may insert in the instrument an express stipulation negating or limiting his own liability to the holder.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3143. Liability of acceptor. The acceptor by accepting the instrument engages that he will pay it according to the tenor of his acceptance; and admits—

(1) The existence of the drawer, the genuineness of his signature, and his capacity and authority to draw the instrument; and

(2) The existence of the payee and his then capacity to indorse.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3144. Person deemed indorser. A person placing his signature upon an instrument otherwise than as maker, drawer, or acceptor, is deemed to be an indorser, unless he clearly indicates by appropriate words his intention to be bound in some other capacity.

See note to § 3082.

Supp.—9

§ 3145. Liability of irregular indorser. Where a person, not otherwise a party to an instrument, places thereon his signature in blank before delivery he is liable as indorser, in accordance with the following rules:

(1) If the instrument is payable to the order of a third person, he is liable to the payee and to all subsequent parties.

(2) If the instrument is payable to the order of the maker or drawer, or is payable to bearer, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the maker or drawer.

(3) If he signs for the accommodation of the payee, he is liable to all parties subsequent to the payee.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3146. Warranty when negotiation by delivery, etc. Every person negotiating an instrument by delivery or by a qualified indorsement, warrants—

(1) That the instrument is genuine and in all respects what it purports to be;

(2) That he has a good title to it;

(3) That all prior parties had capacity to contract;

(4) That he has no knowledge of any fact which would impair the validity of the instrument or render it valueless.

But when the negotiation is by delivery only, the warranty extends in favor of no holder other than the immediate transferee.

The provisions of subdivision three of this section do not apply to persons negotiating public or corporation securities, other than bills and notes.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3147. Liability of general indorser. Every indorser who indorses without qualification, warrants to all subsequent holders in due course—

(1) The matters and things mentioned in subdivision one, two and three of the next preceding section; and

(2) That the instrument is at the time of his indorsement valid and subsisting.

And, in addition, he engages that on due presentment, it shall be accepted or paid, or both, as the case may be, according to its tenor, and that if it be dishonored, and the necessary proceedings on dishonor be duly taken, he will pay the amount thereof to the holder, or to any subsequent indorser who may be compelled to pay it.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3148. When negotiable by delivery. Where a person places his indorsement on an instrument negotiable by delivery he incurs all the liabilities of an indorser.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3149. Order in which indorsers liable. As respects one another indorsers are liable prima facie in the order in which they indorse; but evidence is admissible to show that as between or among themselves they have agreed otherwise. Joint payees or joint indorsers who indorse are deemed to indorse jointly and severally.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3150. Liability of broker or agent. Where a broker or other agent negotiates an instrument without indorsement he incurs all the liabilities prescribed by section three thousand one hundred forty-seven, unless he discloses the name of his principal, and the fact that he is acting only as agent.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE VI.

Presentment for Payment.

- § 3151. Effect of want of demand on principal debtor.
- § 3152. Presentment where instrument is not payable on demand and where payable on demand.
- § 3153. What constitutes a sufficient presentment.
- § 3154. Place of presentment.
- § 3155. Instrument must be exhibited.
- § 3156. Presentment where instrument payable at bank.
- § 3157. Presentment where principal debtor is dead.
- § 3158. Presentment to persons liable as partners.
- § 3159. Presentment to joint debtors.
- § 3160. When presentment not required to charge the drawer.
- § 3161. When presentment not required to charge the indorser.
- § 3162. When delay in making presentment is excused.
- § 3163. When presentment may be dispensed with.
- § 3164. When instrument dishonored by nonpayment.
- § 3165. Liability of person secondarily liable, when instrument dishonored.
- § 3166. Time of maturity.
- § 3167. Time; how computed.
- § 3168. Rule where instrument payable at bank.
- § 3169. What constitutes payment in due course.

§ 3151. Presentment for payment. Presentment for payment is not necessary in order to charge the person primarily liable on the instrument; but if the instrument is, by its terms, payable at a special place, and he is able and willing to pay it there at maturity, such ability and willingness are equivalent to a tender of payment upon his part. But except as herein otherwise provided, presentment for payment is necessary in order to charge the drawer and indorsers.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3152. Presentment for payment. Where the instrument is not payable on demand, presentment must be made on the day it falls due. Where it is payable on demand, presentment must be made within a reasonable time after its issue, except that in the case of a bill of exchange, presentment for payment will be sufficient if made within a reasonable time after the last negotiation thereof.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3153. What constitutes sufficient presentment. Presentment for payment, to be sufficient, must be made—

(1) By the holder, or by some person authorized to receive payment on his behalf;

(2) At a reasonable hour on a business day;

(3) At a proper place as herein defined;

(4) To the person primarily liable on the instrument or if he is absent or inaccessible, to any person found at the place where the presentment is made.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3154. Place of presentment. Presentment for payment is made at the proper place—

(1) Where a place of payment is specified in the instrument and it is there presented;

(2) Where no place of payment is specified, but the address of the person to make payment is given in the instrument and it is there presented;

(3) Where no place of payment is specified and no address is given and the instrument is presented at the usual place of business or residence of the person to make payment;

(4) In any other case if presented to the person to make payment wherever he can be found, or if presented at his last known place of business or residence.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3155. Must be exhibited. The instrument must be exhibited to the person from whom payment is demanded, and when it is paid must be delivered up to the party paying it.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3156. Where payable at bank. Where the instrument is payable at a bank, presentment for payment must be made during banking hours, unless the person to make payment has no funds there to meet it at any time during the day, in which case presentment at any hour before the bank is closed on that day is sufficient.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3157. Where principal debtor dead. Where a person primarily liable on the instrument is dead, and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment must be made to his personal representative if such there be, and if, with the exercise of reasonable diligence, he can be found.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3158. Persons liable as partners. Where the persons primarily liable on the instrument are liable as partners, and no place of payment is specified, presentment for payment may be made to any one of them, even though there has been a dissolution of the firm.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3159. Joint debts. Where there are several persons, not partners, primarily liable on the instrument, and no place of payment is specified, presentment must be made to them all.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3160. Presentment for payment not required when. Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge the drawer where he has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will pay the instrument.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3161. Presentment for payment not required when. Presentment for payment is not required in order to charge an indorser where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation and he has no reason to expect that the instrument will be paid if presented.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3162. Delay excused. Delay in making presentment for payment is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder, and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, presentment must be made with reasonable diligence.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3168. When dispensed with. Presentment for payment is dispensed with—

(1) Where after the exercise of reasonable diligence presentment as required by this title cannot be made;

(2) Where the drawee is a fictitious person;

(3) By waiver of presentment, express or implied.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3164. When dishonored by nonpayment. The instrument is dishonored by nonpayment when—

(1) It is duly presented for payment and payment is refused or cannot be obtained; or

(2) Presentment is excused and the instrument is overdue and unpaid.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3165. Liability of person secondarily liable. Subject to the provisions of this title, when the instrument is dishonored by nonpayment, an immediate right of recourse to all parties secondarily liable thereon accrues to the holder.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3166. Time of maturity. Every negotiable instrument is payable at the time fixed therein without grace. When the day of maturity falls upon Sunday, or a holiday, the instrument is payable on the next succeeding business day. Instruments falling due or becoming payable on Saturday are to be presented for payment on the next succeeding business day, except that instruments payable on demand may, at the option of the holder, be presented for payment before twelve o'clock noon on Saturday when that entire day is not a holiday.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3167. Determination of time. Where the instrument is payable at a fixed period after date, after sight, or after the happening of a specified event, the time of payment is determined by excluding the day from which the time is to begin to run, and by including the date of payment.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3168. Where payable at bank. Where the instrument is made payable at a bank it is equivalent to an order to the bank to pay the same for the account of the principal debtor thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3169. Payment in due course. Payment is made in due course when it is made at or after the maturity of the instrument to the holder thereof in good faith and without notice that his title is defective.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE VII.

Notice of Dishonor.

- § 3170. To whom notice of dishonor must be given.
- § 3171. By whom given.
- § 3172. Notice given by agent.
- § 3173. Effect of notice given on behalf of holder.
- § 3174. Effect where notice is given by party entitled thereto.
- § 3175. When agent may give notice.
- § 3176. When notice sufficient.
- § 3177. Form of notice.
- § 3178. To whom notice may be given.
- § 3179. Notice where party is dead.
- § 3180. Notice to partners.
- § 3181. Notice to persons jointly liable.
- § 3182. Notice to bankrupt.
- § 3183. Time within which notice must be given.
- § 3184. Where parties reside in same place.
- § 3185. Where parties reside in different places.
- § 3186. When sender deemed to have given due notice.
- § 3187. Deposit in postoffice; what constitutes.
- § 3188. Notice to subsequent party.
- § 3189. Where notice must be sent.
- § 3190. Waiver of notice.
- § 3191. Whom affected by waiver.
- § 3192. Waiver of protest.
- § 3193. When notice is dispensed with.
- § 3194. Delay in giving notice; how excused.
- § 3195. When notice need not be given to drawer.
- § 3196. When notice need not be given to indorser.
- § 3197. Notice of nonpayment where acceptance refused.
- § 3198. Effect of omission to give notice of nonacceptance.
- § 3199. When protest need not be made; when must be made.

§ 3170. Notice of dishonor. Except as herein otherwise provided, when a negotiable instrument has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment, notice of dishonor must be given to the drawer and to each indorser, and any drawer or indorser to whom such notice is not given is discharged.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3171. By whom given. The notice may be given by or on behalf of the holder, or by or on behalf of any party to the instrument who might be compelled to pay it to the holder, and who upon taking it up would have a right to reimbursement from the party to whom the notice is given.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3172. Notice given by agent. Notice of dishonor may be given by an agent either in his own name or in the name of any party entitled to give notice, whether that party be his principal or not.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3173. Effect of notice. Where notice is given by or on behalf of the holder, it inures for the benefit of all subsequent holders and all prior parties who have a right of recourse against the party to whom it is given.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3174. Effect where notice is given by party entitled thereto. Where notice is given by or on behalf of a party entitled to give notice, it inures for the benefit of the holder and all parties subsequent to the party to whom notice is given.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3175. When agent may give notice. Where the instrument has been dishonored in the hands of an agent, he may either himself give notice to the parties liable thereon, or he may give notice to his principal. If he give notice to his principal, he must do so within the same time as if he were the holder, and the principal upon the receipt of such notice has himself the same time for giving notice as if the agent had been an independent holder.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3176. When notice sufficient. A written notice need not be signed, and an insufficient written notice may be supplemented and validated by verbal communication. A misdescription of the instrument does not vitiate the notice unless the party to whom the notice is given is in fact misled thereby.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3177. Form of notice. The notice may be in writing or merely oral and may be given in any terms which sufficiently identify the instrument, and indicate that it has been dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment. It may in all cases be given by delivering it personally or through the mails.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3178. To whom notice given. Notice of dishonor may be given either to the party himself or to his agent in that behalf.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3179. Notice where party is dead. When any party is dead, and his death is known to the party giving notice, the notice must be given to a personal representative, if there be one, and if with reasonable diligence he can be found. If there be no personal representative, notice may be sent to the last residence or last place of business of the deceased.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3180. Notice to partners. Where the parties to be notified are partners, notice to any one partner is notice to the firm even though there has been a dissolution.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3181. Notice to persons jointly liable. Notice to joint parties who are not partners must be given to each of them, unless one of them has authority to receive such notice for the others.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3182. Notice to bankrupt. Where a party has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent, or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, notice may be given either to the party himself or to his trustee or assignee.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3183. Time within which notice must be given. Notice may be given as soon as the instrument is dishonored; and unless delay is excused as hereinafter provided, must be given within the times fixed by this title.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3184. Notice where parties reside in same place. Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in the same place, notice must be given within the following times:

(1) If given at the place of business of the person to receive notice, it must be given before the close of business hours on the day following;

(2) If given at his residence, it must be given before the usual hours of rest on the day following;

(3) If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the postoffice in time to reach him in usual course on the day following.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3185. Notice where parties reside in different places. Where the person giving and the person to receive notice reside in different places, the notice must be given within the following times:

(1) If sent by mail, it must be deposited in the postoffice in time to go by mail the day following the day of dishonor, or if there be no mail at a convenient hour on that day, by the next mail thereafter;

(2) If given otherwise than through the postoffice, then within the time that notice would have been received in due course of mail, if it had been deposited in the postoffice within the time specified in the last subdivision.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3186. Notice deemed given. Where notice of dishonor is duly addressed and deposited in the postoffice, the sender is deemed to have given due notice, notwithstanding any miscarriage in the mails.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3187. Deposit in postoffice. Notice is deemed to have been deposited in postoffice when deposited in any branch postoffice or in any letter-box under the control of the postoffice department.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3188. Notice to subsequent party. Where a party receives notice of dishonor, he has, after the receipt of such notice, the same time for giving notice to antecedent parties that the holder has after the dishonor.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3189. Where notice may be sent. Where a party has added an address to his signature, notice of dishonor must be sent to that address; but if he has not given such address, then the notice must be sent as follows:

(1) Either to the postoffice nearest to his place of residence, or to the postoffice where he is accustomed to receive his letters; or

(2) If he live in one place, and have his place of business in another, notice may be sent to either place; or

(3) If he is sojourning in another place, notice may be sent to the place where he is sojourning.

But where the notice is actually received by the party within the time specified in this title, it will be sufficient, though not sent in accordance with the requirements of this section.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3190. Waiver of notice. Notice of dishonor may be waived, either before the time of giving notice has arrived, or after the omission to give due notice, and the waiver may be express or implied.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3191. Who is affected by waiver. Where the waiver is embodied in the instrument itself, it is binding upon all parties; but where it is written above the signature of an indorser, it binds him only.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3192. Waiver of protest. A waiver of protest, whether in the case of a foreign bill of exchange or other negotiable instrument, is deemed to be a waiver not only of formal protest, but also of presentment and notice of dishonor.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3193. Notice dispensed with. Notice of dishonor is dispensed with when, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, it cannot be given to or does not reach the parties sought to be charged.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3194. Delay excused. Delay in giving notice of dishonor is excused when the delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder, and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. When the cause of delay ceases to operate, notice must be given with reasonable diligence.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3195. When not required to be given to drawer. Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to the drawer in either of the following cases:

- (1) Where the drawer and drawee are the same person;
- (2) When the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract;
- (3) When the drawer is a person to whom the instrument is presented for payment;
- (4) Where the drawer has no right to expect or require that the drawee or acceptor will honor the instrument;
- (5) Where the drawer has countermanded payment.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3196. When not required to be given indorser. Notice of dishonor is not required to be given to an indorser in either of the following cases:

(1) Where the drawee is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract, and the indorser was aware of the fact at the time he indorsed the instrument;

(2) Where the indorser is the person to whom the instrument is presented for payment;

(3) Where the instrument was made or accepted for his accommodation.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3197. Notice of nonpayment where acceptance refused. Where due notice of dishonor by nonacceptance has been given notice of a subsequent dishonor by nonpayment is not necessary, unless in the meantime the instrument has been accepted.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3198. Effect of omission. An omission to give notice of dishonor by nonacceptance does not prejudice the rights of a holder in due course subsequent to the omission.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3199. Protest. Where any negotiable instrument has been dishonored it may be protested for nonacceptance or nonpayment, as the case may be; but protest is not required except in the case of foreign bills of exchange.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE VIII.

Discharge of Negotiable Instruments.

§ 3200. Instrument; how discharged.

§ 3201. When persons secondarily liable on, discharged.

§ 3202. Right of party who discharged instrument.

§ 3203. Renunciation by holder.

§ 3204. Cancellation; unintentional; burden of proof.

§ 3205. Alteration of instrument; effect of.

§ 3206. What constitutes a material alteration.

§ 3200. How discharged. A negotiable instrument is discharged—

(1) By payment in due course by or on behalf of the principal debtor;

(2) By payment in due course by the party accommodated, where the instrument is made or accepted for accommodation;

(3) By the intentional cancellation thereof by the holder;

(4) By any other act which will discharge a simple contract for the payment of money;

(5) When the principal debtor becomes the holder of the instrument at or after maturity in his own right.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3201. Persons secondarily liable discharged. A person secondarily liable on the instrument is discharged—

- (1) By any act which discharges the instrument;
- (2) By the intentional cancellation of his signature by the holder;
- (3) By the discharge of a prior party;
- (4) By a valid tender of payment made by a prior party;
- (5) By a release of the principal debtor, unless the holder's right of recourse against the party secondarily liable is expressly reserved;
- (6) By any agreement binding upon the holder to extend the time of payment, or to postpone the holder's right to enforce the instrument, unless made with the assent of the party secondarily liable, or unless the right of recourse against such party is expressly reserved.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3202. Right of party who discharged. Where the instrument is paid by a party secondarily liable thereon, it is not discharged; but the party so paying it is remitted to his former rights as regards all prior parties, and he may strike out his own and all subsequent indorsements, and again negotiate the instrument, except—

- (1) Where it is payable to the order of a third person, and has been paid by the drawer; and
- (2) Where it was made or accepted for accommodation, and has been paid by the party accommodated.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3203. Renunciation by holder. The holder may expressly renounce his rights against any party to the instrument, before, at or after its maturity. An absolute and unconditional renunciation of his rights against the principal debtor made at or after the maturity of the instrument discharges the instrument. But a renunciation does not affect the rights of a holder in due course without notice. A renunciation must be in writing, unless the instrument is delivered up to the person primarily liable thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3204. Cancellation. A cancellation made unintentionally, or under a mistake or without the authority of the holder, is inoperative; but where an instrument or any signature thereon appears to have been canceled the burden of proof lies on the party who alleges that the cancellation was made unintentionally, or under a mistake or without authority.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3205. Alteration. Where a negotiable instrument is materially altered without the assent of all parties liable thereon, it is avoided, except as against a party who has himself made, authorized or assented to the alteration, and subsequent indorsers.

But when an instrument has been materially altered and is in the hands of a holder in due course, not a party to the alteration, he may enforce payment thereof according to its original tenor.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3206. Material alteration. Any alteration which changes—

- (1) The date;
- (2) The sum payable, either for principal or interest;
- (3) The time or place of payment;
- (4) The number or the relations of the parties;
- (5) The medium or currency in which payment is to be made;

Or which adds a place of payment where no place of payment is specified, or any other change or addition which alters the effect of the instrument in any respect, is a material alteration.

See note to § 3082.

CHAPTER II.

Bills of Exchange.

- Article I. Form and Interpretation, §§ 3207-3212.
 II. Acceptance, §§ 3213-3223.
 III. Presentment for Acceptance, §§ 3224-3232.
 IV. Protest, §§ 3233-3241.
 V. Acceptance for Honor, §§ 3242-3251.
 VI. Payment for Honor, §§ 3252-3258.
 VII. Bills in a Set, §§ 3259-3264.

ARTICLE I.

Form and Interpretation.

- § 3207. Bill of exchange defined.
 § 3208. Bill not an assignment of funds in hands of drawee.
 § 3209. Bill addressed to more than one drawee.
 § 3210. Inland and foreign bills of exchange.
 § 3211. When bill may be treated as promissory note.
 § 3212. Referee in case of need.

§ 3207. Bill of exchange defined. A bill of exchange is an unconditional order in writing addressed by one person to another, signed by the person giving it, requiring the person to whom it is addressed to pay on demand or at a fixed or determinable future time a sum certain in money to order or to bearer.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3208. Not an assignment of funds. A bill of itself does not operate as an assignment of the funds in the hands of the drawee available for the payment thereof, and the drawee is not liable on the bill unless and until he accepts the same.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3209. Addressed to more than one drawee. A bill may be addressed to two or more drawees jointly, whether they are partners or not; but not to two or more drawees in the alternative or in succession.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3210. Inland and foreign bills. An inland bill of exchange is a bill which is, or on its face purports to be, both drawn and payable within this state. Any other bill is a foreign bill. Unless the contrary appears on the face of the bill, the holder may treat it as an inland bill.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3211. Bill treated as promissory note. Where in a bill drawer and drawee are the same person, or where the drawee is a fictitious person, or a person not having capacity to contract, the holder may treat the instrument, at his option, either as a bill of exchange or a promissory note.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3212. Referee in case of need. The drawer of a bill and any indorser may insert thereon the name of a person to whom the holder may resort in case of need, that is to say in case the bill is dishonored by nonacceptance or nonpayment. Such person is called the referee in case of need. It is in the option of the holder to resort to the referee in case of need or not as he may see fit.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE II.

Acceptance.

- § 3213. Acceptance; how made, etc.
- § 3214. Holder entitled to acceptance on face of bill.
- § 3215. Acceptance by separate instrument.
- § 3216. Promise to accept; when equivalent to acceptance.
- § 3217. Time allowed drawee to accept.
- § 3218. Liability of drawee retaining or destroying bill.
- § 3219. Acceptance of incomplete bill.
- § 3220. Kinds of acceptances.
- § 3221. What constitutes a general acceptance.
- § 3222. Qualified acceptance.
- § 3223. Rights of parties as to qualified acceptance.

§ 3213. Acceptance. The acceptance of a bill is the signification by the drawee of his assent to the order of the drawer. The acceptance must be in writing and signed by the drawee. It must not express that the drawee will perform his promise by any other means than the payment of money.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3214. Holder entitled to acceptance on face of bill. The holder of a bill presenting the same for acceptance may require that the acceptance be written on the bill and, if such request is refused, may treat the bill as dishonored.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3215. Acceptance by separate instrument. Where an acceptance is written on a paper other than the bill itself, it does not bind the acceptor except in favor of a person to whom it is shown and who, on the faith thereof, receives the bill for value.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3216. Promise to accept. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn is deemed an actual acceptance in favor of every person who, upon the faith thereof, receives the bill for value.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3217. Time allowed drawee to accept. The drawee is allowed twenty-four hours after presentment, in which to decide whether or not he will accept the bill; but the acceptance, if given, dates as of the day of presentation.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3218. Liability of drawee retaining or destroying bill. Where a drawee to whom a bill is delivered for acceptance destroys the same, or refuses within twenty-four hours after such delivery, or within such other period as the holder may allow, to return the bill accepted or nonaccepted to the holder, he will be deemed to have accepted the same.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3219. Acceptance of incomplete bill. A bill may be accepted before it has been signed by the drawer, or while otherwise incomplete, or when it is overdue, or after it has been dishonored by a previous refusal to accept, or by non-payment. But when a bill payable after sight is dishonored by nonacceptance and the drawee subsequently accepts it, the holder in the absence of any different agreement, is entitled to have the bill accepted as of the date of the first presentment.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3220. Kinds of acceptance. An acceptance is either general or qualified. A general acceptance assents without qualification to the order of the drawer. A qualified acceptance in express terms varies the effect of the bill as drawn.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3221. Kinds of acceptance. An acceptance to pay at a particular place is a general acceptance, unless it expressly states that the bill is to be paid there only and not elsewhere.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3222. Qualified acceptance. An acceptance is qualified, which is—

(1) Conditional, that is to say, which makes payment by the acceptor dependent on the fulfillment of a condition therein stated;

(2) Partial, that is to say, an acceptance to pay part only of the amount for which the bill is drawn;

(3) Local, that is to say, an acceptance to pay only at a particular place;

(4) Qualified as to time;

(5) The acceptance of some one or more of the drawees, but not of all.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3223. Rights of parties as to qualified acceptances. The holder may refuse to take a qualified acceptance, and if he does not obtain an unqualified acceptance, he may treat the bill as dishonored by nonacceptance. Where a qualified acceptance is taken the drawer and indorsers are discharged from liability on the bill, unless they have expressly or impliedly authorized the holder to take a qualified acceptance, or subsequently assent thereto. When the drawer or an indorser receives notice of a qualified acceptance, he must, within a reasonable time, express his dissent to the holder, or he will be deemed to have assented thereto.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE III.

Presentment for Acceptance:—

- § 3224. When presentment for acceptance must be made.
- § 3225. When failure to present releases drawer and indorser.
- § 3226. Presentment; how made.
- § 3227. On what days presentment may be made.
- § 3228. Presentment where time is insufficient.
- § 3229. Where presentment is excused.
- § 3230. When dishonored by nonacceptance.
- § 3231. Duty of holder where bill not accepted.
- § 3232. Rights of holder where bill not accepted.

§ 3224. When presentment for acceptance must be made.
Presentment for acceptance must be made—

(1) Where the bill is payable after sight, or in any other case, where presentment for acceptance is necessary in order to fix the maturity of the instrument; or

(2) Where the bill expressly stipulates that it shall be presented for acceptance; or

(3) Where the bill is drawn payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee.

In no other case is presentment for acceptance necessary in order to render any party to the bill liable.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3225. Time for presentment. Except as herein otherwise provided, the holder of a bill which is required by the next preceding section to be presented for acceptance must either present it for acceptance or negotiate it within a reasonable time. If he fails to do so, the drawer and all indorsers are discharged.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3226. To whom presentment for acceptance must be made. Presentment for acceptance must be made by or on behalf of the holder at a reasonable hour, on a business day and before the bill is overdue, to the drawee or some person, authorized to accept or refuse acceptance on his behalf; and—

(1) Where a bill is addressed to two or more drawees who are not partners, presentment must be made to them all, unless one has authority to accept or refuse acceptance for all, in which case presentment may be made to him only;

(2) Where the drawee is dead, presentment may be made to his personal representative;

(3) Where the drawee has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, presentment may be made to him or to his trustee or assignee.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3227. On what days presentment may be made. A bill may be presented for acceptance on any day on which negotiable instruments may be presented for payment under the provisions of sections three thousand one hundred fifty-four and three thousand one hundred sixty-seven. When Saturday is not otherwise a holiday, presentment for acceptance may be made before twelve o'clock, noon, on that day.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3228. Presentment where time is insufficient. Where the holder of a bill drawn payable elsewhere than at the place of business or the residence of the drawee has not time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to present the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment on the day that it falls due, the delay caused by presenting the bill for acceptance before presenting it for payment is excused and does not discharge the drawers and indorsers.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3229. When presentment is excused. Presentment for acceptance is excused and a bill may be treated as dishonored by nonacceptance, in either of the following cases:

(1) Where the drawee is dead, or has absconded, or is a fictitious person or a person not having capacity to contract by bill;

(2) Where, after the exercise of reasonable diligence, presentment cannot be made;

(3) Where, although presentment has been irregular, acceptance has been refused on some other ground.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3230. Bill dishonored by nonacceptance. A bill is dishonored by nonacceptance—

(1) When it is duly presented for acceptance and such an acceptance as is prescribed by this title is refused or cannot be obtained; or

(2) When presentment for acceptance is excused and the bill is not accepted.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3231. Duty of holder where not accepted. Where a bill is duly presented for acceptance and is not accepted within the prescribed time the person presenting it must treat the bill as dishonored by nonacceptance or he loses the right of recourse against the drawer and indorsers.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3232. Rights of holder where bill not accepted. When a bill is dishonored by nonacceptance, an immediate right of recourse against the drawers and indorsers accrues to the holder and no presentment for payment is necessary.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE IV.

Protest.

§ 3233. In what cases protest necessary.

§ 3234. Protest; how made.

§ 3235. Protest; by whom made.

§ 3236. Protest; when to be made.

§ 3237. Protest; where made.

§ 3238. Protest both for nonacceptance and nonpayment.

§ 3239. Protest before maturity where acceptor insolvent.

§ 3241. Protest where bill is lost, etc.

§ 3233. In what cases protest necessary. Where a foreign bill appearing on its face to be such is dishonored by nonacceptance, it must be duly protested for nonacceptance, and where such a bill which has not previously been dishonored by nonacceptance is dishonored by nonpayment, it must be duly protested for nonpayment. If it is not so protested, the drawer and indorsers are discharged. Where a bill does not appear on its face to be a foreign bill, protest thereof in case of dishonor is unnecessary.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3234. How made. The protest must be annexed to the bill, or must contain a copy thereof and must be under the hand and seal of the notary making it, and must specify—

(1) The time and place of presentment;

(2) The fact that presentment was made and the manner thereof;

(3) The cause or reason for protesting the bill;

(4) The demand made and the answer given, if any, or the fact that the drawee or acceptor could not be found.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3235. By whom made. Protest may be made by—

(1) A notary public; or

(2) By any respectable resident of the place where the bill is dishonored, in the presence of two or more credible witnesses.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3236. When made. When a bill is protested, such protest must be made on the day of its dishonor, unless delay is excused as herein provided. When a bill has been duly noted, the protest may be subsequently extended as of the date of the noting.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3237. Where made. A bill must be protested at the place where it is dishonored, except that when a bill drawn payable at the place of business, or residence of some person other than the drawee, has been dishonored by nonacceptance, it must be protested for nonpayment at the place where it is expressed to be payable, and no further presentment for payment to, or demand on, the drawee is necessary.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3238. Protest both for nonacceptance and nonpayment. A bill which has been protested for nonacceptance may be subsequently protested for nonpayment.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3239. Protest before maturity. Where the acceptor has been adjudged a bankrupt or an insolvent, or has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors, before the bill matures, the holder may cause the bill to be protested for better security against the drawer and indorsers.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3240. When dispensed with. Protest is dispensed with by any circumstances which would dispense with notice of dishonor. Delay in noting or protesting is excused when delay is caused by circumstances beyond the control of the holder and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence.

When the cause of delay ceases to operate, the bill must be noted or protested with reasonable diligence.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3241. When bill lost, etc. When a bill is lost or destroyed or is wrongly detained from the person entitled to hold it, protest may be made on a copy or written particulars thereof.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE V.

Acceptance for Honor.

§ 3242. When bill may be accepted for honor.

§ 3243. Acceptance for honor; how made.

§ 3244. When deemed to be an acceptance for honor of the drawer.

§ 3245. Liability of the acceptor for honor.

§ 3246. Agreement of acceptor for honor.

§ 3247. Maturity of bill payable after sight; accepted for honor, etc.

§ 3248. Protest of bill accepted for honor, etc.

§ 3249. Presentment for payment to acceptor for honor; how made.

§ 3250. When delay in making presentment is excused.

§ 3251. Dishonor of bill by acceptor for honor.

§ 3242. Acceptance for honor. Where a bill of exchange has been protested for dishonor by nonacceptance or protested for better security, and is not overdue, any person not being a party already liable thereon may, with the consent of the holder, intervene and accept the bill supra protest for the honor of any party liable thereon, or for the honor of the person for whose account the bill is drawn. The acceptance for honor may be for the part only of the sum for which the bill is drawn; and where there has been an acceptance for honor for one party, there may be a further acceptance by a different person for the honor of another party.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3243. How made. An acceptance for honor supra protest must be in writing, and indicate that it is an acceptance for honor, and must be signed by the acceptor for honor.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3244. What deemed to be an acceptance for honor of the drawer. Where an acceptance for honor does not expressly state for whose honor it is made, it is deemed to be an acceptance for the honor of the drawer.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3245. Liability of acceptor. The acceptor for honor is liable to the holder and to all parties to the bill subsequent to the party for whose honor he has accepted.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3246. Agreement of acceptor for honor. The acceptor for honor, by such acceptance engages that he will on due presentment pay the bill according to the terms of his acceptance; provided, it shall not have been paid by the drawee; and provided, also, that it shall have been duly presented for payment and protested for nonpayment and notice of dishonor given him.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3247. Bill payable after sight. Where a bill payable after sight is accepted for honor, its maturity is calculated from the date of the noting for nonacceptance and not from the date of the acceptance for honor.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3248. Protest. Where a dishonored bill has been accepted for honor supra protest or contains a reference in case of need, it must be protested for nonpayment before it is presented for payment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3249. Presentment to acceptor. Presentment for payment to the acceptor for honor must be made as follows:

(1) If it is to be presented in the place where the protest for nonpayment was made, it must be presented not later than the day following its maturity.

(2) If it is to be presented in some other place than the place where it was protested, then it must be forwarded within the time specified in section three thousand one hundred eighty-six.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3250. When delay in making presentment is excused. The provisions of section three thousand one hundred sixty-three apply where there is delay in making presentment to the acceptor for honor or referee in case of need.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3251. Dishonor of bill by acceptor for honor. When the bill is dishonored by the acceptor for honor it must be protested for nonpayment by him.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE VI.

Payment for Honor.

- § 3252. Who may make payment for honor.
- § 3253. Payment for honor; how made.
- § 3254. Declaration before payment for honor.
- § 3255. Preference of parties offering to pay for honor.
- § 3256. Effect on subsequent parties where bill is paid for honor.
- § 3257. Where holder refuses to receive payment supra protest.
- § 3258. Rights of payer for honor.

§ 3252. Payment for honor. Where a bill has been protested for nonpayment, any person may intervene and pay it supra protest for the honor of any person liable thereon or for the honor of the person for whose account it was drawn.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3253. Payment for honor, how made. The payment for honor supra protest in order to operate as such and not as a mere voluntary payment must be attested by a notarial act of honor which may be appended to the protest or form an extension to it.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3254. Declaration. The notarial act of honor must be founded on a declaration made by the payer for honor or by his agent in that behalf declaring his intention to pay the bill for honor and for whose honor he pays.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3255. Preference of parties. Where two or more persons offer to pay a bill for the honor of different parties, the person whose payment will discharge most parties to the bill is to be given the preference.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3256. Subsequent parties discharged. Where a bill has been paid for honor, all parties subsequent to the party for whose honor it is paid are discharged, but the payer for honor is subrogated for, and succeeds to, both the rights and duties of the holder as regards the party for whose honor he pays and all parties liable to the latter.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3257. Right of recourse lost. Where the holder of a bill refuses to receive payment supra protest, he loses his right of recourse against any party who would have been discharged by such payment.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3258. Right of payer for honor. The payer for honor, on paying to the holder the amount of the bill and the notarial expenses incidental to its dishonor, is entitled to receive both the bill itself and the protest.

See note to § 3082.

ARTICLE VII.

Bills in a Set.

§ 3259. Bills in sets constitute one bill.

§ 3260. Right of holders where different parts are negotiated.

§ 3261. Liability of holder who indorses two or more parts of a set to different persons.

§ 3262. Acceptance of bills drawn in sets.

§ 3263. Payment by acceptor of bills drawn in sets.

§ 3264. Effect of discharging one of a set.

§ 3259. Bills in sets one bill. Where a bill is drawn in a set, each part of the set being numbered and containing a reference to the other parts, the whole of the parts constitutes one bill.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3260. Where different parts are negotiated. Where two or more parts of a set are negotiated to different holders in due course, the holder whose title first accrues is as between such holders the true owner of the bill. But nothing in this section affects the rights of a person who in due course accepts or pays the part first presented to him.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3261. Liability of holder. Where the holder of a set indorses two or more parts to different persons he is liable on every such part, and every indorser subsequent to him is liable on the part he has himself indorsed, as if such parts were separate bills.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3262. Acceptance. The acceptance may be written on any part and it must be written on one part only. If the drawee accepts more than one part, and such accepted parts are negotiated to different holders in due course, he is liable on every such part as if it were a separate bill.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3263. Payment by acceptor. When the acceptor of a bill drawn in a set pays it without requiring the part being his acceptance to be delivered up to him, and that part at maturity is outstanding in the hands of a holder in due course, he is liable to the holder thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3264. Whole bill discharged. Except as herein otherwise provided where any one part of a bill drawn in a set is discharged by payment or otherwise the whole bill is discharged.

See note to § 3082.

CHAPTER III.

Promissory Notes and Checks.

ARTICLE I.

§ 3265. Promissory note defined.

§ 3265a. Check defined.

§ 3265b. Within what time a check must be presented.

§ 3265c. Certification of check; effect of.

§ 3265d. Effect where the holder of check procures it to be certified.

§ 3265e. When check operates as an assignment.

§ 3265. Promissory note defined. A negotiable promissory note within the meaning of this title is an unconditional promise in writing made by one person to another signed by the maker engaging to pay on demand, or at a fixed or determinable future time, a sum certain in money to order or to bearer. Where a note is drawn to the maker's own order, it is not complete until indorsed by him.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3265a. Check defined. A check is a bill of exchange drawn on a bank payable on demand. Except as herein otherwise provided, the provisions of this title applicable to a bill of exchange payable on demand apply to a check.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3265b. Time for presenting check. A check must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after its issue or the drawer will be discharged from liability thereon to the extent of the loss caused by the delay.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3265c. Certified check. Where a check is certified by the bank on which it is drawn, the certification is equivalent to an acceptance.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3265d. Effect of acceptance or certification. Where the holder of a check procures it to be accepted or certified the drawer and all indorsers are discharged from liability thereon.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3265e. When check operates as assignment. A check of itself does not operate as an assignment of any part of the funds to the credit of the drawer with the bank, and the bank is not liable to the holder, unless and until it accepts or certifies the check.

See note to § 3082.

CHAPTER IV. General Provisions.

ARTICLE I.

§ 3266. Definitions and meaning of terms.

§ 3266a. Person primarily liable on instrument.

§ 3266b. Reasonable time, what constitutes.

§ 3266c. Time, how computed, when last day falls on holiday.

§ 3266d. Application of act.

§ 3266. Definitions. In this title, unless the context otherwise requires—

“Acceptance” means an acceptance completed by delivery or notification.

“Action” includes counterclaim and setoff.

“Bank” includes any person or association of persons carrying on the business of banking, whether incorporated or not.

“Bearer” means the person in possession of a bill or note which is payable to bearer.

“Bill” means bill of exchange, and “note” means negotiable promissory note.

“Delivery” means transfer of possession, actual or constructive, from one person to another.

“Holder” means the payee or indorsee of a bill or note, who is in possession of it, or the bearer thereof.

“Indorsement” means an indorsement completed by delivery.

“Instrument” means negotiable instrument.

“Issue” means the first delivery of the instrument complete in form, to a person who takes it as a holder.

“Person” includes a body of persons, whether incorporated or not.

“Value” means valuable consideration.

“Written” includes printed, and “writing” includes print.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3266a. Person primarily liable on instrument. The person "primarily" liable on an instrument is the person who by the terms of the instrument is absolutely required to pay the same. All other parties are "secondarily" liable.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3266b. Reasonable time, what constitutes: In determining what is a "reasonable time" or an "unreasonable time," regard is to be had to the nature of the instrument, the usage of trade or business (if any) with respect to such instruments, and the facts of the particular case.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3266c. Time, how computed when last day falls on holiday. Where the day, or the last day, for doing any act herein required or permitted to be done falls on Sunday or on a holiday, the act may be done on the next succeeding secular or business day.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3266d. Application of act. The provisions of this title do not apply to negotiable instruments made and delivered prior to the taking effect hereof. In any case not provided for in this title the rules of law and equity including the law-merchant shall govern.

See note to § 3082.

§ 3320. Liability for nonpayment of check. No bank shall be liable to a depositor because of the nonpayment through mistake or error, and without malice, of a check which should have been paid unless the depositor shall allege and prove actual damage by reason of such nonpayment and in such event the liability shall not exceed the amount of damage so proved. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 622.]

§ 3423. When injunction may not be granted. An injunction cannot be granted:

First—To stay a judicial proceeding pending at the commencement of the action in which the injunction is demanded, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of such proceedings.

Second—To stay proceedings in a court of the United States.

Third—To stay proceedings in another state upon a judgment of a court of that state.

Fourth—To prevent the execution of a public statute, by officers of the law, for the public benefit.

Fifth—To prevent the breach of a contract, other than a contract in writing for the rendition or furnishing of personal service from one to another where the minimum compensation for such service is at the rate of not less than six thousand dollars per annum and where the promised service is of a special, unique, unusual, extraordinary or intellectual character which gives it peculiar value the loss of which cannot be reasonably or adequately compensated in damages in an action at law, the performance of which would not be specifically enforced.

Sixth—To prevent the exercise of a public or private office, in a lawful manner, by the person in possession.

Seventh—To prevent a legislative act by a municipal corporation. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 328.]

§ 3440. Transfers presumed fraudulent. Exceptions. Recording of notice of sale. Sales at public auction. Transfers under order of court. Every transfer of personal property, other than a thing in action, or a ship or cargo at sea or in a foreign port, and every lien thereon, other than a mortgage, when allowed by law, and a contract of bottomry or respondentia, is conclusively presumed if made by a person having at the time the possession or control of the property, and not accompanied by an immediate delivery, and followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the things transferred, to be fraudulent, and therefore void, against those who are his creditors while he remains in possession, and the successors in interest of such creditors, and against any persons on whom his estate devolves in trust for the benefit of others than himself, and against purchasers or encumbrancers in good faith subsequent to the transfer; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to the transfer of wines in the wineries or wine cellars of the makers or owners thereof, or other persons having possession, care, and control of the same, and the pipes, casks, and tanks in which the said wines are contained, which transfers shall be made in writing, and certified and verified in the same form as provided for chattel mortgages, and which shall be recorded in the book of miscellaneous records in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the same are situated; provided, also, that the sale, transfer, or assignment of a stock in trade (or of such a quantity of a stock in trade as to be substantially a whole) in bulk, or in any manner otherwise than in the ordinary course of trade and in the regular and usual practice and method of business of the vendor, transferrer, or assignor, and the sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage of the fixtures or store equipment of a merchant, will be conclusively presumed to be fraudulent and void as against the existing creditors of the vendor, transferrer, assignor or mortgagor, unless at least seven days before the consummation of such sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage the vendor, transferrer, assignor or mortgagor, or the intended vendee, transferee, assignee, or mortgagee, shall record in the office of the county recorder in the county or counties in which the said stock in trade, fixtures or equipment are situated a notice of said intended sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage, stating the name and address of the intended vendor, transferrer, assignor or mortgagor, and the name and address of the intended vendee, transferee, assignee or mortgagee, and a general statement of the character of the merchandise or property intended to be sold, assigned, transferred or mortgaged, and the date when and the place where the purchase price or consideration, if any there be, is to be paid; provided, nevertheless, that if such intended sale is to be at public auction the notice above required to be recorded shall state that fact, the time, terms, and place of said sale, the names and addresses of the vendor and auctioneer, and a general statement of the character of the merchandise or property intended to be sold; but such sale shall in no event occur within seven days of the date of recordation of said notice; provided, further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply or extend to any sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage made under the direction or order of a court of competent jurisdiction or by any executor, administrator, guardian, receiver, or other officer or person acting in the regular and proper discharge of official duty, or in the discharge of any trust imposed upon him by law, nor to any transfer or assignment, statutory or otherwise, made for the benefit of creditors generally, nor to any sale, transfer, assignment or mortgage of any property exempt from execution. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 255.]

THE PENAL CODE

OF CALIFORNIA.

AMENDMENTS OF 1917 AND 1919.

§ 18a. Minimum punishment for felony. Except in cases where a different minimum punishment is prescribed by law, for every offense declared to be a felony and punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, the minimum punishment shall be imprisonment in the state prison for not less than six months. [New section added March 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 7.]

§ 109a. Escapes from state hospitals. Any person who willfully assists any inmate of a state hospital to escape, or in an attempt to escape therefrom, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [New section added May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 275.]

§ 182. Criminal conspiracy defined. If two or more persons conspire:

1. To commit any crime;
2. Falsely and maliciously to indict another for any crime, or to procure another to be charged or arrested for any crime;
3. Falsely to move or maintain any suit, action or proceeding;
4. To cheat and defraud any person of any property, by any means which are in themselves criminal, or to obtain money or property by false pretenses or by false promises with fraudulent intent not to perform such promises;

5. To commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals, or to pervert or obstruct justice, or the due administration of the laws.

They are punishable as follows:

When they conspire to commit any felony, or to commit any act injurious to the public health, or to public morals, or tending to pervert or obstruct justice, or the due administration of the laws, they shall be punishable in the same manner and to the same extent as in this code provided for the punishment of the commission of the said felony or act. respectively.

When they conspire to do any of the other acts described in this section they shall be punishable by imprisonment in the county jail or state penitentiary not exceeding two years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both, and cases of such conspiracy may be prosecuted and tried in the superior court of any county in which any overt act tending to effect such conspiracy shall be done. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 170.]

§ 184. Place of trial. No agreement amounts to a conspiracy, unless some act, beside such agreement, be done within this state to effect the object thereof, by one or more of the parties to such agreement and the trial of cases of conspiracy may be had in any county in which any such act be done. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 170.]

§ 259. Newspaper articles of personal character must be signed. Penalty for violation. Name of author of book or news agency sufficient. [Repealed by act approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 174.]

§ 270. Penalty for not furnishing child with food, etc. A parent of either a legitimate or illegitimate minor child who willfully omits, without lawful excuse to furnish necessary food, clothing, shelter, or medical attendance for his child, is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, or in the county jail, not exceeding two years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both. The superior court, sitting as a juvenile court, may exercise original jurisdiction over all such offenses. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 252.]

§ 310. Desecration of national flag. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation, who, in any manner, for exhibition or display, puts, places, or causes to be placed, an inscription, picture, device, design, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, character, mark or notice of any kind whatsoever, upon any flag of the United States, or ensign evidently purporting to be such flag, or who in any manner appends, annexes or affixes to any such flag any inscription, picture, device, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, character, mark or notice whatsoever, or who displays or exhibits, or causes to be displayed or exhibited, any flag of the United States or ensign purporting to be such flag, upon which is put, attached, annexed, affixed or placed in any manner, any inscription, picture, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, mark or notice whatsoever, or who mutilates, tramples upon, or otherwise defaces or defiles any such flag, said flag being public or private property, or who places or causes to be placed on any manufactured or prepared article or covering of said article, such flag or indication of such flag, or who uses or causes to be used for purposes of a commercial or other trademark, such flag or indication of such flag, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than one year, or both, for each and every offense, in the county jail of the county in which the trial is held; provided, however, that flags or ensigns, the property of and used in the service of the United States, or any state, territory or District of Columbia, may have inscriptions, names of actions, battles, skirmishes, or words, marks or symbols, which are placed thereon pursuant to law or authorized regulations. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 43.]

Protection of Bear Flag. See post, § 310a.

§ 310a. Protection of Bear Flag. Any person, firm or corporation who in any manner, for exhibition or display, puts, places or causes to be placed, an inscription, picture, device, design, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, character, mark or notice of any kind whatsoever upon any flag of the state of California, as designated and described in "An act to select and adopt the Bear Flag as the state flag of California," approved February 3, 1911, or ensign evidently purporting to be such flag or any design thereof, or who in any manner appends, annexes or affixes to any such flag or any design thereof any inscription, picture, device, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, character, mark or notice whatsoever, or who displays or exhibits, or causes to be displayed or exhibited, any flag of the said state of California or ensign purporting to be such flag or any design thereof, upon which is put, attached, annexed, affixed or placed in any manner, any inscription, picture, design, device, symbol, name, advertisement, word, letter, mark or notice whatsoever, or who mutilates, tramples upon, or otherwise defaces or defiles any such flag or any design thereof, said flag being public or private property, or who places or causes to be placed on any manufactured or prepared article or covering of said article, such flag or indication of such flag, or who uses or causes to be used for purposes of an advertisement or of a commercial or other trademark, such flag or indication of such flag, shall be fined not more than two hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than one year, or both, for each and every offense, in the county jail of the county in which the trial is held; provided, however, that flags or ensigns, the property of and used in the service of the United States may have inscriptions, names of actions, battles, skirmishes, or words, marks or symbols, which are placed thereon pursuant to law or authorized regulations; and provided, further, that patriotic societies which at the date of the passage hereof have and are using as emblems or badges of membership in said societies a design consisting of a single star and stripe and a bear, together with words or letters on or in proximity to the design indicating the society of which it is the emblem, may continue the manufacture and use of such emblems or badges as insignia of membership in said societies. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 147.]

Protection of national flag. See ante, § 310.

§ 331. Gambling* in houses owned or rented. Every person who knowingly permits any of the games mentioned in section three hundred thirty and section three hundred thirty a of this code to be played, conducted, or dealt in any house owned or rented by such person, in whole or in part, is punishable as provided in the preceding sections. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1662.]

§ 351a. Falsely representing goods for sale. Written consent. Any person who sells, attempts to sell, offers for sale or assists in the sale of any goods, product or output, and who willfully and falsely represents such goods, product or output to be the goods, product or output of any dealer, manufacturer or producer, other than the true dealer, manufacturer or producer, or any member of a firm or any officer of a corporation, who knowingly permits any employee of such firm or corporation to sell, offer for sale or assist in the sale of any goods, product or output or to falsely represent such goods, product or output to be the goods, product or output of any dealer, manufacturer or producer, other than the true dealer, manufacturer or producer, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than twenty or more than ninety days, or both; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any person who sells or offers for sale under his own name or brand the product or output of another manufacturer or producer with the written consent of such manufacturer or producer. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 570.]

§ 373. Establishing or keeping pesthouses within cities, towns or villages. [Enacted February 14, 1872. Repealed by act approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 40.]

§ 384. Fires. Penalty for violating act. Any person who shall willfully or negligently commit any of the acts hereinafter enumerated in this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be punishable by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not less than fifteen days nor more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment, except that in the case of an offense against subsection five of this section the fine imposed may be not less than ten dollars.

1. Setting fire without permission. Setting fire, or causing or procuring fire to be set to any forest, brush or other inflammable vegetation growing on lands not his own, without the permission of the owner of such land; provided, that no person shall be convicted under this section who shall have set in good faith and with reasonable care, a backfire for the purpose of stopping the progress of a fire then actually burning.

2. Allowing fires to escape. Allowing fires to escape from the control of the persons having charge thereof, or to spread to the lands of any person other than the builder of such fire without using every reasonable and proper precaution to prevent such fire from escaping.

3. Burning brush without taking precaution. Burning brush, stumps, logs, rubbish, fallen timbers, fallows, grass or stubble, or blasting with dynamite, powder or other explosives, or setting off fireworks, whether on his own land or that of another, without taking every proper and reasonable precaution both before the lighting of said fire and at all times thereafter to prevent the escape thereof; provided, that any firewarden may, at his discretion, give a written permit to any person desiring to burn or blast as aforesaid; such permit shall contain such rules and regulations for the building and management of such fires as the state board of forestry may from time to time prescribe; and in any prosecution under this subsection it shall be prima facie evidence that the defendant has taken proper and reasonable precautions to prevent the escape of such fire, when he shall show that he has received such a permit and has complied with all the rules and regulations therein prescribed.

4. Using engine without device to prevent sparks. Using any logging locomotive, donkey or threshing engine, or any other engine or boiler, in or near any forest, brush, grass, grain or stubble land, unless he shall prove upon the trial, affirmatively, that such engines or boilers used by him were provided with adequate devices to prevent the escape of fire or sparks from smokestacks, ash-pans, fire-boxes, or other parts, and that he has used every reasonable precaution to prevent the causing of fire thereby.

4a. Fire-extinguishers on harvesters or hay-press. Harvesting grain or causing grain to be harvested by means of a combined harvester, header, or stationary threshing-machine, or baling hay by means of a hay-press, unless he shall keep at all times in convenient places upon each said combined harvester, header, or stationary threshing-machine, or hay-press, fully equipped and ready for immediate use, two suitable chemical fire-extinguishers, approved by the underwriters' laboratories, each of the capacity of not less than two and one-half gallons.

4b. Spark-arresting device on tractors, etc. Operating or causing to be operated any gas tractor, oil-burning engine, gas-propelled harvesting-machine or auto truck in harvesting or moving grain or hay, or moving said tractor, engine, machine or auto truck in or near any grain or grass lands, unless he shall maintain attached to the exhaust on said gas tractor, oil-burning engine or gas-propelled harvesting-machine an effective spark-arresting and burning carbon-arresting device.

5. Refusing to aid in fighting fires. Refusing or failing to render assistance in combating fires at the summons of any firewarden unless prevented by good and sufficient reasons.

6. Leaving fire burning not applicable to cities. Leaving a camp fire burning or unextinguished without some person in attendance, or allowing such fire to spread after being built.

7. Provisions do not apply to cities. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the setting of fire on lands within any municipal corporation of the state. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 173.]

§ 403a. Use of red flag prohibited. Any person who displays a red flag, banner or badge or any flag, badge, banner, or device of any color or form whatever in any public place or in any meeting place or public assembly, or from or on any house, building or window as a sign, symbol or emblem of opposition to organized government or as an invitation or stimulus to anarchistic action or as an aid to propaganda that is of a seditious character is guilty of a felony. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 142.]

§ 439. Effecting insurance on account of foreign companies that have not complied with the laws of this state. [Repealed as far as inconsistent with § 596 of the Political Code by act approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 150. See Political Code, § 596.]

§ 464. Burglary with explosives. 1. Any person who, with intent to commit crime, breaks and enters, either by day or by night, any building, whether inhabited or not, and opens or attempts to open any vault, safe or other secure place by use of nitroglycerine, dynamite, gunpowder or any other explosive, shall be deemed guilty of burglary with explosives.

2. Penalty. Any person duly convicted of burglary with explosives shall be punished by imprisonment for a term of not less than twenty-five nor more than forty years. [New section added May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 273.]

§ 476a. Penalty for issuing bank check with intent to defraud. Every person who for himself or as the agent or representative of another or as an officer of a corporation, willfully, with intent to defraud, makes or draws or utters or delivers to another person any check or draft on a bank, banker or depositary for the payment of money, knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering or delivery, that he or his principal or the corporation of which he is an officer has not sufficient funds in, or credit with such bank, banker or depositary, to meet such check or draft in full upon its presentation, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or in the state prison for not more than fourteen years. The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to be an arrangement or understanding with the bank or depositary for the payment of such check or draft. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 238.]

§ 483. Selling ticket, etc., to person not entitled to use. Any person, firm, corporation, partnership, or association that shall sell to another any ticket, pass, scrip, mileage or commutation book, coupon, or other instrument for passage on a common carrier, for the use of any person not entitled to use the same according to the terms thereof, or of the book or portion thereof from which it was detached, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [New section added May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1401.]

Every person who, in fish and game district number twenty-six, takes, catches, kills or has in possession any fish is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail in the county in which conviction shall be had, not less than fifty days nor more than one hundred fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. All fines and forfeitures collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. Nothing in this act shall prohibit the fish and game commission or persons authorized by them, from taking at all times and in any manner such fish or game as they may deem necessary for scientific purposes, or purposes of propagation. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 497.]

Section 626s was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1042.

§ 626u. Affidavit when shipping deer. Penalty. Any person lawfully killing a deer during the open season may ship such entire deer to any part of the state during the open season for the killing of deer in the district in which the animal is killed, provided that an affidavit is made before a justice of the peace or notary public, in which affidavit is set forth the date and place of killing, the name and address, the number of hunting license of the party killing and shipping the deer, the name and address of the party to whom the deer is shipped. The original of this affidavit must immediately be filed with the fish and game commission in San Francisco, a copy attached to the carcass of the deer shipped and a copy left on file with the notary public or justice of the peace before whom the affidavit is made. After such deer is received in the district in which the season is closed, if it is desired to distribute it to two or more persons, the receiver must at once file with the fish and game commission a list of the persons receiving any part of the said deer.

Every person failing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and is punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail, in the county in which the conviction shall be had, of not less than twenty-five days, nor more than one hundred and fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and all fines and forfeitures imposed or collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury, to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 655.]

§ 626½. Protection of growing crops from wild ducks, etc. In any fish and game district in the state in which are growing crops of rice or grain which are being destroyed by wild ducks, wild geese or mudhens, it shall be lawful for the owner or any bona fide employee of the owner of such crops, at any time between the fifteenth day of September and the first day of February of the following year, to shoot such wild ducks, wild geese or mudhens on the lands on which said crops are situated, at such times and in such numbers as may be necessary to protect said growing crops, notwithstanding any law now in effect to the contrary; provided, that the owner of such crops shall have first obtained from the proper department of the federal government a license or permit to shoot such wild ducks, wild geese or mudhens when such a license or permit may be required. [New section approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1286.]

§ 627a. Transportation of game out of state misdemeanor. Every railroad company, express company, transportation company, or other common carrier, its officers, agents, and servants, and every other person who transports, carries or takes out of this state, or who receives for the purpose of transporting from this state, any deer, deer-skin, or part of deerskin, or any quail, partridge, pheasant, grouse, or sagehen or prairie-chicken, dove, wild pigeon, or any wild duck, wild goose, rail, snipe, ibis, curley, plover, or other shore-birds (Limicolae), except for the purpose of propagation or scientific purposes, under a permit, in writing, first obtained from the board of fish and game commissioners of the State of California, or who transports, carries or takes from the state, or receives for the purpose of transportation from the state, the carcass of any such animal or any such bird, or any part of the carcass of any such animal or bird, is guilty of a misdemeanor [Amendment approved April 6, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 77.]

§ 627b. Shipment of more than limit of certain game.

Every common carrier, its officers, agents or servants, who receives for shipment or transportation, or who ships or transports, for any one person during any one calendar day; or any person who ships or offers for shipment or transportation during any one calendar day, more than the bag limit of wild birds or wild animals or fish allowed to be taken, caught, killed or possessed during any one calendar day, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every common carrier, its officers, agents or servants, who receives for shipment or transportation, or who ships or transports for any one person, between sunrise of one Sunday and sunrise of the following Sunday; or any person who ships or offers for shipment or transportation between sunrise of one Sunday and sunrise of the following Sunday, more than the bag limit of wild birds or wild animals or fish allowed to be taken, caught, killed or possessed between sunrise of one Sunday and sunrise of the following Sunday, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every common carrier, its officers, agents or servants, who receives for shipment or transportation, or who ships or transports for any one person during any one season; or any person who ships or offers for shipment or transportation during any one season, more than the seasonal bag limit of wild birds or wild animals or fish allowed to be taken, caught, killed or possessed during any one season, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every common carrier, its officers, agents or servants, who receives for shipment or transportation, or who ships or transports, or any person who ships or offers for shipment or transportation any wild birds or wild animals or fish, unless the same are at all times in open view, labeled with the name and residence of the shipper and the name and residence of the actual consignee and the exact contents as to kind and species of wild birds or wild animals or fish contained in the package offered for shipment or transportation; or any person who ships any of the wild birds or wild animals or fish by parcel post is guilty of a misdemeanor.

All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 651.]

§ 628. Protection of shrimp. Spiny lobster. Crab. Caught below Mexican boundary. Every person who, at any time offers for shipment or ships, or who receives for shipment or transportation from the state of California to any place in any other state, territory or foreign country, or who has in his possession, for any purpose any dried shrimp or shrimp shells of shrimp caught or taken in the waters of this state, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and be it provided, that the possession of such dried shrimp or shrimp shells for any purpose shall be prima facie evidence that such dried shells are of shrimp which were caught or taken in the waters of this state. Every person who, between the first day of March and the fourteenth day of October inclusive of any year, takes, catches, kills, has in possession, buys, sells or offers for sale any spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus), or who at any time takes, catches, kills, has in possession, buys, sells, or offers for sale any spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus), of less than ten and one-half inches or more than sixteen inches in length, measured from one extremity to the other and exclusive of legs, claws or feelers, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who, at any time, takes, catches, kills, has in his possession, buys, sells, or offers for sale any crab (Cancer magister), of less than seven inches in breadth measured straight across the back from point to point, or any female crab (Cancer magister), or who, between the thirty-first day of July and the fourteenth day of November, inclusive, of any year, takes, catches, kills, has in possession, buys, sells or offers for sale any crab (Cancer magister), shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that crabs from without the state may be imported into the state for sale at any time; provided, such crabs are duly inspected and tagged according to the rules and regulations to be prescribed by the fish and game commission. The cost of such inspection and tagging must be borne by the person or persons importing such crabs. Any person who shall at any time, pickle, can or otherwise preserve any spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) or who shall at any time sell any spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) meat not in the shell of any such spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) or who shall bring to shore any part or portion of any spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) without the remaining portions of such spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) in such condition that the size of such spiny lobster (Panulirus interruptus) or crab (Cancer magister) cannot be measured, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who ships or offers for shipment or transportation any species of crab taken in fish and game districts five, six, seven, seven a, eight and nine, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

None of the provisions of this act shall apply to spiny lobster caught or taken without the waters of this state, when said spiny lobsters are not caught in waters lying south for a distance of ten miles from the international boundary line between the United States and Mexico, extended westerly in the Pacific Ocean, and bearing after inspection such evidence of having been so caught or taken as may be hereafter prescribed by the fish and game commission; and be it provided, that all the expenses of such inspection shall be borne by the importer of such spiny lobster; and be it provided, further, that all spiny lobster imported into this state shall be of the size prescribed in this section. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 424.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1062.

§ 628a. Protection of bass. Shad. Limit. Penalty.

Every person, who at any time, buys, sells, offers for sale or has in his possession any striped bass of less than three pounds in weight, or who, except with hook and line and in the manner commonly known as angling, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any striped bass or shad between the twenty-fifth day of September and the fourteenth day of November inclusive of any year or between the first day of June and the thirty-first day of July, both dates inclusive, of any year, or who, between the twenty-fifth day of September and the fourteenth day of November, inclusive, or between the first day of June and the thirty-first day of July, inclusive, of any year, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession more than five striped bass or shad, or who between the twenty-fifth day of September and the fourteenth day of November, inclusive, or between the first day of June and the thirty-first day of July, inclusive, of any year, buys, sells, offers for sale, ships or offers for shipment or receives for shipment or transportation any striped bass, or who at any time offers for shipment, ships or receives for shipment or transportation from the state of California to any place in any other state, territory or foreign country any striped bass is guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who takes any striped bass or shad in a net, any of the meshes of which are, when drawn closely together and measured inside the knots, less than five and one-half inches in length, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who shall cast, extend or draw, or assist in casting, extending or drawing any net or seine, for the purpose of taking or catching any shad or striped bass in any of the waters of this state at any time between sunrise of each Saturday and sunset of the following Sunday is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prohibit any person from having in his possession, in any one calendar day, not more than five striped bass of less than three pounds each in weight, caught with hook and line, but such fish shall not be bought, sold or offered for sale, or shipped or offered for shipment. Every person who violates any of the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 426.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 668.

Nothing in this section shall prohibit the taking of black bass at any time in any lake exceeding seventy-five square miles in area within the boundaries of fish and game district number two, or prohibit the possession within the boundaries in fish and game district number two, of black bass taken in any person who at any time, has in his possession for or offers for sale, any catfish, between the fifteenth day of May and the fourteenth day of August, including any year, or who at any time has in his possession for or offers for sale, any dressed catfish, which shall measure less than seven inches in length, exclusive of any part of the head, or who at any time has in his possession for or sells, or offers for sale, any undressed catfish less than nine inches in length, or who retains any catfish in live cars or boats that do not measure nine inches in length, or who at any time within a period of five years, kills or has in his possession any sturgeon, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Nothing in this section, or elsewhere in this code, shall prohibit the state fish and game commission, or persons authorized by it, from taking at all times such fish as they may deem necessary for scientific purposes, or for purposes of propagation. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats.
1917, p. 664.]

§ 628c. Protection of young fish. Fish near spawn-taking station. In fourteenth district. For scientific purposes. Every person who, by seine or other means, catches the young fish of any species and does not immediately return the same to the water alive, or who buys, sells or offers for sale, or has in his possession, any of such fish, whether fresh or dried, or who takes or catches any fish for the sole purpose of taking the eggs or ova of such fish, or who catches, takes, kills or carries away any fish from any pond or reservoir belonging to, or controlled by the state fish and game commission, or who takes, catches, or kills any kind of fish, in any manner, in any river or stream upon which a spawn-taking station is maintained within one-half mile of the lower side of such spawn-taking station or in any lake upon which a spawn-taking station is maintained within one-half mile of such spawn-taking station during such time as said spawn-taking stations may be in operation, or who in fish and game district number fourteen at any time takes, catches, or kills, any kind of fish is guilty of a misdemeanor.
Nothing in this section, or elsewhere in this code, shall prohibit the state fish and game commission, or persons authorized by them, from taking at all times such fish as they may deem necessary for scientific purposes or for purposes of propagation. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats.
1919, p. 482.]

Every person who in fish and game district number nineteen at any time except with hook and line, takes, catches or kills any California whiting (Menticirrhus undulatus), also known as surf fish, or any yellow-fin or any spot-fin croaker; every person who, at any time within the period of three years, buys, sells, offers, or exposes for sale any California whiting (Menticirrhus undulatus), also known as surf fish, or any yellow-fin or any spot-fin croaker; every person who, at any time buys, sells, offers or exposes for sale any southern, bastard or chicken halibut (Paralichthys californicus) of less than four pounds in weight, or any barracuda less than three pounds in weight, or any albacore weighing less than six pounds, is guilty of a misdemeanor. And all fines collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the "fish commission fund." [Amendment approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 153.]

§ 628f. Protection of abalone. Clams. Every person who, between the first day of February and the last day of February of the same year, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills, or has in his possession any red abalone (Haliotis rufescens), or who, between the first day of February and the thirtieth day of April of the same year, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any pink abalone (Haliotis corrugata), or any black abalone (Haliotis crackerodie), or any green abalone (Haliotis fulgens) is guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who at any time, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any red abalone (Haliotis rufescens) the shell of which is less than seven inches in greatest diameter, or any green abalone (Haliotis fulgens) the shell of which is less than six and one-half inches in greatest diameter, or any pink abalone (Haliotis corrugata) the shell of which is less than six inches in greatest diameter, or any black abalone (Haliotis crackerodie) the shell of which is less than five inches in greatest diameter, or who by any means whatsoever, takes, or catches any abalone (Haliotis) and does not bring the same naturally attached to the shell and alive, to the shore above high-water mark, or who takes, catches or kills any abalone (Haliotis) for other than food purposes, or who, at any time, dries any abalones (Haliotis), or who offers for shipment, or ships, or receives for shipment or transportation from the state of California to any place in any other state, territory or foreign country any abalone meat or abalone shells, excepting articles manufactured from abalone shells; or who takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any abalone (Haliotis) taken, caught or killed with a spear shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person who, in fish and game districts seventeen, nineteen and twenty of this state, uses or assists in using any diving apparatus of any character for the taking or catching of any abalone (Haliotis), or who, in fish and game districts four or nineteen, takes, catches or kills or has in possession during any one calendar day more than ten abalone (Haliotis); or who, in fish and game district seventeen takes, catches, kills or has in possession more than twenty abalone in any one calendar week shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

None of the provisions of this act shall apply to abalone or clams caught or taken without the waters of this state and bearing after inspection such evidence of having been so caught or taken as may be hereinafter prescribed by the fish and game commission; and, be it provided, that the expense of such inspection shall be borne by the importer of such abalone (Haliotis).

Every person who gathers or takes in any manner or destroys or has in his possession any clam known as the Pismo clam (Tivela stultorum) which shall measure less than four and three-quarters inches across its shell in the greatest breadth, or who, during any one calendar day, takes, gathers in any manner or has in his possession more than thirty-six of said clams, or who, between the first day of May and the thirty-first day of August, both dates inclusive, of any year, takes, catches or gathers any clams in fish and game district seventeen is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who takes, gathers in any manner or has in his possession, or who ships, offers for shipment, sells or offers for sale any cockles or little-neck clams (Tapes staminea) measuring less than one and one-half inches in its greatest breadth; every person who takes, catches or gathers in any manner any razor clam (Siliqua patula), except during a period of forty-eight hours beginning at the first low tide after the first high tide (large water) of the full moon of each month and for a period of forty-eight hours beginning at the first mean low tide after the first high tide (large water) of the new moon of each month, or who takes, catches or gathers in any way more than fifty of said razor clams (Siliqua patula) during any one calendar day is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who during any one calendar day takes, gathers in any manner, or has in his possession, or who ships, offers for shipment, sells or offers for sale, more than ten clams of the species Schizothaerus muttallii, variously known as rubber-neck, big-neck or great Washington clam, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who takes, catches or kills or has in possession any clam or clams taken from fish and game districts eight or nine, between the first day of May and the thirty-first day of August of any year, both dates inclusive; or who at any time ships or offers for shipment or receives for shipment or transportation, to any place outside the limits of fish and game district one, any clam or clams of any species taken in fish and game districts seven, eight or nine, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person violating any of the provisions of this section upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail in the county in which the conviction shall be had not less than ten days nor more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment; and all fines and forfeitures imposed or collected for any violation of the provisions of this section must be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 518.]

§ 628j. Catching salt water eels. Penalty. Every person, who in fish and game district three, in the state of California, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession, any salt water eel (Blenniidae), measuring less than twelve inches in length, or who takes, catches, kills or has in his possession more than fifteen salt water eels (Blenniidae), during any one calendar day, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person found violating any of the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and must be fined in a sum not less than twenty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail in the county in which the conviction shall be had, not less than ten days, nor more than one hundred fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and all fines and forfeitures imposed or collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury, to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [New section approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 192.]

§ 629. Fish screens over ditch inlets. It shall be the duty of the state board of fish and game commissioners to examine from time to time all mill races, irrigating ditches, pipes, flumes and canals taking or receiving water from any river, creek, stream or lake in this state. Whenever in the opinion of the state fish and game commission it shall be necessary to screen any such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal in order to prevent fish from passing through or into such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal and away from any river, creek, stream or lake in which fish have been planted or may exist, the state fish and game commission shall order the person, company or corporation owning, leasing, controlling or having in charge any such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal to install and maintain a screen on such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal. Said order shall be in writing and shall specify the size, mesh, material and location of such screen and the time within which said screen must be installed.

After making an order to place and maintain such screen, the board of fish and game commissioners shall, when requested by said owners, lessees or operators, or the person in charge of such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal, fix a time and place in the county in which the intake of such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal is situated, for the taking of evidence upon the question of the necessity of placing and maintaining such screen and cause a notice in writing of the time and place of hearing to be served upon such owner, lessee or operator or person in charge of such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal, at least ten days before the date of such hearing. At such time and place designated in said notice testimony, under oath, shall be taken on the part of the state board of fish and game commissioners, and the owners, lessees or operators or persons in charge of such mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal.

If said request for a hearing upon the order herein specified is not made within ten days after the service upon said owners, lessees, or operators, or the person in charge, of said mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal, such order shall become final.

If it appears from the evidence upon such hearing that fish exist or have been planted in the river, stream, creek or lake from which said mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal takes its waters, said board of fish and game commissioners shall make an order in writing, and cause the same to be served on such owner, lessee, operator or person in charge of said mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal; said order shall designate the point on said mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal at which said screen shall be located, and the size, mesh and materials of said screen and the time within which said screen must be installed. Said time shall be not less than thirty days, nor more than six months, from the date of service of said order upon said owner, lessee, operator or person in charge of said mill race, irrigating ditch, pipe, flume or canal.

The evidence in any investigation, inquiry or hearing, provided by this section, may be taken by any of the members of the board of fish and game commissioners, or such deputy fish and game commissioner, or employee, as the board may designate to take such evidence, and each member of the board and any of its deputies or employees designated to take evidence at the hearing provided hereby shall have the power to administer oaths, take affidavits and issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses at such hearings. Each witness, legally subpoenaed, attending at a hearing, shall receive for his attendance the same fees and mileage allowed by law to a witness in civil cases, which amount shall be paid by the party at whose request such witness is subpoenaed.

The superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which any inquiry, investigation, hearing or proceeding may be held under authority of this section shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of papers, as required by any subpoena issued under authority of this section. The commission, or representative of the commission, before whom the testimony is to be given or produced, in case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpoena, may report to the superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which the proceeding is pending, by petition, setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of attendance of said witness, or the production of said papers, and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce the papers required by the subpoena, before the commission or its representative, in the cause or proceeding named in the notice and subpoena, or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of such proceeding, and ask an order of said court, compelling the witness to attend and testify or produce said papers before the commission or its representative. The court, upon the petition of the commission or its representative, shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court, at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and there show cause why he has not attended and testified or produced said papers before the commission or its representative. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpoena was regularly issued by the commission or its representative, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the commission or its representative at the time and place fixed in said order, and testify or produce the required papers, and upon failure to obey said order, said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

The commission or its representative, or any party, may, in any investigation or hearing before the commission or its representative, cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the state to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior courts of this state and to that end may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents and papers.

Any person, company or corporation, neglecting or refusing to put up or maintain the screen ordered by the state board of fish and game commissioners, after the order shall have become final, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had of not less than ten days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, any fines collected over and above the costs of the proceedings to be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund; and provided, that the continuance from day to day of the neglect or refusal to install and maintain such screen after the same is finally ordered shall constitute a separate offense for each day. [Amendment approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 155.]

§ 629a. Protection of fish near fishway or fish screen.
Penalty. Every person who takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any fish taken in any manner within two hundred fifty feet of any fishway, or within one hundred feet of the upper side of any fish screen, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had not less than ten days nor more than six months. All fines and forfeitures imposed or collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund.

[New section approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 36.]

§ 631d. 1. License to raise domesticated game birds or mammals. Any person desiring to engage in the business of raising and selling domesticated game birds or mammals of any species in a wholly inclosed preserve or entire island of which he is the owner or lessee, may make application in writing to the state board of fish and game commissioners for a license so to do. The said state board of fish and game commissioners, when it shall appear that the said application is made in good faith, shall, upon the payment of a fee of two dollars and fifty cents, issue to such applicant a breeder's license permitting such applicant to breed and raise domesticated game on such preserve or entire island and to sell the same alive at any time for breeding and stocking purposes, to kill and transport same and sell the carcasses thereof for food, as hereinafter provided. Such license shall be posted or displayed in a conspicuous place on such preserve or entire island and shall expire on the last day of December in each year at midnight.

2. Game for sale tagged. Report of game killed. No domesticated game killed as aforesaid and intended for sale shall be shipped, transported, sold or offered for sale unless each quarter and each loin of each carcass of each deer and the carcass of each bird or small mammal shall have been tagged, under the supervision of the state board of fish and game commissioners, with a tag or seal which shall be supplied by said commissioners, and all domesticated game excepting deer sold under the provisions of this act must be killed otherwise than by shooting. The quarters and loins of the carcasses of such deer, and the carcass of such small game birds or mammals when tagged as aforesaid may be possessed, sold or offered for sale at any time. Every regular assistant or person designated by whom such deer or small game bird or mammal shall have been tagged, shall, within five days thereafter, make and file with the state board of fish and game commissioners a written report thereof, which shall contain a statement of the name of the person by whom such game was bred or raised and killed, the number of each species so killed and the name of the person or persons to whom such game were sold or to whom they were transported.

3. Tag on package. Common carriers may receive and transport at any time the carcasses or parts thereof of said domesticated game tagged as aforesaid, but to every package containing such carcass or parts thereof shall be affixed a tag or label upon which shall be plainly printed or written the name of the person to whom such license was issued and by whom such game was killed, the name or names of the person or persons to whom such game is to be transported, the name of the regular assistant or other person by whom such game was tagged, the number of carcasses or portions thereof contained therein and that the game was killed and tagged in accordance with the provisions of this section.

4. License. Sale to customer. No person shall sell or offer for sale any game killed and tagged as aforesaid, without first obtaining a license so to do from the state board of fish and game commissioners, upon such terms and conditions as the said commissioners may prescribe, and any such license may be revoked for sufficient cause at the pleasure of the said commission. The said tags or seals shall remain affixed, as aforesaid, until the quarters or loins of each deer or the carcasses of such small game birds or mammals shall have been wholly consumed and the sale of a quarter or loin or any larger portion of such deer or the carcass of any such small game bird or mammal which shall not at the time have affixed thereto the tag or seal aforesaid, shall constitute a violation of this section; provided, however, that the keeper of a hotel or restaurant, boarding-house or retail dealer in meat or a club may sell portions of a quarter or loin of any such deer, or the carcass of any such small game bird or mammal, to a patron or customer for actual consumption and no license shall be required of such person or club.

5. Annual report of game killed. On or before the first day of January of each year every person to whom a license shall have been issued, as aforesaid, shall make a report to the state board of fish and game commissioners, which said report shall state the total number of game birds or mammals killed, sold or transported, as permitted by the provisions of this section during the year preceding. Such report shall set forth the name of the person to whom such game birds or mammals were sold or transported, the name of the regular assistant or person designated in whose presence such game birds or mammals were tagged and shall also give a complete list of the game birds or mammals held in his possession at the time the report is made. Such report shall be verified by the affidavit of the person to whom such license was issued, or if the license was issued to a corporation, then by an officer thereof.

6. Live game may be shipped. Any person to whom such license shall have been issued may sell and ship alive within the state such game birds and mammals and all common carriers and transportation companies may receive and carry within the state such live game birds and mammals upon such terms and conditions as the said commissioners may prescribe.

7. Trapping game by commission. For the purpose of this act, it shall be lawful for the fish and game commission to trap and take alive any of the game birds or mammals and dispose of them to any person engaged in the domestication and sale of such game birds or mammals in this state at a price to be fixed by the fish and game commission.

8. Disposition of moneys. All moneys received from the sale of any game birds or mammals, or tags provided for in this act and all fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for any violation of the provisions of this act shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund.

9. Fence about deer preserve. A preserve used for the breeding of any species of deer, pursuant to this section, shall be surrounded by a fence of wire or other material of a pattern to be approved by the state board of fish and game commissioners and of a height of not less than seven feet.

10. License revoked. If any person to whom such license shall have been issued shall be convicted of a violation of any of the fish and game laws of the state, the state board of fish and game commissioners may revoke the license of such person and thereafter no similar license shall be issued to such person.

11. Fees. The state board of fish and game commissioners shall be entitled to receive and collect for each tag or seal affixed to the carcass of any game bird or mammal, as hereinbefore provided, the sum of three cents.

12. Penalty. Laws not applicable. Any person who violates or fails to perform any duty imposed by any of the provisions of this act is guilty of a misdemeanor and is liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars and to an additional penalty of twenty dollars for each game bird or mammal, or part of each game bird or mammal bought, sold or offered for sale, taken, possessed, transported or has in possession for transportation in violation thereof.

The provisions of any law relating to the protection or possession of game in its wild state shall not apply to game raised or possessed under the provisions of this act. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1620.]

§ 631e. Revocation of licenses. Every person to whom a hunting, angler's, market fisherman's, or wholesale dealer's license has been issued, upon the third conviction for a violation of any of the laws enacted for the protection of fish or game shall, in addition to the penalty prescribed therefor, surrender his license to the judge or justice of the peace before whom such conviction is had; and such judge or justice of the peace shall revoke the hunting license of any person convicted of violating any law enacted for the protection of game, or the angler's license of any person convicted of violating any law enacted for the protection of game fish, or the market fisherman's license of any person convicted for violating any law enacted for the protection of fish, or the wholesale dealer's license of any person convicted for violating any law enacted for the protection of fish or game, and no new license shall be issued to such person for the remainder of the year for which it was issued. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1640.]

§ 632. Protection of trout. Limit steel head and Dolly Varden trout. Domesticated trout. Scientific purposes. Penalty. Every person who in fish and game districts one, one b, one c, one d, one e, one f, one g, one h, one i, one j, one k, one l, one m, twelve a and twelve b between November first and March thirty-first of the following year, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any variety of trout is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who in fish and game districts two, two a, ten and ten a between March first and March thirty-first of the same year, both dates inclusive, or who between November first and December fourteenth of the same year, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession more than one trout during one calendar day is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who in fish and game districts three, three a, three b, three c, three d, three e, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, between the first day of November and the thirty-first day of March of the year following, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any variety of trout is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that in tide water in fish and game district three, five trout per day, regardless of weight, can be taken and possessed in fish and game district three, between December fifteenth and the last day of February of the year following, both dates inclusive.

Every person who in fish and game districts four, four a, four b, four c, four d, four e, four and one-half and twenty-one, between December first and April thirtieth of the year following, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any variety of trout is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who in fish and game districts twenty-three, twenty-four and twenty-five between the first day of November and the twenty-ninth day of May of the following year, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, kills or has in his possession any variety of trout or white fish is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the taking of trout between May first and October thirty-first of the same year, both dates inclusive, in any lake exceeding twenty-five square miles in area within the boundaries of fish and game district twenty-five, or shall prohibit the possession within the boundaries of fish and game district twenty-five of such trout so taken.

Every person who in fish and game districts twenty-three and twenty-four between the first day of November and the thirty-first day of July of the year following, both dates inclusive, takes, catches, or kills any trout or white fish in any stream flowing into any lake within two miles extending from its mouth towards its source, or has in his possession any trout or white fish so taken in such streams is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who between the first day of November and the thirty-first day of July of the year following, both dates inclusive, takes, catches or kills any trout in any lake within three hundred feet of the mouth of any stream flowing into such lake, or who has in his possession trout so taken, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Every person who at any time takes, catches or kills any trout except with hook and line, said hook and line to be used in the manner commonly known as angling, is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that in fish and game districts two, two a and ten not more than one trout may be taken, caught or killed by spear during any one calendar day during the entire year, except during the months of February and March.

Every person who in any fish and game district takes, catches, kills or has in his possession during one calendar day more than fifty trout or more than ten pounds of trout and one trout is guilty of a misdemeanor; provided, that it shall be lawful to take, catch, kill or have in possession in fish and game districts one and one-half, one a, five, six, seven, seven a, eight and nine not more than five trout regardless of weight during any one calendar day between November first and December thirty-first of the same year, both dates inclusive; provided, further, that it shall be lawful to take, catch, kill or have in possession not more than five trout regardless of weight, during any one calendar day, between December fifteenth and the last day of February of the following year, both dates inclusive, in fish and game districts two, two a, and ten; provided, further, that it shall be lawful to take, catch, kill or have in possession any number of Dolly Varden trout (Salvelinus malma or Salvelinus parkei) when such trout are taken in the open season for other trout in the same district.

Nothing in this section shall prohibit the possession and sale of steelhead and Dolly Varden trout from without the state nor the taking of any number of steelhead trout in fish and game districts five, six, seven a at such times and in such nets as is provided for the taking of salmon in those districts; nor the sale of such trout within the state when the same shall be inspected and tagged according to regulations to be prescribed by the fish and game commission. The cost of such inspection and tagging must be paid by the person or persons submitting such steelhead trout or Dolly Varden trout for such inspection and tagging.

Nothing in this section shall apply to trout raised under the provisions of the act authorizing and regulating the raising and selling of domesticated trout.

Nothing in this section shall prohibit the fish and game commission of this state, or persons authorized by them, from taking at all times such trout as they deem necessary for the purposes of propagation, or for scientific purposes.

Every person found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, or more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had not less than ten or more than one hundred fifty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. All fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund.

All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 391.]

fresh salmon, or who, at any time, takes, catches or kills any salmon with any net, any of the meshes of which are, when drawn closely together and measured inside the knots, less than five and one-half inches in length is guilty of a misdemeanor.

10. In district fifteen. Every person who, in fish and game district fifteen, from the first day of September to the fourteenth day of April of the year following, both dates inclusive, takes, catches or kills any salmon, or who, at any time takes, catches or kills any salmon in any net is guilty of a misdemeanor.

11. In districts ten, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen and nineteen. Every person who, in fish and game districts ten, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen and nineteen, between the twenty-fifth day of September and the fourteenth day of November of the same year, both dates inclusive, has in his possession more than three fresh salmon in any one calendar day, or who, at any time, takes, catches or kills any salmon with any net, any of the meshes of which are, when drawn closely together and measured inside the knots, less than five and one-half inches in length, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

12. Salmon defined. For the purpose of this act and all acts relating thereto, only such fish as belong to the genus Oncorhynchus shall be considered salmon.

13. For propagation. Nothing in this act shall prevent the fish and game commission of this state, or persons authorized by them, from taking, at all times, and in any manner, such salmon as they may deem necessary for the purpose of propagation, or for scientific purposes.

14. Penalty. Any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had of not less than fifty days, nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and all fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for violation of the provisions of this act shall be paid into the state treasury, to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 433.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1035.

§ 636. Protection of fish. Every person who shall use or operate, or who shall assist in using or operating any net, trap, line or other appliance for the purpose of taking or catching fish, mollusks or crustaceans in the state of California at any time, or in any manner, except as hereinafter provided, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Gill-nets. It shall be lawful to use drift gill-nets in fish and game districts five, six, seven, seven a, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, twelve a, twelve b, thirteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen and twenty-two, and to use set gill-nets in fish and game districts seventeen, eighteen, nineteen and twenty a; provided, that in fish and game districts eleven, twelve, twelve a, twelve b, and thirteen the cork line of any gill-net shall not be submerged more than twelve feet below the surface of the water, and that the lines attaching the buoys or floats to the cork line of such submerged nets be not more than twelve feet in length and that the points of attachment of said lines on the cork line be not more than ten fathoms apart; and provided, further, that in fish and game districts eleven, twelve, twelve a, twelve b and thirteen the meshes of the gill-nets shall be approximately the same size and shall not vary in length more than one inch; and provided, further, that gill-nets are not to be used in fish and game districts twelve a or twelve b between September twenty-fifth and November fourteenth of any year, both dates inclusive, or between June first and July thirty-first of any year, both dates inclusive; and any gill-net found in any fishing boat in fish and game district twelve a or twelve b during said closed season shall be prima facie evidence that the owner of such net was using same in said fish and game districts; and provided, further, that no gill-nets are to be used or operated in fish and game district twelve between the first day of March and the thirty-first day of July of any year, both dates inclusive, the meshes of which measure between five and five-eighths inches and seven and one-half inches in length. Any lines used on gill-nets which shall tend to cause the webbing of such gill-nets to bag or hang slack shall cause such net to lose its identity as a drift gill-net and become a trammel-net.

Trammel-nets. It shall be lawful to use trammel-nets (also known as two mesh and three mesh nets) in fish and game district twelve b, the minimum meshes of which shall measure not less than five and one-half inches in length.

It shall be lawful to use strings or lines on the nets for the purpose of bagging the web in fish and game district twelve b when the net is a net having no meshes less than seven and one-half inches and when used in said district from June sixth to July thirty-first, both dates inclusive, for the purpose of taking or catching salmon only.

It shall be lawful to use trammel-nets (also known as two mesh and three mesh nets) in fish and game districts ten, eighteen and nineteen, the minimum meshes of which shall measure not less than eight inches in length.

Purse-nets and round haul-nets. It shall be lawful to use purse-nets and round haul-nets (also known as circle seines or lampara nets) in fish and game districts five, six, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, twelve b, thirteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty a, twenty-one and twenty-two; provided, that purse or round haul-nets are not to be used in any fish and game district for the purpose of taking salmon, steelhead, striped bass or shad, and that any person who has in possession any salmon, steelhead, striped bass or shad which have been caught with a purse or round haul-net is guilty of a misdemeanor; and provided, further, that in fish and game district fifteen, purse or round haul-nets shall be used only for the purpose of taking fish for bait, and that in fish and game district sixteen, purse-nets or round haul-nets shall be used only for the purpose of taking squids, anchovies, and sardines. It shall be lawful to use circle seines or round haul-nets of not less than one-inch mesh in fish and game district seven a from April first to July thirty-first, both dates inclusive, for taking smelt, herring, perch, sardines or other nongame fish.

Beach-nets. It shall be lawful to use beach-nets (also known as beach seines or haul seines) in fish and game districts five, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, twelve a, twelve b, thirteen, eighteen, nineteen and twenty-two; provided, that in fish and game districts five, twelve, twelve a and twelve b the meshes of any beach-nets shall measure not less than five and one-half inches in length, and that in fish and game districts ten, eighteen and nineteen the meshes of the beach-nets shall measure not less than one and one-half inches in length; and beach-nets shall only be used in fish and game district nineteen between the first day of September and the thirty-first day of January of the year following, both dates inclusive, and for the purpose of taking smelt only.

For the purpose of this act, any net hauled from the water to the beach or shore for the purpose of taking fish, shall be known as a beach-net.

Fyke-nets. It shall be lawful to use fyke-nets in fish and game district twelve b for the purpose of catching catfish, carp, pike, hardheads and suckers between the fifteenth day of August and the fourteenth day of May of the year following, both dates inclusive; provided, that the smallest meshes of any fyke-net so used shall measure not less than two and one-half inches in length.

Trawl-nets. It shall be lawful to use trawl-nets (also known as paranzella nets, beam trawls or shrimp trawls) in fish and game districts five, six, seven, twelve, thirteen and eighteen; provided, that the use of any trawl-net in fish and game districts twelve and thirteen shall be for the purpose of taking shrimp only; and provided, further, that it shall be unlawful to use trawl-nets in any bay in fish and game district number eighteen.

Crab-nets. It shall be lawful to use crab-nets in fish and game districts five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, seventeen, eighteen and nineteen, and lobster traps in fish and game districts seventeen, eighteen and nineteen.

Shrimp-nets. It shall be lawful to use shrimp-nets (also known as Chinese shrimp or bag nets) in fish and game district thirteen for the purpose of taking shrimp only; provided, that any fish, mollusks or crustaceans other than marketable shrimp that may be taken in such shrimp-nets shall be immediately returned to the water.

Dip-nets. It shall be lawful to use dip-nets for the purpose of taking fish to be used as bait only, in any fish and game district, excepting fish and game district fourteen; provided, that in fish and game districts one, two, three and four such dip-net shall not be baited; and provided, further, that any dip-net in fish and game districts one, two, three, four, nineteen and twenty shall not measure more than six feet in its greatest breadth; and provided, further, that it shall be unlawful for any person to have in his possession any nets other than such bait dip-nets within fish and game district twenty.

Troll lines or hand lines. It shall be lawful to use troll lines or hand lines in any fish and game district, except fish and game district fourteen and to use trawl lines in fish and game districts five, six, seven, ten, seventeen, eighteen and nineteen. It shall also be lawful to use trawl lines (also known as set lines) in any lake in fish and game district two having a surface area of not less than seventy-five square miles, for the purpose of catching catfish only; provided, that it shall be unlawful to use minnows or any species of young fish on hooks attached to such trawl lines.

Spade, shovel, etc. It shall be lawful to use any spade, shovel, hoe, rake or other appliance operated by hand for the purpose of taking mollusks in fish and game districts five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen and twenty-one.

Set-nets and lines. Any net or line shall be considered a set-net or set line that is made fast to the bank or ground or that shall be made fast in any way and shall not be free to drift with the tide or current, and any net so placed that it will catch or impound fish within a bight, bay or estuary or against the shore, upon the receding of the tide, shall be considered a set-net; provided, that fyke-nets, shrimp-nets or crab-nets shall not be considered set-nets, nor trawl lines be considered set lines. The length of the meshes of any net shall be determined by taking at least four meshes and measuring them between the knots while they are simultaneously drawn closely together.

Recovery of fish in overflowed areas. Nothing in this section shall prevent the fish and game commission, or persons authorized by them, from using any net or other appliance in any fish and game district for the purpose of recovering fish from overflowed areas or landlocked sloughs or ponds where they have been left isolated by receding streams or flood waters.

Scientific purposes. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the fish and game commission, or anyone authorized by them, from using such nets, traps, or other appliances in the waters of the state as they may deem necessary for carrying on scientific investigation or for the propagation of fish, mollusks, or crustaceans. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the fish and game commission, or any person authorized by them, from using nets, traps, or other appliances in any fish and game district for experimental purposes.

Penalty. Every person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail in the county in which the conviction shall be had, not less than one hundred days nor more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment; and all fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury, to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 420.]

§ 636a. Nets, seines, etc., prohibited. Any net, seine, dragnet, paranzella, or set-net used for taking or catching fish, which shall be used or maintained in any of the waters of this state in violation of any existing or hereafter enacted statutes or laws of this state, for the protection of fish, is hereby declared to be a public nuisance, and it is the duty of every peace officer to seize and keep the same, and report such seizure to the board of fish and game commissioners of the state. Thereupon said board must commence proceedings in the superior court of the county, or city and county, in which the same shall have been seized, by filing a petition in said court, asking for a judgment forfeiting such net, seine, dragnet, paranzella, or set-net so seized. Upon the filing of such petition, it is the duty of the clerk of said court to fix a time for the hearing thereof and to cause notices to be posted for the space of fourteen days in at least three public places in the town, city, or city and county, where the court is held, setting forth the substance of such petition and the time and place fixed for its hearing; at such time the court must hear and determine said proceeding, and upon proof that the said net, seine, dragnet, paranzella, or set-net was used in violation of law, must order the same to be forfeited. Any such net duly ordered forfeited shall be sold or destroyed by the fish and game commission. All proceeds from the sale of such forfeited nets shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [Amendment approved April 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 64.]

§ 636c. Protection of fish. Notice of intention to construct or alter dams, etc. Penalty. Any person, firm or corporation owning in whole or in part, or leasing or operating or having in charge any completed dam or other artificial obstruction on any of the waters of this state in which fish have been planted or may exist, and every person, firm or corporation proposing to construct a dam or other artificial obstruction on any of the waters of this state in which fish have been planted or may exist, shall, before the alteration of said completed dam or other artificial obstruction, or before the commencement of the construction of said proposed dam or other artificial obstruction, file with the state fish and game commission a notice of intention to alter said completed dam or other artificial obstruction or to construct said proposed dam or other artificial obstruction. Said notice with a plan of the proposed work annexed thereto shall state the name, length and location of the waters and the exact point upon said waters where said completed dam or other artificial obstruction to be altered or reconstructed is situated, or the said proposed dam or other artificial obstruction is to be constructed. Upon the receipt of said notice, with plan annexed thereto, it shall be the duty of the board of fish and game commissioners to examine said plans. If the proposed alteration or construction will, when finished, prevent the free passage of such fish as naturally frequent the waters upon which said proposed construction or alteration is to be built, the same procedure shall be followed as provided for in section six hundred thirty-seven of this code, in so far as the same shall be applicable.

Every person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine not less than two hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had not less than one hundred days or more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided, that a continuance from day to day of the negligence or refusal to equip and maintain a fishway or equip and maintain a hatchery, together with dwellings for help, traps for the taking of fish, and all other equipment necessary to operate such hatchery, or to plant fish, after final order duly given and made by the said board, shall constitute a separate offense. All fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for any violation of this act shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund. [New section added May 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 779.]

§ 637. Fishways provided over or around dams. To be kept free from obstructions. Hatchery constructed when fishway impracticable. Planting of fish. Right of access. Sale of young fish. Hearing on necessity for ladders. Orders of commission. 1. It shall be the duty of the state board of fish and game commissioners to examine, from time to time, all dams and artificial obstructions in all rivers and streams in this state naturally frequented by salmon, trout, shad and other fish; and if, in its opinion, there is not free passage for fish over and around any dam or artificial obstruction, to order in writing the owners or occupants thereof to provide the same, within a specified time, with a durable and efficient fishway, of such form and capacity, and in such location as shall be determined by the state board of fish and game commissioners, or persons authorized by them, and such fishway must be completed by the owners or occupants of such dam or artificial obstruction to the satisfaction of said commissioners, within the time specified; and it shall be incumbent upon the owners or occupants of all dams or artificial obstructions, where the state board of fish and game commissioners require such fishways to be provided, to keep the same in repair and open and free from obstructions to the passage of fish at all times; and no person shall willfully destroy, injure, or obstruct any such fishway; provided, that the owners or occupants of any dam or artificial obstruction shall allow sufficient water at all times to pass through such fishway to keep in good condition any fish that may be planted or exist below said dam or obstruction; provided, further, that during the minimum flow of water in any river or stream permission may be granted by the state board of fish and game commissioners to allow the owners or occupants of any dam or artificial obstruction to allow sufficient water to pass through a culvert, waste gate, or over or around the dam, to keep in good condition any fish that may be planted or exist below said dam or artificial obstruction, when in the judgment of the state board of fish and game commissioners it is impracticable to pass the water through the fishway to the detriment of the owner or occupant thereof.

Whenever in the opinion of the state fish and game commission it shall be impracticable, because of the height of any dam or other artificial obstruction, or other conditions, to construct a fishway over or around said dam or other artificial obstruction, the fish and game commission may order in lieu of said fishway the owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction to completely equip, within a specified time, on a site to be selected by said fish and game commission, a hatchery, together with dwellings for help, traps for the taking of fish, and all other equipment necessary to operate a hatchery station, according to plans and specifications furnished by the fish and game commission, who shall thereafter operate said hatchery without further expense to said owner or occupant of said dam or other artificial obstruction. The aforesaid hatchery, traps and other equipment necessary to operate a hatchery station shall not be of a size greater than necessary to supply the said stream or river with a reasonable number of such fish. The said owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction shall permit said fish and game commission to locate the aforesaid hatchery, dwellings, traps and other equipment upon any of the land of the owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction upon a site or sites to be mutually agreed upon by the fish and game commission and the said owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction.

If the said owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction shall generate electricity at said place of said dam or other artificial obstruction, then and in that case said owners or occupants shall furnish sufficient light, without expense, for the use of said hatchery when located and established.

Said owners or occupants shall also permit the use of water, without expense, to operate said proposed hatchery; provided, however, that the fish and game commission may, in lieu of said fishway, hatchery, dwellings, traps and other equipment necessary to operate a hatchery station as aforesaid, order the owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction to plant, under the supervision of the fish and game commission, the young of such fish as naturally frequent the waters of said stream or river, at such times, in such places and in such numbers as the fish and game commission may order; provided, further, that said owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction shall accord to the public, for the purpose of fishing, the right of access to the waters impounded by said dam or other artificial obstruction, during the open season for the taking of fish in such stream or river, subject to the rules and regulations of said fish and game commission.

The said owners or occupants of said dam or other artificial obstruction shall not be liable in damages to any person exercising the right of access to the waters impounded by said dam or other artificial obstruction, as aforesaid, who shall suffer injury through coming in contact with, or meddling with, any of the property of said owners or occupants.

The fish and game commission may sell, at cost to it, to such owners or occupants of such dam or other artificial obstruction the young of fish ordered to be planted in such stream or river.

Every person found guilty of any of the provisions of this act must be fined in a sum of not less than one hundred fifty dollars or imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the conviction shall be had, not less than one hundred days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and all fines and forfeitures imposed and collected for any violation of this act shall be paid into the state treasury, to the credit of the fish and game preservation fund.

After making any order to place and maintain such ladder, or to equip and convey such hatchery and site, or to plant such fish the state board of fish and game commissioners shall, when requested by the owners or parties in charge, fix a time and place, in the county in which the dam or other artificial obstruction is situated, for the taking of evidence upon the question of the necessity of placing and maintaining such ladder or of equipping and conveying such hatchery and site, or of planting such fish and cause notices in writing of such time and place where such hearing is to be held to be served upon the owners or persons in charge of such dam or other artificial obstruction, at least ten days before the day set for the hearing. If said request for a hearing upon the order to place and maintain such ladder or to equip such hatchery and site, or to plant such fish, is not made within ten days after the service of such order upon said owners or parties in charge of said dam or other artificial obstruction said order shall become final. At such time and place testimony, under oath, shall be taken, both on the part of the state board of fish commissioners and the owner or person in charge of such dam or other artificial obstruction, if such owner or persons in charge appears and offers evidence, and thereupon the state board of fish commissioners from the evidence offered shall determine whether or not the necessity for the placing and maintaining a ladder on said dam or other artificial obstruction or the equipping and conveying such hatchery and site or the planting of such fish is shown, and if shown to be required and necessary, said state board of fish commissioners may direct and order the placing and maintaining such ladder or the equipment and conveyance to the state of said hatchery, equipment and site or the planting of such fish. Such order to also fix the point where the ladder or hatchery and equipment is to be located or the number of and place where such fish are to be planted, and a certified copy of such order to be served upon the owners or parties in charge of such dam or other artificial obstruction.

The evidence in any investigation, inquiry or hearing, provided by this section, may be taken by any of the members of the board of fish and game commissioners, or such deputy fish and game commissioner, or employee, as the board may designate to take such evidence, and each member of the board and any of its deputies and employees designated to take evidence at the hearing provided hereby shall have the power to administer oaths, take affidavits and issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses at such hearings. Each witness, legally subpoenaed, attending at a hearing, shall receive for his attendance the same fees and mileage allowed by law to a witness in civil cases, which amount shall be paid by the party at whose request such witness is subpoenaed.

The superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which any inquiry, investigation, hearing or proceeding may be held under authority of this section shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of papers, as required by any subpoena issued under authority of this section. The commission or representative of the commission before whom the testimony is to be given or produced, in case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpoena, may report to the superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which the proceeding is pending, by petition, setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of attendance of said witnesses, or the production of said papers, and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce the papers required by the subpoena, before the commission or its representative, in the cause or proceeding named in the notice and subpoena, or has refused to answer questions propounded in the course of such proceeding, and ask an order of said court, compelling the witness to attend and testify or produce said papers before the commission or its representative. The court, upon the petition of the commission or its representative, shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he has not attended and testified or produced said papers before the commission or its representative. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpoena was regularly issued by the commission or its representative, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the commission or its representative at the time and place to be fixed in said order, and testify or produce the required papers, and upon failure to obey said order, said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

The commission or its representative or any party may, in any investigation or hearing before the commission or its representative, cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the state to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior courts of this state and to that end may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents and papers. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1524.]

§ 637a. Protection of wild birds. Game birds enumerated. Every person in the state of California who shall at any time kill or catch, or have in his possession, living or dead, any wild bird other than a game bird, or who shall purchase, offer or expose for sale, transport or ship within or out of the state, any such wild bird after it has been killed or caught, except as permitted by this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. No part of the plumage, skin or body of any bird protected by this section shall be sold or had in possession for sale, irrespective of whether said bird was captured or killed within or without the state. For the purpose of this act the following only shall be considered game birds: The Anatidae, commonly known as swans, geese, brant and river and sea ducks; the Rallidae, commonly known as rails, coots and gallinules; the Limicolae, commonly known as shore birds, plover surf birds, snipe, sandpipers, tattlers and curlews; the Gallinae, commonly known as wild turkeys, grouse, prairie chicken, pheasants, partridges, and quails; and the species of Columbidae, known as wild pigeons and doves. All other species of wild birds either resident or migratory shall be considered nongame birds; provided, that the English or European house sparrow, the great horned owl, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, duck hawk, butcher bird, bluejay, house-finch, commonly known as the California linnet, are not included among the birds protected by this act; and provided, further, that in fish and game district one, in fish and game district two and fish and game district three the blackbird is not included among the birds protected by this act; provided, further, that nothing in this section shall prohibit the killing of a robin, or other wild bird by the owner or tenant of any premises where such bird is found destroying berries, fruit or crops growing on such premises, but the birds so killed shall not be shipped or sold; and nothing in this act shall prevent a citizen of California from taking or keeping any wild nongame bird as a domestic pet if such bird shall not be sold or offered for sale, or transported out of the state, a permit to keep the same having first been obtained from the state board of fish and game commissioners. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 656.]

§ 637½. "Predatory animals." Where the words "predatory animals" occur in this chapter, the following animals only shall be considered predatory animals: The order Insectivora (moles, shrews), the family Canidae (wolves, coyotes, foxes), the family Procyonidae (ringtail cats, coons), the family Mustelidae (martins, fishers, wolverines, weasels, minks, skunks, badgers), the family Felidae (cougars, wild cats, jack rabbits), the order Rodentia (rats, mice, gophers), except the families Scuriidae and Petauristidae (tree squirrels, flying squirrels), the black-tailed jack rabbit of the order Lagomorpha; the cottontail rabbit and the brush rabbit of the family Leporidae in fish and game districts four, nineteen and twenty-one; and the following species of birds: blue jays, English or European house sparrow, great horned owl, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, duck hawk and house finch, commonly known as California linnet. [Amendment approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 718.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 44.

§ 673. Suspension of civil rights. Civil rights of paroled prisoner. Record of order. A sentence of imprisonment in a state prison for any term less than life suspends all the civil rights of the person so sentenced, and forfeits all public offices and all private trusts, authority, or power during such imprisonment; provided, however, that in any such cases, if the person so sentenced be liberated from prison by parole under the terms and conditions of the parole laws of this state, that the board of prison directors or such other officials or official having power to grant paroles may permit to such person so paroled, civil rights, other than the right to act as a trustee, or hold public office, or exercise the privilege of an elector, during the term of such parole. The scope or extent of such civil rights shall be determined by such board of directors or other officials having control of such paroled person, either at the time the parole is granted or at such other time as, in the judgment of such board or official, is for the best interest of society and such paroled person.

The board of directors or other official having control of the matter of paroles shall, at the time of permitting such civil rights, make a permanent record thereof, and give such paroled person a duly authenticated copy of such order or orders, and such record shall be a public record for the benefit of all persons requiring information in that behalf. [Amendment approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 34.]

§ 674. Civil death. Civil rights of paroled prisoner. Record of order. A person sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison for life is thereafter deemed civilly dead; provided, however, that in any such cases, if the person so sentenced be liberated from prison by parole under the terms and conditions of the parole laws of this state, the board of prison directors, or such other officials or official having power to grant paroles may permit to such person so paroled, civil rights, other than the right to act as a trustee, or hold public office, or exercise the privilege of an elector, during the term of such parole. The scope or extent of such civil rights shall be determined by such board of directors or other officials having control of such paroled person, either at the time the parole is granted or at such other time as, in the judgment of such board or other official, is for the best interest of society and such paroled person. The board of directors, or other official having control of the matter of paroles, shall, at the time of permitting such civil rights, make a permanent record thereof, and give such paroled person a duly authenticated copy of such order or orders, and such record shall be a public record for the benefit of all persons requiring information in that behalf. [Amendment approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 35.]

§ 704. Testimony before magistrate may be taken in shorthand. When the person informed against is brought before the magistrate, if the charge be controverted, the magistrate must take testimony in relation thereto. The evidence must be reduced to writing and subscribed by the witnesses. The magistrate may, in his discretion, order the testimony and proceedings to be taken down in shorthand, and for that purpose he may appoint a shorthand reporter. The deposition or testimony of the witnesses must be authenticated in the form prescribed in section eight hundred sixty-nine of this code. [Amendment approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 146.]

§ 777. Jurisdiction of offenses committed in state. Every person is liable to punishment by the laws of this state, for a public offense committed by him therein, except where it is by law cognizable exclusively in the courts of the United States; and except as herein otherwise provided, the jurisdiction of every public offense is in the county wherein it is committed; provided, that if a parent violates the provisions of section two hundred seventy of this code in respect to a minor child who has been declared a ward of the juvenile court of any county under the juvenile court law of this state, and by such juvenile court committed to the custody of a person, society or institution which places or keeps such child in another county, the jurisdiction is in either the county in which such commitment was made, or the county within which such minor child is placed or kept by authority of such commitment. [Amendment approved April 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 81.]

§ 869. Testimony in preliminary examination in cases of homicide. The testimony of each witness in cases of homicide must be reduced to writing, as a deposition, by the magistrate, or under his direction, and in other cases upon the demand of the prosecuting attorney, or the defendant, or his counsel. The magistrate before whom the examination is had may, in his discretion, order the testimony and proceedings to be taken down in shorthand in all examinations herein mentioned, and for that purpose he may appoint a shorthand reporter. The deposition or testimony of the witness must be authenticated in the following form:

Form of deposition or testimony in cases of homicide. First—It must state the name of the witness, his place of residence, and his business or profession.

Second—It must contain the questions put to the witness and his answers thereto, each answer being distinctly read to him as it is taken down, and being corrected or added to until it conforms to what he declares is the truth, except in cases where the testimony is taken down in shorthand, the answer or answers of the witness need not be read to him.

Third—If a question put be objected to on either side and overruled, or the witness declines answering it, that fact, with the ground on which the question was overruled or the answer declined, must be stated.

Fourth—The deposition must be signed by the witness, or if he refuses to sign it, his reason for refusing must be stated in writing, as he gives it, except in cases where the deposition is taken down in shorthand, it need not be signed by the witness.

Fifth—The reporter shall, within ten days after the close of such examination, if the defendant be held to answer the charge, transcribe into longhand writing, his said shorthand notes, making an original and a copy thereof, and certify and file both said original and copy with the county clerk of the county, or city and county, in which the defendant was examined, and shall, in all cases file his original notes with said clerk. The reporter shall receive no compensation for any services rendered by him as such reporter in any court of this state until the provisions of this section have been, by him, complied with, and shall, before receiving any compensation as such reporter, file with the auditor of the county his affidavit setting forth that said transcriptions, herein provided for, have been filed as herein required.

Sixth—The defendant, upon his arraignment in the superior court, shall be furnished, without cost to him, a copy of said transcription of the testimony and proceedings before the magistrate if shorthand notes thereof were taken by a reporter as provided in this section.

Seventh—The reporter's compensation shall be fixed by the magistrate before whom the examination is had, and shall not exceed that now allowed reporters in the superior courts of this state, and shall be paid out of the treasury of the county, or the city and county, in which the examination is had, on the certificate and order of the said magistrate. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 465.]

§ 928. Grand jury to examine books. Expenses. It shall be the duty of the grand jury annually to make a careful and complete examination of the books, records, and accounts of all the officers of the county, and especially those pertaining to the revenue, and report as to the facts they have found, with such recommendations as they may deem proper and fit; and if, in their judgment, the services of an expert are necessary, they shall have power to employ one, at an agreed compensation, not to exceed ten dollars a day, to be first approved by the court; and if, in their judgment, the services of assistants to such expert are required, they shall have power to employ such, at a compensation to be agreed upon and approved by the court, not to exceed, however, five dollars a day for each assistant, such compensation of expert and assistants to be payable as other county charges. It shall be the duty of every grand jury first empaneled in even-numbered years to investigate and report upon the needs of all county officers in its county, including increase or decrease in salaries, number of officers, deputies or employees, the abolition or creation of offices and the equipment for, or the method or system of performing the duties of the several offices, and it shall cause a copy of such report to be transmitted to each member of the legislature representing the county in which it has been empaneled before the commencement of the regular session of the legislature in odd-numbered years. The judge, on impanelment of the grand jury, shall charge them especially as to their duties under this section; provided, that if any grand jury shall, in the report above mentioned, comment upon any person or official who has not been indicted by the said grand jury, the said comments shall not be deemed to be privileged. Any and all expenses incurred under this section and also the per diem and mileage where allowed by law, of the grand jurors, shall be paid by the treasurer of the county out of the general fund of said county upon warrants drawn by the county auditor upon the written order of the judge of the superior court in said county. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 156.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 167. There was no change in the amendment adopted in 1919.

§ 1088. Peremptory challenges, criminal cases. If all challenges on both sides are disallowed, either party, first the people and then the defendant, may take a peremptory challenge unless the parties' peremptory challenges are exhausted; and each party shall be entitled to have the panel full before exercising any peremptory challenge. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 130.]

§ 1128. Custody of jury. Separate room for women. After hearing the charge, the jury may either decide in court or may retire for deliberation. If they do not agree without retiring, an officer must be sworn to keep them together in some private and convenient place, and not to permit any person to speak to or communicate with them, nor to do so himself, unless by order of the court, or to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, and to return them into court when they have so agreed, or when ordered by the court; provided, however, that when the jury is composed of both men and women, in the event that it shall become necessary to retire for the night, the women must be kept in a room or rooms separate and apart from the men. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 304.]

§ 1135. Accommodations for jury after retirement. Separate room for women jurors. A room must be provided by the supervisors of each county for the use of the jury, upon their retirement for deliberation, with suitable furniture, fuel, lights, and stationery. If the supervisors neglect, the court may order the sheriff to do so, and the expenses incurred by him in carrying the order into effect, when certified by the court, are a county charge; provided, however, that said board of supervisors shall provide a room for the female members of the jury which shall be separate and apart from the room provided for the male members. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1033.]

§ 1168. Term of imprisonment not fixed. (a) Every person convicted of a public offense, for which public offense punishment by imprisonment in any reformatory or the state prison is now prescribed by law, if such convicted person shall not be placed on probation, a new trial granted, or imposing of sentence suspended, shall be sentenced to be confined in the state prison, but the court in imposing such sentence shall not fix the term or duration of the period of imprisonment.

(b) Maximum and minimum term. It is hereby made the duty of the warden of the state prison to receive such person, who shall be confined until duly released as provided for in this act; provided, that the period of such confinement shall not exceed the maximum or be less than the minimum term of imprisonment provided by law for the public offense of which such person was convicted.

(c) Information furnished state board of prison directors. It shall be the duty of the judge before whom such convicted person was tried, and of the district attorney conducting the prosecution, to obtain and with the commitment furnish to the state board of prison directors in writing all information that can be given in regard to the career, habits, degree of education, age, nativity, nationality, parentage, and previous occupation, of such convicted person, together with a statement to the best of their knowledge as to whether such person was industrious or not, of good character or not, the nature of his associates and his disposition.

(d) Length of term after expiration of minimum term. The governing authority of the reformatory or prison in which such person may be confined, or any board or commission that may be hereafter given authority so to do, shall determine after the expiration of the minimum term of imprisonment has expired, what length of time, if any, such person shall be confined, unless the sentence be sooner terminated by commutation or pardon by the governor of the state; and if it be determined that such person so sentenced be released before the expiration of the maximum period for which he is sentenced, then such person shall be released at such time as the governing board, commission or other authority may determine.

(e) Rules and regulations. The state board of prison directors shall make all necessary rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this act not inconsistent therewith, and may provide the forms of all documents necessary therefor.

(f) Discharge on serving maximum punishment. Any convicted person undergoing sentence in either of the state prisons of this state, not sooner released under the provisions of this act shall, in accordance with the provisions of existing law, be discharged from custody on serving the maximum punishment provided by law for the offense of which such person was convicted. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 665.]

§ 1192a. Inquiry as to causes of criminal conduct. Notice to clerk of prison. Before judgment is pronounced upon any person convicted of an offense punishable by imprisonment in the state prison, it shall be the duty of the court, assisted by the district attorney, to ascertain in a summary manner, and by such evidence as is obtainable, whether such person has learned and practiced any mechanical or other trade, and also such other facts tending to indicate the causes of the criminal character or conduct of such convicted person, or calculated to be of assistance to the court in determining the proper punishment of such person, or to the state board of prison directors in the performance of the duties imposed upon it by law, as the court shall deem proper. Within thirty days after judgment has been pronounced, the judge and the district attorney, respectively, shall cause to be filed with the clerk of the court a brief statement of their views respecting the person convicted or sentenced and the crime committed, together with such reports as the probation officer may have made relative to the prisoner. Within twenty days after the filing of such statement and reports, the clerk of the court shall mail a copy thereof, certified by such clerk, with postage thereon prepaid, addressed to the clerk of the prison to which such convicted person shall have been sentenced. The testimony pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be reported and transcribed by the clerk or official reporter. Within thirty days after judgment has been pronounced by the court, one copy of such transcript shall be filed with the clerk of the court, and another copy thereof shall be sent by mail, with postage prepaid, addressed to the warden of the prison to which such convicted person shall have been sentenced. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 176.]

§ 1202a. Imprisonment in state prison. If the judgment is for imprisonment in the state prison it shall direct that the defendant be taken to the warden of the state prison at San Quentin. Thereafter, and until the termination of the sentence, the state board of prison directors may transfer the defendant from one state prison to the other as in the opinion of the board conditions may require. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 688.]

§ 1203. Hearing on probation. After plea or verdict of guilty, where discretion is conferred upon the court as to the extent of the punishment, the court, upon oral suggestions of either party, or of its own motion, that there are circumstances which may properly be taken into view, either in aggravation or mitigation, of the punishment, may in its discretion, refer the same to the probation officer, directing said probation officer to investigate, and to report, recommending either for or against release upon probation, at a specified time, and the court shall hear the same summarily at such specified time, and upon such notice to the adverse party as it may direct. At such specified time, if it shall appear from the report furnished by the probation officer, or otherwise, and from the circumstances, of any person over the age of eighteen years so having pleaded guilty, or having been convicted of crime, that there are circumstances in mitigation of the punishment, or that the ends of justice shall be subserved thereby, the court shall have power, in its discretion, to place the defendant upon probation in the manner following:

(a) Suspension of sentence. Bonds. The court, judge or justice thereof, may suspend the imposing, or the execution of sentence and may direct that such suspension may continue for such period of time not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence, except as hereinafter set forth, and upon such terms and conditions as it shall determine, which terms and conditions may include, in the discretion of the court, the requirements of bonds for the appearance of the person released upon probation before the court, at any time that the court may require such appearance in the investigation of any alleged violation of said terms and conditions of probation and such bonds may be at any time by the court exonerated without affecting any of the other terms or conditions of such probation; and in case of such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence, the court shall place such person on probation and under the charge and supervision of the probation officer of said court, during such suspension; provided, however, that where the maximum possible term of such sentence is less than two years, then such period of suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over two years. Where the offense consists of a violation of section two hundred seventy or two hundred seventy a of the Penal Code of the state of California, such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over five years.

(b) Opportunity to pay fine. If the judgment is to pay a fine, and the defendant be imprisoned until it be paid, the court, judge or justice, upon imposing sentence, may direct that the execution of the sentence of imprisonment be suspended for such period of time, not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence, and on such terms as it shall determine, and shall place the defendant on probation, under the charge and supervision of the probation officer during such suspension, to the end that he may be given the opportunity to pay the fine; provided, however, that upon the payment of the fine being made, judgment shall be satisfied and the probation cease.

(c) Rearrest. May pronounce judgment. At any time during the probationary term of the person released on probation, in accordance with the provisions of this section, any probation officer may, without warrant, or other process, at any time until the final disposition of the case, rearrest any person so placed in his care and bring him before the court. or the court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant for the rearrest of any such person and may thereupon revoke and terminate such probation, if the interest of justice so requires, and if the court, in its judgment, shall have reason to believe from the report of the probation officer, or otherwise. that the person so placed upon probation is violating the conditions of his probation, or engaging in criminal practices. or has become abandoned to improper associates, or a vicious life. Upon such revocation and termination. the court may, if the sentence has been suspended, pronounce judgment after the said suspension of the sentence for any time within the longest period for which the defendant might have been sentenced, but if the judgment has been pronounced and the execution thereof has been suspended, the court may revoke such suspension, whereupon the judgment shall be in full force and effect. and the person shall be delivered over to the proper officer to serve his sentence.

(d) Court may revoke order. The court shall have power at any time during the term of probation to revoke or modify its order of suspension, of imposition or execution of sentence. It may, at any time, when the ends of justice will be subserved thereby. and when the good conduct and reform of the person so held on probation shall warrant it, terminate the period of probation and discharge the person so held, but no such order shall be made without written notice first given by the court or the clerk thereof to the proper probation officer of the intention to revoke or modify its order, and in all cases, if the court has not seen fit to revoke the order of probation and impose sentence or pronounce judgment, the defendant shall, at the end of the term of probation, be by the court discharged.

(e) Change of plea. Every defendant who has fulfilled the conditions of his probation for the entire period thereof, or who shall have been discharged from probation prior to the termination of the period thereof, shall at any time prior to the expiration of the maximum period of punishment for the offense of which he has been convicted, dating from said discharge from probation or said termination of said period of probation, be permitted by the court to withdraw his plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty; or if he has been convicted after a plea of not guilty, the court shall set aside the verdict of guilty; and in either case the court shall thereupon dismiss the accusation or information against such defendant who shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted.

(f) Probation officers to serve. The same probation officers and assistant probation officers and deputy probation officers shall serve under this act as are appointed under the act known as the juvenile court law, and entitled, "An act to be known as the juvenile court law, and concerning persons under the age of twenty-one years; and in certain cases providing for their care, custody and maintenance; providing for the probationary treatment of such persons, and for the commitment of such persons to the Whittier State School and the Preston School of Industry, the California School for Girls, and other institutions; establishing probation officers and a probation committee to deal with such persons and fixing the salary thereof; providing for the establishment of detention homes for such persons; fixing the method of procedure and treatment or commitment where crimes have been committed by such persons; providing for the punishment of those guilty of offenses with reference to such persons, and defining such crimes; and repealing the juvenile court law approved March 8, 1909, as amended by an act approved April 5, 1911, and as amended by an act approved June 16, 1913, and all amendments thereof and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith," approved June 5, 1915, or under any laws amending or superseding the same, except in the case of offenses committed in counties and cities and counties of the second class and counties of the third class, in the case of which offenses the adult probation officers and assistant and deputy adult probation officers appointed under subdivision (g) of this section shall serve under this act; provided, however, that in all cases of offenses defined by section twenty-one of said act known as the juvenile court law and by section two hundred and seventy of the Penal Code of California, the same probation officers, assistants and deputies shall serve under this act as are appointed under said juvenile court law.

(g) Adult probation board. Term. Vacancies. Removal for cause. Duties. In counties of third class. Payment of salaries and expenses. In counties of second class. Additional deputies. In counties and cities and counties of the second class, the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings by a majority vote and in counties of the third class the judge of the department or the judges of the departments, by a majority vote, to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned shall by order entered in the minutes of the court appoint seven citizens of good moral character to be known as the adult probation board and shall fill all vacancies occurring in such board. The clerk of said court shall immediately notify each person appointed on said board and thereupon said person shall appear before a judge of the superior court and qualify by taking an oath, which shall be entered in said court record, to perform faithfully the duties of such adult probation board. The members of such adult probation board shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed and qualify; provided, that of those first appointed one shall hold office for one year, two for two years, two for three years and two for four years, the terms for which the respective members shall hold office to be determined by lot as soon after their appointment as may be. When any vacancy occurs in any probation board by expiration of the term of office of any member thereof, the successor shall be appointed to hold office for the term of four years. When any vacancy occurs for any other reason, the appointee shall hold office for the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any member of the probation board may be removed for cause at any time by an affirmative vote of four members of said board at a meeting called for the special purpose of considering the question of said removal and the subsequent written approval of a majority of the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings in counties and cities and counties of the second class, and the judge of the department or a majority of the judges of the departments to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned in counties of the third class, said written approval to be filed with the clerk of the court within thirty days after the written report of the said board has been received by said judge. Written notice as to said special meeting shall be served on each of the members of said board at least ten days prior to the date set therefor and shall specify the purpose thereof.

It shall be the duty of such adult probation board to exercise a friendly supervision of probationers when so directed by the court, to furnish the court information and assistance whenever required upon the request of the court and from time to time to advise and recommend to the court any changes or modification of the order made in the case of a probationer as may be for the best interests of such person.

Members of the adult probation board shall serve without compensation.

In counties or cities and counties of the second class, there shall be and are hereby created the office of one adult probation officer; eight assistant adult probation officers; the salaries of said officers shall be as follows: adult probation officer, two hundred fifty dollars per month, one assistant adult probation officer, two hundred dollars per month, and seven assistant adult probation officers at one hundred forty dollars per month, each. In counties of the third class there shall be and there are hereby created the offices of one adult probation officer, one assistant adult probation officer and two deputy adult probation officers. The salaries of said officers shall be as follows: Adult probation officer two thousand one hundred dollars per annum; assistant adult probation officer one thousand nine hundred twenty dollars per annum; one deputy adult probation officer one thousand six hundred twenty dollars per annum; and one deputy adult probation officer six hundred dollars per annum. One deputy adult probation officer in counties of the third class shall be a woman and shall be a competent stenographer and typist of sufficient ability to perform the clerical and stenographic work of the office in addition to her other duties; provided, however, that in the event an adult probation department is created in counties of the third class, from and after the creation of such department and the appointment of an adult probation officer or any deputy or assistant or like officer who shall relieve the probation officer of the adult probation work, the offices of assistant probation officer at a salary of one hundred seventy-five dollars a month and of assistant probation officer at a salary of one hundred sixty dollars per month shall cease and terminate and be abolished in counties of this class.

The salaries of the adult probation officers, assistant adult probation officers and deputy adult probation officers in counties or cities and counties of the second class and in counties of the third class shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county for which they are appointed respectively in the same manner as the salaries of the other county officers. The adult probation officers, assistant adult probation officers and deputy adult probation officers in said counties or cities and counties of the second class and in counties of the third class shall be allowed such necessary incidental expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as required by any laws of the state of California as may be authorized by a judge designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings or by the judge of a department to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned, and the same shall be a charge upon the county in which the court appointing them has jurisdiction and said expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon a written order of said judge of said county directing the county auditor to draw his warrant upon the county treasurer for the specific amount of such expenses. The adult probation officer shall keep a list of expenses and file a copy monthly with the county board of supervisors.

In counties or cities and counties of the second class the adult probation officer, and the assistant adult probation officer and deputy adult probation officers hereinbefore provided for shall be nominated by the adult probation board in manner as the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings shall direct and the appointment of such adult probation officer, assistant adult probation officer and deputy adult probation officers shall be made by a majority vote of said judges. The term of office of the adult probation officer, assistant adult probation officer and deputy adult probation officers shall be two years from the date of their said appointments.

In counties of the third class the adult probation officer, the assistant adult probation officer and the deputy adult probation officer hereinbefore provided for shall be nominated by the adult probation board and in manner as the judge of the department or a majority of the judges of the departments to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned shall direct and the appointment of such adult probation officer, assistant adult probation officer, deputy adult probation officer shall be made by said judge or a majority of said judges. The term of office of the adult probation officer, the assistant probation officer and the deputy adult probation officer shall be two years from the date of their appointment. The adult probation officer, the assistant adult probation officer and any deputy adult probation officer may at any time be removed in counties or cities and counties of the second class by vote of a majority of the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings and in counties of the third class by the judge of the department or by a majority of the judges of the departments to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned for good cause shown and on the filing of written charges by the said judge or judges with the adult probation board. In counties or cities and counties of the second class the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings, and in counties of the third class the judge of the department or the judges of the departments to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned shall have authority by an order entered in the minutes of said court to determine and fix the amount of bonds of the adult probation officer of county or city and county and of the assistant adult probation officer of the county or city and county and of the deputy adult probation officers of the county or city and county. If said bonds or any of them are furnished by any surety company licensed to transact business in the state of California, the premium thereon shall be paid out of the county treasury.

The adult probation officer may appoint as many additional deputies as he may desire; provided, however, that such deputies shall not have authority to act until their appointments shall have been approved by a majority vote of the members of the adult probation board and by a majority vote of the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings in counties and cities and counties of the second class, and by a majority vote of the members of the adult probation board and by a judge of the department or a majority vote of the judges of the departments to which criminal proceedings are assigned in counties of the third class. The term of office of such deputies shall expire with the term of the adult probation officer making such appointment but the adult probation officer without written approval of the majority of members of the adult probation board may at any time, in his discretion, revoke and terminate such appointment. Such deputies except as herein provided shall serve without compensation. It shall be the duty of the legislative body of every county or city and county of the second class and of every county of the third class, immediately upon this act becoming effective, to provide and thereafter maintain, at the expense of such county or city and county, in a location in the vicinity of the jail of such county or city and county, approved by the judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings, in counties or cities and counties of the second class and by the judge of the department or the judges of the departments to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned in counties of the third class, suitable offices and quarters for the conducting of the business of the adult probation officer, the assistant adult probation officer and the deputy adult probation officers of such county or city and county. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall apply to the offenses defined by section twenty-one of said juvenile court law and by section two hundred seventy of the Penal Code.

(h) Transfer of cases. Whenever any person is released upon probation under the provision of this act, the case may be transferred to any court of the same rank in any other county, or city and county, of this state in which such person resides, or to which such person may remove, and such court shall thereupon commit such person to the care and custody of the probation officer of the county, or city and county, to which such person has been transferred; such court shall thereafter have entire jurisdiction over such case, with like power to make transfer whenever to such court such transfer may seem proper.

(i) Report on person's antecedents, etc. At the time of the plea or verdict of guilty of any crime of any person over eighteen years of age, the probation officer of the county of the jurisdiction of said crime shall, when so directed by the court, inquire into the antecedents, character, history, family environment, and offense of such person, and must report the same to the court, and file his report in writing in the records of said court. His report shall contain his recommendation for or against the release of such person on probation. If any such person shall be released on probation and committed to the care of the probation officer, such officer shall keep a complete and accurate record in suitable books or other form in writing, of the history of the case in court, and of the name of the probation officer, and his acts in connection with said case; also the age, sex, nativity, residence, education, habits of temperance, whether married or single, and the conduct, employment, and occupation, and parents' occupation, and condition of such person so committed to his care during the term of such probation and the result of such probation. Such record of such probation officer shall be and constitute a part of the records of the court, and shall at all times be open to the inspection of the court, or of any person appointed by the court for that purpose, as well as of all magistrates, and the chief of police, or other head of the police, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Said books of record shall be furnished for the use of said probation officer of said county, and shall be paid for out of the county treasury.

(j) Report of probation officers. Every probation officer, within fifteen days after the thirtieth day of June, and within fifteen days after the thirty-first day of December, of each year, shall make in writing and file as a public document with the county clerk a report to the superior court of the county or city and county in which such probation officer is appointed to serve, and shall furnish a copy of such report to each judge in said county or city and county who has released any person on probation who at the time of such report remains on probation; and a further copy to the secretary of the state board of charities and corrections. Such report shall state, without giving names, the exact number of persons, segregating male and female, and segregating misdemeanors and felonies, who have been released on probation to such probation officer as such number exists, deducting all cases of expiration, discharge, dismissal, and restoration of rights, on said thirtieth day of June and said thirty-first day of December; and such report shall further segregate such (person) as having been released on probation, as the case may be, in one thousand nine hundred three, one thousand nine hundred four, one thousand nine hundred five and so on, up to and including the calendar year in which such report is made and filed.

(k) Statement of terms of probation. The probation officer shall furnish to each person who has been released on probation, and committed to his care a written statement of the terms and conditions of his probation unless such statement has been furnished by the court, and shall report to the court, judge or justice, releasing such person upon probation, any violation or breach of the terms and conditions imposed by such court on the person placed in his care.

(l) Powers of peace officers. Such probation officer shall have, as to the person so committed to the care of said probation officer, the powers of a peace officer. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1244.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1409.

§ 1239. Appeals in criminal actions. An appeal from a judgment may be taken by the defendant by announcing personally or through his attorney in open court at the time the judgment is rendered that he appeals from the same or by filing a written notice of appeal within two days after the rendition of judgment with the clerk of the court wherein judgment was rendered; and from any order made after judgment, by announcing in open court at the time the same is made that he appeals from the same. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 37.]

§ 1298. Deposit of United States and state bonds as bail. In lieu of a deposit of money, the defendant may deposit bonds of the United States or of the state of California of the face value of the cash deposit required, and such bonds shall be treated in the same manner as a deposit of money except that the clerk shall, under order of the court, when occasion arises therefor, sell the said bonds and apply the proceeds of such sale in the manner that a deposit of cash may be required to be applied. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 240.]

§ 1324. Witness not to prosecute on testimony of himself. Person not exempted if testimony is voluntary. [Repealed May 8, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 291.]

§ 1438. Attendance of defendant in justices' courts. After the members of the jury are sworn, they must sit together and hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, which must be delivered in public and in the presence of the defendant and if any defendant be not present, the court or justice of the peace by an order or warrant may require the personal attendance of such defendant. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 134.]

§ 1616. Care of female prisoners in county jails. Whenever any female prisoner or prisoners are confined in any county jail in the state, and no regular jail matron has been appointed, there shall be designated by the sheriff some suitable woman who shall have immediate care of such female prisoner or prisoners, and who shall be paid out of the general fund of the county upon claims to be presented and allowed by the board of supervisors as other claims against the county. Such female prisoners shall be so kept that they cannot see or be seen by, or converse with, any male prisoners confined in said jail, and it shall be unlawful for any male officer or jailer to search the person of any female prisoner, or to enter into the room or cell occupied by any female prisoner, except in the company of such matron or woman having the care of such female prisoner. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 240.]

§ 10. Holidays. Saturday holiday. Public school holidays. "Admission day." Holidays within the meaning of this code, are every Sunday, the first day of January, twelfth day of February, to be known as Lincoln day, twenty-second day of February, thirtieth day of May, fourth day of July, ninth day of September, first Monday in September, twelfth day of October, to be known as "Columbus day," twenty-fifth day of December, every day on which an election is held throughout the state, and every day appointed by the President of the United States or by the governor of this state for a public fast, thanksgiving or holiday.

If the first day of January, twelfth day of February, twenty-second day of February, the thirtieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the ninth day of September, the twelfth day of October or the twenty-fifth day of December falls upon a Sunday, the Monday following is a holiday.

Every Saturday from twelve o'clock noon until twelve o'clock midnight is a holiday as regards the transaction of business in the public offices of this state, and also in political divisions thereof where laws, ordinances or charters provide that public offices shall be closed on holidays; this shall not be construed to prevent or invalidate the issuance, filing, service, execution or recording of any legal process or written instrument whatever on such Saturday afternoon; and provided, further, that the public schools of this state shall close on Saturday, Sunday, the first day of January, the thirtieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the ninth day of September, the twenty-fifth day of December and on every day appointed by the President of the United States or the governor of this state for a public fast, thanksgiving or holiday. Said public schools shall continue in session on all other legal holidays and shall hold proper exercises commemorating the day. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power to declare a holiday in the public schools under their jurisdiction when good reason exists therefor.

All public offices of the state and all state institutions, including the state university and all public schools in the state shall be closed on the ninth day of September of each year, known as "Admission day." [Amendment approved March 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 12.]

§ 410. Distribution of laws, etc., by secretary of state. Decisions of courts. The laws, resolutions and journals of the legislature shall be delivered by the state printer to the secretary of state, who shall immediately distribute them as follows:

1. To the library of congress, three copies.
2. To the state library or other library or department in each state, authorized to receive them, two copies.
3. To the librarians of the University of California and the Leland Stanford Junior University, two copies each.
4. To each United States senator and each member of congress from California, to each of the United States district judges in this state, to each of the judges of the supreme court, the district courts of appeal, and the superior courts of this state, one copy.
5. To the chief of each administrative department of the state government, and to each of his deputies, one copy.
6. To the lieutenant-governor, each member of the legislature, the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the assembly, one copy each.
7. To each public library, and each library connected with an incorporated college or other educational, scientific, literary or art institution in this state, which may apply to be put on the mailing list for all or a portion of the state publications, one copy.
8. To the state library, fifty copies, or so many more as the state librarian may require for exchange purposes.
9. Of the laws alone, to the county clerk of each county, in the cheapest and most expeditious manner, to be by the sheriff distributed under the direction of the clerks, one copy for the board of supervisors, one copy for the registrar of voters, one copy to each county officer and each justice of the peace and police judge; and of the journals, three copies of each house, to each county clerk, for the use of the county.

The secretary of state must also distribute of the bound volumes of the decisions of the supreme court, and of the district courts of appeal, as soon as he receives them:

1. To each state, two copies.
2. To the library of congress, the supreme court library and the district courts of appeal libraries, two copies each.
3. To each department of this state, and to each of the United States district judges of this state, supreme, district courts of appeal and superior judges of this state, one copy.
4. To each district attorney and county clerk, one copy.
5. To the reporter of the decisions, ten copies.
6. To the state library, ten copies. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 278.]

§ 413. Salaries of assistants to secretary of state. The annual salary of the deputy of the secretary of state is three thousand dollars; of the bookkeeper, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the keeper of the archives, two thousand dollars; of each of three of the recording clerks, one thousand eight hundred dollars; of each of three of the recording clerks; one thousand six hundred dollars; of the register clerk, one thousand eight hundred dollars; of each of the certificate clerks, one thousand six hundred dollars; of the statistician, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the superintendent and cashier of the corporation license tax department, two thousand four hundred dollars; of each of five clerks of the corporation license tax department, one thousand eight hundred dollars; of one clerk in the corporation license tax department, one thousand six hundred dollars; of the porter for the office of the secretary of state, seven hundred twenty dollars; of the porter for the corporation license tax department, three hundred sixty dollars; of the messenger for the office of the secretary of state, nine hundred dollars; of the messenger for the corporation license tax department, six hundred dollars; of each of the special clerks serving from January first to May first in each legislative year, one hundred twenty-five dollars. All such salaries are payable in the same manner and at the same time as other state officers. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1353.]

§ 433. Duties of controller. It is the duty of the controller:

1. To superintend the fiscal concerns of the state;
2. To report to the governor, before the fifteenth day of December next preceding each regular session of the legislature, a statement of the funds of the state, its revenues, and of the public expenditures during the two preceding fiscal years, together with a detailed estimate of the expenditures to be defrayed from the treasury for the two ensuing fiscal years, specifying therein each object of expenditure, and distinguishing between such as are provided for by permanent or temporary appropriations and such as must be provided for by a new statute, and suggesting the means from which such expenditures are to be defrayed;
3. To accompany his biennial report with tabular statements, showing: (1) The amount of each appropriation for the two preceding fiscal years, the amounts expended, and the balance, if any; (2) the amounts of revenue chargeable to each county for such years, the amount paid and the amount unpaid or due therefrom;
4. When requested, to give information in writing to either house of the legislature relating to the fiscal affairs of the state or the duties of his office;
5. To suggest plans for the improvement and management of the public revenues;
6. To keep and state all accounts in which the state is interested;
7. To keep an account of all warrants drawn upon the treasurer, and a separate account under the head of each specific appropriation, showing at all times the unexpended balance of such appropriation;
8. To keep an account between the state and the treasurer and therein charge the treasurer with the balance in the treasury when he came into office, and with all moneys received by him, and credit him with all warrants drawn on and paid by him;
9. To keep a record of warrants showing the fund upon which they are drawn, the number, in whose favor, and the appropriation applicable to the payment thereof. Before delivering a warrant to the payee named therein, he shall, whenever requested to do so by the state treasurer, permit the state treasurer to indorse upon or attach to such warrant an order designating the place where such warrant may be paid. Such warrants may be made payable at the option of the treasurer, either at his office, or at some bank at which moneys of the state are deposited. Whenever any party is entitled to the payment of a sum greater than twenty thousand dollars, the controller shall, whenever requested to do so by the state treasurer, issue to such party several warrants aggregating the amounts due him in the amounts designated by the treasurer. Upon drawing a warrant in favor of any claimant the controller shall, unless otherwise requested, or unless for good and sufficient reasons, mail the same to the last known address of such claimant and the signature upon such warrant of the payee shall be sufficient receipt and legal evidence of the receipt of the money by said claimant;

10. To audit all claims against the state in cases where there are sufficient provisions of law for the payment thereof;

11. To examine and settle the accounts of all persons indebted to the state, and to certify the amount to the treasurer, and upon presentation and filing of the treasurer's receipt therefor to give such person a discharge and charge the treasurer therewith;

12. In his discretion to require any person presenting an account for settlement to be sworn before him, and to answer orally or in writing, as to any facts relating to it;

13. To require all persons who have received any moneys belonging to the state and have not accounted therefor to settle their accounts;

14. In his discretion to inspect the books of any person charged with the receipt, safekeeping, or disbursement of public moneys;

15. In his discretion, to require all persons who have received moneys or securities, or have had the disposition or management of any property of the state of which an account is kept in his office to render statements thereof to him; and all such persons must render such statement at such times and in such form as he may require;

16. To direct and superintend the collection of all moneys due the state, and institute suits in its name for all official delinquencies in relation to the assessment, collection, and payment of the revenue, and against persons who by any means have become possessed of public money or property and fail to pay over or deliver the same, and against all debtors of the state; of which suits the courts of Sacramento county have jurisdiction, without regard to the residence of the defendants;

17. To draw warrants on the treasurer for the payment of moneys directed by law to be paid out of the treasury; but no warrant must be drawn unless authorized by law, and upon an unexhausted specific appropriation provided by law to meet the same. Every warrant must be drawn upon the fund out of which it is payable, and specify the specific appropriation applicable to the payment thereof;

18. To furnish the state treasurer with a list of warrants drawn upon the treasury;

19. To authenticate with his official seal all drafts and warrants drawn by him, and all copies of papers issued from his office;

29. To perform the duties of a member of the state board of equalization, and such other duties as are prescribed by law. [Amendment approved April 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 56.]

The amendment of section 433 also contained the following provision:

§2 This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, and under the provisions of section one of article four of the constitution of the state of California shall take effect immediately upon approval. The facts constituting such urgency are as follows: July 1, 1919, is the date of the beginning of the next fiscal year, and the new form for state warrants for the coming year cannot be put into effect for the year at that time because of the fact that under ordinary procedure a bill does not go into effect until ninety days after the adjournment of the legislature. It is, therefore, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public safety that these warrants be upon the new form prescribed in this measure.

§439. Assistants to controller. The controller may appoint one deputy controller, one bookkeeper, one redemption tax expert, one statistician, one warrant registrar, one superintendent franchise tax department, one franchise tax expert, and seven clerks, who shall be civil executive officers; and one stenographer-clerk, and one stenographer. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1352.]

This section was also amended in 1917. Stats. 1917, p. 1390.

§440. Salaries. The annual salary of the deputy controller is three thousand dollars; of the bookkeeper, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the redemption tax expert, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the statistician, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the warrant registrar, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the superintendent franchise tax department, two thousand four hundred dollars; of the franchise tax expert, two thousand four hundred dollars; of two clerks, one thousand eight hundred dollars each; of five clerks, one thousand six hundred dollars each; of the stenographer-clerk, one thousand five hundred dollars, and of the stenographer, one thousand two hundred dollars. All such salaries shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of other state officers. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1352.]

Section 440 was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 440.

§443. Transfer of money to school fund. In addition to funds provided by constitution. On or before the thirty-first day of December in the year one thousand nine hundred nineteen and on or before the thirtieth day of June in the year one thousand nine hundred twenty, and on or before the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each succeeding-year, the state controller shall transfer from the general fund of the state, to the state school fund, such sums as will be equivalent to seventeen and one-half dollars per annum for each pupil in average daily attendance in the elementary schools of the state as reported by the superintendent of public instruction for the school year ending June thirtieth preceeding. The money so transferred shall be in addition to the funds provided by the constitution the city of Sacramento shall be two thousand seven hundred dollars. The salaries of said inheritance tax attorney and of said inheritance tax attorneys shall be paid at the same times and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. Said attorneys shall receive their necessary traveling and incidental expenses, and any other and further and additional expenses for experts, agencies or persons or for any other purpose which may be found necessary or proper in the conduct of said inheritance tax business. The amount shall be paid out of such moneys as may be available to time to the controller for use of said inheritance tax business. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, c. 100, p. 100.]

Employees in office of state treasurer. The state treasurer shall appoint one deputy state treasurer, one cashier, one bond officer, one deposit officer, one bookkeeper and one secretary-stenographer, all of whom shall be civil executive officers. The annual salary of the deputy state treasurer is three thousand two hundred dollars; of the cashier, two thousand seven hundred dollars; of the bond officer, two thousand five hundred dollars; of the deposit officer, two thousand five hundred dollars; of the bookkeeper, two thousand two hundred dollars; and of the secretary-stenographer, one thousand five hundred dollars. All such salaries shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of other state officers. [Amendment approved May 15, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 540.]

§470. Duties of attorney general. It is the duty of the attorney general:

1. To attend the supreme court and prosecute or defend all causes to which the state, or any officer thereof, in his official capacity is a party; and all causes to which any county may be a party, unless the interest of the county is adverse to the state, or some officer thereof acting in his official capacity;
2. After judgment in any of the causes referred to in the preceding subdivision, to direct the issuing of such process as may be necessary to carry the same into execution;

for the support of the common schools and any other funds paid into the state school fund from other sources or made available by any provision of law for the support of the elementary schools of the state, and the provisions of this section shall not apply to nor affect the acts under which said additional sums are appropriated or made available for such use. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1009.]

§ 445. Inheritance tax department established. Inheritance tax attorney and assistants. Duties. Salaries. Salaries, employees of inheritance tax department. Expenses. The controller shall maintain under his authority and direction a department, to be known as the inheritance tax department, which is hereby established, for the purpose of supervising and assisting in the administration of the inheritance or transfer tax laws of this state. Said department shall gather, record, compile, publish and distribute such information and data as the controller may direct relative to the inheritance or transfer tax laws of this or other states or relative to the administration, enforcement or evasion of such laws. Said department shall co-operate with, advise and assist inheritance tax appraisers, county treasurers, district attorneys and other officers and persons in the administration and enforcement of the inheritance or transfer tax laws of this state, and shall prepare, publish and distribute such blank forms for use of inheritance tax appraisers or other use as the controller may direct. In connection with said inheritance tax department, the controller may appoint, in addition to other employees provided for by statute, an inheritance tax attorney, whose office shall be in the city of Sacramento, five assistant inheritance tax attorneys, two of whom shall have their offices in the city of Los Angeles, two of whom shall have their offices in the city and county of San Francisco, and one of whom shall have his office in the city of Sacramento. Said attorneys shall be civil executive officers and shall be admitted and licensed to practice before the supreme court of this state. The inheritance tax attorney shall, under the authority and direction of the controller, have general supervision of said department. He shall have particular charge of the legal work connected with said department and shall perform such other duties as the controller may direct. Said assistant inheritance tax attorneys shall perform such legal and other services relative to the administration and enforcement of said inheritance or transfer tax laws in the respective counties in which their offices may be situated or in any neighboring county, as the controller may direct. The salary of said inheritance tax attorney shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum. The salary of one assistant inheritance tax attorney whose office shall be in the city of Los Angeles shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum. The salary of the second assistant inheritance tax attorney whose office shall be in the city of Los Angeles shall be two thousand four hundred dollars per annum. The salary of one assistant inheritance tax attorney whose office shall be in the city and county of San Francisco shall be three thousand six hundred dollars per annum. The salary of the second assistant inheritance tax attorney, whose office shall be in the city and county of San Francisco shall be two thousand four hundred dollars per annum. The salary of said assistant inheritance tax attorney whose office shall be in the city of Sacramento shall be two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum. The salaries of said inheritance tax attorney and of said assistant inheritance tax attorneys shall be paid at the same times and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. Said attorneys shall also receive their necessary traveling and incidental expenses. Said expenses and any other and further and additional expenses for attorneys, clerks, experts, agencies or persons or for any other purpose which said controller may find necessary or proper in the conduct of said inheritance tax department shall be paid out of such moneys as may be appropriated from time to time to the controller for use of said inheritance tax department. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1389.]

9. Whenever the property of a judgment debtor in any judgment mentioned in the preceding subdivision has been sold under a prior judgment, or is subject to any judgment, lien, or encumbrance taking precedence of the judgment in favor of the state, under the direction of the board of control, to redeem such property from such prior judgment, lien, or encumbrance; and all sums of money necessary for such redemption must, upon the order of the board of control, be paid out of any money appropriated for such purpose;

10. When in his opinion it may be necessary for the collection or enforcement of any judgment hereinbefore mentioned, to institute and prosecute, in behalf of the state, such suits or other proceedings as he may find necessary to set aside and annul all conveyances fraudulently made by such judgment debtors, the cost necessary to the prosecution must, when allowed by the board of control, be paid out of any appropriations for the prosecution of delinquents;

11. To report to the governor, at the time required by section three hundred thirty-two of this code, the condition of the affairs of his department, and of the reports received by him from district attorneys. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 286.]

§ 472. Appointees of attorney general. To have charge of state's legal matters. The attorney general may appoint one assistant, one chief deputy and seven additional deputies, who shall be civil executive officers. The annual salary of the assistant shall be four thousand dollars; the annual salary of the chief deputy shall be four thousand dollars; the annual salary of two of such additional deputies shall be three thousand three hundred dollars each, and the annual salary of five of such additional deputies shall be three thousand dollars each. Said salaries shall be paid at the time and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. The attorney general shall not employ special counsel in any case except those provided in section four hundred seventy-four of the Political Code. The attorney general shall have charge, as attorney, of all legal matters in which the state is in any wise interested, except the business of the regents of the University of California and of the state harbor commissioners, and such other boards or officers as are now by law authorized to employ attorneys, and no board, officer or officers, or employee of the state, except said regents and said harbor commissioners and such other boards and officers as are now by law authorized to employ attorneys, shall employ any attorney other than the attorney general, or one of his assistants or deputies, in any matter in which the state is interested; nor shall any money be drawn out of the treasury, or out of any moneys appropriated out of the treasury, or out of any special or contingent fund under the control of any board, officer or officers, or employee for the pay of any legal services rendered after the passage of this act, the provisions of any existing statute to the contrary notwithstanding, excepting as above provided; provided, that whenever a district attorney in any county of this state shall, for any reason, become disqualified from conducting any criminal prosecution within such county, the attorney general may employ special counsel to conduct such prosecution, and the attorney's fee in such case shall be a legal charge against the state; provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or deny the right of any board, officer, or officers or employee of the state to employ or engage counsel in any matter of the state, after first having obtained the written consent so to do of the attorney general. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 529.]

§ 475. Clerks, etc., of attorney general. The attorney general may appoint two clerks, one phonographic reporter, one service agent, and six stenographers for his office. The annual salary of each of said clerks and of the phonographic reporter and of the service agent shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars; the annual salary of five of said stenographers shall be one thousand five hundred dollars; the annual salary of one of said stenographers shall be one thousand two hundred dollars. Said salaries shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of state officers are paid. The clerks, the phonographic reporter, the service agent, and the stenographers shall be civil executive officers. The service agent and two of said stenographers, to be designated by the attorney general, shall be exempted from the provisions of the civil service act and shall hold their positions during the pleasure of the attorney general. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 515.]

§ 514. Assistants to superintendent of public instruction. The superintendent of public instruction may appoint one deputy superintendent of public instruction, one statistician, one bookkeeper and one secretary, all of whom shall be civil executive officers. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1332.]

eight hundred dollars. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1333.]

§ 534. Salaries of superintendent of state printing and deputy. The annual salary of the superintendent of state printing shall be five thousand dollars. 11. Boiler and machinery. Boiler and machinery insurance, including within its meaning insurance upon steam boilers and pipes, flywheels, engines and machinery connected therewith or operated thereby, against explosion and accident, and against loss and damage to life or property resulting therefrom, and against loss of use and occupancy caused thereby.

12. Burglary. Burglary insurance, including within its meaning insurance against loss by burglary or theft or both.

13. Credit. Credit insurance, including within its meaning insurance of merchants, traders, and those engaged in business and giving credit for loss and damage by reason of giving and extending credit to their customers and those dealing with them, and insurance or guarantee either by agreement to purchase uncollectible debts or otherwise, against loss or damage from the failure of persons indebted or to become indebted to the insured, or to meet existing or contemplated liabilities.

14. Sprinkler. Sprinkler insurance, including within its meaning insurance against loss or damage by water to any goods or premises arising from the breakage or leakage of sprinklers, pumps or other apparatus placed for extinguishing fires, and of water pipes, against accidental injury to such sprinklers, pumps, or other apparatus.

15. Team and vehicle. Team and vehicle insurance, including within its meaning insurance against loss or legal liability for loss because of damage to property caused by the use of teams or vehicles whether by accident or collision or by explosion of any engine or tank or boiler or pipe or tire of any vehicle, and also including insurance against theft of the whole or any part of any vehicle; the term vehicle as here used does not include ships or vessels, nor boats nor any railroad rolling stock.

16. Automobile. Automobile insurance, including within its meaning the insurance of the owners of or dealers in automobiles against any and all hazards incident to ownership, maintenance, operation and use of such automobiles, except the hazard or liability against loss or damage resulting from an accident to or physical injury, fatal or nonfatal, suffered by any person as a result of the ownership, maintenance, operation or use of such automobile. No company shall assume any hazard or risk upon an automobile unless authorized to assume hazards or risks of that character by its charter or articles of incorporation. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent a fire insurance company from issuing a policy of insurance upon an automobile covering the fire hazard only, nor be construed to prevent a marine insurance company from issuing a policy of insurance upon an automobile covering the marine hazard of transportation only.

17. Mortgage. Mortgage insurance, including within its meaning the guaranteeing of the payment of the principal, interest and other sums agreed to be paid under the terms of any note or bond secured by mortgage or trust deed, or other sums secured under the terms of any such mortgage or trust deed, in its entirety, or of an undivided or other partial interest in any such mortgage or trust deed, or in a group of such mortgages or trust deeds, and the guaranteeing or insuring, directly or indirectly, against loss thereon.

18. Miscellaneous. Requirements to do business. Capital stock required. Capital stock must be paid up. Miscellaneous insurance, including within its meaning lightning, windstorm, tornado and earthquake insurance; and any and all casualty insurance not included in any of the foregoing kinds, and which is a proper subject of insurance.

No company shall do any of the foregoing eighteen kinds of insurance unless authorized to do so by its charter; provided, however, that companies heretofore authorized to write liability insurance may continue to write workmen's compensation insurance and common carrier liability insurance in the same manner as if the said last two kinds of insurance were expressly permitted in their charter.

No company having a capital stock shall do life insurance in California without having a capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars, nor shall any such company do in California any other of said kinds of insurance, except the sixth, eighth, and ninth, and tenth classes; provided, that any such insurance company desiring to do either the sixth, eighth, or ninth and tenth class, must have in addition to such two hundred thousand dollars of capital stock at least fifty thousand dollars of capital stock for each permitted class it desires to do except that an additional capital stock of fifty thousand dollars shall be sufficient capital stock to enable such company to do the eighth, ninth, and tenth classes of insurance. No company having a capital stock shall do in California any fire insurance without having a capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars, nor shall any such company do in California any other kinds of insurance except the third, eleventh, fourteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth classes. To do both fire and marine insurance such company must have a capital stock of at least four hundred thousand dollars, and to do any other permitted class of insurance, such company must have an additional capital stock of at least fifty thousand dollars for each such additional class it desires to do, in addition to the two hundred thousand dollars required if it does fire insurance, or the four hundred thousand dollars if it does both fire and marine insurance. No company having a capital stock shall do in California marine insurance without having a capital stock of at least two hundred thousand dollars, nor shall any such company do in California any other of said kinds of insurance, except the second, fifteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth classes. To do both fire and marine insurance, such company must have a capital stock of at least four hundred thousand dollars, and to do any other permitted class of insurance, such company must have an additional capital stock of at least fifty thousand dollars for each such additional class it desires to do, in addition to the two hundred thousand dollars required if it does marine insurance, or the four hundred thousand dollars if it does both fire and marine insurance. No company having a capital stock shall do in California any of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth or eighteenth of said kinds of insurance without having a capital stock of at least one hundred thousand dollars for the first class of insurance such company desires to do, nor do any other of such classes without having in addition thereto of at least fifty thousand dollars capital stock for each additional permitted kind of insurance it desires to do; provided, however, that any company having a capital stock of at least one hundred thousand dollars may do the eighth, ninth, and tenth classes of insurance, or having qualified to do any of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, or eighteenth classes of insurance may do the eighth, ninth, and tenth class of insurance upon having an additional capital stock of at least fifty thousand dollars. Except as above prescribed, no company doing either the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth or eighteenth classes of insurance shall do any of the first, second, or third classes of insurance. No company doing the fourth class of insurance shall do any other class of insurance. No company doing the seventeenth class of insurance shall do any other class of insurance. No company doing any other class of insurance shall do either the fourth class or seventeenth class of insurance. No company shall do in California any title insurance without having at least one hundred thousand dollars of capital stock fully paid in, in cash, previous to the issuance of any policy. No company shall do in California any mortgage insurance without having at least two hundred fifty thousand dollars of capital stock fully paid in, in cash, previous to the issuance of any policy.

Such capital stock required must be fully paid up before doing any such business in California. The capital stock required must be unimpaired and shall be exclusive of all liability for losses reported, expenses, taxes and reinsurance of all outstanding risks as provided in sections six hundred two and six hundred two a of the Political Code. Every company organized or formed under the laws of any other state or country as a mutual or as a joint stock and mutual company having a capital stock less than as above prescribed must have in lieu of such capital stock available cash assets of at least two hundred thousand dollars above all liabilities for losses reported, expenses, taxes and reinsurance of all outstanding risks as provided in section six hundred two and six hundred two a of the Political Code. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1266.]

§ 594. Religious corporations, etc., may receive grants on condition to pay annuity. Any charitable, religious, benevolent or educational society, corporation, institution or association (pecuniary profit not being its object or purpose) which shall have been in active operation for at least ten years and which has obtained from the insurance commissioner a permit or certificate of authority so to do, may receive grants of property, real or personal, conditioned upon its agreement to pay an annuity to the grantor, or any other person or persons designated by the grantor.

Upon granting to such society, corporation, institution or association a permit or certificate of authority to receive such grants, the insurance commissioner shall require such society, corporation, institution or association to establish and maintain a reserve fund in such amount as he may deem sufficient to safeguard such annuities and for any failure so to do he shall revoke such permit or certificate of authority; but such society, corporation, institution or association shall be otherwise exempt from the insurance laws of this state. [New section approved May 23, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 823.]

§ 596. Transaction of insurance business in state. Certificate not to be renewed if company is in arrears for taxes. Surplus line broker. No company shall transact any insurance business in this state without first complying with all the provisions of the laws of this state and thereafter procuring from the insurance commissioner a certificate of authority and continuing to comply with the laws of this state. Every such certificate of authority shall expire on the first day of July after its issuance unless sooner revoked. No certificate of authority shall be granted or renewed to any company in arrears to the state, or to any county, city and county, city or town in the state, for fees, licenses, taxes, assessments, fines, or penalties, accrued on business previously transacted in the state, nor while said company is otherwise in default for failure to comply with any of the laws of this state regarding the governmental control of such company by the state.

No person, firm or corporation shall in this state act as agent, in any transaction of insurance on property located in this state, for any insurance company not authorized to transact such insurance in this state.

No person, firm or corporation within this state shall solicit, negotiate or effect any insurance of the kinds described in section five hundred ninety-four, marine insurance and insurance on the property of steam railroads or of other common carriers engaged in interstate trade excepted, on any property located in this state with companies not authorized to transact such business in this state, except by and through a surplus line broker upon the terms and conditions hereinafter stated.

When and only when the total amount of insurance, of kinds hereinbefore prohibited from being placed with unauthorized companies, desired on any property located within the state can not be procured from a majority of companies authorized to transact such kinds of insurance within the state, such remaining part of the insurance as can not be procured from a majority of such authorized companies may be procured from unauthorized companies by a surplus line broker, and by no other person.

License for surplus line broker. The insurance commissioner may issue a license authorizing any person, firm or corporation applying therefor, who is trustworthy and is competent to transact an insurance brokerage business in such manner as to safeguard the interest of the assured, to act as a surplus line broker from the date of such license until the first day of July succeeding, on the following conditions:

(a) Payment in advance to the insurance commissioner of a fee of twenty-five dollars.

(b) Delivery to the insurance commissioner of a bond to the state of California in the sum of five thousand dollars with sureties having the qualifications mentioned in section one thousand fifty-six and one thousand fifty-seven of the Code of Civil Procedure, conditioned that said licensee will fully and faithfully comply with the requirements of section five hundred ninety-six of the Political Code.

Duties of surplus line broker. The following are the duties of a surplus line broker with which he is required to comply:

1. To maintain in good faith an office in this state.

2. To keep in said office a complete book of record of the business transacted by him, under his license as a surplus line broker, with unauthorized companies showing: The dates of such insurance going into effect; the names of the insurers and of the insured; the gross premium payable therefor; the terms and character of insurance and location of the insured property. Such book of record shall also contain statements in the same detail of all such insurance canceled, or on which premiums have been increased or reduced and the amounts of additional or of return premiums thereon. Such books are to be open at all times for the inspection of, and examination by, the insurance commissioner or any one appointed by him for said purpose.

Before any insurance as hereinbefore provided may be so procured or placed by a surplus line broker under authority of his license with unauthorized companies, such broker shall satisfy himself that the insurance to be placed by him with unauthorized companies is only such part of the insurance required as cannot be procured from a majority of such authorized companies.

Whenever required so to do by the insurance commissioner, such surplus line broker shall furnish to said commissioner a list comprising a majority of the authorized companies from which the entire amount of insurance desired was not obtainable.

The surplus line broker shall within one week or as soon thereafter as practicable, after receipt by him of the complete information as to with what companies or other insurers and at what rate the insurance has been placed, file with the insurance commissioner a true report showing the names of the insured and of the insurers, the character of the insurance, location of the property, gross premium payable therefor and the date such insurance takes effect and the terms thereof. As soon as practicable after any such insurance has been canceled, or any premium thereon has been increased or reduced, such surplus line broker shall file with the insurance commissioner a report thereof in the same detail as required in the case of the report above referred to.

On or before the first day of March of each year the surplus line broker shall file with the insurance commissioner a sworn statement of all business transacted under his license during the last preceding calendar year ending December thirty-first. Such statement shall contain true accounts of the gross amount of insurance procured from and placed with unauthorized companies during the calendar year, the gross premium charged therefor, including additional insurance premiums, the gross amount of all insurance canceled during said year, and the gross return premiums thereon. Such statement shall also include any additional premiums charged, and the gross premium returned during said calendar year on insurance previously effected. All such reports and statements shall be made on blanks to be furnished to the surplus line broker by the insurance commissioner on application therefor.

Every surplus line broker shall on or before the first day of April of each year pay to the insurance commissioner for the use of the state of California a tax of three per cent upon the amount of gross premiums upon all insurance placed under authority of such license, less three per cent of all return premiums on policies canceled, or upon which premiums have been reduced during the year ending December thirty-first last preceding.

Any surplus line broker who willfully fails or refuses to report to the insurance commissioner any insurance on property located within this state placed under his name with unauthorized companies, or who shall by willful omission from the records required to be maintained by him for such purpose, attempt to evade the payment of taxes on any such insurance, shall upon conviction thereof in addition to being required to pay the tax thereon, be further penalized by a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense and the insurance commissioner shall further forthwith revoke the license of any such surplus line broker.

The insurance commissioner shall also revoke the license of any surplus line broker who willfully fails or refuses to perform any of the other duties hereinbefore specified as required of said broker.

Revoking license. Examination of policies, etc., by insurance commissioner. If in the opinion of the insurance commissioner the solvency of any surety on a bond hereby required has become impaired or doubtful, he shall notify the surplus line broker in writing, and unless within ten days after receipt of such notice the solvency of such surety is proved to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner, or a new bond is substituted therefor, said insurance commissioner shall revoke the license of the surplus line broker. The removal of the office of the surplus line broker from this state, or the removal therefrom of his accounts of his business as such, or the closing of his said office for a period of more than twenty consecutive days, shall constitute a termination of the authority of said surplus line broker, and shall be tantamount to an express revocation of his license, whether or not the insurance commissioner thereafter revokes the same. No new license shall be issued to any surplus line broker whose license has been revoked for any reason other than the insufficiency of his sureties, within the period of one year after such revocation, and until all indebtedness of said surplus line broker on former business has been paid to said insurance commissioner. Every insured for whom insurance has been effected with unauthorized companies shall produce for examination by the insurance commissioner, whenever requested by him, in writing so to do, all policies, contracts, and other documents evidencing such insurance and disclose to him the true amount of the gross premiums paid or agreed to be paid therefor, or upon refusal so to do, he shall forfeit to the state of California the sum of two hundred dollars for each refusal. Nothing in this section shall be construed to deprive any citizen of this state of the right to negotiate and effect insurance on his own property with any unauthorized company. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit any broker to solicit or place marine insurance or insurance on property of railroads or other common carriers engaged in interstate trade with nonadmitted insurers until three-quarters of the companies duly authorized to transact such class of insurance in this state shall have first been given a refusal of such insurance at equal rates and same conditions as may be bona fide obtainable from insurance companies admitted to do the same character of insurance under the laws of the state of New York. [Amendment approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 147.]

Repealed. Section four hundred thirty-nine of the Penal Code, in so far as it is inconsistent with the provisions hereof, is hereby repealed. [Repealed by act approved April 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 147.]

§ 596b. Suspension of certificate of authority of insurance company.

Hearing. Whenever the insurance commissioner ascertains that any company engaged in insurance business in this state is conducting its business fraudulently, or is not carrying out its contracts in good faith, and habitually and as a matter of ordinary practice and custom compels claimants under policy contracts to either accept less than the amount due under the terms of such contract, or to resort to litigation against such company to secure the payment of the amount due, the insurance commissioner may revoke or suspend the certificate of authority of such company, such suspension to be for a period of not exceeding one year, as may be prescribed by the commissioner in the order of suspension.

No action shall be taken by the commissioner under this section unless he has first given notice to such company and cited it to appear at a time and place to be fixed in such notice, and show cause why its certificate of authority should not be suspended or revoked. If at such hearing the facts warranting the same are established to the satisfaction of the commissioner, he may deal with the certificate of authority of such company as hereinbefore provided. Any company proceeded against by the commissioner under this section which shall be dissatisfied with his determination may commence an action against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy, and for the purpose of obtaining relief, or canceling the act of the insurance commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determination previously made by the insurance commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals shall be applicable to such action. [New section approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1265.]

§ 597. Examination of insurance companies. Company organized in other state. Access to books. Inspection of books. State compensation insurance fund. The commissioner, whenever he deems necessary, or whenever he is requested by verified petition, signed by twenty-five persons interested, either as stockholders, policy-holders, or creditors of any company engaged in insurance business in this state, showing that such company is insolvent under the laws of this state, must make an examination of the business and affairs relating to the insurance business of such company, and must make such an examination whenever any company is organized to do insurance business in this state, and before issuing a certificate of authority other than renewals to such company; provided, the insurance commissioner shall have no authority to issue, and no certificate of authority shall be issued, to any insurance company or corporation hereafter organized or incorporated in this state, whether the same be organized and promoted directly or by means of a holding company or corporation, one of the purposes of which is the organization and promotion of such insurance company or corporation, where such examination shows the expense of organization and promotion to be in excess of fifteen per cent of the total amount actually paid on its capital stock exclusive of surplus.

Whenever any company, not organized under the laws of this state, applies for a certificate of authority to do business in this state, the insurance commissioner may make, or cause to be made, by the insurance department of the state where such company is organized, an examination of the business and affairs relating to the insurance business of such company. The company organized or existing under the laws of any country outside of the United States, shall be deemed to be organized within the meaning of this act in any state wherein such company maintains the deposits required by the laws of this state.

For the purpose of making such examination the insurance commissioner shall have free access to all the books and papers of such company, and must thoroughly inspect and examine all its affairs, and ascertain its condition and ability to fulfill its engagements, and that it has complied with all the provisions of law applicable to its insurance transactions.

Every company examined under the provisions of this section must open its books and papers for the inspection of the commissioner, and otherwise facilitate such examination; and the commissioner may administer oaths and examine under oath any person relative to the business of such company; and if he finds the books to be carelessly or improperly kept or posted, he must employ sworn experts to rewrite, post, and balance the same at the expense of such company. Such examination must be conducted in the county where such company has its principal office, and must be private, unless the commissioner deems it necessary to publish the result of such investigation, in which case he may publish the same in two of the public newspapers of this state, one of which must be published in the city of San Francisco and the other in the city of Los Angeles. All examinations must be at the expense of the company, such expense to be paid in advance, and, if any such company refuses to pay such expenses in advance, the insurance commissioner may refuse to issue any such certificate of authority and must revoke any existing certificate of authority authorizing such company to do business.

The insurance commissioner shall have the same powers and authority to make examination of the state compensation insurance fund as are conferred upon him by law relative to the examination of other insurance carriers. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1320.]

§ 602a. Liabilities of insurance companies. Computation of reserve. In estimating the condition of any insurance corporation, mutual company, association, the state compensation insurance fund, interinsurance exchange or other insurance carriers engaged in the business of liability insurance and licensed to transact business in this state, the insurance commissioner shall charge as liabilities, all outstanding indebtedness of such carrier, and the premium reserve on policies in force, equal to the unearned portions of the gross premiums charged for covering the risks, computed on each respective risk from the date of the issuance of the policy.

The reserve for outstanding losses under insurance against loss or damage from accident to or injuries suffered by an employee or other person and for which the insured is liable shall be computed as follows:

(1) Liability suits. For all liability suits being defended under policies written more than—

(a) Ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, one thousand five hundred dollars for each suit.

(b) Five and less than ten years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, one thousand dollars for each suit.

(c) Three and less than five years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, eight hundred fifty dollars for each suit.

(2) Liability policies. For all liability policies written during the three years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, such reserve shall be sixty per centum of the earned liability premiums of each of such three years less all loss and loss expense payments made under the liability policies written in the corresponding years; but in any event, such reserve shall, for the first of such three years, be not less than seven hundred fifty dollars for each outstanding liability suit on said year's policies.

(3) Claims under policies written three years prior. For all compensation claims under policies written more than three years prior to the date as of which the statement is made, the present values at four per centum interest of the determined and the estimated future payments.

(4) Claims under policies written three years preceding. For all compensation claims under policies written in the three years immediately preceding the date as of which the statement is made, such reserve shall be seventy per centum of the earned compensation premiums of each of such three years, less all loss and loss expense payments made in connection with such claims under policies written in the corresponding years; but in any event in the case of the first year of any such three-year period such reserve shall be not less than the present value at four per centum interest of the determined and the estimated unpaid compensation claims under policies written during such year.

"Earned premiums." The term "earned premiums," as used herein, shall include gross premiums charged on all policies written, including all determined excess and additional premiums, less return premiums, other than premiums returned to policy-holders as dividends, and less reinsurance premiums and premiums on policies canceled, and less unearned premiums on policies in force.

"Compensation." The term "compensation" as used in this act, shall relate to all insurance effected by virtue of statutes providing compensation to employees for personal injuries irrespective of fault of the employer. The term "liability" shall relate to all insurance except compensation insurance against loss or damage from accident to or injuries suffered by an employee or other person and for which the insured is liable.

"Loss payments." The terms "loss payments," and "loss expense payments," as used herein, shall include all payments to claimants, including payments for medical and surgical attendance, legal expenses, salaries and expenses of investigators, adjusters and field men, rents, stationery, telegraph and telephone charges, postage, salaries and expenses of office employees, home office expenses, and all other payments made on account of claims, whether such payments shall be allocated to specific claims or unallocated.

Distribution of unallocated liability loss expense payments. All unallocated liability loss expense payments made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first four years in which an insurer has been issuing liability policies, shall be distributed as follows: Thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and five per centum to the policies written in the fourth year preceding, and such payments made in each of the first four calendar years in which an insurer issues liability policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year; in the third calendar year forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, and twenty per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and in the fourth calendar year thirty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, fifteen per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and ten per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in the annual statement.

Distribution of unallocated compensation loss expense payments. All unallocated compensation loss expense payments made in a given calendar year subsequent to the first three years in which an insurer has been issuing compensation policies shall be distributed as follows: Forty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty-five per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding and five per centum to the policies written in the third year preceding, and such payments made in each of the first three calendar years in which an insurer issues compensation policies shall be distributed as follows: In the first calendar year one hundred per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, in the second calendar year fifty per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year and fifty per centum to the policies written in the preceding year, in the third calendar year forty-five per centum shall be charged to the policies written in that year, forty-five per centum to the policies written in the preceding year and ten per centum to the policies written in the second year preceding, and a schedule showing such distribution shall be included in the annual statement.

Additional reserves. Whenever, in the judgment of the insurance commissioner, the liability or compensation loss reserves of any insurer under his supervision, calculated in accordance with the foregoing provisions, are inadequate, he may, in his discretion, require such insurer to maintain additional reserves based upon estimated individual claims or otherwise.

Schedule of experience. Each insurer that writes liability or compensation policies shall include in the annual statement required by law a schedule of its experience thereunder in such form as the insurance commissioner may prescribe. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1178.]

§ 611. Publication of statements of insurance companies. Supplemental report. All insurance companies doing business in this state must make and file with the insurance commissioner, on or before the first day of March of each year, statements, which must exhibit the condition and affairs of every such company, on the thirty-first day of December then next preceding, a synopsis of which statements, as adjusted by the commissioner upon proper examination of the same, must be published by such company in the city or city and county where the principal office in this state is located, said publication to be daily for the period of one week in some daily newspaper of general circulation or four consecutive times in some weekly newspaper of general circulation; provided, further, that the companies engaged in the business of compensation insurance shall at such intervals as may be prescribed by the insurance commissioner file statements supplemental to such annual statements and covering such matters dealt with in said annual statements as may be designated by the insurance commissioner; neither such supplemental report nor any synopsis thereof shall be required to be published. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 127.]

§ 618. When laws of other states require trust deposit from insurance companies. Duty of insurance commissioner. Deposit of mortgages, stocks or bonds. Whenever the laws of any state of the United States, or of any country foreign to the United States, require any insurance company organized under the laws of this state, to deposit with some officer of this state securities in trust for, and for the benefit of, the policy-holders of such company, as a prerequisite to transacting insurance business in such other state or foreign country, and whenever under any laws of this state any insurance company is required to deposit with any officer of this state securities in trust for, and for the benefit of policy-holders of such company, the insurance commissioner of this state must receive from such company securities in the amount required by the law under which such deposit is made on deposit and in trust for the policy-holders of such company. None of such securities so deposited must be estimated above the par value of the same, nor above their market value. The insurance commissioner must, upon the receipt of such securities, forthwith make a special deposit of the same in the state treasury, in packages marked with the name of the company from whom received, where they must remain as security for policy-holders in the company to whom they respectively belong; but so long as the company continues solvent he must permit it to collect the interest or dividends on the securities so deposited, and from time to time to withdraw any such securities on depositing other securities in the stead of those to be withdrawn. Such new securities to be of the same value and character mentioned in this section, but such securities must not be withdrawn from the state treasury unless upon the written order of the company making the deposits, which order must be indorsed by the commissioner, or upon the order and authority of some court of competent jurisdiction. If the deposit is of mortgages, it shall be accompanied by full abstracts of title or policies of title insurance or certificates of title issued by a duly organized title insurance company authorized to transact business under the laws of California, and the fees for examination of title, unless accompanied by such certificates of title or policies of title insurance, and the fees for appraisal of property shall be paid by the company making the deposit. If the deposit is of stocks or bonds, it shall be accompanied by the fees necessary for the appraisal thereof. If the deposit is of notes or bonds secured by mortgages, or trust deeds, covering property which has been brought under the operation of the land title law, commonly called the Torrens title law, it shall be accompanied by a certificate of a registrar of titles as to the condition of the title to the lands covered. [Amendment approved May 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 540.]

§ 633. License for insurance agents. Agent defined. Application for license. Revocation or suspension of. Action may be brought by agent. Term of license. Violation. Exemption from provisions of act. No person shall within this state act as the agent of any insurance or surety company or society until such person shall have first obtained a license from the insurance commissioner authorizing him or it so to act.

Any person duly appointed and authorized by an insurance or surety company or society to solicit applications for insurance or surety bonds, or effect insurance or surety bonds in the name of such company, shall be an agent within the meaning of this section. The insurance commissioner shall upon written notice from any insurance or surety company or society, authorized to transact business in this state, of its appointment of any person to act as its agent and upon payment of the fee provided for in section six hundred five of the Political Code, issue to such person a license in such form as may be prescribed by the insurance department; provided, however, that such proposed licensee shall first file with the insurance commissioner of the state of California upon a form to be prescribed and furnished by said insurance commissioner, an application in writing, duly verified under oath, reciting,

First—The applicant's full name and address;

Second—The name of the company for which the applicant is to act as agent;

Third—The applicant's experience in the insurance or surety business;

Fourth—If the applicant is engaged in any business other than insurance or surety, the nature of such business and the name under which such business is conducted;

Fifth—That the applicant intends to carry on in good faith the occupation of an insurance or surety agent, and that said applicant does not seek such appointment for the purpose of avoiding or preventing the operation or enforcement of the insurance laws of this state.

If it shall be brought to the attention of the insurance commissioner that any agent licensed hereunder has willfully misstated any material fact in his application, or that the purpose or principal use of such license as an insurance or surety agent is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any anti-rebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such agent conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts he sells or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall give notice to such agent and cite him to appear before such insurance commissioner and show cause why his license as an insurance or surety agent should not be suspended or revoked. If at the hearing of said order to show cause it shall appear that said agent has willfully misstated any material fact in his application to the insurance commissioner, or that the purpose or principal use of such license is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any anti-rebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such agent conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents policies or contracts he sells or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall either revoke or suspend the license of such agent, and shall notify both the agent and the company of such revocation or suspension.

If at any time the insurance commissioner revokes or suspends the license theretofore granted to any agent, such applicant or agent may commence an action against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy, and for the purpose of obtaining relief, or canceling the act of the insurance commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determinations previously made by the insurance commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals shall be applicable to such actions.

Such action shall be commenced and tried in the superior court of the county in which such agent resides, unless the parties thereto stipulate otherwise.

Unless revoked by the commissioner, or unless the company by written notice to the commissioner cancels the agent's authority to act for it, such license, or any renewal thereof, shall expire on the first day of July next after its issue or renewal. Any license issued after this section takes effect may in the discretion of the insurance commissioner be renewed for a succeeding year by a renewal certificate without the commissioner requiring the detailed information required by this section.

Any person who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as an insurance or surety agent unless licensed by the insurance commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him or it has been suspended or revoked, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but any policy issued on an application, thus procured, shall bind the insurance company if otherwise valid.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to, refer to, or affect county mutual fire insurance companies, or their agents, or title insurance business, or fraternal benefit societies, or agents or employees of reciprocal or interinsurance exchanges.

Nothing herein contained shall in any manner limit the fees provided for in section six hundred five of the Political Code. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1263.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1617.

§ 633a. License to act as insurance broker. Who are insurance brokers. License issued. Application. Revocation or suspension of license. Action to review facts. Nonresident brokers. Penalty. Title insurance, etc., not affected. Fees. No person, firm or corporation shall within this state act as an insurance broker until such person, firm or corporation shall have first obtained a license from the insurance commissioner authorizing him or it so to act.

Any person, firm or corporation, other than an insurance or surety company, or society, or agent of such company or society, or employee compensated by salary only and acting on behalf of such company or society or agent, or a medical examiner for a life insurance company or society, who, for compensation acts or aids in any manner in negotiating contracts of insurance or surety bonds or reinsurance or placing risks, or effecting insurance or reinsurance for a party other than himself or itself, shall be an insurance broker within the meaning of this section.

The insurance commissioner shall upon the payment of a fee provided for in section six hundred five of the Political Code, issue to a person, firm or corporation a license to act as an insurance broker to negotiate contracts of insurance or surety bonds, or reinsurance, or place risks, or effect insurance or surety bonds or reinsurance, with any insurance or surety company or society authorized to transact such business within this state, or with its agent, or with another broker; provided, however, that such proposed licensee shall first file with the insurance commissioner of the state of California, upon a form to be prescribed and furnished by said insurance commissioner, an application in writing duly verified under oath, reciting:

First—The applicant's full name and address;

Second—The applicant's experience in the insurance business;

Third—If the applicant is engaged in any other business than insurance, the nature of such business and the name under which such business is conducted;

Fourth—If the applicant be a copartnership, the names of the partners comprising such copartnership, or if the applicant be a corporation, the names of the officers thereof;

Fifth—That the applicant intends to carry on in good faith the occupation of an insurance broker, and that said applicant does not seek a license as an insurance broker for the purpose of avoiding or preventing the operation or enforcement of the insurance laws of this state.

An insurance broker's license so issued shall remain in force until July first of any year after the date of the issuance thereof unless sooner revoked by the insurance commissioner. Such broker's license issued on an application as hereinbefore provided may in the discretion of the insurance commissioner be renewed upon expiration for a succeeding year upon the payment of a fee, provided for in section six hundred five of the Political Code, without requiring anew the details required in the original application.

If it shall be brought to the attention of the insurance commissioner that any insurance broker licensed hereunder has willfully misstated any material fact in his application, or that the purpose or principal use of such license as an insurance broker is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any anti-rebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such broker conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts he negotiates or misrepresents the policies or contracts of any insurance or surety company, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public and those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall give notice to such insurance broker and cite him to appear before such insurance commissioner and show cause why his license as an insurance broker should not be suspended or revoked. If at the hearing of said order to show cause it shall appear that said insurance broker has willfully misstated any material fact in his application to the insurance commissioner, or that the purpose or principal use of such license is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any anti-rebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such broker conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts he negotiates or misrepresents the policies or contracts of any insurance or surety company, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public and those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall either revoke or suspend the license of such insurance broker and shall notify such broker of such revocation or suspension, and shall publish a notice of the revocation or suspension of said insurance broker's license in such a manner as he deems proper for the protection of the public.

If at any time the insurance commissioner revokes or suspends the license theretofore granted to a broker, such broker may commence an action against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy, and for the purpose of obtaining relief, or canceling the act of the insurance commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determination previously made by the insurance commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals shall be applicable to such action.

Such action shall be commenced and tried in the superior court of the county in which such broker resides, unless the parties thereto stipulate otherwise.

The insurance commissioner may upon application issue to nonresident insurance brokers a license to transact insurance in this state subject to the same qualifications, requirements, restrictions and fees as provided for resident brokers.

Any person, firm or corporation, who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as an insurance broker, unless licensed by the insurance commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him or it has been revoked, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but the policy issued on an application thus procured, shall bind the insurance company, if otherwise valid.

Nothing in this section shall apply to or in any way affect title insurance business, fraternal benefit societies or county mutual fire insurance companies.

Nothing herein contained shall in any manner limit the fees provided for in section six hundred five of the Political Code. [Amendment approved May 15, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1195.]

This section was added to the Political Code June 1, 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1615.

§ 633b. Policy must contain true statement of premium and risk. No insurance or surety company or society, nor any agent, shall insure any risk in this state, nor shall any agent or broker assist in arranging any such insurance, the policy or contract for which does not contain a true and correct statement of the premium consideration paid or to be paid therefor, and of the risk covered for such premium consideration; provided, however, that if the insurance be of a character where the exact premium is only determinable upon the expiration of the policy or contract, such policy or contract must contain a true and correct statement of the basis and rates upon which the said final premium or consideration is to be determined and paid, and of the risk covered for such premium consideration.

Covering notes. This section shall not be construed to prohibit the use of covering notes to temporarily bind insurance or surety bonds pending the issuance of the policy or contract; provided, that for every such covering note so used, within ninety days thereafter a policy or contract shall be issued in lieu thereof, including within its terms the identical insurance protected under said covering note and the premium consideration paid or to be paid therefor.

Rebates prohibited. No insurance or surety company or society, by itself or by any other party, and no agent, or insurance broker, personally or by any other party, shall offer, promise, allow, give, set off or pay, directly or indirectly, as an inducement to insurance on any risk in this state, now or hereafter to be written, any rebate of or part of the premium payable on the policy or contract of insurance or surety bond, or of the agent's or broker's commission thereon; nor shall any such company, or society, agent, or broker, personally or otherwise, offer, promise, allow, give, set off, or pay, directly or indirectly as an inducement to such insurance any earnings, profits, dividends, or other benefit, founded, arising, accruing, or to accrue on such insurance or surety bond, or therefrom, or any other valuable consideration which is not clearly specified, promised or provided for in the policy or contract of insurance, or in the application for such surety bond; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a mutual fire insurance company from returning any portion of the premium as a dividend, at the expiration of the term covered by such premium.

Commission. Discount on marine insurance. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit any insurance or surety company or society, or agent for such company or society, or broker, from paying commission to another company, society, agent, or insurance broker, nor shall this section be construed to prohibit any marine insurance company, agent, or broker from allowing any insured, such usual discount as is sanctioned by custom amongst marine insurers as being additional to the agent's or broker's commission, but this exemption shall in no wise operate to relieve marine insurance in any other respect from the full operation of this section.

Agent's commission on own insurance. This section, except as hereinbefore specifically provided, shall not be construed to prevent any insurance or surety company from paying to another insurance or surety company, or to an agent or broker, or to prevent any insurance or surety company or such an agent or broker from receiving a commission in respect to any policy under which it, itself, or he, himself, is insured.

Bonuses. Nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prohibit any company issuing nonparticipating life insurance from paying bonuses to policy-holders or otherwise abating their premiums, in whole or in part out of surplus accumulated from nonparticipating insurance; nor to prohibit any company transacting industrial insurance on the weekly payment plan from returning to policy-holders who have made premium payment for a period of at least one year directly to the company at its home or district offices, a percentage of the premium which the company would have paid for the weekly collection of such premiums. This section shall not be construed to prevent any life insurance company paying, or contract holders receiving special compensations, or allowing and receiving credits already agreed upon in contracts now in force.

Producing books, etc. No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any books, papers, contracts, agreements or documents at the trial or hearing of any person or company, association or society charged with violating any provisions of this section, on the ground that such testimony or evidence may tend to incriminate himself, but no person shall be prosecuted for any act concerning which he shall be compelled so to testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, except for perjury committed in so testifying.

Responsibility of company. Every insurance company or society shall be charged with full responsibility to exercise reasonable diligence for the observance of this section by its agents and it shall be unlawful for any insurance or surety company to appoint as its agent any person, firm or corporation, or the employee or nominee of said person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of enabling such person, firm or corporation to obtain a policy or contract of insurance at a cost less than that specified in any policy or contract of insurance issued to such person, firm or corporation, or at a cost less than that specified in any application for any surety bond issued in behalf of such person, firm or corporation.

Penalty. Certificate of authority suspended. An officer or employee of any insurance or surety company or society, or any agent or broker, or any officer or employee of such agent or broker who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon it being proven to the insurance commissioner after a hearing upon reasonable notice to the accused of the time and place of such hearing that any insurance or surety company or society shall knowingly have violated any of the provisions of this act, or shall knowingly have permitted any officer, managerial agent, or managerial employee, to violate any of the provisions of this act, he shall have authority to suspend the certificate of authority of such insurance or surety company or society to do the kind of business in which the violation of the provisions of this act occurred.

Agent's license revoked. And the insurance commissioner shall have authority to suspend or revoke the license issued to any agent or broker on its being proven to him, after hearing, that such agent or broker has knowingly and willfully violated any of the provisions of this act.

Action to review facts. If at any time the insurance commissioner suspends the certificate of authority theretofore granted to any insurance or surety company, or revokes or suspends the license theretofore granted to any broker or agent, or refuses to grant a certificate of authority to any insurance or surety company, or license to any broker or agent, any interested person or company may commence an action against the insurance commissioner for the purpose of reviewing the facts and the law pertinent to the controversy and for the purpose of obtaining the relief refused or for canceling the action of the commissioner. In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all of the facts de novo, without regard to the determinations previously made by the commissioner. In the trial of such actions all of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, shall be applicable. Such action shall be commenced and tried in the superior court of the county in which such insurance or surety company or society has its principal place of business in this state, or in which such broker or agent resides, unless the parties thereto stipulate otherwise.

Title insurance, etc., not affected. Nothing in this act shall apply to, or in any way affect reciprocal or interinsurance contracts, title insurance business, fraternal benefit societies, or county mutual fire insurance companies. [New section added June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1612.]

§ 633c. Officers of life insurance companies not to receive commissions on policies. No life insurance company transacting business in this state shall pay or contract to pay, directly or indirectly, to its president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, actuary, medical director or other physician charged with the duty of examining risks or applications for life insurance or to any officer of the company other than an agent or solicitor, any commission or other compensation contingent upon the writing or procuring of any policy of life insurance in such company or procuring an application therefor, by any person whomsoever, or contingent upon the payment of any renewal premium, or upon the assumption of any life insurance risk by such company, and should any company violate the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner to revoke its certificate of authority to transact business in this state. [New section added May 20, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 775.]

§ 678. Notice to state board of control and treasurer of bond sale. Whenever, under the provisions of law, the board of supervisors, trustees, common council or other governing boards or bodies of any city or county, city or town or school district of this state shall advertise the sale of bonds voted for any purpose, the clerk of such board of supervisors, trustees, common council or other governing board or body shall forthwith by mail, postage prepaid, notify the state board of control and state treasurer at the capitol of such issuance and sale of bonds and shall specify the purposes for which such bonds were voted, the amount of the total issue for each purpose, the denomination of each bond showing date of issuance and date of maturity, the rate of interest showing when and where payable, the assessed value of the property upon which such bonds are a lien, the total amount of other bonded indebtedness which is a lien upon said property, and shall upon request of the state board of control furnish a full description of the proceedings leading up to such issue; provided, that no certified check, bond or other assurance in law shall be required from the state upon its bid to purchase bonds. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 466.]

§ 686. Department of public accounting. Superintendent. Bond. Additional accountants. Department of public accounting. Superintendent, etc. There is hereby established in connection with and under the supervision of the state board of control a department of public accounting. The board shall appoint a superintendent of accounts at an annual salary of three thousand six hundred dollars, and two assistants at an annual salary of two thousand seven hundred dollars each. Such appointees shall be skillful accountants and well versed in public accounting. They shall (each) execute a bond to the state in the sum of ten thousand dollars. They shall be civil executive officers and their salaries shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of state officers are paid. The board may also appoint such additional accountants as may be necessary to carry on the work of the department at salaries not to exceed for any one of such appointees the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars per annum. Such salaries, upon authority of the board, shall be paid out of money appropriated for the use of the department at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of state officers are paid. Such accountants shall be chosen from persons who have successfully taken an open competitive examination given along practical lines showing their fitness for the work required. They shall each execute to the state a bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. All of the appointees in this section are empowered to administer oaths in the furtherance of their official duties. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 467.]

§ 718. Employees of superintendent of capitol building and grounds. The superintendent of capitol building and grounds may appoint one head gardener at an annual salary of two thousand one hundred dollars and one assistant head gardener at an annual salary of one thousand three hundred twenty dollars. He may appoint seven special policemen for the building and grounds at annual salaries of one thousand four hundred forty dollars each, who shall have the power of peace officers, and the same power of arrest as is herein given to the superintendent. None of said policemen shall be required to work more than six days in any one week. He may appoint one clerk for his office at an annual salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars, who shall be a civil executive officer; one head porter for the building at an annual salary of one thousand three hundred twenty dollars; one general mechanical expert at an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. He may appoint one engineer at an annual salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars; one fireman at an annual salary of one thousand three hundred twenty dollars; one electrician at an annual salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars; provided, however, that the superintendent is hereby empowered to employ an additional electrician for emergency purposes. The superintendent may also appoint two elevator attendants at an annual salary of one thousand two hundred dollars each; three telephone exchange operators at an annual salary of one thousand eighty dollars each. He may appoint to serve from January first until May first in each legislative year one engineer at a monthly salary of one hundred fifty dollars; one fireman at a monthly salary of one hundred ten dollars; one electrician at a monthly salary of one hundred fifty dollars; two elevator attendants at a monthly salary of one hundred dollars each; two telephone exchange operators at a monthly salary of ninety dollars; ten porters at a monthly salary of one hundred dollars each. He may also appoint one telephone exchange operator at a monthly salary of seventy-five dollars to serve six weeks each year while the legislature is not in session. The salaries of all such appointees shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as other state officers. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1333.]

Section 718 was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 925.

§ 719. Employees of superintendent of capitol building and grounds. The superintendent may employ such competent assistant gardeners at a salary of one hundred dollars each per month, and such regular and temporary laborers, porters and other help for the proper conduct and care of the capitol and grounds, as may be deemed necessary by said superintendent and the state board of control; said laborers, porters and other help shall receive as compensation for their services from three dollars and fifty cents to four dollars per diem each; said wages shall be paid only from money appropriated for such purposes. Such assistant gardeners and regular laborers, porters, appointees and employees shall have the power of peace officers. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1358.]

§ 737b. Salaries of superior judges of Imperial County. The annual salaries of the judges of the superior court in the county of Imperial are four thousand dollars, one-half of which shall be paid by the state, and the other half thereof by the county for which the judges are elected or appointed. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the present incumbent during his present term of office. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1295.]

[New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1300.]

§ 739. Salaries of officers of supreme court. The annual salaries of the officers connected with the supreme court are as follows: The reporter of the decisions of the supreme court and of the district courts of appeal, two thousand five hundred dollars; the assistant reporters of the decisions of the supreme court and of the district courts of appeal, not exceeding three in number, one at two thousand four hundred dollars and two at one thousand two hundred dollars each; two phonographic reporters, each, three thousand dollars; two secretaries of the court, each, three thousand dollars; each bailiff, one thousand eight hundred dollars; the librarian, one thousand five hundred dollars. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1240.]

§ 758. Salaries of officers of district courts of appeal. The third district court of appeal may employ and appoint the following officers of the court, whose salaries shall be as follows:

One clerk at two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum; one deputy clerk at two thousand dollars per annum; one phonographic reporter as provided in section seven hundred fifty-nine, and one bailiff at one thousand six hundred dollars per annum. Each of the first and second district courts of appeal may appoint the following officers of their respective courts whose salaries shall be as follows: One clerk at two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum; two deputy clerks at two thousand dollars each per annum; two phonographic reporters as provided in section seven hundred fifty-nine; and two bailiffs at one thousand six hundred dollars each per annum; one deputy clerk, one phonographic reporter and one bailiff to be assigned to each division of said courts. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1140.]

§ 759. Phonographic reporters in district courts of appeal. The district court of appeal of the third appellate district, and each division of the district courts of appeal of the first and second appellate districts, may employ and appoint a phonographic reporter, who shall be competent to write in shorthand at the rate of at least one hundred and fifty words per minute and to transcribe the same correctly. His duties shall be to take down in shorthand the proceedings of the court, and to act as secretary to the judges in the discharge of their official duties. His compensation shall be at the rate of two thousand four hundred dollars per annum. The official reporter shall hold office during the pleasure of the court making the appointment. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1206.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 784.

§ 791. Notaries public in counties of second class. The governor may appoint and commission such number of notaries public for the several counties, and cities and counties of this state, as he shall deem necessary for the public conveniences, except that in counties of the second class the number shall not exceed one hundred thirty. [Amendment approved April 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 92.]

§ 995. Resignations of officers. Resignations must be in writing, and made as follows:

1. By the governor and lieutenant-governor to the legislature, if it is in session; and if not, then to the secretary of state;

2. By all officers commissioned by the governor, to the governor;

3. By senators and members of the assembly, to the presiding officers of their respective houses, who must immediately transmit the same to the governor;

4. By all county and township officers not commissioned by the governor, to the clerk of the board of supervisors of their respective counties;

5. By all other appointed officers, to the body or officer that appointed them;

6. By members of the board of trustees, and other officers of a municipal corporation, to the clerk of the board of trustees of their respective corporation.

7. In all cases not otherwise provided for, by filing the resignation in the office of the secretary of state. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 38.]

§ 1094. Registration every two years. Transfers. Elections held between January 1 and April 1 of even-numbered years. Affidavits of registration deemed canceled. Registration outside of main office. List of lodgers. Challenge of voters not on certified list of lodgers. There shall be, commencing January 1, 1918, and every two years thereafter, except as hereinafter provided, in each county and city and county of the state, a new and complete registration of the voters of such county or city and county, who are entitled thereto. Such registration shall be in progress at all times except during the thirty days immediately preceding any election, when it shall cease for such election as to electors residing in the territory within which such election is to be held; and transfers of registration for such election may be made from one precinct to another precinct in the same county or city and county at any time when such registration shall be in progress in the precinct to which the elector seeks to transfer; provided, that where any general or special municipal election, or any other special election, including any primary election and all special elections to vote for officers, or upon or for or against any proposition or question authorized to be submitted to a vote, is held on or after the first day of January and before the first day of April of any even-numbered year, the original affidavits of registration and indexes used in the last general state election in any county or city and county in this state, together with the original affidavits of registration since the last election, and supplemental indexes, showing all additional registrations, changes and corrections made since the registration for the last general election, completed to and including the thirty-first day prior to said election then being held, may be used at such election to determine the persons entitled to vote thereat. All affidavits of registration made prior to the first day of January of any even-numbered year shall be deemed canceled upon said day except for the sole purpose of being used as hereinbefore stated at elections held thereafter and before the first day of April of that year, and shall on said last-mentioned day be deemed canceled for all purposes. The board having charge and control of elections in each county or city and county, may provide by resolution, for the registration of voters in their respective precincts, by the officer charged with the registration of voters, and may also provide by resolution for the registration of voters at specified times and places, other than the office of the county clerk or registrar of voters, deemed most convenient to large numbers of voters, without reference to respective or particular precincts, in such a manner that the affidavits of registration as provided by law may be taken at such time and place, of any voter within the county who is entitled to register therein; provided, however, that in any city and county no registration outside of the main office of the officer charged with the registration of voters shall be had except that which is without reference to particular precincts as last specified herein; and provided, also, that any registration which may be made at the main office for registration in any such city and county may be made and taken in any place in said city and county in such manner as may be provided by rules and regulations made by the board having control of registration in any such city and county. Upon the written request of the officer charged with the registration of voters, which request said officer shall make upon petition from any ten electors of the county, such petition to specify the premises from which lists are desired, every landlord or keeper of premises where lodgers abide, shall furnish said officer a list of all lodgers occupying rooms, or sleeping apartments, or beds in the premises under his or her or its control. Such lists shall be furnished upon blanks provided by said officer. Any landlord or keeper of premises where lodgers abide, who neglects or refuses to comply promptly with the provisions of this section or who furnishes a false list of such lodgers, shall be guilty of a misdeemeanor. All lists so returned shall be kept on file in the office of the officer receiving same, open to public inspection. It shall be the duty of said officer to compile a list of such persons, if there are any, who are registered as residing in any of these premises and whose names are not returned in the lists furnished by the landlord or keeper thereof. At least three days before the date of the next succeeding election, in any precinct where such premises are located, said officer shall send by registered mail to the inspector of election in said precinct a certified copy of the list he has thus prepared, with instructions to challenge the vote of each and all such persons if offered at the election, under subdivision five of section one thousand two hundred thirty of the Political Code. Whenever in the laws of this state the word "register" or "great register" is used with relation to elections, it shall be deemed to mean and include the relative and proper affidavits of registration, or both thereof, prepared and bound by the county clerk or registrar of voters. [Amendment approved May 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 798.]

§ 1096. Qualifications for registration. Additional facts to be shown. The affiant making the affidavit of registration must be at least twenty-one years of age at the time of the next succeeding election; a citizen of the United States ninety days prior to such election; a resident of the state one year, of the county ninety days, and of the precinct thirty days next preceding such election and the affidavit must show such facts. It shall also show:

1. The name at length, including Christian or given name, and middle name, or initial, if any, said Christian or given name, if the name of a woman, to be preceded in all cases by the designation of Miss or Mrs., as the case may be.

2. The place of residence and postoffice address with sufficient particularity to identify the same and determine therefrom the voting precinct of such affiant. If the elector be not the proprietor or head of the house, or the wife or husband of such proprietor, then it must show upon what floor thereof, and what room such elector occupies in such house.

3. The occupation of affiant.

4. The height of affiant in feet and inches.

5. The country or state of nativity of affiant.

6. If foreign born, how citizenship was acquired; whether by citizenship of father, by provisions of a treaty or act of congress, by order of a court of naturalization, by marriage to a citizen, by naturalization of a parent or husband, or otherwise. The date or year when, and the place or state where affiant became a citizen, shall be shown, except in the case of citizenship acquired by citizenship or naturalization of parents, by treaty, or by act of congress. When citizenship depends upon the citizenship or naturalization of parent or husband the name of such parent or husband shall appear.

7. The fact whether or not the elector desiring to be registered is able to read the constitution in the English language and to write his or her name, and whether or not the elector has any physical disability, by reason of which he or she can not mark the ballot; and if he or she can not mark the ballot by reason of physical disability, then the nature of such disability must be entered. The affiant, if able to write, shall sign such affidavit with his or her customary signature and the county clerk or registrar before whom such affidavit is made shall insert therein the date of such affidavit, which shall be the date of the jurat. The affiant may state in such affidavit the name of any political party or organization with which he intends to affiliate at the ensuing primary election, whether or not such party or organization is a party or organization qualified, at the time of such registration, to participate in such primary election according to the provisions of the direct primary law. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1334.]

§ 1096a. Declaration of political party. Change of political affiliation. Affidavit. At the time of registering and of transferring registration, in all places where the primary election law is in force, each elector shall declare the name of the political party with which he intends to affiliate at the ensuing primary election or elections, and the name of such political party shall be stated in the affidavit of registration and the index thereto. If the elector declines to state the fact, the fact of such declination shall likewise be stated and no person shall be entitled to vote the ticket of any political party at any primary election, by virtue of such registration, unless he has stated the name of the political party with which he intends to affiliate at the time of such registration. Nor shall he be permitted to vote on behalf of any party or for delegates to the convention of any party other than the party so designated in the registration.

In case any elector shall have declined to designate or shall have changed his political affiliation prior to the close of registration for primary elections he is entitled to have such change recorded prior to the close of said registration upon application to the county clerk or registrar of voters as hereinafter provided. In case any elector shall have declined to designate or shall have changed his political affiliations prior to the close of registration, he may appear in person before the county clerk or registrar of voters, or any registration deputy of said county clerk or registrar of voters, and make affidavit substantially in the following form:

State of California, } ss.
County of ——— }

— being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is registered on the great register of the said county of — as a — (insert former party affiliation, or that he had declined to designate his party affiliation); that since the date of such registration he has changed his political views and in good faith declares his affiliation with — party.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this — day of —, 19—.

The county clerk or registrar of voters shall take such affidavit without charge and shall file the same. [New section added May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1335.]

§ 1097. Affidavit of registration. If elector is absent from residence. Subdivision 1. No person shall be registered as an elector except by affidavit of registration. Such affidavit must be made before the county clerk or officer charged with the registration of voters, or their deputy or registration clerk and shall set forth all the facts required to be shown in sections one thousand ninety-six and one thousand ninety-seven of the Political Code. If an elector is absent from the county in which he or she claims residence, he or she may appear before any judge or clerk of any court of record, or notary public, or if in a foreign country, before any minister, consul, or vice-consul of the United States, and may make and subscribe an affidavit as to his or her residence, specifying in what ward or precinct he or she claims residence; that he or she will be necessarily and unavoidably absent from said county, or city and county, on all the days allowed by law for general registration of electors, and setting forth in such affidavit each and all the matters required by sections one thousand ninety-six and one thousand ninety-seven of the Political Code of the state of California, and forward such affidavit, in duplicate, duly authenticated as above, by mail, inclosed in an envelope addressed to the county clerk of any county, or the registrar of voters in any county or city and county in which he or she claims to be an elector. Upon receipt of such affidavit by such clerk or registrar of voters within the time allowed by law for registration, the said affidavit shall be entered and bound by the clerk in the proper register in such precinct.

Subd. 2. Conditions of registering foreign born. No foreign-born person shall be registered unless:

(a) If a naturalized citizen upon the production of his or her certificate of naturalization or upon the production of a certificate of registration in the county of his or her last residence in the state, showing the date and place of naturalization, or upon his or her affidavit stating date and place of naturalization; provided, that any person registering for the first time in the state must produce his or her certificate of naturalization.

(b) If a citizen by virtue of his or her father being a citizen at the time of his or her birth, upon his or her sworn statement that his or her father was a citizen of the United States at the time of his or her birth and has been a resident thereof. Such statement need not be noted in full upon the affidavit of registration, but the words "I acquired citizenship by the citizenship of my father (naming him)" shall be sufficient.

(c) If a citizen by virtue of the naturalization of his or her parent, upon his or her affidavit that he or she became a citizen by such naturalization of his or her parent, naming such parent, that such naturalization took place during his or her minority and that he or she began to reside permanently in the United States while such minor child. Such statement need not be noted in full upon the affidavit, but the words "I acquired citizenship by my father's, or mother's, naturalization," as the case may be, naming him or her, shall be sufficient.

(d) If a citizen by virtue of marriage to a citizen, the date and place of such marriage shall be entered upon the affidavit of registration together with the name of the husband.

(e) If a citizen by virtue of the naturalization of her husband the date or year and place of such naturalization together with the name of the husband shall be entered.

Subd. 3. Affidavit must show all facts required. Substitutions permitted. Manner of printing. Width. Type. Form. In every case the affidavit of the party must show all the facts required to be stated. The clerk or registrar of voters may cause to be written or printed upon the margin of the affidavit, in addition to any matter hereinafter provided for, all such words as are deemed necessary or convenient for the purpose of designating the precinct, district or political subdivision for which such affidavit is taken, or deemed necessary or convenient to indicate any removal or transfer of registration, and also any date or memorandum deemed necessary or convenient to indicate the number of the ballot voted by an elector as provided by section one thousand two hundred four of the Political Code, or any other reasonable memoranda deemed necessary or convenient for the purpose of enabling such clerk or registrar of voters to perform his duties in the assorting or classification or handling of such affidavits with correctness and dispatch. Wherever in the following form of affidavit the word "county" is inserted, if the affidavit is for use in a city and county, such last mentioned words may be printed or written in lieu of said word "county." In connection with the place of residence the affidavit may have printed either the word "precinct" or the word "street" or the word "avenue," or any or all of such words as the clerk or registrar of voters shall deem most convenient in practical use for the territory in which such affidavits are to be used. In designating the residence of the voter or the postoffice address it shall not be necessary in either case to repeat the county or city and county or state where the name of said county or city and county or state previously appear. In connection with the statement regarding the citizenship of affiant, the affidavit may have printed in brackets statements of the various methods of acquiring citizenship, and it shall be sufficient to underline, or otherwise mark, with pen and ink, or indelible pencil, that statement applicable to the particular affiant. The words printed in the body of the affidavit, which by reason of statement of the voter are not applicable to such registration, shall not be deemed a portion of such affidavit of registration. The lines to indicate the separation between the margin of the affidavit of registration and the said margin shall be at the top and on the right side of such affidavit, and may be double or single lines in the discretion of the clerk or registrar of voters of the county or city and county or territory for which the affidavit is to be used. The affidavit shall be printed in horizontal lines. Wherever any blank space is left in any line for the entry of any matter the lines shall not be less than one-third of an inch apart vertically. Commencing with the first statement of the affidavit proper each statement shall be numbered immediately at the left of such statement in a numerical sequence, the first statement commencing with number one, and so on to the end, but the jurat and space for the signature of the voter need not be numbered. The horizontal width of the affidavit, separate from any and all margin, shall not be less than seven inches, and the margin upon all sides and at top and bottom shall be of such width as may be determined by the clerk or the registrar of voters. The words "affidavit of registration" shall be not less than twenty-four point black-face type. Pen and ink or indelible pencil must be used in making the portions of the affidavit which are not printed. The matter in the body of the affidavit, where the size of type is not otherwise specified, shall be not less than ten-point plain-face type, save that words inserted in parentheses, which are for the information or instruction of the deputies or registration clerks, may be in smaller type at the discretion of the county clerk or registrar of voters. Subject to the foregoing provisions the body of said affidavit shall be substantially in the following form:

Subd. 4. Change of name by marriage. Whenever any elector, between the time of her last registration and the time for the closing of registration for any given election in the same county or city and county, shall have lawfully changed her surname by a change or assumption of marital relation she shall be entitled to reregister under her new or changed name, upon an additional statement made at the time of such reregistration, giving the name under which she was so last registered in said county or city and county, and the residence given and contained in said last affidavit of registration, which additional statement shall be printed or written upon the margin of such affidavit of reregistration before the said affidavit is signed, and shall be deemed a part thereof. Upon such registration the last previous registration of such elector shall be canceled. And in case any elector shall reregister or transfer his or her registration from one precinct to another the former address or precinct shall be noted in the margin of such affidavit, and the former registration shall thereupon be canceled.

Subd. 5. Registration otherwise than above. No person shall be registered except as above provided unless upon the production and filing of a certified copy of the judgment of the superior court directing such entry to be made. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1338.]

§ 1115. Index to registration books. Number of copies. Index furnished to candidates. Indexes for primaries. One copy to state librarian. Within five days after the binding of said books by precincts the clerk shall prepare an index of each book, said index to contain the numbers, names, occupations and addresses, as they appear in said books. Such names shall include Christian or given names, the middle name or initial, if any; and, if the name be that of a woman, the Christian name shall be preceded by the designation of "Miss" or "Mrs." as the case may be. The clerk shall have at least forty copies of said index printed for the use of said county, and he shall have printed and shall furnish to the municipalities within said county, such additional number of copies thereof, not exceeding twenty, as the governing body of such municipalities shall by resolution require. The county clerk shall furnish upon written or oral demand of every candidate, who is to be voted for in said county, city, or city and county or any political subdivision of said county, city, or city and county or upon written demand of his campaign committee, one copy of a printed index of the registration, for such primary and general elections in which said candidate will participate, at a cost of fifty cents per thousand names. All such moneys collected shall be deposited in the county treasury, to the credit of the general fund. The number of copies of said index necessary to be printed shall apply only to the index prepared for use at general elections. In counties where indexes are prepared for primary elections, a smaller number of such indexes may be printed. The clerk shall have bound together in one or more volumes, a general index of said books arranged alphabetically by precincts, and shall keep at least one copy of said general index in his office for public reference. He shall also transmit one copy of said general index to the state librarian at Sacramento. [Amendment approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 720.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 436.

§ 1131. Notice of election in county clerk's office. Election officers designated. Polling place not to be saloon. Copy of notice posted. The county clerk or registrar of voters in each county or city and county shall at least twenty-five days prior to any election, or primary election, file in his office a notice of the date of such election and the offices to be filled, naming and numbering them in numerical order, unexpired terms or short terms being designated next after the full terms or long terms. He shall also designate in such notice the election officers who have been appointed for each precinct and the polling place therein where the voting for such election shall be had, but in no event shall such polling place be a saloon or other place where intoxicating liquor is sold or dispensed, nor shall such polling place be connected by a door, window or other opening with a saloon or other room or place where such liquor is sold or dispensed. He shall immediately thereafter cause one copy of such notice to be posted in a prominent place in his office. The duties imposed by this section and by section one thousand one hundred forty-two, one thousand one hundred forty-two a and one thousand one hundred fifty-one of this code upon the county clerk or registrar of voters shall in all municipal elections and in all elections in which only the electors of one municipality or a portion thereof vote, be performed by the city clerk, registrar of voters or similar office of such municipality. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 332.]

§ 1132. Proceedings where election officers not designated. Where polling places cannot be used. If the election officers for any precinct in any county or city and county, or the polling place therein have not been designated by the tenth day prior to any election the county clerk or registrar of voters in such county or city and county shall immediately make an order in writing designating the election officers for that precinct or the polling place therein, as the case may require, and notify such officers of their appointment. He shall cause copies of his order to be posted in three public places in the precinct and send one copy thereof to the inspector appointed for that precinct who shall cause the same to be posted at or near such polling place. If the said county clerk or registrar of voters fails to perform the duty herein imposed upon him, the inspector, if one shall have been appointed, shall perform such duty. If any of the members appointed on an election board do not attend at the opening of the polls on the morning of an election, those qualified electors present, including members of the board, shall appoint a qualified elector to fill the vacancy, and if none of the members appointed appear at such time the qualified electors of the precinct present at that time may appoint a board. If for any valid reason the polling place designated for any precinct cannot be used, the board of election acting for that precinct on the day of the election shall designate another polling place as near thereto as possible, post notice of the change on or near the place first designated and conduct the election at the place last designated. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 292.]

§ 1133. Precincts for municipal elections. The board or governing body charged with the conduct of carrying on any of the elections mentioned in section one thousand forty-four of this code may precinct, or subdivide, the municipality or territory within which such election is to be held, into special election or consolidated election precincts for the holding of such elections, and change and alter such precincts for such elections, as often as occasion may require. In establishing such election precincts referred to in this section, such board or governing body having control of such elections may consolidate the precincts to a number not exceeding six for each special election or consolidated election precinct, and shall number such precincts so established, consecutively, and each precinct so established shall for the purpose of such election be known by the number so designated. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1230.]

§ 1142. (a) Boards of election. At each general election, and at each election, where other provisions are not made by law or charter, the election officers appointed for each precinct shall constitute a board of election for such precinct. Such board shall consist of one inspector, two judges and three clerks; provided, that in any precinct in which the total registration does not exceed one hundred electors or at any special election where other provision as to election officers is not made by law, the board shall consist of one inspector, one judge and two clerks. Each of such officers shall be a registered qualified elector of the precinct for which he is appointed and in which he acts and shall serve only in such precinct; provided, that in the case of consolidated election precincts the election officers appointed therefor and who act therein shall be registered qualified electors of one of the precincts of which such consolidated precinct is composed.

(b) Appointment of election board. The board of supervisors, or other board having charge or control of elections in each of the counties, and cities and counties, must, at least thirty days prior to an election, issue its order appointing the members of the several boards of election unless otherwise provided herein or by law.

(c) Failure to designate officers. If the election officers for any precinct, or the polling place therein, have not been designated by the fifteenth day prior to any election, the county clerk or registrar of voters shall immediately appoint the election officers for that precinct, or designate the polling place therein, as the case may require.

(d) Failure to serve as election officer. Application for appointment. Form. Any person who, having been regularly appointed as an election officer, shall without lawful excuse fail to act as such, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed thirty days or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any person serving as an election officer at any election, shall, on the day of such election, be entitled to absent himself from any service or employment in which he, or she, is then engaged or employed; and such voter shall not, because of so absentsing himself, or herself, be liable to any penalty, nor shall any deduction be made on account of such absence, from his or her usual salary or wages, nor shall such person be suspended or discharged from any service or employment because of so absentsing himself or herself. In appointing election officers preference shall so far as possible be given to any person, otherwise qualified, who has passed a civil service examination involving a test for a clerical position, or who has previously rendered satisfactory service as an election officer if otherwise qualified. Any person may file an application for the position of an election officer on blanks prepared by the officer in charge of registration, which shall be substantially as follows: .

(Names and addresses of two or three well-known citizens of the community, who are acquainted with the qualifications of applicant; to be filled out if applicant is not, through previous service or otherwise, already known to the appointing board.)

I am now registered as an elector in this county (or city and county).

I can read and write the English language and all of the matter written in the foregoing answers is in my own handwriting.

_____,
Signature of applicant.

In a city and county, the registrar of voters may require such applications to be sworn to and such registrar or his deputy shall take such oath without charge.

(c) Persons eligible as election officers. No person shall be eligible to act as an officer of election who is not actually a resident of the precinct in which he, or she, acts and a registered and qualified elector thereof, or who has, within ninety days preceding such election, been employed in any capacity, other than that of an election officer, or as a clerk engaged in the registering of electors, by the county, city and county, or incorporated city and town in which he resides.

(f) Notice of appointment. Form. Oath of office of inspector. Upon filing a list of the names and addresses of those who have been appointed election officers the county clerk or registrar of voters shall immediately mail or deliver to each person appointed a notice that he, or she, has been appointed, stating therein the position to which he or she has been assigned, and the penalty for failure to serve, also such other matter as the county clerk or registrar of voters may determine. He shall also publish the names of the election officers appointed and polling places designated for each election precinct in some daily newspaper published in the county or city and county where the election is to be held, for three successive issues, the last publication to be at least one week before the day such election is to be held. He shall also mail or deliver to each person appointed as inspector for any precinct immediately after such appointment a notice of the persons appointed to serve as election officers in that precinct. Said notice shall be substantially in the following form:

Office of the County Clerk (or Registrar of Voters)
County of —.

Notice to Election Officers.

To —, inspector for — precinct.

The polling place for the — precinct at the election to be held on — the — day of — is — and the board of election for said precinct is composed of the following persons:

Position.	Name.	Address.

You, as inspector, must, before the polls are opened, see that each of these persons have taken the oath required by law and that no person is permitted to act as election officer unless he or she has taken such oath and actually resides in the precinct and is registered as an elector thereof and is not and has not been employed in any capacity, other than that of election officer, or as clerk engaged in the registering of electors, within ninety days of the election, by the county or city and county or by the incorporated city and town in which he, or she, resides. If any of these persons is not qualified to act or in case any of them do not appear at the opening of the polls, the qualified electors present, including members of the board, shall appoint in his or her place one who is qualified who shall take the required oath of office which will be found set forth in the poll list.

County clerk (or other official).

Accompanying said notice shall be an oath of office in blank which shall be immediately sworn to by the inspector free of charge before any officer authorized to administer oaths, and before performing any of the duties required of him, and which oath shall be returned to the county clerk or registrar of voters within twenty-four hours after receipt thereof. Said oath shall be substantially in the following form:

State of California, }
County of ——— } ss.

I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of inspector on the board of election for ——— precinct according to the best of my ability.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ——— day of ——— 191—.

(Name and designation of official before whom taken.)

(g) Oath of office of election board. On the day of election and before entering upon the performance of their duties, each of the other election officers shall take a similar oath before said inspector, or in case he is not present, before any other of themselves, each of whom is for this purpose authorized to administer an oath. Such oaths shall be taken and subscribed upon a form which shall be provided for that purpose in the poll list for that precinct.

(h) Persons eligible as members of election board. Extra duties. Canvassing ballots. No person shall be eligible to act as a member of any election board who cannot read and write the English language, nor shall any person be appointed an election officer or act as such who is not at the time in every respect qualified to act as such election officer, except as hereinbefore provided, nor shall any person so appointed serve as such until he has taken the oath required. The inspector, judges and clerks upon each board of election shall distribute the extra duties devolving upon such board of election, in addition to their own duties, in such a manner as they themselves shall deem most advantageous, and such extra duties assigned to the several officers or clerks of boards of election by other sections of this code shall be performed by the members of each board as the said duties have been distributed in accordance with this provision.

Not more than two members of any board of election shall be absent from the polling place at any one time. Such board of election shall canvass the votes for such precinct, and must be present at the closing of the polls. The members of said board shall relieve each other in the duties of canvassing the ballots, which may be conducted by at least four members of the board; provided, that there shall always be two members simultaneously keeping the tally sheets, and always two members looking at the vote on the ballot from which one of said two members is reading; and provided, further, that the final certificate shall be signed by a majority of the whole.

(i) Powers and duties of registrar of voters. In any city and county having a registrar of voters all preliminary or other lists of persons qualified to act as election officers and all appointments of election officers shall be made by said registrar of voters and he shall have power to excuse persons appointed from serving whenever he is satisfied any such person ought to be excused, and to substitute new appointees in all cases when any person appointed shall be excused or found disqualified or deemed incompetent down to a time when said registrar of voters shall send a final or amended list of such election officers to the inspector, for the precinct, which list shall be the registrar's final order of appointment for such precinct; such appointments shall be in the form prescribed in subdivision (f) of this section, and in addition shall have at the head thereof the words in capitals "Final precinct list of election officers."

In a city and county having such a registrar of voters he may require inspectors of election who have been appointed, to take the oath of office at the office of said registrar of voters at least ten days before the day of election, and if such inspector shall refuse or fail to so take such oath of office said registrar may substitute and appoint an inspector and administer such oath of office to such newly appointed inspector. In a city and county the publication of the list of election officers referred to in this section, may, in the discretion of the registrar of voters, be made only once. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 333.]

§ 1142a. Digest of election laws. On or before the first day of January of each even-numbered year, the secretary of state and the attorney general shall prepare a brief digest of election laws in so far as such laws affect the duties of election officers during the casting and the canvassing of the vote, and the secretary of state shall send a copy of said digest to each county clerk or registrar of voters in each county or city and county. Such digest shall be in such form as will readily indicate to election officers the substance of such provisions of the Political Code or other election laws as they may find it most important to know in the performance of their duties, and shall contain in each case a reference to the section of the said code or laws, by reference to which further examination of said provisions may be made. A copy of this digest, together with such further instructions as the county clerk or registrar of voters may desire to make, shall be prepared by him and furnished to each election officer at the time of his appointment according to the provisions of section one thousand one hundred forty-two of this code. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 292.]

§ 1151. Board for municipal elections. Under freeholders' charter. One poll list, etc. The city council or other board having charge and control of the elections of any municipality shall appoint a board of election for each election or consolidated election precinct, to consist of one inspector, two judges and three clerks for each municipal election provided for by section one thousand forty-four of this code, held within that municipality, and the board of supervisors or other board having charge or control of elections shall appoint a board of election to consist of one inspector, one judge and two clerks for every other election provided for by said section, who shall apportion among themselves the work required in the conduct of such election within their respective election precincts; provided, that at any nominating or general municipal election held under the provision of a freeholders' charter, the board or governing body charged with the conduct of such elections, may by majority consent, appoint a board of elections for each election preinct, to consist of one inspector, one judge and two clerks. The members of such boards shall be appointed, and when appointed shall act, as provided for by section one thousand one hundred forty-two of this code. But one poll list, one tally list and one copy of such tally list, as provided for in section one thousand two hundred sixty-one of this code, need be kept, and but one book of original affidavits of registration need be furnished for use at each precinct, which shall be returned to the proper officers with the official returns in the manner provided for the returns at a general election. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 338.]

§1188. Nomination of candidates otherwise than by primary election. A candidate for any public office for which no nonpartisan candidate has been nominated at any primary election may be nominated subsequent to said primary election, or in lieu of any primary election, in the manner following: A nomination paper containing the name of the candidate to be nominated, with other information required to be given in the nomination papers provided for in the direct primary law then governing primary elections, shall be signed by electors residing within the district or political subdivision for which the candidate is to be presented, equal in number to at least one per cent of the entire vote cast at the last preceding general election in the state, district or political subdivision for which the nomination is to be made subject to the restrictions contained in said direct primary law. The provisions of said direct primary law as therein applied to nonpartisan offices, when the nomination to be made under this section is for an office for which nominations are made at the August primary election, and the provisions of that law as therein applied to primaries other than the August primary election and the May presidential primary election, when the nomination to be made under this section is for a municipal office or for any office to which that law does not apply, shall substantially govern as to the manner of the appointment of verification deputies, the form of nomination papers and the securing of signatures thereto, and fastening together of sections of the nomination paper containing such signatures, and the filing thereof with the county clerk, or the certification thereto by the county clerk and transmission thereof to the secretary of state or to the city clerk or secretary of the legislative body of any municipality, as the case may be, the filing of the candidate's affidavit, the payment of a filing fee, and all other things necessary to get the name of a candidate under this section upon the ballot, except that such provisions shall be directed toward getting the candidate's name on the ballot for a general or municipal election or a special election and not on the ballot for nomination at a primary election. In addition to the other matter required to be set forth on the candidate's nomination paper, it must also be set forth that each signer thereof did not vote at the primary election immediately preceding at which a candidate was nominated for the public office mentioned in said nomination paper; provided, that this statement shall be omitted in case no candidate was nominated at said primary election for the public office mentioned in said nomination paper.

Upon the filing of a sufficient nomination paper and affidavit by any candidate nominated under the provisions of this section and the payment of the filing fees as hereinbefore provided, the name of such candidate shall go upon the ballot at the ensuing general or municipal election according to the provisions of section one thousand one hundred ninety-seven of this code. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1336.]

§ 1192. Time for filing nomination papers. Nomination papers required to be filed with the secretary of state, or with the county clerk, shall be filed not more than sixty days, nor less than thirty-five days before the day of election, when the nomination is made by electors as provided in section one thousand one hundred eighty-eight of this code. Nomination papers required to be filed with the clerk or secretary of the legislative body of any city or town, shall be filed not more than forty days nor less than twenty days before the day of election, when the nomination is made by electors as provided in section one thousand one hundred eighty-eight of this code. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1336.]

§ 1195b. Pamphlets regarding constitutional amendments, etc., to be mailed to county clerks. Copy mailed to each voter. The secretary of state shall duly, and not less than thirty days before the election next ensuing at which such amendments, propositions, measures or questions are to be voted on, certify such pamphlet and the matters contained therein and furnish each county clerk in the state with not more than one and one-twentieth times as many copies of such pamphlets as there are registered voters in his county. The clerk of each county shall not more than twenty-five days, nor less than fifteen days prior to said election cause to be mailed to each voter a copy of such pamphlet and no other publication of such amendments, propositions, measures, questions or statements shall be necessary or authorized. Three copies of such pamphlets, to be supplied by the secretary of state, shall be kept at every polling place, while an election is in progress, so that they may be freely consulted by the electors. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 388.]

§ 1196. County clerks to provide ballots. Separate ballots. Size. Water-mark. Secret design. When changed. Voter may write in name. Except as in this code otherwise provided, it shall be the duty of the county clerk of each county to provide printed ballots for every election of public officers, except elections for city or town officers, in which electors, or any of the electors, within the county, participate, and to cause to be printed in the appropriate ballot the name of every candidate whose name has been certified to or filed with the county clerk, in the manner provided for by law, together with the names certified by the secretary of state to have received in the respective parties, the highest number of votes for United States senator. Ballots other than those printed by the respective county clerks, or the clerk or secretary of the legislative body of any incorporated city or town, according to the provisions of this code, shall not be cast nor counted at any election. It shall be the duty of the county clerk of any consolidated city and county to provide separate ballots for every election for city and county officers in which the electors, or any of the electors, of such city and county, participate, and to cause to be printed on such separate ballots the name of every candidate for a city and county office whose name has been filed with the proper officer in the manner provided by law. It shall be the duty of the clerk or secretary of the legislative body of any incorporated city or town to provide separate ballots for every election for city or town officers in which the electors, or any of the electors, of such city or town, participate, and to cause to be printed in such separate ballots the name of every candidate whose name has been filed with such clerk or secretary in the manner provided for by law. All ballots shall be not to exceed twenty-four inches in length, and shall be of sufficient width to contain in parallel columns three inches in width the names of all candidates nominated, and below the printed list of candidates for each office, the necessary blank space or spaces to permit an elector to write in the names of persons whose names are not printed on the ballot, and to contain in a separate column or columns of sufficient width statements of all questions, propositions or constitutional amendments to be submitted to vote of the electors, and shall be printed on tinted paper furnished by the secretary of state. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to obtain and keep on hand, a sufficient supply of paper for ballots, and to furnish the same in quantities ordered, to any county clerk, or clerk or secretary of the legislative body of any incorporated city or town, upon payment by them of the cost of such paper. Such paper shall be water-marked with a design to be furnished by the secretary of state, in such manner that the said water-mark shall be plainly discernible on the outside of such ballot when folded according to law. Such design shall be kept secret from all persons not engaged in the preparation, printing or distribution of the paper or ballots, until the day of election. Such design shall be changed for each general election, and the same design shall not be used again at any general election within the space of fourteen years; but at any special or separate local election, paper marked with the design used at the previous election may be used. Nothing in this code contained shall prevent any voter from writing upon his ballot the name of any person for whom he desires to vote for any office and such vote shall be counted the same as if printed upon the ballot, and marked as voted for. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 371.]

§ 1197. One form of ballot. There shall be provided at each polling place, at each election at which public officers are voted for, but one form of ballot for all the candidates for public office, and every ballot shall contain the names of all the candidates whose nominations for any office specified on the ballot have been duly made and not withdrawn, as provided by law together with the title of the office arranged to conform as nearly as practicable to the plan hereinafter set forth.

2. Order of list of offices. The order in which the list of offices shall appear on the ballot shall, as to state offices and district offices, when the district includes more than one county, be determined by the secretary of state, and shall as nearly as may be practicable be the same for all counties. The order in which the list of county offices or district offices embracing one county or less, shall appear on the ballot, shall be determined by the county clerk.

The order in which the list of candidates for any office shall appear upon the ballot shall be determined as follows:

faced gothic capital type, not smaller than twelve point, each such word being separated from the names of the candidates beneath by a three-point line.

6. Borders. Perforations. Number. General ticket. Municipal ticket.

The left-hand side of each column of names on the ballot, and also the right-hand side of each column of voting squares, shall be bordered by a broad printed line one-twelfth of an inch wide. The ballot shall be so printed as to give each voter a clear opportunity to designate, by stamping a cross (X) in a blank inclosed space hereinbefore designated as the voting square on the right of and after the name of each candidate whose name is printed on the ballot, his choice of particular candidates, or his choice of each and all of a group of candidates as provided in subdivision 2 of this section. The binding or stitching of each package of ballots shall be on the left side thereof. The ballot shall be printed on the same leaf with a stub not over one and one-half inches in width and separated therefrom by a perforated line from top to bottom, one-half inch to the left of the broad printed line along the left border of the ballot. Upon this stub shall be printed the number of the ballot only. On each ballot a perforated line shall extend across the top of the ballot one inch from the top thereof. The same number as appears on the stub shall be printed above said perforated line within two inches of the perforated line on the left-hand side of the ballot, and above this number shall be printed in parentheses, in small type, as follows: (This number is to be torn off by inspector); and one-half inch to the right of this ballot number there shall be a short perforated line extended from the perforated line along the top of the ballot to the top edge of the ballot. Immediately above said perforated line shall be printed in black-face lower case type at least twelve point in size, and inclosed in a parenthesis, the following "(Fold ballot to this perforated line, leaving top margin exposed)." Above this printed direction, and midway between it and the top edge of the ballot, shall be printed in black-face capital type at least twelve point in size, and with the four middle words underlined or otherwise made prominent, the following: "Mark Crosses (X) on Ballot Only With Rubber Stamp; Never With Pen or Pencil." The number on each ballot shall be the same as that on the corresponding stub, and the ballots and stubs shall be numbered consecutively in each county. All ballots printed by county clerks or registrars of voters other than the separate ballots containing the names only of candidates for city and county offices, printed by the county clerks or registrars of voters of consolidated cities and counties, shall have printed immediately below the perforated line along the top of the ballot, and above the instructions to voters, the words in capital type at least twelve point in size the words "General Ticket," followed by the respective number of the congressional, senatorial, and assembly district in which the ballot is to be voted; and all ballots printed by county clerks or registrars of voters of consolidated cities and counties containing the names of city and county offices, and also all ballots printed by the clerk, registrar of voters, or secretary of a legislative body of any incorporated city or town, shall have printed in the same manner below the perforated line the words "Municipal Ticket." All municipal ballots shall be printed upon paper of a different tint from that of the general ballot.

7. Ballots of same size. All of the ballots of the same sort prepared by any county clerk or registrar of voters, or clerk or secretary of a legislative body, or other person having charge of the preparing of such ballots, for the same polling place, shall be precisely the same size, arrangement, quality and tint of paper, and kind of type, and shall be printed with black ink of the same tint, so that without the numbers on the stubs it shall be impossible to distinguish any one of the ballots from the other ballots of the same sort; and the names of all candidates printed upon the ballot shall be in type of the same size and character.

8. Two officers for different terms. If two or more officers are to be elected for the same office for different terms, the terms for which each candidate for such office is nominated shall be printed on the ballot as a part of the title of the office. If at a general election an office is to be filled for a full term, and also for a vacancy in another term the list of candidates for the full term shall be placed on the ballot under the designation of the office with the words "Full Term" printed immediately thereafter, and the list of candidates to fill the vacancy shall be placed on the ballot under the designation of the office with the words "Short Term" printed immediately thereafter.

9. Propositions column. Whenever any question, proposition or constitutional amendment is to be submitted to the vote of the electors, there shall be printed at the right of the last column of names of candidates, another column, or columns of sufficient width, with voting squares, in which such question, proposition or constitutional amendment shall be designated, which designation shall consist of a statement prepared as herein provided for, and opposite such question, proposition or constitutional amendment to be voted on, in separate lines, the words "Yes" and "No" shall be printed. If an elector shall stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the printed word "Yes," his vote shall be counted in favor of the adoption of the question, proposition or constitutional amendment; if he shall stamp a cross (X) after the printed word "No," his vote shall be counted against the adoption of the same.

10. Instruction to voters. On the top of the face of the ballot the following directions shall be printed:

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS:

To vote for a candidate of your selection, stamp a cross (X) in the voting square next to the right of the name of such candidate. Where two or more candidates for the same office are to be elected, stamp a cross (X) after the names of all the candidates for that office for whom you desire to vote, not to exceed, however, the number of candidates who are to be elected. To vote for a person not on the ballot, write the name of such person under the title of the office in the blank space left for that purpose.

To vote on any question, proposition or constitutional amendment, stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the word "Yes" or after the word "No." All marks, except the cross (X) are forbidden. All distinguishing marks or erasures are forbidden and make the ballot void.

In elections when electors of president and vice-president of the United States are to be chosen, there shall be placed upon the ballot in addition to the instructions to voters as above provided, an additional instruction as follows: "To vote for all or a group of persons, stamp a cross (X) in the square opposite such group," this instruction appearing immediately before the words: "To vote for a person not on the ballot."

If you wrongly stamp, tear or deface this ballot, return it to the inspector of election and obtain another.

10. Form of ballot. Except as to the order of the names of candidates, the ballots shall be printed substantially in the following form: [Form of ballot on pages 291, 292.] [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 372.]

PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1900

§ 1203. Ballot-boxes. Booths for voters. Supplies. Names may be written in on printed ballot. All officers upon whom is imposed, by law of the state, the duty of designating polling places, shall cause such polling places to be suitably provided with a ballot-box, to be marked on the outside "General Tickets," and when any city, city and county, or town officers are to be elected, a second ballot-box, to be marked on the outside "municipal tickets"; and shall also provide a sufficient number of places, booths, or compartments, at or in which voters may conveniently mark their ballots, so that in the marking thereof they may be screened from the observation of others, and a guard-rail shall be so constructed and placed that only such persons as are inside said rail can approach within six feet of the ballot-boxes, and of such booths or compartments. The arrangement shall be such that neither the ballot-boxes nor the box-booths or compartments shall be hidden from the view of those just outside the said guard-rail. The number of such voting booths or compartments shall not be less than one for every forty electors qualified to vote in the precinct. No person other than electors engaged in receiving, preparing, or depositing their ballots shall be permitted to be within said rail before the closing of the polls, except by authority of the board of election, and then only for the purpose of keeping order and enforcing the law. Each of said voting booths or compartments shall be kept provided with proper supplies and conveniences for marking the ballots; provided, that no such supplies or conveniences shall be furnished other than the ink-pads and stamps by which a cross (X) may be made as herein provided for. And the election officers shall especially see that the stamps and ink-pads required are at all times in such booths and in condition for proper use; and all officers upon whom is imposed, by the law, the duty of designating polling places shall supply each polling place with several stamps and several ink-pads for each booth, and such stamps shall be so made that a cross (X) may be made with either end of such stamp, and the same must be so constructed that the portion with which such cross (X) is to be made shall not be fastened on by any glue or like substance which may loosen when wet, but the said stamp shall be one solid piece; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent an elector from using a pencil for the purpose of writing in on the ballot the name of any candidate for whom he desires to vote. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 319.]

§ 1206. Occupancy of booths. Names may be written in on ballot in pencil. No more than one person shall be permitted to occupy any one booth, at one time, and no person shall remain in or occupy a booth longer than necessary to prepare his ballot, and in no event longer than ten minutes. The board having charge and control of elections shall not furnish for use in the voting compartments any other or additional means or method by which a ballot may be marked than the ink-pads and rubber stamps by which a cross (X) may be made as provided for in this code; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent an elector from using a pencil for the purpose of writing in on the ballot the name of any candidate for whom he desires to vote. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 320.]

§ 1239. Rules for determining place of residence. The board of election, in determining the place of residence of any person, must be governed by the following rules, as far they are applicable:

1. That place must be considered and held to be the residence of a person in which his habitation is fixed, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning;

2. A person must not be held to have gained or lost residence by reason of his presence or absence from a place while employed in the service of the United States, or of this state, nor while engaged in navigation, nor while a student of any institution of learning, nor while kept in an almshouse, asylum, or prison;

3. A person must not be considered to have lost his residence who leaves his home to go into another state, or precinct in this state, for temporary purposes merely, with the intention of returning;

4. A person must not be considered to have gained a residence in any precinct into which he comes for temporary purposes merely, without the intention of making such precinct his home;

5. If a person remove to another state with the intention of making it his residence, he loses his residence in this state;

6. If a person remove to another state with the intention of remaining there for an indefinite time, and as a place of present residence, he loses his residence in this state, notwithstanding he entertains an intention of returning at some future period;

7. The place where a man's family resides must be held to be his residence; but if it be a place for temporary establishment for his family, or for transient objects, it is otherwise;

8. If a man have a family fixed in one place, and he does business in another, the former must be considered his place of residence; provided, that any man having a family, and who has taken up his abode with the intention of remaining, and whose family does not so reside with him, must be regarded as a resident where he has so taken up his abode;

9. The residence of the husband is the residence of the wife except in the case mentioned in the provision in subdivision eight hereof;

10. The mere intention to acquire a new residence, without the fact of removal, avails nothing, neither does the fact of removal, without the intention. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 416.]

§ 1253. Canvass commenced. The canvass must be commenced by taking out of the box the ballots, unopened, except so far as to ascertain whether each ballot is single, and counting the same to ascertain whether the number of ballots corresponds with the number of names on the list of voters kept by the clerks. [New section added May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 338.]

§ 1258. Tally of votes. Each clerk must write down each office to be filled, and the name of each person marked in each ballot as voted for to fill such office, and keep the number of votes by tallies, as they are read aloud. Such tallies must be made with pen and ink or indelible pencil as the name of each candidate voted for is read aloud from the respective ballot, and immediately upon the completion of the tallies the clerks who respectively complete the same must draw two heavy lines in ink or indelible pencil from the last tally mark to the end of the line in which such tallies terminate, and also write the initials of the person making the last tally in such line. The ballot so read and the tally sheet so kept, must, during the reading and tallying, be within the clear view of watchers of the count. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 338.]

§ 1483. Rights of students under diplomas from Hastings College of the Law. [Repealed May 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 880.]

§ 1489. Powers and duties of normal school trustees. The powers and duties of each board of trustees of the state normal schools of California are as follows:

1. To prescribe rules for their government and the government of the school;

2. To prescribe rules for the reports of officers and teachers of the school and for visiting other schools and institutions;

3. To provide for the purchase of school apparatus, furniture, equipment, stationery, and text-books for the use of students;

4. To establish at their discretion, and maintain model and training schools of the primary, grammar and intermediate grade, including the ninth year grade, and, in their discretion, of the kindergarten grade, and to require the students of the normal schools to teach and instruct classes therein;

5. To establish at their discretion courses for the training of teachers of drawing, music, physical culture, and commercial, technical, or industrial subjects in the elementary and secondary schools of the state and upon the satisfactory completion of these courses to grant diplomas of graduation therefrom;

6. To elect the president of the school, who shall be ex-officio secretary of the board, and an assistant secretary who shall receive such salary as may be allowed by the board; and to elect the teachers, upon their nomination by the president of the school, fix their salaries, and prescribe their duties; provided, that after the president or a teacher has served successfully and acceptably in the school for the period of two years prior to or after the passage of this act, his or her appointment thereafter may, at the discretion of the board of trustees, be made for a term not to exceed four years, unless removed for cause; and provided, further, that in case a teacher employed in a California state normal school is engaged to instruct in normal extension work, evening work, special Saturday work, or summer school work, he may receive such additional compensation for the same as may be agreed upon by the employing board of trustees;

7. To control and expend all moneys appropriated for the support and maintenance of the school, and all moneys received for tuition or donations;

8. To cause a record of all their proceedings to be kept, which shall be open to public inspection at the school;

9. To keep open to public inspection an account of receipts and expenditures;

10. To annually report to the state superintendent of public instruction a statement of their transactions, and of all matters pertaining to the school;

11. To transmit with such report a copy of the president's annual report;

12. To revoke any diploma by them granted, on receiving satisfactory evidence that the holder thereof is addicted to drunkenness, is guilty of gross immorality, or is reputedly dishonest in his dealings, or is guilty of persistent defiance of, and refusal to obey the laws regulating the duties of teachers; provided, that such person shall have at least thirty days' previous notice of such contemplated action, and shall, if he asks it, be heard in his own defense;

13. On recommendation of the faculty and president of the school, to exclude students, who, because of poor scholarship or other evidences of unfitness, are judged incapable of becoming successful teachers in the public schools of the state;

14. To establish and maintain courses of study only in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by the state board of education as provided in section one thousand five hundred nineteen of the Political Code;

15. To detail one or more regular teachers of the normal school for normal school extension service in the rural schools of the state and to pay the salary and transportation expenses of any such teacher; provided, that the normal school extension service in any county shall be given only with the approval of the county superintendent of schools. Such normal school extension service may include a special study of rural school conditions and problems, and supervision and instruction of classes in the rural schools. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1651.]

§ 1519. Powers. The state board of education shall have power and it shall be its duty:

Adopt rules. Rules for normal schools. First—to adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of this state for its own government, for the government of its appointees and employees, for the government of the day and evening elementary schools, the day and evening secondary schools, the technical and vocational schools of the state, for the government of the several normal schools of the state as hereinafter provided, and for the government of such other schools, excepting the University of California, as may receive in whole or in part financial support from the state. Such rules and regulations shall be published for distribution as soon as practicable after adoption.

At the joint meeting of this board and the representatives of the normal schools of the state provided for in section one thousand five hundred eighteen of the Political Code, matters affecting the normal schools may be presented by members of the board, by the superintendent of public instruction and the commissioners of education, and by the representatives of the normal schools, and, after due presentation and consideration, the board may adopt rules and regulations for the government of the normal schools in the following matters:

(a) Standardizing course of instruction. The standardizing, as far as the board shall deem it wise and necessary, of the courses of instruction offered in the several normal schools for the preparation of teachers for the public schools of the state.

(b) Courses for special teachers. The establishing and conducting in any or all of the normal schools of the state of such courses of instruction as shall prepare for the public schools of the state special teachers in any or all of the subjects of drawing, music, physical education, and commercial, technical or industrial branches.

(c) List of text-books. The compiling and publishing of a list of text-books for use by the students of the several normal schools of the state; provided, that the state series of text-books shall be used in the grades and classes for which they are adapted, and that all other regular text-books shall be selected by the various normal school authorities from said list.

(d) Standards of admission. The prescribing of the standards of admission for students entering the normal schools, and the rules for transfer of pupils from one normal school to another; provided, that a student for good cause, may, upon recommendation of the president of the school from which he seeks to be transferred, enter any other normal school and without examinations be admitted to classes corresponding to those in the school which he has left.

(e) Graduation. The determination of the time and standards for graduation from the state normal schools.

Assistant superintendents of public instruction. Second—To appoint three assistant superintendents of public instruction, who shall not be subject to the provisions of any civil service law of the state, and who shall be known and designated as follows:

(a) One commissioner of elementary schools, who shall be experienced in teaching in and supervising elementary schools.

(b) One commissioner of secondary schools, who shall be experienced in teaching and who has been principal or supervisor of secondary schools.

(c) One commissioner of industrial and vocational education who has had experience as a supervisor of industrial or vocational education.

Subpoenas for witnesses before board. Third—to issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of witnesses before the board or any member thereof, in the same manner that any court in this state may; and whenever the testimony of any witness upon any matter pending before it is material, the president must cause the attendance of the witness before such board, or a member thereof, to testify concerning such matter, and the board may make a reasonable allowance therefor, not exceeding the fees of witnesses in civil cases, which must be paid for out of the appropriation for the contingent expenses of the board, but in no instance can an allowance be made in favor of a witness who appears in behalf of a claimant.

Seal. Fourth—To adopt and use, in authentication of their acts, an official seal.

Printing. Fifth—To have done by the state printer, or other officer having the management of the state printing, any printing required by it; provided, that all orders for printing shall first be approved by the state board of control.

General duties. Sixth—The state board of education shall study the educational conditions and needs of the state; shall make plans for the improvement of the administration and efficiency of the public schools of the state; shall have power to conduct educational investigations and shall employ educational and business experts, within the limits of its appropriation therefor; shall annually require reports as to the activities of the superintendent of public instruction and the assistant superintendents, and such other employees as it may direct to report, for submission to the governor, and the same shall submit biennially to the governor, on or before the fifteenth day of September next preceding the regular session of the legislature, a report of its transactions for the preceding two years, together with recommendations of its needs for the coming biennium, and such recommendations as to changes in laws or new educational legislation as may seem to it to be necessary.

Acting secretary. Seventh—To appoint an acting secretary, who shall also act as executive officer of the board in the absence of the superintendent of public instruction from his office or in case of his incapacity for duty. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 699.]

§ 1519a. Powers of state board of education. The state board of education shall have power and it shall be its duty:

Credentials for high school certificates. First—To prescribe by general rule the credentials upon which persons may be granted certificates to teach in the high schools of this state. No credentials shall be prescribed or allowed, unless the same, in the judgment of said board, are the equivalent of a diploma of graduation from the University of California, and are satisfactory evidence that the holder thereof has taken an amount of pedagogy equivalent to the minimum amount of pedagogy prescribed by the state board of education of this state, and include a recommendation for a high school certificate from the faculty of the institution in which the pedagogical work shall have been taken.

Applicants without credentials. Second—To consider the cases of individual applicants who have taught successfully for a period of not less than seventeen school months, and who are not possessed of the credentials prescribed by the board under the provisions of this section, and where the evidence submitted by the applicant does not satisfy the board it may, in its discretion, provide for his examination. The said board, in its discretion, may issue to such applicants high school credentials upon which they may be granted certificates to teach in the high schools of the state. In such special cases, the board may take cognizance of any adequate evidence of preparation which the applicants may present. The standard of qualification in such special cases shall not be lower than that represented by the other credentials named by the board under the provisions of subdivision first of this section.

Qualifications for special certificates. Third—To establish and prescribe by general regulations the qualifications upon which county boards of education may grant to any person a special certificate to teach any special subject or subjects in such grades as are mentioned therein; provided, that no qualification shall be prescribed for certification to teach

In any grade whatever a vocational subject unless the candidate shall have had, as a minimum, three years' experience as a journeyman, or, where this terminology does not apply, its equivalent, in the vocation in which he desires certification.

Credentials for attendance officers. Third a—To establish and prescribe by general regulations the qualifications upon which county or city and county boards of education may grant to any person a special credential to serve as attendance officer or assistant attendance officer.

Applicants without above qualifications. Fourth—To consider the cases of individual applicants who are not possessed of the qualifications prescribed in subdivision third of this section, or in the general regulations of the state board of education, and where the evidence submitted by any applicant who meets the academic requirements of the board does not satisfy the board of his knowledge of the special subject and methods of teaching the same, it may, in its discretion, provide such examination as it may deem expedient and wise. When the state board of education is satisfied that any applicant possesses qualifications equivalent to those so specified, it may issue to such applicant a state board credential upon which county boards of education may grant to him a special certificate to teach such special subject or subjects as are listed in said credential in such grades and for such length of time as therein specified.

Applicants without credentials for kindergarten certification. Fourth a. —To consider the cases of individual applicants, who are not possessed of the credentials accredited by the board for kindergarten certification. When the state board of education is satisfied that any applicant possesses qualifications equivalent to those represented by credentials so accredited, it may issue to such applicant a state board credential upon which county boards of education may grant a certificate to teach in the kindergartens of the county and in such other grades as the legislature may prescribe by general law; provided, the standard for such special credential shall not be lower than that represented by credentials accredited by the board.

Applicants for elementary school credentials. Fourth b—To consider the case of any applicant for an elementary school credential, who is a graduate of a normal school or college, or who holds a life diploma or life certificate of another state. When the state board of education is satisfied that any such applicant possesses the qualifications which fit him for elementary school teaching as well as does graduation from a California state normal school, it may issue to such applicant a state board credential upon which any county board of education may grant to him an elementary school certificate.

Life diplomas. Fifth—To grant life diplomas for four grades, valid throughout the state, as follows:

(1) High school, authorizing the holder to teach in any primary or grammar or high school.

(2) Elementary school, authorizing the holder to teach in any elementary school.

(3) Kindergarten-primary, authorizing the holder to teach in the kindergarten class of any primary school.

(4) Special, authorizing the holder to teach in any school such special branches and in such grades as are named in such diploma.

Qualifications for life diplomas. Fee. Sixth—To issue, except as provided in sections one thousand five hundred three and one thousand seven hundred seventy-five of this code, life diplomas only to such persons as have held for one year, and still hold, a valid county, or city and county, certificate, corresponding in grade to the grade of diploma applied for, and who shall furnish satisfactory evidence of having had a successful experience in teaching of at least forty-eight months. Not less than twenty-one months of said experience shall have been in the public schools of California. Every application must be accompanied to the state board of education by a certified copy of a resolution adopted by at least a three-fourths vote of all the members composing a county, or city and county, board of education, recommending that the diploma be granted, and also by an affidavit of the applicant, specifically setting forth the places in which, and the dates between which, said applicant has taught. The application for any credentials or document mentioned in this chapter must be accompanied by a fee of two dollars, and in addition thereto each applicant permitted to take an examination shall, before he is so permitted, pay a fee of ten dollars. Each applicant for a life diploma shall pay a fee of three dollars, the same to cover the cost of the credential and accompanying portfolio. All of the above fees must be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the contingent fund of the state board of education and applied by said board in defraying or in partially defraying the expense of investigating the qualifications of candidates, issuing credentials, documents or diplomas, and providing for the employment of professional experts to conduct examinations for special credentials and high school credentials, as specified in subdivisions second and fourth of this section.

Revocation or suspension of life diplomas. Seventh—To revoke or suspend for immoral or unprofessional conduct, or for evident unfitness for teaching, life diplomas, documents issued under the provisions of sections one thousand five hundred three and one thousand seven hundred seventy-five of this code, or credentials issued in accordance with the provisions of this section; and to adopt such rules for said revocation as they may deem expedient or necessary.

Commission of credentials. Eighth—The state board of education is hereby authorized to create a commission of credentials, to consist of the superintendent of public instruction, the commissioner of elementary schools, the commissioner of secondary schools and the commissioner of industrial and vocational education. This commission, when directed by the board, shall have authority to review the cases of applicants for any of the credentials specified in subdivisions second, third a, fourth, fourth a and fourth b of this section, and when said commission is satisfied that any candidate fully meets the standard maintained by the state board it may issue the proper credentials; provided, that said credentials to be valid must be issued upon the regular form used by the state board of education and must be signed by the secretary and president of said state board. The state board of education is further authorized to assign to the commission of credentials such duties relating to life diplomas, certificates, certification, and the accrediting of institutions for purposes of certification, as it may see fit.

Provision for physical education. Appropriation. Ninth—The state board of education shall have power and it shall be its duty to provide for the organization and supervision of courses in physical education in the public schools of this state in accordance with "An act to provide for the organization and supervision of courses in physical education in the elementary, secondary and normal schools of the state and appropriating ten thousand dollars therefor," approved May 26, 1917. The sum of thirty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any moneys belonging to the state not otherwise appropriated for the use of the state board of education during the seventy-first and seventy-second fiscal years in carrying out the provisions of this paragraph. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1214.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 701.

§ 1519b. Powers of state board of education. The state board of education shall have power and it shall be its duty:

Compile text-books. First—To compile in whole, or in part, and to manufacture such text-books as are now in use; to compile, or cause to be compiled, and manufacture such other additional text-books or books, as it may deem necessary or proper for use in the elementary schools of the state, as provided by section one thousand six hundred sixty-five of the Political Code; to purchase books when necessary, or lease plates, maps, engravings or copyright matter for use in manufacturing such text-books; contract for, or lease copyrights for use in compiling, printing or publishing such books; to provide for the payment of royalties or for the leasing of plates or making the whole or any part of a book, and to do any or all things that may be necessary for the purpose of procuring a uniform series of text-books for use in the elementary day and evening schools of the state.

Contract for use of plates, etc. Second—Whenever any plates, maps, or engravings of any publisher or author are adopted for use, or whenever any books have been purchased, as hereinbefore provided, the state board of education shall enter into a contract for not less than four years nor more than eight years for the use of the same in the elementary day and evening schools of the state, and shall require a good and sufficient bond of the owner or owners of such books, plates, maps or engravings under a written guaranty that the same shall be kept revised and free from all errors and up to date as may be required by the state board of education.

Copyrights. Uniform use of text-books. Third—The state board of education may secure copyrights in the name of the people of the state of California, to any book that may be compiled. Whenever any one or more of the state text-books shall have been compiled or purchased, published and adopted, the superintendent of public instruction, on the order of the state board of education shall issue an order to all county, city, city and county school superintendents by sending notices by registered mail to said superintendents who in turn shall notify the secretaries of all boards of education in the cities and the clerk of the board of school trustees and the teacher or principal in each school district, requiring the uniform use of such book, in the grades of the elementary day and evening schools for which they have been adopted, and when such order has thus been given and published, the same shall remain in force and effect for a term of not less than four nor more than eight years; provided, that such order for the uniform use of such book, shall not take effect until the beginning of the next fiscal year; namely, the first of July next following the issue of the order, or at such time thereafter as may be fixed by the state board of education; provided, that the book shall go into use at the beginning of a fiscal year.

When a book has been adopted, the state board of education shall enforce the uniform use of such book, in the elementary day and evening schools for which said book has been adopted.

Refusal to use state text-books. Fourth—Any teacher, or city, county, or city and county superintendent of schools or any board of education, refusing or neglecting to use said series of state text-books at the time required in the last preceding subdivision of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon proof thereof of such refusal or neglect, shall be subject to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense; provided, that nothing herein contained shall in any way restrict the additional use of such books as are now provided in section one thousand seven hundred twelve of the Political Code.

Duties of superintendent of state printing. Fifth—The superintendent of state printing shall have supervision of all of the mechanical work connected with the printing of such books as may be compiled and adopted subject to the approval of the state board of education or such representative of the state board of education as may be appointed to supervise such work. The superintendent of state printing shall print and bind such books in lots of not less than five thousand and turn them over to the state board of education at the warehouse, and receive payment therefor on the approval of the items of said cost by the state board of education or the duly authorized agent of said board, and upon the approval of the bill by the board of control. He shall furnish one copy of a cost-finding report showing items of work and the materials and the exact cost of each item for each of said lot of books, to the state board of education and one copy to the board of control. The superintendent of state printing shall on the first day of each month furnish to the state board of education a detailed statement showing the name and number of books published by him during the preceding month, and the number then in course of publication.

Board of education to fix cost price of books. Sixth—On receiving a copy of the cost-finding report and estimated cost of the publishing of any book, the state board of education thereupon shall determine and fix the cost price of such books by adding to the cost of manufacture, the contract price to be paid as royalty or for the use of plates, maps, or engravings or copyrighted matter, and said price, to which has been added ten per cent of such price to cover overhead expense, shall be deemed to be the whole cost of publication of such book at Sacramento. The state board of education may provide for the sale at not less than cost price of state text-books to private schools, individuals, or dealers under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by said board of education; provided, that such books be not sold by dealers for more than the cost price at Sacramento, plus the postage, packing and cartage on such books, which prices shall be established by said board of education.

The state board of education may provide for the disposition of such text-books as are no longer in a fit condition to be used for purposes of instruction; provided, that whenever in its judgment it would be practicable to sell such old text-books for use in the manufacture of paper pulp or similar substances, the highest price obtainable shall be secured therefor, and the money so obtained deposited in the state school-book fund. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 704.]

§ 1519c. State school book fund. The appropriation heretofore made, known as the "text-book appropriation," shall be subject to the draft of the state board of education for necessary expenses incurred by it for office supplies, the hiring of expert assistants, and for other necessary expenses; provided, that all claims shall be presented to the board of control for its approval. All moneys that have been received or may hereafter be received from the sale of said series of state text-books to private schools or to dealers or persons or that may be appropriated by the legislature for publishing said series of state text-books, shall be kept by the state treasurer in a fund known as the "state school book fund." This fund shall be subject to the order of the state board of education for all expenses incurred by the superintendent of printing for all material, labor, and other expenses necessary for publishing state school text-books, and for all books purchased, for the cost of shipping free text-books, and for necessary employees in connection with such shipment as may be determined by the state board of education. All claims to be drawn, after being certified by the claimant and the items approved by the secretary of the state board of education shall be presented to the board of control for its approval, and upon the approval of said board of control, the state controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant on the state treasurer, who is hereby directed to pay the same. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 706.]

§ 1519d. Order from head of state institution. The president or principal of any state institution in which instruction is given in the elementary branches, may order such state text-book, as may be used to advantage, for use in said institution, on blanks supplied by the superintendent of public instruction; provided, such orders shall be subject to revision by said superintendent of public instruction. Such books shall be delivered free of cost to such institution on the order of the superintendent of public instruction, in the usual method of shipment. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 707.]

§ 1521. Compensation, members of state board of education. First—The members of the state board of education shall receive as compensation fifteen dollars per day when the board is in session. They shall also receive ten dollars per day while engaged in committee work at the Sacramento or Los Angeles offices of the board or elsewhere under the direction of the state board of education; provided, that the total amount of such per diem for committee work, for all members of the board, shall not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars for any fiscal year. They shall also receive their actual and necessary traveling expenses.

Salaries, assistant superintendents of public instruction. Second—Each assistant superintendent of public instruction provided for in section one thousand five hundred nineteen of the Political Code shall receive a salary of four thousand dollars per annum, payable at the same time and in the same manner as the salary of state officers is paid. They shall also receive their actual and necessary traveling expenses while on official business.

Clerical help. Third—Within their appropriation, the state board of education may appoint such clerical and other help as may from time to time be necessary. [Amendment approved May 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 750.]

§ 1532. Duties of superintendent of public instruction. It is the duty of the superintendent of public instruction:

Superintending schools. First—To superintend the schools of this state.

Report to governor. Second—To report to the governor, on or before the fifteenth day of September preceding each regular session of the legislature, a statement of the condition of the public elementary and secondary schools, the state normal schools and other educational institutions supported in whole or in part by the state.

Tabular statements accompanying report. Third—To accompany his report with tabular statements, showing the number attending public schools, and the average attendance; the amount of state school fund apportioned, and the sources from which derived; the amount raised by county, city and county and district taxes, or from other sources of revenue, for school purposes; and the amount expended for salaries of teachers, for building schoolhouses, for district school libraries, and for incidental expenses.

Apportion school funds. Fourth—To apportion the state school fund; and to furnish an abstract of such apportionment to the state controller, the state board of control, and to the county and city and county auditors, county and city and county treasurers and to the county and city and county school superintendents of the several counties of the state. In apportioning said fund he shall apportion to every county and to every city and county three hundred fifty dollars for every teacher determined and assigned to it on average daily attendance by the county or city and county school superintendent for the next preceding school year, as required of the county or city and county school superintendent by the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of this code, and after thus apportioning three hundred fifty dollars on teacher basis, he shall apportion the balance of the state school fund to the several counties or cities and counties according to their average daily attendance as shown by the reports of the county or city and county school superintendents for the next preceding school year.

Draw orders for school funds. Fifth—To draw his order on the controller in favor of each county or city and county treasurer for school moneys apportioned to the county or city and county.

Prepare blanks. Sixth—To prepare, have printed, and furnish all officers charged with the administration of the laws relating to the public schools, and to teachers, such blank forms and books as may be necessary to the discharge of their duties, including blank teachers' certificates to be used by county and city and county boards of education.

Compile school laws. Seventh—To have the laws relating to the public schools printed in pamphlet form, and to supply school officers and school libraries with one copy each.

Visit asylums. Eighth—To visit the several orphan asylums to which state appropriations are made, and examine into the course of instruction therein.

Visit schools. Ninth—To visit the schools in the different counties, and inquire into their condition; and the actual traveling expenses thus incurred, provided that they do not exceed one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum, shall be allowed, audited and paid out of the general fund in the same manner as other claims are audited and paid.

Authenticate orders. Tenth—To authenticate with his official seal all drafts or orders drawn by him, and all papers and writings issued from his office.

Bind documents. Eleventh—To have bound, at the state bindery, all valuable school reports, journals, and documents in his office, or hereafter received by him.

Report daily attendance. Twelfth—To report to the controller, on or before the tenth day of September of each year, the total average daily attendance in the elementary day and evening schools including the special day and evening elementary school classes, the average daily attendance in the day and evening high schools including the special day and evening high school classes, as shown by the annual reports of the county superintendents of the several counties on file in his office for the school year immediately preceding, and the average daily attendance of pupils upon each of such part-time vocational courses as are established and maintained by each high school district under the provisions of section one thousand seven hundred fifty c of this code, and as are shown by these reports and approved by the commissioner of vocational education.

Deliver records to successor. Thirteenth—To deliver over, at the expiration of his term of office, on demand, to his successor, all property, books, documents, maps, records, reports, and other papers belonging to his office, or which may have been received by him for the use of his office.

Inspect state normal schools. Fourteenth—To visit and inspect each state normal school from time to time, inquire into its condition and management, require such reports as he may deem proper from the teachers of the school and exercise general supervision over the same. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1009.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1417.

§ 1533. School superintendents' convention. Expenses. He shall have power to call, annually, a convention of the county and city superintendents, to assemble at such time and place as he shall deem most convenient, for the discussion of questions pertaining to the supervision and administration of the public schools, the laws relating thereto, and such other subjects affecting the welfare and interest of the public schools as shall properly be brought before it. It is hereby made the duty of all county and city superintendents to attend and take part in the proceedings of such convention when it is called. The actual expenses of the county superintendents attending the convention shall be allowed by the board of supervisors and paid out of the general fund; the actual expenses of the city superintendents attending the convention shall be allowed and paid out of the same fund as the salary of such city superintendents is paid. [Amendment approved May 8, 1919; Stats 1919, p. 402.]

§ 1534. Orders for text-books. All orders for text-books shall be forwarded to the superintendent of public instruction on blanks furnished by him. He shall investigate such orders and make necessary changes and forward the same to the person in charge of the warehouse and shipment of books with definite orders for shipment. He shall keep an accurate account of the amount of money received from the sale of text-books for each month and report to the controller on or before the fifth of the succeeding month, the number of books sold, or distributed, and the amount of money collected therefor, and shall pay such money into the treasury to the credit of the "school text-book fund." The amount fixed for royalty and costs of plates or copyright matter in favor of any company, or individual, shall be presented by the superintendent of public instruction to the state board of education for its approval. Said claim shall be paid quarterly, in the same manner as other claims upon the state treasury, on the approval of the board of control.

On receiving orders from the superintendent of public instruction for text-books the person in charge of the warehouse and shipment of books shall forward by freight, express or mail, as directed by the superintendent of public instruction, to the nearest freight depot, express or postoffice, in the name of the clerk of the school district or the city superintendent of schools in cities, the number of books called for in said order. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 706.]

§ 1543. Duties of county superintendent of schools. It is the duty of the superintendent of schools of each county:

Superintending schools. First—To superintend the schools of his county.

Apportion school moneys. Second—To apportion the school moneys to each school district as provided in section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of this code, at least four times a year. For this purpose he may require of the county auditor a report of the amount of all school moneys on hand to the credit of the several school funds of the county not already apportioned; and it is hereby made the duty of the auditor to furnish such report when so required; and whenever an excess of money has accumulated to the credit of a school district beyond a reasonable amount necessary to maintain a school for eight months in such district for the year, the superintendent of schools shall place said excess of money to the credit of the unapportioned school funds of the county, and shall apportion the same as other school funds are apportioned.

Requisitions. Third—(a) On the order of the board of school trustees, or board of education of any city or town having a board of education, to draw his requisition upon the county auditor for all necessary expenses against the school fund of any district. The requisitions must be drawn in the order in which the orders therefor are filed in his office. Each requisition must specify the purpose for which it is drawn, but no requisition shall be drawn upon the order of the board of school trustees or board of education against the funds of any district except the teachers' or janitors' salaries, unless such order is accompanied by an itemized bill showing the separate items, and the price of each, in payment for which the order is drawn; nor shall any requisition for teachers' or janitors' salaries be drawn unless the order shall state the monthly salary of teacher or janitor, and name the months for which such salary is due. Upon the receipt of such requisition the auditor shall draw his warrant upon the county treasurer in favor of the parties for the amount stated in such requisition. The order of the board of school trustees, or board of education, shall be made only on the form of blank approved by the superintendent of public instruction; provided, that said blanks shall be printed and furnished to the school districts by the board of supervisors of the respective counties of the state, and when signed by at least two members of the board of trustees, or the officials authorized to sign orders for the board of education, shall be transmitted to the superintendent, who shall, in case he approve such demand, indorse upon it, "examined and approved," together with the number and date when approved, and shall, in attestation thereof, affix his signature thereto, and deliver the same to the claimant, or his order, who shall transmit the same to the auditor, who shall, in case he allows said demand, indorse upon it "allowed," together with the number and date when allowed, and shall, in attestation thereof, affix his signature thereto, and deliver the same to the claimant and make a proper record thereof and charge against the particular fund of the particular district against which such demand was allowed; and said demand when so approved and signed by the superintendent, and when so allowed and signed by the auditor, shall constitute the requisition on the auditor, and the warrant on the treasury within the meaning of this act; and provided, further, that the county superintendent of schools, after examining and approving any demand, may transmit the same directly to the county auditor, who after allowing such demand shall return the same to the county superintendent of schools, who shall thereupon return said demand to the governing board of the school district, which shall issue said demand to the claimant or to his order.

(b) Transfer of funds for pupils of intermediate school course. On the order of the board of trustees or board of education of any elementary school district located within, or having the same boundaries as, a high school district which has established an intermediate school course as provided for in section one thousand seven hundred fifty a of the Political Code, to transfer from the school funds of such elementary school district to the fund of the board having control of such intermediate school course, such sum as may be agreed upon, as provided in section one thousand six hundred seventeen d of the Political Code, by said board of trustees or board of education and said board having control of such intermediate school course, for the tuition of pupils residing in such elementary school district and attending such intermediate school course; provided, that all of the funds so transferred shall be applied exclusively to the support of the grades of such intermediate school course corresponding to the seventh and eighth grades of the regular elementary schools.

Register of requisitions. Fourth—To keep, open to the inspection of the public, a register of requisitions, showing the fund upon which the requisitions have been drawn, the number thereof, in whose favor, and for what purpose they were drawn, and also a receipt from the person to whom the requisition was delivered.

Examine schools. Fifth—To visit and examine each school in his county at least once in each year. For every school not so visited the board of supervisors must, on proof thereof, deduct ten dollars from his salary.

Teachers' institutes. Sixth—To preside over teachers' institutes held in his county, and to secure the attendance thereat of lecturers competent to instruct in the art of teaching, and to report to the county board of education the names of all teachers in the county who fail to attend regularly the sessions of the institute; to enforce the course of study, the use of state text-books, and of high school text-books regularly adopted by proper authority, and the rules and regulations for the examination of teachers prescribed by the proper authority.

Temporary certificates. Seventh—When he finds that the service makes it necessary and desirable, to issue temporary certificates as follows:

(a) A temporary kindergarten certificate to the holder of a valid kindergarten certificate issued by a county board of education of California, or to the holder of a credential issued by a school authorized by the state board of education to recommend teachers for kindergarten certificates in the state of California.

(b) A temporary elementary school certificate to the holder of a valid county certificate issued by a county board of education of California, or to the holder of a diploma issued by a California state normal school or other state normal school accredited by the state board of education.

(c) A temporary secondary school certificate to the holder of a valid county certificate of secondary grade granted by a county board of education of California, or to the holder of a valid credential of secondary grade issued by a university authorized by the state board of education to recommend candidates for the high school certificate in California or to the holder of a state board high school credential.

(d) A temporary special certificate of elementary grade or of secondary grade to the holder of a special certificate of like grade issued by a county board of education in California, or to the holder of a recommendation of like grade in special subjects issued by an institution authorized by the state board of education to recommend persons for special certificates in the state of California, or to the holder of a credential of like grade in special subjects issued by the state board of education of California; provided, that a temporary special certificate may be issued only in such subjects as are listed in the certificate, recommendation, or credential upon which it is granted.

A temporary certificate issued between July first and December first shall expire on the January first following, and a temporary certificate when issued between December first and June twenty-ninth shall expire on the July first following; provided, that no person shall be entitled to receive a temporary certificate more than once in the same county.

Preliminary certificates. Eighth—To issue to persons in training for the teaching service "preliminary certificates" of a temporary character as follows:

(a) Upon a recommendation signed by the president, principal or director of a California school authorized by the state board of education to train teachers for kindergarten teaching, a preliminary certificate of kindergarten grade which shall authorize the holder thereof to do cadet-teaching without salary in any kindergarten school of the county.

(b) To a person holding a recommendation from a California state normal school a preliminary certificate of elementary grade which shall authorize the holder thereof to do cadet-teaching without salary in any subject in any elementary school of the county.

(c) To the holder of a recommendation from a university in this state authorized by the state board of education to issue recommendations for high school certificates, a preliminary certificate of secondary grade which shall authorize the holder thereof to do cadet-teaching without salary in any elementary or secondary school of the county.

(d) To the holder of a recommendation from a California institution authorized by the state board of education to issue credentials for teachers of special subjects, or to the holder of a recommendation from the secretary of the state board of education, under regulations prescribed by said board, a preliminary special certificate of elementary or secondary grade as specified in said recommendation. Said preliminary special certificate shall authorize the holder thereof to do cadet-teaching without salary in the special subjects listed in the recommendation upon which the preliminary certificate has been granted, in any school of like grade in the county.

No such preliminary certificate shall be granted for a period exceeding two years, nor shall the superintendent of schools collect a fee therefor.

Distribute laws, etc. Ninth—To distribute all laws, reports, circulars, instructions, and blanks which he may receive for the use of school officers.

Reports of superintendents. Tenth—To keep in his office the reports of the superintendent of public instruction.

Record of acts. Eleventh—To keep a record of his official acts and of all the proceedings of the county board of education, including a record of the standing, in each study, of all applicants examined, which shall be open to the inspection of any applicant or his authorized agent.

Approval of plans for schoolhouses. Twelfth—Except in incorporated cities having boards of education, to pass upon and approve or reject all plans for schoolhouses. To enable him to do so, all boards of trustees, before adopting any plans for school buildings, must submit the same to the county superintendent for his approval.

Appoint trustees. Thirteenth—To appoint trustees to fill all vacancies in elementary school districts as provided in section one thousand five hundred ninety-three of the Political Code or as may be otherwise provided by law; to appoint trustees to fill all vacancies in high school districts as provided in section one thousand seven hundred thirty-one of the Political Code or as may be otherwise provided by law; to appoint trustees in new elementary school districts to hold office until the first day of May next succeeding their appointment. In case of the failure of the board of school trustees to appoint a clerk of the district on the proper date or in case of a vacancy in the position of clerk of the district, the superintendent shall appoint a member of the board of school trustees clerk of the district. In case of the failure of the trustees to employ a janitor, as provided in section one thousand six hundred seventeen, subdivision seventh, of this code, he shall appoint a janitor, who shall be paid out of the school fund of the district. Should the board of school trustees of any district fail or refuse to issue an order for the compensation of such service, the superintendent is hereby authorized to issue, without such order, his requisition upon the county school fund apportioned to such district.

Reports. Fourteenth—To make reports, when directed by the superintendent of public instruction, showing such matters relating to the public schools in his county as may be required of him.

Preserve reports. Fifteenth—To preserve carefully all reports of school officers and teachers, and, at the close of his official term, deliver to his successor all records, books, documents, and papers belonging to the office, taking a receipt for the same, which will be filed in the office of the county clerk.

Grade schools. Sixteenth—The county superintendent shall, unless otherwise provided by law, in the month of July of each year grade each school, and a record thereof shall be made in a book to be kept by the county superintendent in his office for this purpose. And no teacher holding a certificate below the grade of said school shall be employed to teach the same.

Contract for Indian children. Seventeenth—On the recommendation of the county superintendent of schools, boards of school trustees and city boards of education are hereby empowered to enter into contract with the national government to receive money from said national government for the Indian children in attendance in the schools under the jurisdiction of said boards, in addition to any money that may be appropriated for such schools by the state and the county. Any money received on such contract shall be transmitted to the county superintendent of schools to be by him paid into the county treasury to the credit of the special school fund of such school district. On the receipt of such money the superintendent shall notify the clerk of the board of school trustees of the receipt of the money. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1289.]

§ 1543b. Jurisdiction of county superintendents over joint districts. Whenever any school district is situated partly within two or more counties, jurisdiction over such district is hereby conferred upon the county superintendent of schools of the county where the greater number of school children of such district reside, but jurisdiction now or hereafter exercised over any such district under any law of this state shall not be changed to the superintendent of another county by reason of this section or by reason of any change in the number of school children residing in the district unless a majority of the electors of the district vote in favor of such change at an election called for such purpose by the board of trustees of the district. When a new district is formed the board of supervisors of each county in which any part of the district is situated shall designate, in the order creating the district, the county superintendent which shall have jurisdiction thereover, and such determination shall be final until changed by vote of the electors of the district as hereinbefore provided. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917. p. 712.]

§ 1548. Expenses of superintendent of schools. The expenses of the office of superintendent of schools for its stationary, blank books, postage, expressage, freight, telephone, telegraphing, and other necessary office expenses shall be allowed by the supervisors of the county, and paid out of the general fund of the county in the same manner as other claims against the county are paid. [Amendment approved May 20, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 777.]

§ 1551. County superintendent's annual report. Every school superintendent in this state must, on or before the first day of August in each year, report to the superintendent of public instruction, and to the board of supervisors of his county, the average daily attendance in the day and evening elementary schools and the special day and evening elementary school classes, the average daily attendance in the day and evening high schools and the special day and evening high school classes and the average daily attendance of pupils upon part-time vocational courses maintained by high school districts for persons engaged three or more hours each in academic and in educative occupational work, as provided for in section one thousand seven hundred fifty c of this code, as appears by the teachers' reports on file in his office for the school year immediately preceding. It shall be the duty of every county superintendent to inquire and ascertain whether the boundaries of the school districts in his county are definitely and plainly described in the records of the board of supervisors, and to keep in his office a full and correct transcript of such boundaries. In case the boundaries of districts are conflicting or incorrectly described, he shall report such fact to the board of supervisors, and the board of supervisors shall immediately take such steps as are necessary to change, harmonize and clearly define them. The county superintendent, if he deem it necessary, may order the description of the district boundaries printed in pamphlet form, and pay for the same out of the unapportioned county school fund of the county. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1384.]

§ 1560. (1) Teachers' institutes. Teachers must attend. Joint institutes. Expenses of. The superintendent of every county in which there are twenty or more schools districts, and of every city and county, and of every city school district governed by a city board of education and employing seventy or more teachers, must hold at least one teachers' institute in each year; and every teacher employed in the schools of the county, city and county, or city school district holding such institute must attend the same and participate in its proceedings; and shall be paid his regular salary for the time covered by such attendance; provided, that the superintendents of two or more adjoining counties, or city and county, or city school districts may unite for the purpose of holding a joint institute or convention and may direct the teachers of their respective counties, city and county, or city school districts to attend the same in lieu of all or of a designated part of the county, city and county, or city school district institute, under the same conditions and compensations as are herein provided for the county, city and county, or city school district institute; provided, that the expense of such joint institute shall be borne proportionately by the counties, city and county, and city school districts participating therein, and shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200) for each county, city and county, or city school district participating therein; and shall be paid in each county from the unapportioned county school fund, in each city and county from the city and county school fund, and in each city school district from such school district's county school fund.

(2) Refusal to hold institute. Alternative plan in counties having more than twenty districts. A county superintendent of schools who shall refuse or neglect to hold an institute for any calendar year as directed by this section shall forfeit the last month's salary of the calendar year in which he fails to hold said institute, and the county auditor whose duty it is to draw the warrant in favor of such superintendent is hereby directed to withhold said salary for December on proof of such neglect; provided, that in lieu of the institute of from three to five consecutive days, as provided in this section and in section one thousand five hundred sixty-two of the Political Code, the superintendent of any county in which there are twenty or more school districts, or of any city and county, or of any city school district governed by a city board of education and employing seventy or more teachers, may hold during the calendar year, at places in the county, or city and county, or city school district, chosen by the superintendent for their convenience and accessibility to teachers and patrons of neighboring schools, three or more series of local day or evening institutes which shall provide, at each of the chosen places, not less than ten hours of institute work; provided, that the superintendent may combine the annual institute plan with the local institute plan, by holding, during one or more days, not to exceed three, an annual meeting of all the teachers in the county, or city and county, or city school district, and also holding during the school year one or more series of evening institutes at local points in the county, or city and county, or city school district, the whole to provide not less than ten hours of institute work; provided, that in cities and counties one or more local day or evening institutes of not less than two hours each may be held on not less than three different dates during the year.

(3) In case of epidemic. In case of epidemic of unusual duration and prevalence in a city, county, or major portion of a county, or city, or city and county the superintendent of schools of the county, or city and county, with the consent of the superintendent of public instruction may dispense with the holding of the institute or institutes for the calendar year of such epidemic. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 131.]

§ 1576. Each city separate school district. Annexation of territory. Deemed part of city for election purposes. Every city or incorporated town, except cities and towns of the sixth class, unless subdivided by the legislative authority thereof, shall constitute a separate school district which shall be governed by the board of education or board of school trustees of such city or incorporated town; provided, however, that in no instance shall the territory within an incorporated city of the sixth class be in more than one school district; and provided, further, that whenever a city or town shall be incorporated, except a city or town of the sixth class, the board of supervisors of the county may annex thereto, for school purposes only, the remainder, or any part of the remainder, of the district or districts from which such city or incorporated town was organized, whenever a majority of the heads of families residing therein, shall petition for such annexation; and provided, further, that the board of supervisors may include more territory than the remainder of the district or districts from which the city or incorporated town was organized, whenever a petition for such purpose is presented to them, signed by a majority of the heads of families residing in such additional territory. When said remainder or part thereof, or said additional outside territory, has been annexed to said city or incorporated town, it shall be deemed a part of said city or incorporated town for the purpose of holding the general municipal election, and shall form one or more election precincts, as may be determined by the legislative authority of said city or incorporated town, the qualified electors of which shall vote only for the board of education, or the board of school trustees; and such outside territory shall be deemed to be a part of said city or incorporated town for all matters connected with the school department thereof, for the annual levying and collecting of the property tax for the school fund of said city or incorporated town; and for all purposes specified in sections one thousand eight hundred eighty to one thousand eight hundred eighty-eight of this code, inclusive; provided, however, that the last assessment-roll made by the county assessor shall be the only basis of taxation for such school district on the property outside the corporate limits so annexed for school purposes. [Amendment approved April 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 208.]

§ 1578. Duties of superintendent on receipt of petition. When a petition is presented under the foregoing section to the county superintendent of schools he shall examine the same and if he finds the same sufficient and signed as required by the section he shall set the same for hearing by the board of supervisors of his county at a regular meeting thereof and forthwith file the same with said board accompanied by his recommendations and a notice containing a general statement of the purpose of the petition and of the boundaries of the proposed new district, or the change of boundaries, as the case may be, and the time and place when and where the petition will be heard. At least ten days prior to said date of hearing he shall send by registered mail a copy of such notice to each of the trustees of each school district which may be affected by the proposed change, if any, and shall post or cause to be posted for the same period copies thereof in at least three public places in the territory proposed to be included in the new district and in at least three public places in each of the districts affected thereby, if any, one of which shall be posted at the door of a schoolhouse, if any, of each of such districts. He shall attach to said original notice and submit therewith to said board of supervisors an affidavit of mailing and posting of said copies. Upon the filing with it of such petition, recommendations, notice and affidavit as herein required, the board of supervisors shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine said petition. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 134.]

§ 1579. Duty of board of supervisors. The board of supervisors must, at the time and place fixed in the notice mentioned in the preceding section, hear all persons interested in the petition and may continue the hearing thereof from time to time but for not more than two weeks in all. If it approves the petition it must, by an order entered upon its minutes, establish the district and define its boundaries, or order the change of boundaries, as the case may be, but no territory not included in the petition shall be included in any district until a notice and hearing has been given as required by the preceding section. A copy of such order, certified by the clerk of such board, shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of each county in which any such new district is situated, or in each county where the district whose boundaries are changed is situated, and such order shall, after the expiration of one year from the date of the recording thereof, be conclusive evidence that such district has been legally organized, or the boundaries legally changed, as the case may be. After the expiration of such time no suit shall be maintained which calls in question the validity of such organization or change of boundaries. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 568.]

§ 1582. Suspension of school district. District declared lapsed. (a) If in any school district there has been an average daily attendance of only five or a number of pupils less than five during the whole school year, the superintendent shall, after giving due notice to all parties interested by sending notices by registered mail to each of the trustees, or, by causing notices to be posted in three public places in the district, one of which shall be at the door of the schoolhouse, for not less than ten days, report the fact to the board of supervisors at their first meeting in August. The board of supervisors shall investigate the matter, and, if in its judgment it would be better to temporarily suspend the school district they shall immediately so suspend it. If the board of supervisors find that there are other school facilities or that there is no reasonable chance to re-establish the district they shall declare the district lapsed, and shall attach the territory thereof to one or more of the adjoining districts in such manner as may be by them considered most convenient for the residents of said lapsed district.

(b) Suspended school district re-established. At the meeting of the board of supervisors in the months of July, August or September, the board of supervisors may re-establish a suspended school district upon proper showing of the people or board of school trustees of the district that there are eight or more pupils of the district ready to attend school.

(c) Apportionment for suspended district. After a district has been suspended, the county superintendent shall at the time of making the apportionment of school moneys as provided in section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of the Political Code, set aside for such suspended district, the sum of five hundred fifty dollars. This amount, with any unexpended balance to the credit of the district, shall be held for the use of the suspended district, in case it should be re-established, and so much of it as may be needed to keep the property of the suspended district insured may be expended by the trustees in the same manner as if the district were not suspended. But no subsequent apportionment shall be made to a suspended district, until it is re-established as provided in subdivision three of this section.

(d) Trustees. Trustees shall be elected or appointed in suspended districts just as if they were not suspended.

(e) Notice that district lapsed. The superintendent may at any time in the month of July of any year give notice as provided in subdivision two of this section, to any suspended district which has not maintained school during the year past, and at the first meeting of the board of supervisors in August ask that such district be declared lapsed.

(f) Suspended district merged with adjoining district. A suspended district may be merged with one or more adjoining districts whenever a petition signed by the majority of heads of families residing in each of said districts shall be presented to the board of supervisors. Such petition must be filed with the county superintendent and by him presented to the board of supervisors with such suggestions as he thinks best.

(g) Disposition of property of lapsed district. When any district has been declared lapsed, the board of supervisors shall sell or otherwise dispose of the property thereto belonging, and shall place the proceeds of such sale to the credit of the district. Thereupon the superintendent shall determine all outstanding indebtedness of said lapsed district, and shall draw his requisition upon the county auditor in payment thereof. Any balance of moneys remaining to the credit of said lapsed district after all indebtedness has been paid shall be transferred by the superintendent to the credit of the district into which the said lapsed district has been merged. If the lapsed district has been attached to more than one of the adjoining districts, the superintendent must apportion the moneys remaining to the credit of the lapsed district to the several districts pro rata according to the average daily attendance in the respective districts as shown by the teachers' reports for the preceding school year. Should there not be sufficient funds to the credit of the lapsed district to liquidate all of the outstanding indebtedness thereof, the superintendent shall draw his requisition upon the county auditor pro rata for the several claims. [New section added May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1287.]

§ 1585. Union school districts, how formed. Election. Canvass of votes. Meeting of electors. District representatives. Powers. Location of school. Election to determine location. When a majority of the heads of families who reside in two or more contiguous school districts, and who have children attending school as shown by the teachers' registers in the school of the said districts in the same county, shall unite in a petition to the county superintendent of schools for the formation of a union school district, to comprise the districts so petitioning, he shall, within twenty days after receiving said petition, call an election for the determination of the question, and shall appoint three qualified electors in each of the districts petitioning, to conduct the election therein. Said election shall be held separately and simultaneously at the public schoolhouse in each of the districts petitioning, and shall be called by posting notices thereof in three of the most public places in each district, one of which places shall be the public schoolhouse in each district at least ten days before said election. Said election shall be conducted by the officers appointed for that purpose, in the manner provided by law for conducting school elections. The ballots at such election, in each district, shall contain the words, "for the union school district," and the voter shall write or print after said words on his ballot the word "yes" or the word "no." It shall be the duty of said election officers in each district to canvass the vote at said election, and report the result to the county superintendent of schools within five days subsequent to the holding of said election.

If a majority of the votes cast at such election, in each and every of such districts, shall be in favor of such union school district, the county superintendent shall, except in the case of the formation of a union district consisting of but two districts, and as hereinafter provided for in section one thousand five hundred eighty-seven of this code, within fifteen days after receiving the returns of the election held therein, direct the board of trustees in each of said districts to call a meeting of the qualified electors of their respective districts, in the manner provided in this code for calling district meetings. At said meeting the qualified electors shall in each district select one representative, whose powers and duties shall be as hereinafter specified. The representatives so chosen shall name the union school district, and shall have power to make temporary arrangements for the location of one or more union schools therein, and, if satisfactory apartments or buildings in a suitable location are offered or can be procured, for a consideration or at a rental which would make it advisable to accept the same, they shall have the power to secure an option of a lease on such apartment or building for a period not to exceed three years from the first day of July next ensuing. Within forty days after their selection they shall notify the county superintendent of schools that they desire to meet to locate one or more union schools in and for such union district. Thereafter the representatives so chosen shall meet in conjunction with the county superintendent of schools at a time and place to be named by the superintendent, for the purpose of determining the location of such union school or schools. At such meeting the superintendent shall be the chairman and shall be entitled to vote and participate in all its proceedings. Should said representatives fail to unanimously agree upon a location for such school or schools, they shall propose in writing to the county superintendent then present, or, if he is not present, they shall transmit to his office, within ten days, the names of the locations which they, or any of them, favor. Within twenty days after receiving such notice, the superintendent shall call an election in the same manner as the election for the formation of the union school district, to determine the location of the union school or schools. At such election only such sites as have been named by the representatives and certified to the county superintendent shall be voted upon. Any form of ballot by which the voter signifies his choice of location or locations shall be allowed. The result of said election shall be determined and certified to the county superintendent, within five days subsequent to the holding of said election. The location or locations which receive the largest number of votes shall be chosen as the location or locations of the school or schools. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 501.]

§ 1586. Joint union districts. How formed. Election. Meeting of electors. District representatives. Powers. A union school district formed of school districts not all in the same county, is designated a joint union school district.

When a majority of the heads of families residing in two or more contiguous school districts not all in the same county and who have children attending the schools in the districts petitioning as shown by the teachers' registers shall unite in a petition to the county superintendents of their respective counties for the formation of a joint union school district, to comprise the districts so petitioning, it shall be the duty of each of said superintendents, within twenty days after receiving said petition, to call an election in the district or districts in his county petitioning, for the purpose of determining the question, and appoint three qualified electors in each of such petitioning districts, to conduct the election therein. Said election shall be called and conducted in all respects as specified in section one thousand five hundred eighty-five of this code, except that the form of ballot shall be: "For the joint union school district," and the result thereof shall be reported by the election officers in each district to the superintendent of the county in which such district is situated, within five days subsequent to the holding of said election.

If a majority of the votes cast at such election, in each and every of such districts, shall be in favor of such joint union school district, the county superintendent in each county shall, except in the case of the formation of a joint union district consisting of but two districts, and as provided in section one thousand five hundred eighty-seven of this code, within fifteen days after receiving the returns of the election, direct the board of trustees in the district, or districts, in his county, to call a meeting of the qualified electors, as provided in section one thousand five hundred eighty-five of this code.

At said meeting the qualified electors, in each district shall select a representative, as provided in section one thousand five hundred eighty-five. The representatives so chosen shall meet at a time and place to be agreed upon among themselves, and name the joint union school district. The location of the joint union school, or schools, shall be determined by the joint action of the representatives chosen and the county superintendents of the counties, in manner and form as provided for the location of a union school or schools. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 503.]

§ 1587. Proceedings may begin at any time. Change on July 1st next succeeding. Union of but two districts. Representatives to act until election of board. Proceedings for the formation of, or for admission to, a union or joint union school district may be begun at any time, but the schools in the district uniting to form, or that are admitted to, a union or joint union school district, shall remain under the control of their respective boards of trustees until the first day of July next succeeding the formation of the union or joint union district and the location of the union or joint union school, or schools, or of admission to a union or joint union district, on which first day of July the districts uniting to form the union or joint union school district, or the district admitted to such union, shall cease to exist, except for purposes specified in sections one thousand five hundred eighty-five to one thousand five hundred ninety-one c inclusive of this code, and the terms of office of the school trustees in said districts shall expire, and the district property of each district so uniting or admitted shall vest in such union or joint union district and pass to the control of the board of trustees of such district, to be held and disposed of by them, according to the provisions of this code relating to the powers and duties of boards of school trustees; provided, that in union or joint union school districts formed by the union of but two school districts, no selection of representatives, as provided for in section one thousand five hundred eighty-five is necessary, and the board of trustees for the original school districts shall act as the representatives, and shall constitute the board of trustees for the new union or joint union school district, and each of such trustees shall continue in office for the term for which he was elected, except as hereinafter provided; and provided, further, that the proceeds of any sale by the board of trustees of the union or joint union school district, of school property that originally belonged to any of the original districts, must first be applied to the discharge of any bonded indebtedness of such original district.

In the formation of union or joint union school districts, the representatives selected according to the provisions of section one thousand five hundred eighty-five shall act as a board of trustees for such union or joint union district, until the election or appointment and qualification of the regular board of trustees. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 504.]

§ 1588. Board of trustees. First—In every union or joint union school district, the governing board shall be composed of five members who shall be elected at large from the elementary school districts composing the union for the term of three years, excepting as hereinafter provided. When any union or joint union school district is formed, the superintendent or superintendents of schools who may have jurisdiction over the same shall, within fifteen days thereafter, appoint a board of school trustees of five members for the union or joint union school district. Each member so appointed shall hold office until the first day of May next succeeding such appointment.

Annual election. Vacancies. Second—The regular annual election of members of the union or joint union school district board shall be held at the same time as the regular annual election of school trustees as provided in section one thousand five hundred ninety-three of the Political Code; said election shall be called by the union school district board which shall designate a polling place in each of the elementary school districts composing the union or joint union school district at which the electors of such school district may vote. The union or joint union school district board shall give the same notice of said election and appoint the same number of election officers in each elementary school district composing the union as are required for the election of school trustees in elementary school districts. Said election shall be held in the same manner as are elections of school trustees, and the returns thereof shall be at once sent to the clerk of the union or joint union district board. Said board shall meet on the seventh day thereafter at one o'clock P. M. and canvass said returns and issue certificates of election to the persons elected and file duplicates thereof with the superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over such union or joint union school district. After each member's term expires, his successor shall be elected in like manner for the term of three years and until his successor shall be elected or appointed and qualified. Vacancies on the board shall be filled by appointment by the superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the union or joint union school district, the appointee to hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Terms at first election. Third—At the first election for members of the board of school trustees of the union or joint union school district, one member shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving his certificate of election until the first day of May, next succeeding; two members shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving their certificates of election until the first day of the second succeeding May; and two members shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving their certificates of election until the first day of the third succeeding May. Thereafter the successors shall be elected as hereinbefore provided. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 504.]

§ 1589. Erection or lease of building. Change of location. After the location of the union or joint union school, or schools, has been determined, the representatives, acting as a board of trustees, or their successors, may erect or lease a suitable building, as they may deem most advisable. A lease shall not be made for a longer period than three years. A building may be erected under the provisions of sections one thousand eight hundred thirty to one thousand eight hundred thirty-nine, inclusive, of this code, relating to a district tax, or sections one thousand eight hundred eighty to one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine, inclusive, of this code, relating to the issuance of bonds. In all cases the plans must be approved by the county superintendent of schools of the county in which the schoolhouse is to be located.

No change of location of any union or joint union school, when once established, shall be made, except upon a petition to the county superintendent of schools, or superintendents, in case of a joint union district, signed by two-thirds of the heads of families who reside in the school district and who have children attending the school as is shown by the teacher's register in the school, and then only in accordance with all the provisions for the original location of the school. [New section added May 11, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 505.]

§ 1589a. Powers and duties of trustees. The powers and duties of boards of trustees in union or joint union school districts shall be such as are now, or may hereafter be assigned by law to boards of school trustees, except as otherwise provided in sections one thousand five hundred

the schools in the district uniting to form, or that are admitted to, a union or joint union school district, shall remain under the control of their respective boards of trustees until the first day of July next succeeding the formation of the union or joint union district and the location of the union or joint union school, or schools, or of admission to a union or joint union district, on which first day of July the districts uniting to form the union or joint union school district, or the district admitted to such union, shall cease to exist, except for purposes specified in sections one thousand five hundred eighty-five to one thousand five hundred ninety-one c inclusive of this code, and the terms of office of the school trustees in said districts shall expire, and the district property of each district so uniting or admitted shall vest in such union or joint union district and pass to the control of the board of trustees of such district, to be held and disposed of by them, according to the provisions of this code relating to the powers and duties of boards of school trustees; provided, that in union or joint union school districts formed by the union of but two school districts, no selection of representatives, as provided for in section one thousand five hundred eighty-five is necessary, and the board of trustees for the original school districts shall act as the representatives, and shall constitute the board of trustees for the new union or joint union school district, and each of such trustees shall continue in office for the term for which he was elected, except as hereinafter provided; and provided, further, that the proceeds of any sale by the board of trustees of the union or joint union school district, of school property that originally belonged to any of the original districts, must first be applied to the discharge of any bonded indebtedness of such original district.

In the formation of union or joint union school districts, the representatives selected according to the provisions of section one thousand five hundred eighty-five shall act as a board of trustees for such union or joint union district, until the election or appointment and qualification of the regular board of trustees. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 504.]

§ 1588. Board of trustees. First—In every union or joint union school district, the governing board shall be composed of five members who shall be elected at large from the elementary school districts composing the union for the term of three years, excepting as hereinafter provided. When any union or joint union school district is formed, the superintendent or superintendents of schools who may have jurisdiction over the same shall, within fifteen days thereafter, appoint a board of school trustees of five members for the union or joint union school district. Each member so appointed shall hold office until the first day of May next succeeding such appointment.

Annual election. Vacancies. Second—The regular annual election of members of the union or joint union school district board shall be held at the same time as the regular annual election of school trustees as provided in section one thousand five hundred ninety-three of the Political Code; said election shall be called by the union school district board which shall designate a polling place in each of the elementary school districts composing the union or joint union school district at which the electors of such school district may vote. The union or joint union school district board shall give the same notice of said election and appoint the same number of election officers in each elementary school district composing the union as are required for the election of school trustees in elementary school districts. Said election shall be held in the same manner as are elections of school trustees, and the returns thereof shall be at once sent to the clerk of the union or joint union district board. Said board shall meet on the seventh day thereafter at one o'clock P. M. and canvass said returns and issue certificates of election to the persons elected and file duplicates thereof with the superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over such union or joint union school district. After each member's term expires, his successor shall be elected in like manner for the term of three years and until his successor shall be elected or appointed and qualified. Vacancies on the board shall be filled by appointment by the superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over the union or joint union school district, the appointee to hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Terms at first election. Third—At the first election for members of the board of school trustees of the union or joint union school district, one member shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving his certificate of election until the first day of May, next succeeding; two members shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving their certificates of election until the first day of the second succeeding May; and two members shall be elected to hold office from the day of receiving their certificates of election until the first day of the third succeeding May. Thereafter the successors shall be elected as hereinbefore provided. [New section approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 504.]

§ 1589. Erection or lease of building. Change of location. After the location of the union or joint union school, or schools, has been determined, the representatives, acting as a board of trustees, or their successors, may erect or lease a suitable building, as they may deem most advisable. A lease shall not be made for a longer period than three years. A building may be erected under the provisions of sections one thousand eight hundred thirty to one thousand eight hundred thirty-nine, inclusive, of this code, relating to a district tax, or sections one thousand eight hundred eighty to one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine, inclusive, of this code, relating to the issuance of bonds. In all cases the plans must be approved by the county superintendent of schools of the county in which the schoolhouse is to be located.

No change of location of any union or joint union school, when once established, shall be made, except upon a petition to the county superintendent of schools, or superintendents, in case of a joint union district, signed by two-thirds of the heads of families who reside in the school district and who have children attending the school as is shown by the teacher's register in the school, and then only in accordance with all the provisions for the original location of the school. [New section added May 11, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 505.]

§ 1589a. Powers and duties of trustees. The powers and duties of boards of trustees in union or joint union school districts shall be such as are now, or may hereafter be assigned by law to boards of school trustees, except as otherwise provided in sections one thousand five hundred eighty-five to one thousand five hundred ninety-one c, inclusive, of this code. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 506.]

§ 1589b. Meetings. Special meetings. Boards of trustees of union or joint union school districts shall hold regular meetings at the school buildings, at such time as may be provided in the rules and regulations adopted by them for their own government. Such meetings shall not be held less frequently than quarterly. Special meetings may be held at the call of the president of the board. Upon the request, in writing, signed by a majority of any board, the president of said board shall call a meeting thereof, pursuant to such request. Of all special meetings of any board the members thereof shall have at least two days' notice, issued and served by the clerk thereof. At special meetings no business shall be transacted other than as specified in the call therefor; provided, that in union and joint union districts formed by the union of more than three school districts the boards may appoint an executive committee, consisting of the president and the clerk and one other member of the board, to attend to the routine business of the board, their action to be reported to the board for ratification at its first meeting ensuing. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 506.]

§ 1589c. Supervising principal. Whenever in their judgment it may be deemed advisable, the board of trustees for any union or joint union school district may unite with the trustees of any other school district, single, union or joint, in the employment of a supervising principal, who shall devote such time to the supervision of instruction in the several school districts and shall receive such compensation from each board of trustees as may be agreed upon by them. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 507.]

§ 1590. Transfer of funds to union district. Separate reports. Apportionment of money. On the first day of July next ensuing after the formation of a union or joint union school district, or the admission thereto of a school district, the county superintendent of schools, or superintendents in joint union school districts, shall transfer, by requisition upon the county auditor, all funds remaining to the credit of the different districts uniting to form the union or joint union district, or to the credit of the district admitted thereto, to the credit of such union or joint union district.

For the purposes of teachers' reports and for the estimating of the number of teachers and the amount of money to which each district is entitled, the several districts uniting to form the union school district shall continue their separate existence.

The teacher or teachers shall keep the enrollment and attendance of each district separate from that of the other districts composing the union. At the close of the term or year, a report shall be made of the attendance of each district composing the union separately. These separate reports shall be combined into a principal's report. In case of a joint union school district, the teacher or teachers shall send a copy of each report to the county superintendent in whose county parts of the district lie; and provided, further, that no moneys shall be apportioned directly to any of such several districts, while forming a part of an organized union or joint union school district, but there shall be apportioned to such union or joint union district the aggregate of moneys that would be apportioned to the several school districts composing it, if such several districts were not united. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 507.]

§1591. Annexation of other districts. Portion of district admitted.

Any school district may be admitted to a union or joint union school district by action of the board of supervisors of the county in which such school district is located, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the board of trustees of the school district seeking admission and the board of trustees of the union or joint union school district, whenever a majority of the heads of families who reside in the district and who have children enrolled in the school as is shown by the teacher's report on file in the office of the superintendent of schools for the year or term immediately preceding, shall present to said board of supervisors a petition for such annexation, accompanied by a petition for such annexation signed by a majority of the members composing the board of trustees of the union or joint union district to which admission is desired. The county superintendent of schools shall then classify the newly admitted district, in class A, B, or C, as provided in section one thousand five hundred eighty-eight of this code, for the election of a trustee thereby. If such petitioning school district and such union or joint union school district be not wholly situated in the same county, then said petitions shall be presented in duplicate to the board of supervisors of each and every county in which any part of either of such districts is situated, and such annexation shall be made only by the concurrent action of all of such board of supervisors; and in that case the classification of the annexed district, for election of a trustee, shall be made by concurrent action of the county superintendents of each and all such counties.

A portion of a school district may be admitted to an adjacent union or joint union school district by action of the board of supervisors of the county in which such school district is situated, whenever a majority of the heads of families who reside in the district and who have children attending the school as shown by the teacher's register, shall present to said board of supervisors a petition for such annexation, accompanied by a petition for such annexation signed by a majority of the members composing the board of trustees of the union or joint union district to which admission is desired. The board of supervisors shall attach such annexed portion of a school district to a contiguous original school district forming part of the union or joint union district, for voting and other purposes, and such annexed portions shall thereafter be a part of the original district to which it is so attached, and cannot subsequently withdraw from the union or joint union district, except as the district to which it is so attached withdraws. Such annexed portion shall have no representation on the board of trustees of the union or joint union school district, except as a part of the district to which it is attached. If such portion of a school district and such union or joint union school district be not wholly situate in the same county, then said petition shall be presented in duplicate to the board of supervisors of each and every county in which any part of either of such districts is situated, and such annexation, and such attachment of annexed portion to one of the original districts, shall be made only by the concurrent action of all such boards of supervisors. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 507.]

§ 1591a. Withdrawal from union. Any school district contained in a union or joint union school district may, in like manner, withdraw from such union or joint union district by action of the board or boards, of supervisors of the county, or counties, in which the union or joint union district is located, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the trustee of the school district seeking to withdraw and a majority of the other members of the board of trustees of the union or joint union district, whenever a majority of the heads of families residing in the union or joint union district, including two-thirds of the heads of families who reside in the district wishing to withdraw and who have children attending the school as shown by the teacher's register, shall present to such board or boards of supervisors a petition for such withdrawal, accompanied by a written consent to such withdrawal signed by a majority of the members composing the board of trustees of such union or joint union district. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 508.]

§ 1591b. Suspension of district. If the average daily attendance from any one of the school districts composing a union or joint union school district shall fall to five or less for the entire year, the county superintendent shall report the facts to the board of supervisors under the provisions of this code relating to the lapsing and suspension of school districts, and the board of supervisors shall lapse or suspend the district. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 509.]

§ 1591c. Dissolution of union district. Election. Two-thirds vote to prevail. Disposition of property. Original districts revived. Any union or joint union school district, formed under the provisions of section one thousand five hundred eighty-five, and which shall have been in existence three years or more, may be dissolved in the following manner: A petition signed by two-thirds of the heads of families who reside in the district and who have children who attend the school as shown by the teacher's register or as may be shown by a census of the district ordered by the board of school trustees, shall be presented to the county superintendent of schools of the county in which such district is situated, setting forth briefly the reasons for dissolution and praying that the question may be submitted to the voters in such district. Upon receiving such petition the superintendent shall, within twenty days, call an election in the district, submitting to the voters therein the question of dissolution of such district. If such petitioning district be not wholly situated within the same county, said petition shall be presented in duplicate to the superintendent of each county having territory within such district, and each superintendent so petitioned shall, within twenty days after receiving such petition, call an election in the territory situate within his county and forming part of such district, and appoint three electors resident within such territory to conduct such election therein. Notice of such election, which must be held throughout the district on the same day and during the same hours, shall be given by posting written or printed notice thereof in at least three of the most public places in such district for at least twelve days next before the day set for such election; and if such district be not wholly situated in the same county, said notice shall be posted for said time in three of the most public places in the portion of the district in each county. Said election shall be conducted in the manner provided by law for conducting school elections. The ballots shall have printed on them the words "for dissolution," and the voters shall write or print thereafter the word "yes" or the word "no." The election officers shall report the result of such election within five days thereafter to the county superintendent of schools of the county of which they are residents. If a majority of all the votes cast at such election be opposed to dissolution, no further petition shall be entertained or election ordered for a similar purpose within three years next following such election. If the district in which such election is held be wholly situated in one county, and if two-thirds of all the votes cast at such election be in favor of dissolution, the county superintendent of such county shall forthwith certify the result of such election to the board of supervisors of such county, and such board shall, at its first regular meeting thereafter, make an order declaring such union district dissolved, such order to take effect at the end of the current school year, except as hereinafter provided. If the district in which such election is held be not wholly situated in one county, each of the county superintendents of the counties having territory therein shall immediately certify to the others the result of the election in his own county, and if two-thirds of all the votes cast at such election be in favor of dissolution, all of such county superintendents shall, jointly, forthwith certify the result of such election to the board of supervisors of each of such counties, and said boards, and each of them, shall, at the first regular meeting thereafter, make an order declaring such union or joint union district dissolved, such order to take effect at the end of the current school year, except as hereinafter provided. When a union or joint union school district has been thus dissolved, the property thereof shall be sold by the board of supervisors of the county in which such property is situated, and the proceeds of such sale, together with any moneys in the treasury to the credit of such dissolved district, shall be apportioned to and placed to the credit of the school districts that composed such dissolved district in proportion to the value of property in each of such school districts, as determined by the last previous assessment therein for school purposes, and the board or boards of supervisors of the county or counties in which such dissolved district is situated shall make such orders, and such transfers from county to county, as may be necessary or proper to effect such apportionment. From and after the time of making of the order or orders hereinbefore provided for, declaring a union or joint union school district dissolved, the original school districts composing the same, with such additional territory as shall have been annexed to them, shall be considered to be in existence again, as separate districts, and subject to the provisions of sections one thousand five hundred ninety-three to one thousand six hundred two of this code, relating to elections of school trustees, the first of such elections in each of such districts to be held as in the case of a newly formed district; but such order or orders shall not affect the continuance of the union or joint union board of trustees, or the maintenance of the union or joint union school, until the end of the current school year, at the expiration of which time such board and school shall cease to exist. [New section added May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 509.]

§ 1593. Election of school trustees. First—An election for school trustees must be held in each school district on the last Friday of March of each year, at the district schoolhouse, if there is one, and if there is none, at the place to be designated by the board of trustees.

Number. Second—The number of school trustees for any school district, except where city boards are otherwise authorized by law, shall be three. No persons shall be deemed ineligible to the office of trustee on account of sex.

Trustees in new districts. Third—In new school districts the school trustees shall be elected on the last Friday of March subsequent to the formation of the district, to hold office for one, two and three years, respectively, from the first day of May next succeeding their election.

Vacancies. Fourth—When a vacancy occurs from any of the causes specified in section nine hundred ninety-six of this code, the county superintendent of schools shall appoint a suitable person to fill such vacancy to hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

One trustee elected annually. Fifth—Except as provided in subdivisions two and three of this section, one trustee shall be elected annually, to hold office for three years from the first day of May next succeeding his election, or until his successor shall be elected, or appointed, and qualified. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 734.]

§ 1598. Form of ballots for election of school trustees. Manner of voting. Secret ballot. Each county superintendent of schools shall furnish uniform ballots for the election of school trustees in his county, and no other form of ballot shall be used. The expense of printing and distributing such ballots to the various districts shall be paid as other current expenses of his office. The form of said ballots shall be as follows:

Official ballot provided by the office of the superintendent of schools to be used in the election of school trustees in — district, in the county of —.

Immediately following the above there shall be at least twelve spaces for the insertion of the names of candidates, each space with a blank square for the expression of the will of the voter.

The name of the county shall be printed in as a part of the official ballot.

The school trustees must provide for printing, stamping or writing into this ballot the designation of the district and the name of each candidate for office who has officially announced himself five days prior to the date of the election by filing or having filed with the clerk of the board of trustees a written statement signed by him that he is a candidate for the office of trustee.

In casting his vote the elector must stamp or write a cross in the square space immediately following the name of the candidate for whom he desires to vote, or, should the elector desire to vote for a candidate whose name does not appear on the ballot, he shall himself write the name of said candidate in the space provided for that purpose on the ballot. Where the elector writes the name of a candidate on the ballot he may, but it shall not be necessary for him to, designate his vote by writing or stamping the cross after such name. After properly marking his ballot he shall hand it to the inspector who shall then, in his presence, deposit the same in the ballot-box and the judges shall enter the elector's name on the poll list.

The board of school trustees may arrange for secret ballot by providing a booth or private room in which the voter may prepare his ballot, and in districts employing two or more teachers they must arrange for such secret ballot in the manner prescribed above.

No electioneering shall be carried on within one hundred feet of the polls. [Amendment approved March 21, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 15.]

§ 1603. Board of school trustees. Except when otherwise authorized by law, every school district shall be under the control of a board of school trustees, consisting of three members. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 735.]

§ 1603a. Term. The term of office of school trustees is three years from the first day of May next succeeding their election. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 735.]

§ 1604. When new district organized. First—When a new district is organized, such of the trustees of the old district as reside within the boundaries of the new shall be trustees of the new district until the expiration of the time for which they were elected.

When joint districts formed. Term. Second—When joint districts are formed, three trustees shall be elected at the regular school election next succeeding the formation thereof, to hold office for one, two, and three years respectively from the first day of May next succeeding their election.

The terms of the trustees in the districts uniting to form the joint district shall expire on the formation of such district, and the superintendent of the county, in which lies the district having the greatest average daily attendance, shall appoint two trustees, and the superintendent of the county in which the other district lies shall appoint one trustee, to hold office until the first day of May next succeeding the formation of the joint district. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 735.]

§ 1605. Vacancies. First—Vacancies in the office of school trustee are caused by the happening of any of the events specified in section nine hundred ninety-six of the Political Code, or by failure to elect, as provided in section one thousand five hundred ninety-three of this code.

Resignations. Second—When a school trustee resigns, his resignation must be sent in writing to the county superintendent of schools. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 736.]

§ 1606. City boards of education. Boards of education are elected in cities under the provisions of the laws governing such cities, and their powers and duties are as prescribed in such laws, except as otherwise in this chapter provided. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 736.]

§ 1607. Powers. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power, and it shall be their duty:

Prescribe rules. First—To prescribe and enforce rules not inconsistent with law, or with those prescribed by the state board of education, for their own government and for the government of the schools under their jurisdiction, and to transact their business at regular or special meetings called for such purpose. The board shall fix the time for its regular meetings, and such action shall be proper notice to all members of the board of such meetings, but for any special meetings, written notice must be given to each member of the board at least twenty-four hours prior to the time for the meeting, unless at the time of the meeting each and every member of the board waives such written notice.

Enforce course of study. Second—To enforce in schools the course of study and the use of text-books prescribed and adopted by the proper authority.

Exclude sectarian books. Third—To exclude from school and school libraries all books, publications, or papers of a sectarian, partisan or denominational character.

Annual report. Fourth—To make an annual report, on or before the first day of July, to the superintendent of schools in the manner and form and on the blanks prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction.

Report of text-books. Fifth—To make a report, whenever required, directly to the superintendent of public instruction of the text-books used in their schools.

Visit schools. Sixth—To visit each school in their district at least once in each term and to examine carefully into the management, conditions and needs of those schools, except in school districts which employ district or city superintendents of schools, and in those districts to visit such schools or provide that they shall be visited by the district or city superintendent of schools or his assistants. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 736.]

§ 1608. Powers. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power, and it shall be their duty:

Management of school property. First—To manage and control school property within their districts, and to pay all moneys received by them or collected by them from any source whatever, and all moneys apportioned to them from taxes levied and collected under the authority of city councils for school purposes, into the county treasury to be placed to the credit of the proper fund of their districts.

Purchase furniture, etc. Second—Except as otherwise provided in this code, to purchase school furniture, including musical instruments, and apparatus, and such other articles as may be necessary for the use of schools; provided, that except in city school districts governed by boards of education, they shall purchase such books and apparatus only as have been adopted by the county board of education.

Insure, etc., school property. Temporary quarters. Third—To furnish, repair, and insure and in their discretion, rent, the school property of their respective districts, such insurance to be written in any solvent insurance company, doing business in this state, or in any mutual insurance company organized under the laws of this state. When the school enrollment of any school is such as to cause overcrowded schoolrooms, then boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power to make arrangements for the location of schools in temporary quarters. These quarters may be procured for a consideration, or at a rental, or by the construction of temporary buildings on school property. The boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall also have power to rent suitable quarters for administrative offices for a period not to exceed five years.

Build schoolhouses. Fourth—When directed by a vote of their districts to build schoolhouses or to purchase or sell school lots.

Receive and make conveyances. Fifth—To receive in the name of the district conveyances for all property received and purchased by them, and to make in the name of the district conveyances on all property belonging to the district and sold by them. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 479.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 737.

§ 1609. Powers of. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power, and it shall be their duty:

Employ principal. City superintendent of schools. First—To employ a principal for each school under their control, and they may employ a district superintendent for one or more schools employing eight teachers or more under their control. In each city school district governed by a city board of education, such board may employ a city superintendent of schools and such deputy or assistant city superintendents as it may deem necessary and fix and order paid their compensation unless the same be otherwise prescribed by law. Any deputy city superintendent of schools, or assistant city superintendent of schools, or district superintendent may be elected for a term of four years.

Employ teachers. Pay. For less than school year. Second—To employ the teachers, and immediately notify the county superintendent of schools in writing, of such employment, naming the grade of certificate held by the teacher employed; also to employ janitors and other employees of the school; to fix and order paid their compensation, unless the same be otherwise prescribed by law; provided, that no board shall enter into any contract with such employees to extend beyond the close of the next ensuing school year; except that teachers may be elected on or after June first for the next ensuing school year, and each teacher so elected shall be deemed re-elected from year to year thereafter unless the governing body of the school district shall on or before the tenth day of June give notice in writing to such teacher that his services will not be required for the ensuing school year. Such notice shall be deemed sufficient and complete when delivered in person to the teacher by the clerk or secretary of the governing body of the school district, or deposited in the United States mail with postage prepaid addressed to such teacher at his last known place of address; provided, that any teacher who shall fail to signify his acceptance within twenty days after notice of his election or employment has been given or mailed shall be deemed to have declined the same. Any board of trustees or city board of education may arrange to pay the teachers or principals so employed by them in ten or eleven or twelve equal payments instead of by the school month; provided, however, that where the board of trustees or city board of education arranges to pay the teachers or principals employed by them in twelve equal payments for the year, they shall begin such payments on the first day of the calendar month following the opening of schools for the current year in all cases where school is opened during the month of July, and in all cases where school is not opened during the month of July the board of trustees or city board of education may withhold such warrant or warrants which may have fallen due prior to the opening of school until the teachers or principals so employed by them shall have returned to the employment for which they were engaged by the board of school trustees or the city board of education and shall have resumed their respective duties, and then such payments shall be continued from month to month on the first day of each calendar month thereafter until said teachers have been paid the full amount due to them for that fiscal year; provided, that a teacher who serves less than a full school year is entitled to receive as salary only an amount that bears the same ratio to the established annual salary for such position as the time he teaches bears to the annual school term; provided, that whenever the first day of the month falls upon a holiday, payment of teachers' salaries shall be made on the following day.

Appoint district librarians. Third—To appoint and, in their discretion, pay district librarians, and enforce the rules prescribed for the government of district libraries.

Employ supervisors. Fourth—To employ in their discretion supervisors of subjects and to fix and order paid their compensation unless the same be otherwise prescribed by law. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 737.]

§ 1610. Powers and duties of school and city boards of education. Board of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power, and it shall be their duty:

Suspend pupils. First—To suspend or expel pupils for misconduct, when other means of correction have failed to bring proper conduct.

Exclude children. Children under six admitted when. Second—To exclude from the schools children under six years of age, except as hereinafter provided; provided, that where the kindergarten is part of the day elementary schools, children may be admitted to the kindergarten classes at four and one-half years of age; and provided, further, that where any district has established a school for the instruction of the deaf, such children may be admitted to the deaf school at three years of age. In the enforcement of the provisions of this section children shall be admitted to the beginning classes of any school during the first month of the school year, or when the school year is divided into school terms, during the first month of each term, and children who will be six years of age before the end of the six months of the school year, or before the end of the third month of the school term, shall be admitted at the beginning of the school year, or the school term, and children who will not be six years of age by the end of the period specified shall not be admitted until the beginning of another school year or school term. Beginners shall in like manner be admitted to the beginning classes of the kindergarten during the first month of the school year, or of the school term, if the school year be divided into terms, if such children will be four and one-half years of age before the end of the sixth month of the school year and before the end of the third month of the school term, and children who will not be four and one-half years of age within the period specified shall not be admitted to the kindergarten classes until the beginning of another school year or term.

Register. Third—To cause the principal to keep a register open to the inspection of the public, of all children applying for admission and entitled to be admitted into the public schools, and to notify the parents or guardians of such children when vacancies occur, and receive such children into the schools in the order in which they are registered.

Permit children from other districts to attend. Fourth—To permit children from other districts to attend the schools of their district only upon the consent of the trustees of the district in which such children reside; provided, that should the trustees of the district in which children whose parents or guardians desire them to attend in other districts reside, refuse to grant their consent, the parents or guardians of such children may appeal to the county superintendent and his decision shall be final.

Care to health. Fifth—To give diligent care to the health and physical development of pupils, and where sufficient funds are provided by district taxation, to employ properly certificated persons for such work.

Provide transportation. Sixth—To provide, with the written approval of the superintendent of schools, for the transportation of pupils to and from school whenever in their judgment such transportation is advisable, and good reasons exist therefor, to purchase or rent and provide for the upkeep, care, and operation of vehicles, or to contract and pay for the transportation of pupils to and from school by common carrier, or to contract with and pay responsible private parties for such transportation; provided, that in order to secure such service at the lowest possible figure consistent with proper and satisfactory service, boards of education and boards of school trustees shall secure bids for the items of service contemplated in this subdivision; and provided, further, that no board shall make any purchase or enter into any contract for such service without securing the written approval of the county superintendent of schools. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 739.]

§ 1610½. High school classes in elementary school. First—The high school board of any high school district with the approval of the county superintendent of schools may aid by paying salary or any expenses for the maintenance of high school classes in any elementary school in their district situated more than ten miles from the high school building by the nearest traveled road. The enrollment and average daily attendance of high school pupils in such elementary schools shall be reported to the principal of the high school and made a part of the enrollment and attendance in such high school.

Application of elementary school district for course of high school study. Expenses. Second—The board of school trustees of any elementary school district not included in any high school district, the school of which is situated more than ten miles from any high school by the nearest traveled road may, with the approval of the county superintendent of schools, ask the county board of education to outline a course of study to include subjects usually taught in the first and second years of the high school. The county board of education on receiving such application shall outline for such elementary district a course of study for pupils who are entitled to attend a high school to include the first and second years of the regular high school work. The secretary of the county board of education shall notify the board of school trustees applying for permission to teach high school subjects that such permission has been granted. When such course of study is established, it shall be taught only by a teacher holding a full high school certificate. The board of school trustees may meet the extra expenses of such high school training by special tax under section one thousand eight hundred forty of the Political Code. The average daily attendance of pupils in such elementary school taking high school work shall be reported to the county superintendent of schools as high school pupils and by him reported to the superintendent of public instruction. The apportionment of state and county aid given to high school pupils on average daily attendance shall be apportioned to the elementary schools maintaining such high school training. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 425.]

§ 1611. Meetings of electors. Notices. Organization. Powers of meeting. Litigation. Boards of trustees in school districts, not including districts having city boards of education, may, and upon a petition signed by a majority of the heads of families resident in the district, must call meetings of the qualified electors of the district for determining or changing the location of the schoolhouse, or for consultation in regard to any litigation in which the district may be engaged, or be likely to become engaged or in regard to any affairs in the district. Such meetings shall be called by posting three notices in public places, one of which shall be in a conspicuous place on the schoolhouse, for not less than ten days previous to the time for which the meeting shall be called, which notices shall specify the purposes for which said meetings shall be called; and no other business shall be transacted at such meetings. District meetings shall be organized by choosing a chairman from the electors present, and the district clerk shall be clerk of the meeting, and shall enter the minutes thereof on the records of the district. A meeting so called shall be competent to instruct the board of trustees:

1. In regard to the location or change of location of the schoolhouse or the use of the same for other than school purposes; provided, that in no case shall the schoolhouse be used for purposes which necessitate the removal of any school desks or other school furniture.

2. In regard to the sale and purchase of school sites.

3. In regard to prosecuting, settling or compromising any litigation in which the district may be engaged, or be likely to become engaged, and may vote money not exceeding one hundred dollars in any one year, for any of these purposes in addition to any amount which may be raised by the sale of district school property, and the insurance of property destroyed by fire; provided, that the proceeds of the insurance of the library and apparatus shall be paid into the library fund. All funds raised by the sale of school property may be disposed of by direction of a district meeting. District meetings may be adjourned from time to time, as found necessary, and all votes instructing the board of trustees shall be taken by ballot, or by ayes and noes vote, as the meeting may determine. The board of trustees shall, in all cases, be bound by the instructions of the district meeting in regard to the subjects mentioned in this section; provided that the vote in favor of changing the location of the schoolhouse be two-thirds of all the electors voting at said meeting upon the proposition to change the location. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 740.]

§ 1612. Contracts. Bids. Estimates. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education shall have power and it shall be their duty to let all contracts involving an expenditure of more than two hundred dollars for work to be done or for material or supplies to be furnished, to the lowest responsible bidder who will give such security as the board may require, or else to reject all bids; provided, that continuing contracts for materials and supplies may be made with an accepted bidder for a period of one year; and provided, further, that the board may repair old buildings by day's labor. For the purpose of securing bids the board must publish a notice calling for bids, stating the work to be done or materials or supplies to be furnished, and the time when and the place where bids will be opened, at least once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county, or if there is no such paper, then in some newspaper of general circulation, circulated in such county; provided, that in school districts having an average daily attendance of one thousand or more pupils, as shown by the annual report of the county superintendent of schools for the preceding school year, the board may secure from responsible bidders at least three estimates of the cost of such work to be done, or materials or supplies to be furnished, such estimates to be secured from bona fide dealers or craftsmen engaged in the business or in handling the goods specified. Said estimates must be submitted in writing and must be filed with the clerk or secretary of the board, and if any of such estimates of cost is less than five hundred dollars, the board may let a contract for such work, material or supplies, to the lowest responsible bidder without publishing such notice calling for bids. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 741.]

§ 1613. Grant use of school buildings. Boards of school trustees and city boards of education are hereby authorized to grant the use of school buildings or grounds for public, literary, scientific, recreational or educational meetings, or for the discussion of matters of general or public interest upon such terms and conditions as said board may deem proper; provided, however, that said use shall not be inconsistent with the use of said buildings or grounds for school purposes, nor interfere with the regular conduct of school work, nor be granted in such a manner as to constitute a monopoly for the benefit of any person or organization; and provided, further, that no privilege of using said buildings or grounds shall be granted for a period exceeding one year, such privilege being renewable and revocable in the discretion of the board at any time. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 741.]

§ 1614. Display of United States flag. Boards of school trustees in all school districts throughout the state and boards of education in all cities and cities and counties throughout the state shall provide for each schoolhouse under their control, a suitable flag of the United States, which shall be hoisted above each schoolhouse during all school sessions, weather permitting. It shall be the duty of boards of school trustees and boards of education to enforce this provision. It shall also be the duty of such boards of school trustees and boards of education to provide smaller and suitable United States flags to be displayed in each schoolroom at all times during the school sessions. It shall be the duty of such boards of trustees and boards of education to enforce this provision. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 742.]

§ 1615. "Home teachers." Duties. Qualifications. Boards of school trustees or city boards of education of any school district, may employ teachers to be known as "home teachers," not exceeding one such home teacher for every five hundred units of average daily attendance in the common schools of said district as shown by the report of the county superintendent of schools for the next preceding school year. It shall be the duty of the home teacher to work in the homes of the pupils, instructing children and adults in matters relating to school attendance and preparation therefor; also in sanitation, in the English language, in household duties such as purchase, preparation and use of food and of clothing and in the fundamental principles of the American system of government and the rights and duties of citizenship. The qualifications of such teachers shall be a regular kindergarten primary, elementary or secondary certificate to teach in the schools of California and special fitness to perform the duties of a home teacher; provided, that the salaries of such teachers shall be paid from the city or district special school funds. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 742.]

§ 1616. Kindergarten. Estimate for maintenance. Tax levy. Discontinuance. Funds revert. Rate of taxation. The board of education of every city, city and county, or the board of school trustees of every school district in this state, must, upon petition of the parents or guardians of twenty-five or more children between the ages of four and one-half and six years, residing within one mile of any elementary school building situate in such city, city and county, or school district, establish and maintain a kindergarten or kindergartens; provided, that the order of the board establishing such kindergarten or kindergartens shall be made only between the first day of June and the first day of August in any year; and provided, further, that after the first year in which any kindergarten or kindergartens shall have been established and maintained, that the number of kindergartens which shall be maintained in any city, or city and county, or school district, during any particular school year, shall be determined by the governing body of the schools of such city, city and county or school district.

The board of education of every city, city and county, or the board of school trustees of every school district in which a kindergarten is established under the provisions of this act, must at least fifteen days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors is required by law to levy the taxes required for county purposes, submit to the county superintendent of schools an estimate of the amount of money which will be required for the maintenance of any kindergarten or kindergartens in their several school districts for the ensuing school year.

The county superintendent of schools shall thereupon examine said estimate and submit copies of the same, with his approval or disapproval indorsed thereon, to the board of supervisors and to the county auditor at the time he submits to them his estimate for the county school tax for the current year. If the county superintendent of schools approves such estimate, the board of supervisors shall, at the time and in the manner of levying other taxes, levy and cause to be collected in the several school districts for which estimates have been submitted and approved as herein provided, the amount so estimated and approved. The fund so levied shall be known as the kindergarten fund of — school district, as the case may be, and shall be available for the maintenance of the kindergarten or kindergartens established under the provisions of this section, and the moneys drawn from such fund shall be paid out in the same manner as the moneys from state and county school funds for the maintenance of the elementary schools are drawn and paid out. If the average daily attendance in any kindergarten in any city, city and county, or school district, shall be ten or less for the school year, the governing body of such city, city and county, or school district, shall, at the close of such school year, discontinue such kindergarten. In case a city, city and county, or school district maintains but one kindergarten, should such kindergarten be discontinued as provided by this section, the funds of such kindergarten shall immediately revert to the elementary schools of the city, city and county, or school district, in which said kindergarten has been located; and in case any city, city and county, or school district maintains two or more kindergartens, the property and funds of a kindergarten which has been discontinued shall revert to the kindergarten or kindergartens which are still in operation in said city, city and county, or school district. The rate of taxation which may be levied for the support of kindergartens in any one year shall not exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars of the taxable property of such city, city and county, or school district; and such tax for the support of the kindergarten or kindergartens, shall be in addition to any other tax which may be levied for the support of the public schools. [Amendment approved May 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 389.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 742.

§ 1617. Intermediate school course. The board of education of any city, or of any city and county, or the board of school trustees of any school district situated within a high school district maintaining an intermediate school course, shall permit pupils who have completed the sixth year of the elementary school to attend an intermediate school course established as provided by section one thousand seven hundred fifty a, of the Political Code, and shall pay to such high school district for the education of such pupils, a tuition charge which shall be agreed upon by said board of education, or board of school trustees, and the high school board maintaining such intermediate school course; provided, that such board of education or board of school trustees shall not pay to any such high school board for educating a pupil, residing in such elementary school district and attending such intermediate school course, a tuition charge greater than the average net cost per pupil for educating pupils in the first six years of the elementary school in said elementary school district; and provided, further, that such tuition charge shall cease to be paid after the pupil has completed two years of work in such intermediate school course. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 742.]

§ 1617b. Contract with state normal school for education of children. Revocation. The trustees of an elementary school district with an average daily attendance of thirty-five or less, as shown by the last teacher's report on file in the office of the county superintendent of schools, when authorized by a majority vote of their district at a district meeting called for that purpose, may contract with a state normal school for the education of the children of their district; provided:

1. That the elementary school so contracting shall be housed by the normal school on the normal school campus or in the schoolhouse in the district and shall be used as a rural model practice school.

2. That the trustees of the elementary school district shall contribute to the support of the school all of the money apportioned to their district from the state and county funds. Said funds to be handled and expended by the trustees of the elementary school district in the same manner as provided by law.

Such contract may be revoked by a majority vote of the board of trustees of the normal school or by the trustees of the elementary school district, when authorized to do so by a majority vote of their district at a special district meeting called for that purpose. Such contract shall be in effect from July first following date of contract and shall remain in effect until the end of the school year in which the contract is revoked. [New section added May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1516.]

NOTE.—The old section 1617b, relating to home teachers and their qualifications, was repealed May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 744.

§ 1617c. Establishment of kindergartens. Discontinuance for small attendance. [Repealed May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 744.]

§ 1617j. Sale or lease of school property. Conditions. Effect of act. Boards of education, or other governing boards, in cities and having jurisdiction over both the elementary and high school districts embracing such cities, and boards of trustees of any school district and boards of trustees of union high school or joint union high school districts, are hereby authorized to sell or lease for a term not exceeding ninety-nine years, any real property belonging to their respective school districts, or high school districts upon which no public school is being maintained upon the following conditions:

Before ordering the sale or lease of any such property such board of education, or other governing boards, shall, in open meeting, by a two-thirds vote of all of its members, adopt a resolution declaring its intention to sell the same, or a resolution declaring its intention to lease the same, as the case may be, which said resolution shall describe the property proposed to be sold, or leased, in such manner as to identify it and shall specify the minimum price, or rental, and terms for which it will be sold, or leased, and fixing a time, not less than three weeks thereafter, and place for a public meeting of said board of education, or other governing board, at which sealed proposals to purchase or lease, as the case may be, will be received and considered. Said resolution shall, before the date of such meeting, be published once a week for three successive weeks in one or more newspapers of general circulation published in the district. At the time and place fixed in said resolution for the meeting of said board of education or other governing board, all sealed proposals which have been received shall, in public session, be opened, examined, and declared by said board, or other governing board, and the property be sold, or leased, as the case may be, to the highest responsible bidder among those who have submitted sealed proposals and who offer to comply with all terms and conditions specified in the resolution of intention to sell or lease; provided, however, that if any responsible person shall at said meeting offer to purchase such property, or to lease such property as the case may be, for a price or rental exceeding the highest other proposal or offer before the board by not less than five per cent, the property shall be sold, or shall be leased as the case may be, to such person; and provided, further, that said board or other governing board may, should it deem such action for the best public interest, at any time, reject any and all bids, and withdraw such property from sale. Any order of sale or lease made hereunder by said board, or other governing board, shall authorize and direct the execution and delivery by the chairman, or other presiding officer, or said board, or other governing board, of the deed or lease of said district to the purchaser or lessee. This section shall not be taken to authorize action upon proposals for sale and proposals for lease at the same meeting.

The provisions of this section shall be deemed to supersede any other provision of law relating to powers and duties of boards of trustees, and boards of education, only in so far as its terms are in conflict therewith, and shall not be deemed as repealing any such other provision of law not conflicting with the terms of this section. [Amendment approved May 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 399.]

This section was added in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1645.

§ 1618a. Health supervision of schools. Physical inspectors. First—Boards of school trustees, city and city and county boards of education are hereby authorized and empowered to provide for proper health supervision of the school buildings and pupils enrolled in the public schools under their jurisdiction. For this purpose, said boards may appoint a physical inspector or physical inspectors as the board may determine to consist of a physician, teacher, nurse, oculist, or dentist or any one or more of said persons; provided, that in case of the appointment of more than one physical inspector, said inspectors may, in the discretion of the board, all be chosen from any one of the classes designated. Said board may also appoint a nurse or nurses to work under the direction of the physical inspector or inspectors and may provide for the compensation of such employees; provided, that no money set aside for the payment of teachers' salaries or for library purposes may be used for this purpose.

Qualifications of physical inspectors. Second—The qualifications of such employees shall be as follows: For a physician, an unrevoked certificate issued by the state board of medical examiners and a health and development certificate as hereinafter provided; for a teacher, a life diploma of California or a special credential in physical education, and a health and development certificate; for an oculist, a California certificate to practice medicine and surgery and a health and development certificate; for a dentist, a certificate issued by the state board of dental examiners of the state of California and a health and development certificate; for a nurse, a certificate of registration issued by the California state board of health and a health and development certificate.

Certificates of physical inspectors. Third—County or city and county boards of education are hereby authorized and empowered to grant health and development certificates to persons holding certificates to practice medicine and surgery issued by the California state board of medical examiners; to persons holding California life diplomas and special credentials in physical education, issued by the state board of education; to persons holding certificates to practice dentistry issued by the California state board of dental examiners and to the holders of certificates of registration as nurses issued by the California state board of health when said applicant shall present with his certificate a credential from the state board of education showing special fitness and training for the work he is to do in the public schools.

Examination of pupils. Reports. Fourth—The board of school trustees or the city or city and county board of education shall make such rules for the examination of the pupils in the public schools under their jurisdiction as will insure proper care of the pupil and proper secrecy in connection with any defect noted by the physical inspector or his assistant and may tend to the correction of such physical defect or defects; provided, however, that a parent or guardian having control or charge of any child enrolled in the public schools may file annually with the principal of the school in which he is enrolled a statement in writing, signed by such parent or guardian, stating that he will not consent to the physical examination of his child, and thereupon such child shall be exempt from any physical examination, but whenever there is good reason to believe that such child is suffering from a recognized contagious or infectious disease, such child shall be sent home and shall not be permitted to return until the school authorities are satisfied that such contagious or infectious disease does not exist. When a defect has been noted by the physical inspector or his assistant, a report shall be made to the parent or guardian of the child asking such parent or guardian to take such action as will cure such defect or defects.

The physical inspector shall make such reports from time to time as he may feel is best to the board of school trustees or city board of education, or as the board may call for showing the number of defective children in the schools of the district and the effort made to correct such defects.

Inspectors to report on condition of school buildings. Fifth—In case the physical inspector shall note any defects in plumbing, lighting, heating, or other defects in the school building or buildings as may tend to make such building or buildings unfit for the proper housing of the children he shall at once make a detailed report to the board of trustees or the city board of education. If within fifteen days after he has filed this report, he finds that the board has made no provision for the correction of the defect, he shall at once report the same to the county superintendent of schools who shall under the provisions of section one thousand five hundred forty-six of the Political Code proceed to have such defect corrected.

Districts may join in employing inspectors. Sixth—The boards of school trustees or the city boards of education of two or more school districts in the same county may join in the employment of a physical inspector or physical inspectors, and may use funds not set aside for the payment of teachers' salaries or for library purposes for the expenses of such work. Such boards may employ a nurse or nurses under the direction of a physical inspector to examine the schools under their jurisdiction.

Inspectors must hold certificates. Seventh—No physician, oculist, dentist, nurse or other person shall be employed or permitted to supervise the health and physical development of pupils under this section or any other provision of law unless such person holds a health and development certificate granted in accordance with the provisions of this section.

§ 2. Act, Stats. 1909, p. 908, repealed. An act entitled "An act to provide for health and development supervision in the public schools of the state of California" approved April 15, 1909, is hereby repealed. [New section added April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 128.]

§ 1619. Equal rights and privileges. Vacation schools. Qualifications of teachers. First—Except where a school has been closed by order of a city or a county board of health or of the state board of health, on account of contagious disease, or where such school has been closed on account of fire, flood or other public disaster, boards of school trustees and city boards of education must maintain all of the elementary day schools established by them for an equal length of time during the year, and all of the day high schools established by them for an equal length of time during the year, and, as far as possible, with equal rights and privileges; provided, that boards of school trustees and city boards of education may establish and maintain vacation schools of kindergarten, elementary, or high school grade. No vacation school shall be established until a school of equal grade has been maintained for at least eight months. The duties of teachers, courses of study, length of school day, and all other matter relating to vacation schools, shall be determined by the boards of school trustees, or by the city board of education. Only teachers who are legally qualified to teach in the public schools of the state shall be eligible to teach in vacation schools of corresponding grade; provided, that the attendance of pupils upon such schools shall not be counted as a part of the average daily attendance of the regular elementary or secondary schools of the district, nor shall the state or county school funds be used to maintain such schools.

When school maintained in different portions of district. Second—When in any district it is necessary for the convenience of the residents of said district that the school therein should be maintained a part of the year in one portion of the district, and a part of the year in another portion of the district, the aggregate of the time the school has been maintained in the different portions of the district shall be considered in estimating the time for which a school has been maintained in the district during the school year. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 688.]

§ 1650. Duties of clerk of school districts. Dismissal of clerk. It is the duty of the clerk:

First—To call meetings of the board at the request of two members, and to act as clerk of the board, and keep a record of its proceedings, and an accurate account of the receipts and expenditures of school moneys, and in all districts excepting such city districts as may have a city board of education on the first Monday in the months of October, January, March, and June of each school year he shall post up in a conspicuous place in each schoolhouse of his school district a complete copy of his account of said receipts and expenditures of the school moneys of his school district from the first day of the current school year to the date of his posting of said account.

Second—To keep his records and accounts, open to the inspection of the electors of the district, in suitable books provided by the board of school trustees for that purpose.

Third—To place in the library of the school all pamphlets, books or supplies received by purchase or otherwise for the school district.

Fourth—To perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the board.

Fifth—Should the clerk of the district refuse to keep the minutes or draw warrants or perform such other duties as are ordered by the board, the board at a regular meeting may dismiss the clerk, appoint another member clerk, and immediately notify the superintendent of schools of the county. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 178.]

§ 1662. Courses of study. First—The courses of study for the day elementary schools of California shall embrace eight years of instruction; and such courses must allot eight years for instruction in subjects required to be taught in such schools and may allot not more than two years for kindergarten instruction.

Ages for admission. Second—The day elementary schools of each school district of California shall be open for the admission of all children between six and twenty-one years of age residing in the district, and may be open for the admission of adults if the governing body of the district deem such admission advisable; provided, that where kindergarten instruction is given in the schools of a district, such school shall admit children to the kindergarten classes at four years of age; and the reports for the kindergarten classes shall be kept and shall be made separate from other school reports; and provided, further, that wherever a school is established for the instruction of the deaf, such children may be admitted to such school at three years of age; provided, that the average daily attendance of deaf children who are six years of age or older shall be counted as part of the average daily attendance in the day and elementary schools.

Children excluded. Separate schools for Indians, etc. Third—The governing body of the school district shall have power to exclude children of filthy or vicious habits, or children suffering from contagious or infectious diseases, and also to establish separate schools for Indian children and for children of Chinese or Mongolian descent. When such separate schools are established, Indian, Mongolian or Chinese children must not be admitted into any other school.

Special day and evening classes. Fourth—The governing body of any elementary school district shall have power to establish and maintain, in connection with any school under its jurisdiction, special day and evening classes for the purpose of giving instruction in any of the branches of study mentioned in section one thousand six hundred sixty-five of this code. These classes may be convened at such hours and for such length of time during the school day or evening, and at such period and for such length of time during the school year, as may be determined by such governing authority; and the enrollment of and attendance upon such classes shall be kept separately and the units of average daily attendance shall be determined as provided in section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of this code and shall be added to the attendance of the elementary school district.

Ages for admission. Fifth—The evening elementary schools and the special day and evening classes of the elementary schools of any school district shall be open for the admission of all children over the age of fifteen years, residing in the district and for the admission of adults; provided, that children under fifteen years of age who have been given permits to work in accordance with the provisions of an act to enforce the educational rights of the children may be admitted to the evening elementary schools. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 667.]

§ 1663. Classification of public schools. 1. The public schools of California, other than those supported exclusively by the state, shall be classed as day and evening elementary, and day and evening secondary schools. The day and evening elementary schools of California shall be designated as primary and grammar schools. The day and evening secondary schools of California shall be designated as high schools and technical schools, and either class may include a portion of the other class. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1315.]

§ 1665. Branches to be taught in grades. Time given. First—Instructions must be given in the following branches in the several grades in which they may be required, viz.: reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, language and grammar, with special reference to composition, history of the United States with special reference to the history of the constitution of the United States and the history of the reasons for the adoption of each of its provisions, the duties of citizenship, together with instruction in local civil government; elements of physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the injurious effects of tobacco, alcohol and narcotics on the human system; morals and manners. In the first six grades of the elementary schools, at least two-thirds of the pupil's time during each week shall be devoted to study and recitation of the subjects hereinbefore enumerated, and in the seventh and eighth grades at least twelve and one-half hours of the pupil's time each week shall be devoted to the study and recitation of such subjects.

Subjects for remaining time. Manual training, etc. Second—From the time remaining after the study and recitations of the studies hereinbefore enumerated, at least twenty minutes of each school day must be devoted by all pupils over the age of eight years to such physical training as shall be most conducive to their proper physical development, and instruction must be given in nature study with special reference to agriculture and animal and bird life, music, drawing, elementary book-keeping, humane education. Manual training, household economics, and other vocational subjects may be taught in any elementary school of the state; provided, that in school districts employing six or more elementary school teachers in any one school, whether housed in one or more buildings, manual training and household economics must be taught. The state board of education may, in its discretion, adopt text-books in any of the subjects listed in this subdivision. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 728.]

§ 1670. School year. The school year begins on the first day of July and ends on the last day of June. A school month is construed and taken to be twenty days or four weeks of five days each, including legal holidays. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 708.]

§ 1672a. Circulars, etc., of organization not under control of school authorities barred. Approval. Exceptions. No bulletin, circular or other publication of any character, whose purpose is to spread propaganda or to foster membership in, or subscriptions to the funds of, any organization not directly under the control of the school authorities, or to be used as the basis of study or recitation or to supplement the regular school studies shall be distributed or suffered to be distributed or shown to the pupils of any public school, on the school premises during school hours or within one hour before the time of opening or within one hour after the time of closing of such school nor shall pupils of the public school be solicited by teachers or others to subscribe to the funds of, or work for, any organization not directly under the control of the school authorities nor shall any instruction be given through lectures or other means, unless the material contained in such bulletin, circular or publication, or the purpose of such subscription or instruction, has been approved by the state board of education or by the county board of education, or by the governing board of the school district in which the school is situated. No prohibition of this section shall apply to bulletins or circulars concerning the meetings of their organizations issued by any parent-teacher association or by any organization of parents formed for the purpose of co-operating with the school authorities in improving school conditions in the district. [New section approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 436.]

§ 1673. Duration of daily sessions. No pupil other than one pursuing a vocational course must be kept in school more than six hours per day; and no pupil under eight years of age must be kept in school more than four hours per day. Any violation of the provisions of this section must be treated in the same manner as a violation of the provisions of the preceding section. [Amendment approved May 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 689.]

§ 1674. Union school districts. [Repealed May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 511.]

§ 1696. Duties of teachers. Every teacher in the public school must:

File certificate. First—Before assuming charge of a school, file his or her certificate with the superintendent of schools; provided, that when any teacher so employed is the holder of a California state normal school diploma, accompanied by the certificate of the state board of education, as provided in subdivision third of section one thousand five hundred three of the Political Code, an educational or a life diploma of California, upon presentation thereof to the superintendent he shall record the name of said holder in a book provided for that purpose in his office, and the holder of said diploma shall thereupon be absolved from the provisions of this subdivision.

Notify superintendent of opening and closing day of school. Second—Before taking charge of a school, and one week before closing a term of school, notify the county superintendent of such fact, naming the day of opening or closing. Boards of education and boards of school trustees must in every case give to the teacher a notice of at least two weeks of their intention to close the term of school under their charge. No superintendent shall draw any requisition for the last month's salary of any teacher until said teacher has filed with him the notice required by this subdivision.

Enforce course of study. Third—Enforce the course of study, the use of the legally authorized text-books, and the rules and regulations prescribed for schools.

Hold pupils to account for conduct. Fourth—Hold pupils to a strict account for their conduct on the way to and from school, on the playgrounds, or during recess; suspend, for good cause, any pupil from the school, and report such suspension to the board of school trustees or city board of education for review. If such action is not sustained by them, the teacher may appeal to the county superintendent whose decision shall be final.

Keep register. Fifth—Keep a state school register, in which shall be left, at the close of the term, a report showing program of recitations, classification and grading of all pupils who have attended school at any time during the school year. The superintendent shall in no case draw a requisition in favor of the teacher until the teacher has filed with him a certificate from the clerk of the board of school trustees to the effect that the provisions of this subdivision have been complied with.

Make annual report. Sixth—Make an annual report to the county superintendent at the time and in the manner and on the blanks prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction. Any teacher who shall end any school term before the close of the school year, shall make a report to the county superintendent immediately after the close of such term; and any teacher who may be teaching any school at the end of the school year shall, in his or her annual report, include all statistics for the entire school year, notwithstanding any previous report for a part of the year. Said teacher shall attach to the annual report a certificate showing the number of children attending said school who reside in other districts within the county, together with the names, residence by district and the average daily attendance of said children. The principal of a school of more than one teacher shall combine the separate certificates from the teachers in the school of which he is principal and shall make a certificate to the county superintendent showing the facts set forth in the separate certificates of the teachers. On receiving the certificates mentioned above from any school district under his jurisdiction, the county superintendent shall deduct the average daily attendance of such children, from the total average daily attendance of the district in which they have attended school, and add it to the total average daily attendance of the district or districts in which said children reside; provided, that whenever the consent of the trustees of the district in which such children reside is obtained, as provided elsewhere in this code, the attendance shall be counted in the district in which the pupils attend school unless there shall be filed with the county superintendent of schools on or before the first day of June of the year in which the attendance is to be counted, a written demand of the trustees of the district in which such children reside for the counting of such attendance in the home district, and then only when such demand is approved by the superintendent of schools. The superintendent of schools shall in no case draw a requisition for the salary of any teacher for the last month of the school term, until the report required by this subdivision has been filed, and by him approved.

Make other reports. Seventh—Make such other reports as may be required by the superintendent of public instruction, county superintendent, board of school trustees, or city board of education. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1376.]

§ 1696a. Substitute for destroyed school records. In case of epidemic. Ascertaining average daily attendance. Average daily attendance, public schools. Whenever in any school year, the school register or registers of any teacher or teachers or other records of any elementary or high school district may have been or shall hereafter be destroyed by conflagration or other public calamity, thereby preventing the teacher or teachers and school officers from making their annual reports in the usual manner and with accuracy, the affidavits of the teacher or teachers, the school principals or other officers of the school district certifying as to the contents of the destroyed registers or other records shall be accepted by all school authorities for all school purposes appertaining to the school district except that of average daily attendance; and whenever the average daily attendance of any elementary or high school district has been materially affected in any school year by conflagration, public calamity or epidemic of unusual duration and prevalence, the regular annual reports of the teacher or teachers, the school principals or officers of the school district shall be accepted by all school officers for all school matters appertaining to the school district except that of average daily attendance; provided, that in case of conflagration or other public calamity, the superintendent of public instruction shall decide whether the attendance of such district has been affected sufficiently to justify the application of the provisions of this section, and shall notify the superintendent of schools of the county in which such school district is situated of his decision and in case of epidemic, the state board of health upon request of the superintendent of public instruction shall investigate the duration and prevalence of the epidemic in any such school district and decide whether the duration and prevalence thereof was sufficient to justify the application of the provisions of this section, and shall notify the superintendent of public instruction of its decision, and thereupon the superintendent of public instruction shall notify the superintendent of the county in which the school district is situated. The average daily attendance of any elementary or high school district whereof the register or registers of the teacher or teachers or any number of them, or other records may have been or shall hereafter be destroyed by conflagration or other public calamity, or whereof, by reason of conflagration or other public calamity or epidemic of unusual duration and prevalence its average daily attendance has been materially affected shall be its average daily attendance of the next preceding school year, increased or diminished by the average yearly increase or decrease, as the case may be, in average daily attendance during the three years next preceding; provided, that in any elementary or high school district which has not maintained school for all of the next preceding three years, the average daily attendance shall be the average daily attendance of the next preceding school year increased by seven per cent thereof. For the school year ending June 30, 1919, the average daily attendance of every elementary school district and of every high school district in the state, except districts that have not maintained school for the next preceding three years, shall be its average daily attendance for the school year ending June 30, 1918, increased or diminished by the average yearly increase or decrease, as the case may be, in average daily attendance calculated for the three years next preceding the school year ending June 30, 1918, and in case of every elementary school district and of every high school district that has not maintained school for all of the next preceding three years, the average daily attendance shall be the average daily attendance for the year ending June 30, 1918, increased by seven per cent thereof; provided, that in case of each school district having an actual average daily attendance according to the annual report for the school year ending June 30, 1919, in excess of the average daily attendance computed as hereinbefore provided, the actual average daily attendance of such district shall be accepted by all school officers for all school matters appertaining to such school district, including the raising and apportioning of school moneys.

§ 2. Inasmuch as this act provides for an appropriation for the usual current expenses of the state it shall take effect immediately. [Amendment approved April 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 112.]

§ 1696b. Order for text-books by teacher. Upon closing a term of school, each teacher or principal shall prepare, upon requisition blanks furnished by the superintendent of public instruction, an order for the number of state text-books estimated to be required for use in the school under his charge at the opening of the ensuing term. Such order shall be a part of the annual report required by subdivision six of section one thousand six hundred ninety-six of the Political Code. The superintendent of schools shall in no case draw a requisition for the salary of any teacher for the last month of the school term until the order required by this section has been filed and by him approved. Orders for additional books may be forwarded at any time on the approval of the county superintendent of schools.

In ordering free text-books, any teacher may order one copy of any series of books for use on the teacher's desk, if not supplied with such book, which copy shall be sent by the superintendent of public instruction free of cost with other school books. [New section added May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 707.]

§ 1697. School month defined. [Repealed May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 708.]

§ 1720. Designation of secondary schools. The secondary schools of the state shall be designated as high schools, technical schools, and junior colleges. High schools may be established and high school districts formed and organized in accordance with the provisions of this article. Whenever any high school district is so formed and organized the governing body thereof shall establish and maintain one or more high schools, technical schools, or junior colleges therein. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 463.]

§ 1723. Jurisdiction over high school districts. [Repealed May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 713.]

§ 1728. Formation of joint union high school districts. Whenever a majority of the registered electors, residing in each of two or more contiguous school districts, having in the aggregate at least one hundred pupils in average daily attendance in the elementary schools of such districts, shall unite in a petition to the superintendent of schools of the county who would have jurisdiction over the joint high school district proposed to be formed, which petition shall pray for the formation of a joint union high school district, under a name specified therein, such superintendent shall, within twenty days after receipt of such petition, verify the signatures thereto, and, if he finds it sufficient, the same proceedings shall be had on such petition, as are directed in section one thousand seven hundred twenty-seven, except that the county superintendent of schools shall file his certificate of the result of the election with the county clerk of each county in which any part of the joint union high school district is situated. If it appears from such certificate that a majority of the votes cast at such election were cast in favor of the formation of such district, such joint union high school district shall be deemed to be formed from the time of the filing thereof. The county clerk shall record the certificate in full in his record of high school districts. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 712.]

§ 1733a. Petition to organize union or joint union high school district. Election. If majority favors. Exclusion of elementary districts. Whenever a majority of the heads of families or of the electors residing in each of several elementary school districts having in the aggregate one hundred seventy-five or more units of average daily attendance in the elementary schools, as shown by the last reports of the teachers in said districts, and having a total assessed valuation of at least one million dollars, and lying two and one-half miles or more from any public high school building by the nearest traveled road, which elementary school districts or a majority thereof are a part of one or more union or joint union high school districts of the county, as shown by the affidavits of one or more of the petitioners, shall present to the superintendent of schools who has jurisdiction over said elementary school district, or districts, or a majority thereof, a petition asking for the organization of a union high school district, or joint union high school district, as the case may be, to include all of the elementary school districts represented in said petition, and shall specify in said petition the name of the proposed union or joint union high school district, the county superintendent of schools shall, within twenty days after receiving said petition, verify the signatures thereto, and if he finds them sufficient, call an election for the determination of the question, and shall appoint three qualified electors in each of the districts petitioning, to conduct the election therein. Said election shall be held separately and simultaneously at a public schoolhouse in each of the districts petitioning, and shall be called by posting notices thereof in three public places in each district, one of which places shall be a public schoolhouse thereof, at least two weeks before the election, and by publishing such notice at least once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published within said proposed union or joint union high school district, if there be such a newspaper, the first publication to be not less than two weeks before the election. Said election shall be conducted by the officers appointed for that purpose, in the manner provided by law for conducting elections of school trustees. The ballots used at such election in each district shall contain the words "Union high school district—Yes" and "Union high school district—No," or "Joint union high school district—Yes" and "Joint union high school district—No," as the case may be, and electors voting at such election shall make a cross with pencil, ink or rubber stamp, after the answer they desire to give. It shall be the duty of the said election officers in each district to canvass the vote at said election as soon as the polls are closed, and report the result to the superintendent of schools within five days subsequent to the holding of said election. Within ten days after receiving the returns of said election, the superintendent of schools of the county or in case of a joint union high school district the superintendent of the county who would have jurisdiction over the joint school district proposed to be formed shall combine the votes "for" and "against" the formation of the union or joint union high school district and declare and record the result, with the details of the vote in each district, in a book kept by him for that purpose. If a majority of the votes cast at the election are in favor of the formation of the union or joint union high school district, he shall also file, with the county clerk of the county, or of each county in which any part of the elementary school districts are situated, a certificate showing the total number of votes cast in each district in favor of the union or joint union high school district, the total number of votes in each district against the union or joint union high school district, the aggregate result of said election and the boundaries of said proposed district. If it shall appear from such certificate that a majority of the votes cast at such election were cast in favor of the formation of such district, the board of supervisors shall make an order excluding all elementary school districts in their county taking part in said election from the high school district or districts of which they, or any of them, were a part; provided, that no order excluding territory from any union or joint union high school district shall be made if the exclusion of such territory would reduce the assessed valuation of such union or joint union high school district to three million five hundred thousand dollars or less; and provided, further, that all bonded indebtedness of the union or joint union high school district and all interest thereon shall be paid by the district which incurred the same as though such exclusion had not occurred. The order of the board of supervisors excluding such elementary school districts from a union or joint union high school district shall be entered by the clerk of the board of supervisors in his record of high school districts, and he shall also send a copy thereof to the county clerk of each county in which any part of such high school district is situated and said county clerk shall enter it in his record of high school districts. The board of supervisors, after making the order of exclusion, shall make an order establishing the union or joint union high school district asked for in the petition, and the county clerk shall record the certificate of the county superintendent of schools and the orders of the board of supervisors in full in his record of high school districts. [New section added May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1022.]

§ 1734a. Petition to annex elementary school district to high school district. Notice of hearing. Hearing. Order. Protest, etc. Whenever the principal of a high school in any high school district shall present to the high school board of such high school district a statement made under oath that the average daily attendance in such high school of pupils from three or more families whose parents reside in an elementary school district lying wholly within the county and contiguous to such high school district was an average of three or more for the two school years next preceding, which statement shall set forth the names of said pupils, the high school board of such high school district may petition the board of supervisors of the county to annex such elementary school district to such high school district. Upon presentation of such petition accompanied by the sworn statement of the high school principal concerning the attendance and residence of such pupils, and a verification thereof by the county superintendent of schools, the board of supervisors may set the same for hearing at a regular meeting thereof and shall publish in a newspaper of general circulation in the county once each week for at least two weeks prior to such hearing a notice containing a general statement of the purpose of such petition and the time and place when and where the petition will be heard, and shall require the clerk of the board of supervisors to mail a copy of such notice to each of the trustees of such school district at least ten days prior to such hearing. The board of supervisors must at the time and place mentioned in such notice hear the persons interested in the petition and unless it shall be shown that said elementary school district is already paying through the county high school tax a reasonable amount toward the cost of such high school, shall make an order annexing such elementary school district to such high school district; provided, that if within sixty days after such order is made, a protest against such annexation signed by a majority of the electors of such elementary school district as shown by the affidavit of one of the protestants shall be filed with the board of supervisors, the board of supervisors shall rescind such order and shall cause to be levied upon the property of such elementary school district a tax which shall produce an amount computed as follows: From the entire cost of maintenance of the high school for the year, there shall be subtracted the entire income of such high school from state and county sources; the remainder shall be divided by the units of average daily attendance in said high school; and the quotient so obtained shall be multiplied by the units of average daily attendance of pupils from the aforesaid elementary school districts; said amount shall be levied and collected from such elementary school district in the usual way and shall be paid into the special fund of the high school district; provided, further, that the principal of any high school may deny admission to any student of a district lying outside the high school district if there is no room to receive such student.

Whenever the high school board of each of two or more high school districts shall, under the provisions of this section, petition the board of supervisors for the annexation of the same elementary school district, the board of supervisors shall refer the matter to the county superintendent of schools who shall make a recommendation thereon, after which the board of supervisors may in their discretion make an order annexing such elementary school district to one of the high school districts petitioning for its annexation after notice and hearing as hereinbefore provided.

Whenever an elementary school district is annexed to a high school district in accordance with the provisions of this section, the territory thus annexed to such high school district shall not be liable for any bonded indebtedness existing against the high school district, and all levies of taxes made for the payment of the same shall be upon the property of the territory of the original high school district.

Whenever an elementary school district is annexed under the provisions of this section to any high school district having the same boundaries as a single elementary school district, except a city high school district, such high school district shall thereafter constitute a union high school district, and shall be governed by a high school board elected according to the provisions of sections one thousand seven hundred thirty and one thousand seven hundred thirty-one of the Political Code. From and after the organization of the first high school board in any union high school district formed as hereinbefore provided, all property belonging to the original high school district, shall be and become the property of the union high school district so formed.

Whenever one or more elementary school districts are annexed under the provisions of this act to a city high school district, such annexation shall be for high school purposes only. Such territory shall be deemed a part of said city for the purpose of holding the general municipal election at which any member of the board of education is to be elected, and shall form one or more election precincts, as may be determined by the legislative authority of said city, the qualified such report has been filed as required by this section. [Amendment approved May 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 806.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1327.

§ 1743a. Report of high school principal. Salary withheld if report not filed. [Repealed May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1327.]

§ 1746. When two-thirds favor bonds. Limit on amount of bonds. Form of bonds. Where payable. Sale at par. Advertisement of sale. If it appears that two-thirds of the votes cast at said election were cast in favor of issuing such bonds, then such high school board shall cause an entry of that fact to be made upon its minutes, and shall certify to the board of supervisors of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction of said high school district all of the proceedings had in the premises, and thereupon said board of supervisors shall be and it is hereby authorized and directed to issue the bonds of such high school district, in accordance with such proceedings, payable out of the interest and sinking fund of such high school district, naming the same; provided, that the total amount of bonds so issued shall not exceed five per cent of the taxable property of the high school district as shown by the last equalized assessment of the county or counties in which such district is located. The board of supervisors, by an order entered upon its minutes, shall prescribe the form of said bonds and of the interest coupons attached thereto, if any, and must fix the time when the whole or any part of the principal of said bonds shall be payable, which shall not be more than forty years from the date thereof. If the notice calling the election shall have provided that the bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in gold coin of the United States, the bonds shall be made payable in such gold coin, as to principal and interest. If the notice calling the election shall have provided that the bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in lawful money of the United States, the bonds shall be made payable in lawful money of the United States as to principal and interest. If the notice shall have made no such specific provisions, the board of supervisors shall have power in the order prescribing the form of the bonds either to make the bonds payable in gold coin of the United States as to principal and interest, or to make them payable in lawful money of the United States as to principal and interest. Said board of supervisors may make the principal and interest of said bonds payable at the office of the treasurer of the county, or at such other place within the United States as the board may designate, or at such treasurer's office or such other designated place, at the option of the bondholder; which place of payment shall be specified in the bonds; and this provision shall apply to all such bonds not yet issued when this section takes effect, regardless of the time when the election therefor was held. The expense of paying such principal and interest elsewhere than at the office of the treasurer shall be a charge against the high school district funds, to be paid out of the tax for the payment of the bonds. Such bonds must be sold at the times and in the amounts prescribed by the board of supervisors, but for not less than par, and the proceeds of the sale thereof must be deposited in the county treasury to the credit of the building fund of the said high school district, and be drawn out for the purposes aforesaid as other high school moneys are drawn out. Before selling said bonds, or any part thereof, the board of supervisors must advertise for bids therefor for at least two weeks in some daily or weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the county, or if there is no such newspaper published in the county, in some such newspaper published in some other county in the state. If satisfactory bids are received, the bonds offered for sale must be awarded to the highest bidder. If no bids are received, or the board determines that the bids received are not satisfactory as to price or responsibility of the bidders, the board may reject all bids received, if any, and either readvertise or sell said bonds at private sale. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 439.]

§ 1747. Taxation for bonds of high school district. When district is in more than one county. The board of supervisors of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over any high school district must annually, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in such high school district for the interest and redemption of all outstanding bonds of such district, and said tax must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest of said bonds for that year, and such a portion of the principal as is to become due during such year, and in any event must be high enough to raise annually, for the first half of the term said bonds have to run, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon; and during the balance of the term high enough to pay such annual interest, and to pay annually a proportion of the principal of said bonds, equal to a sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and dividing it by the number of years said bonds then have to run; and all taxes so levied, when collected, shall as herein provided be paid into the county treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over the high school district in behalf of which such tax was levied to the credit of the bond interest and sinking fund of such high school district, and be used for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds and for no other purpose. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be paid by the county treasurer of the county aforesaid at the place required by the terms of such bonds, upon presentation and surrender of warrants drawn by the county auditor in payment thereof after he has canceled the bonds and coupons, or upon the receipt of the registered owner if such bonds are registered, after a proper warrant has been drawn by the auditor therefor, out of the fund provided for their payment.

In case of a high school district situated in two or more counties, the assessor of each of such counties must annually, as soon as the county assessments have been equalized by the state board of equalization certify to the board of supervisors of each of the counties in which any portion of such high school district is situated, the assessed value of all taxable property in such county situated in such high school district, and the said tax shall be so levied according to the ratio which the assessed value of the property in such high school district in any county bears to the total assessed value of the property in such district, each board of supervisors to levy upon the property in such high school district and within their own county, such rate of tax as will be sufficient to raise not less than the amount needed to pay the interest and such portion of the principal of such bonds as is to become due during such year. Said tax shall be entered upon the assessment-roll and collected in the same manner as other school taxes are entered and collected and when collected paid into the treasury of such county and it shall then be the duty of the treasurer of any such county other than the one whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school, on written demand of the treasurer of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school to pay the sums collected on account of such tax into the treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school. Whenever money has been raised for the payment of principal or interest of outstanding bonds of any high school district and the same is at the time this section takes effect in the treasury of any other county than that prescribed by this section for the custody of such funds, the same shall at once be paid into the proper county treasury as above provided. [Amendment approved May 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 792.]

§ 1750a. Intermediate school courses. Election. Ballots. Daily attendance. Lapsing of course. Estimated expenses. The high school board of any high school district or the trustees of any county high school, may prescribe intermediate school courses, and admit thereto pupils who have completed the sixth year of the elementary school; provided, that no intermediate school course shall be prescribed in any county, union or joint union high school district, unless a majority of the trustees of the elementary school districts comprising such high school district shall approve the organization of such course in writing, and shall file a statement of such approval with the high school board, or unless, at an election called for that purpose in the same manner as the election for the formation of the high school district, a majority of the qualified electors voting thereat shall vote in favor of such intermediate school course. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words "Intermediate school course—Yes" and "Intermediate school course—No." The result of said election shall be determined and certified to the superintendent of schools as provided in case of the election for the formation of the district. The first two years of such intermediate school course shall include instruction in the school studies generally taught in the seventh and eighth grades of the elementary school, and may include such other studies, including secondary, vocational and industrial subjects, as said high school board may prescribe. The average daily attendance of all pupils from each district, enrolled in the first two years of such intermediate school course, shall be kept separate and shall be credited to the common school district in which the various pupils reside; provided, that when any intermediate school course is first established under the provisions of this section, the course of study therefor shall be adopted between the first day of July and the date of the opening of school for the current school year.

Whenever the average daily attendance of pupils enrolled in the first two years of the intermediate school course of a district is less than twenty-five for any school year, such intermediate school course shall be deemed to have lapsed.

The high school board of any high school district maintaining an intermediate school course, may include in the annual estimate of expenses of such high school district filed with the county superintendent of schools in accordance with the provisions of this code, the estimated expenses for maintaining such intermediate school course. [Amendment approved May 29, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1328.]

§ 1750b. Junior college courses. Regulations. Requirements for graduation. Courses of study. Attendance included in average daily attendance of district. Included in estimate for apportioning fund. Approval of courses by state board of education. The high school board of any high school district having an assessed valuation of three million dollars or more, may prescribe junior college courses of study, including not more than two years of work, and admit thereto the graduates of such high school, the graduates of other high schools and such other candidates for admission who are at least twenty-one years of age, and are recommended for admission by the principal of the high school maintaining such junior college courses. Junior college courses of study may include such studies as are required for the junior certificate at the University of California, and such other courses of training in the mechanical and industrial arts, household economy, agriculture, civic education and commerce as the high school board may deem it advisable to establish.

The high school board shall adopt regulations governing the organization of such courses of study and shall prescribe requirements for graduation from such courses; provided, that the minimum requirement for graduation from junior college courses of study shall be at least sixty credit-hours of work. A credit-hour is hereby defined as approximately three hours of recitation, study and laboratory work per week carried through one-half year.

Courses of study organized under the provisions of this section may be offered in any or all day and evening high schools of the district, or in a separate junior college, as the high school board may determine.

The attendance of students enrolled in junior college courses of study shall be kept according to regulations prescribed by the state board of education, and the average daily attendance of such students shall be included in the annual report of the average daily attendance of the high school district required in section one thousand seven hundred forty-three of the Political Code. The superintendent of schools of each county, in making the annual estimate of county high school fund required, shall include in the basis of such estimate the average daily attendance of all students enrolled in junior college courses during the preceding school year. In apportioning the county high school fund, the superintendent of schools of the county shall count the average daily attendance of all students enrolled in junior college courses as a part of the average daily attendance of each high school district in which such students are enrolled.

The state controller, in making the annual estimate of the amount necessary for the support of high schools, as required in section one thousand seven hundred sixty of the Political Code, shall include in the basis of his estimate, the average daily attendance of all students enrolled in junior college courses, and the superintendent of public instruction, in apportioning the state high school fund, shall count the average daily attendance of students enrolled in junior college courses as a part of the average daily attendance of each high school district in which such students are enrolled.

All courses of study prescribed in accordance with this section shall be subject to approval by the state board of education, and no state high school funds shall be apportioned to any high school district on account of the attendance of students enrolled in junior college courses, unless such courses have been approved by the state board of education. [New section added May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 464.]

§ 1750c. Special day and evening classes. Vocational courses. Transportation for teachers of agriculture. The high school board of any high school district subject to the provisions of section one thousand seven hundred fifty of this code, shall have power to establish and maintain, in connection with any day high school under its jurisdiction, special day and evening classes for the purpose of giving instruction in any of the branches of study that may be taught in a high school. These classes may be convened at such hours and for such length of time during the school day or evening, and at such period and for such length of time during the school year as may be determined by said governing authority; and the enrollment of and attendance upon such classes shall be kept separately and the units of average daily attendance shall be determined as provided in section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of this code, and shall be added to the high school attendance of the district.

The high school board of any high school district subject to the provisions of section one thousand seven hundred fifty of this code shall have power to establish and maintain, in connection with any high school under its jurisdiction, part-time vocational courses in agricultural, commercial, industrial, trade or other vocational subjects. The enrollment of and attendance upon such courses shall be kept separately and the units of average daily attendance, determined as provided in section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of this code, shall be added to the high school attendance of the district; provided, that each pupil of a class pursuing such a part-time course in agriculture shall devote, under the direct supervision of a teacher holding a special certificate in agriculture or a vocational certificate in agriculture, at least three hours daily or an equivalent amount of time to farm mechanics and to farm project work conducted by him on a commercially productive basis, and at least three hours daily or an equivalent amount of time to academic work in school or in class, a part of which shall supplement the practical work; and provided, further, that each pupil of a class pursuing a part-time course in commerce, industry, trade, or other vocational subject shall devote, under the direct supervision of a competent teacher holding a vocational certificate in the special subject, at least three hours daily or an equivalent amount of time to educative practical work under employment and at least three hours daily or an equivalent amount of time in school or class to academic work, a part of which shall supplement the practical work. The high school board of any high school district maintaining a part-time agricultural course as provided above may, at its option and in such manner as it may deem advisable, furnish the necessary transportation for teachers of agriculture engaged in supervising the project work of the pupils and may pay any expense so incurred from the county or district high school funds of the district. [Amendment approved May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1382.]

§ 1771. Powers of county boards of education. County boards of education have power:

1. To adopt rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of this state, for their own government.

2. To prescribe and enforce rules for the examination of teachers, to examine applicants for elementary school certificates and to establish a standard of proficiency which will entitle the person examined to a certificate.

3. To grant, in accordance with sections one thousand seven hundred seventy-two and one thousand seven hundred seventy-five of this code, the following certificates, renewable at the option of the board:

(a) Secondary school. Secondary school certificates, authorizing the holders to teach in any secondary or elementary school in the county.

(b) Elementary school. Elementary school certificates authorizing the holders to teach in any elementary school of the county, and in the first two years of any intermediate school course established as provided in section one thousand seven hundred fifty a of the Political Code; provided, that holders of elementary school certificates who have completed two years of work in a college, or one year of work in a college in addition to a normal school course, or one year of post graduate study in a California state normal school in addition to a normal school course, under regulations prescribed by the state board of education, may teach in the third year of any intermediate school course.

(c) Kindergarten primary. Kindergarten primary certificates, authorizing the holders to teach in any kindergarten class in the county.

(d) Special. Special certificates, authorizing the holders to teach in the schools of the county such branch or branches of learning and in such grades as are named in such certificates. No special certificate shall be granted except for the oral teaching of the deaf or for teaching of the blind or for the teaching of atypical children or for the teaching of special classes in citizenship, or for teaching a subject included under the manual and fine arts, oral and dramatic expression, library craft, technique and use, music, physical education, agriculture, commercial branches, French, Spanish, or any other modern language useful in trade or commerce, vocational guidance and technical, household and industrial arts, and other vocational arts, not herein specified.

(e) Special. Special certificates authorizing the holders to supervise health and development work in the public schools or to perform the duties of attendance officer may be issued.

4. Grant permanent certificates. To grant, in accordance with the provisions of this code, permanent certificates of the grade and kind designated therein. Every certificate except a permanent certificate shall be valid for six years; provided, that when any certificate shall be granted on a recommendation or credential given for a limited period only, such certificate shall not be valid for a longer period than that specified in such recommendation or credential; and provided, further, that any certificate granted to a candidate who has not had at least one year of experience in teaching shall not be valid for a longer period than two years. All certificates must be issued upon blank forms prepared by the superintendent of public instruction, and must have the impress of the seal of the county board of education and be signed by a majority of the members of the county board of education issuing such certificate.

5. Adopt list of books. To adopt a list of books and apparatus for district school libraries and books for supplementary use in elementary schools in their respective counties and cities and counties, as required by section one thousand seven hundred twelve of the Political Code; provided, that no pupil shall be required to purchase said supplementary books, and pupils must be expressly notified by teachers that it is not required or desirable that such books for supplementary use be purchased by pupils or parents. When supplementary books are purchased, they must be paid for by the school district. Except in cities having a city board of education, to prescribe and enforce in the public schools a course of study and the use of a uniform series of text-books.

6. Revoke or suspend certificates. To revoke or suspend, for immoral or unprofessional conduct, evident unfitness for teaching, or persistent defiance of, and refusal to obey the laws regulating the duties of teachers, the certificates granted by them. But no certificate shall be revoked or suspended until after a hearing before the county board of education, and then only upon the affirmative vote of at least four members of the board. All charges of immoral or unprofessional conduct, of evident unfitness for teaching, or persistent defiance of, and refusal to obey the laws regulating the duties of teachers, shall be presented to the board in writing and shall be verified under oath. Notice of the time of hearing and a full and complete copy of the charges shall be furnished to the accused at least ten days before the hearing. The accused shall be given a fair and impartial hearing and shall have the right to be represented by counsel. The hearing shall be governed by, and conducted under, the rules of the board.

7. Records. To keep a record of their proceedings.

8. Issue diplomas. To provide for the conferring of diplomas of graduation, by examination and to issue such diplomas of graduation from the elementary schools of the county except city schools governed by city boards of education; provided, that nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the county board of education from issuing diplomas of graduation without examination to the pupils in any school which has been accredited by the said county board of education. Such diplomas shall be conferred only upon such pupils as have completed the course of study prescribed by the board. All diplomas granted by the county board of education shall be on blanks furnished by the superintendent of public instruction and shall be signed by the president and secretary of the board.

9. Seal. To adopt and use in authentication of their acts, an official seal, and to have such printing done as may be necessary.

10. Prescribe course of study. To prescribe and it shall be their duty to prescribe, on or before the first day of July of each year, the course of study in and for each grade of the elementary schools of the county for the ensuing school year; provided, that such course of study shall not apply to elementary schools in cities governed by city boards of education. Whenever necessary the board may amend and change the course of study, subject to section one thousand six hundred sixty-five of this code. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 454.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1315.

§ 1775. Certificates without examination. 1. County boards of education may, without examination grant certificates as follows:

(a) High school. High school certificates: (1) To the holders of high school credentials approved by the state board of education in accordance with the provisions of this code; (2) to the holders of special credentials issued by said state board in accordance with the provisions of this code; (3) to holders of high school certificates issued by any county or city and county board of education in this state.

(b) Elementary school. Elementary school certificates: To holders of the following credentials: (1) Life diplomas or certificates of any state; provided, the state board of education in this state shall have decided that said diplomas or certificates represent experience and scholarship equivalent to the requirements for the elementary life diploma in California. (2) California state normal school diplomas, San Francisco city normal school diplomas heretofore granted, and other normal school diplomas; provided, that the state board of education of this state shall have accredited the normal school issuing said diploma as being of equal rank with the state normal schools of California. (3) Diplomas of graduation with the bachelor's degree based upon a four-year course, granted by the University of California or any other university accredited by the state board of education for high school certification; provided, that the holder thereof has successfully completed eight months of experience in teaching, or twelve units of pedagogy according to regulations prescribed by the state board of education. (4) Holders of state board credentials of elementary grade issued by the state board of education in accordance with law. (5) To holders of valid elementary school teachers' certificates of any county, or city and county of California; provided, that the holder thereof has had eight months of successful teaching experience.

(c) Kindergarten primary. Kindergarten primary certificates: (1) To the holders of kindergarten primary certificates of any county, or city and county of California; (2) to the holders of diplomas of graduation from the kindergarten department of any state normal school in the state; (3) to the holders of credentials showing that the applicant has had professional kindergarten training in an institution approved by the state board of education and also a general education equivalent to the requirements of graduation from the kindergarten department of a California state normal school; (4) to the holders of kindergarten credentials issued by the state board of education in accordance with the provisions of this code.

(d) Special. Special certificates: (1) To the holders of credentials approved by the state board of education, in accordance with the provisions of this code; (2) to the holders of special credentials issued by the state board of education, in accordance with the provisions of this code.

(e) Attendance officer. Attendance officer certificates: To the holders of special credentials therefor issued by the state board of education in accordance with the provisions of this code.

(f) Health and development. Health and development certificates: To holders of certificates to practice medicine and surgery issued by the California state board of medical examiners or to holders of California life diplomas or special credentials in physical education granted by the state board of education, or to holders of certificates to practice dentistry by the California state board of dental examiners and to holders of certificates of registration as nurses, provided that certificates shall be granted to such persons only when such certificate to practice medicine and surgery, or California life diploma or certificate to practice dentistry, or certificate of registration as nurses, or a special credential in physical education granted by the state board of education, is accompanied by a special credential from the state board of education showing special fitness and training for health supervision of pupils.

2. Elementary certificates to primary grade certificate holders. Elementary school certificates may be granted to the holders of primary grade certificates who shall pass satisfactory examinations in such branches as do not appear on their certificates or in the record of the examination upon which the original certificate was granted.

3. Certificates now valid continue in force. All certificates and diplomas now valid in California shall continue in force and effect for the full term for which they were granted. County boards of education may renew any certificate issued by them prior to the adoption of this law, and now in force, and may renew certificates granted by authority of law. Except as otherwise provided, renewed certificates shall be valid for a period of six years.

4. Permanent certificate after five years teaching. When the holder of any certificate or state diploma shall have taught successfully in the same county, or city and county, for five years, the board of education of such county, or city and county, may grant a permanent certificate of the kind and grade which said applicant holds, valid in the county, or city and county, in which issued during the life of the holder, or until revoked for any of the causes designated in subdivision six of section one thousand seven hundred seventy-one of this code; provided, that such permanent certificate shall in no case be of a higher grade than the grade of the certificate or state diploma on which the teaching has been done; and for a permanent high school certificate twenty months of said teaching shall have consisted of regular high school work; and provided, further, that a certificate when renewed the second time, or any time thereafter, shall become, by such renewal, a permanent certificate if the holder of said certificate shall have complied with all the conditions of this subdivision.

5. Lower grades. Holders of existing certificates. No teacher shall be employed to teach in any way in any school if the certificate held by the teacher is of a grade below that of the school or class to be taught, nor shall a teacher holding a special certificate be employed to teach any subject not authorized in such certificate; provided, that the holders of existing primary certificates, or of the same when hereafter renewed or made permanent shall be eligible to teach in any of the grades of the day or evening elementary schools below the sixth year, and not including the kindergarten grades; and in any day or evening elementary school of the county, or city and county, which the county or city and county superintendent shall designate as a primary school; and provided, further, that the holder of any valid special certificate for kindergarten work, or of any kindergarten primary certificate who presents to the county superintendent of schools a statement that she has spent one year in a California state normal school, signed by the president thereof, or who presents evidence of one year of successful experience in teaching in an elementary school, or who holds a diploma of graduation issued during or after the year 1917 by an institution accredited by the state board of education for kindergarten certification, shall be entitled to teach in the first grade of the elementary school.

6. High school librarian. No librarian shall be employed for more than two hours a day in any high school, unless such librarian holds a high school certificate or a special teachers' certificate in library craft technique and use, of secondary grade, granted in accordance with the provisions of this code. Such librarians shall rank as teachers, and shall be subject to the burdens and entitled to the benefits of the public school teachers retirement salary fund law on the same basis as other teachers. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 483.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1317.

§1817. Estimate of school fund needed. The county superintendent of every county, and of every city and county, must, at least fifteen days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors of such county, or city and county, is required by law to levy the amount of taxes required for county, or city and county purposes, to furnish to the board of supervisors and to the auditor, respectively, an estimate in writing of the minimum amount of county or city and county school fund needed for the next ensuing school year. This amount he must compute as follows:

Number of teachers. First—The county superintendent of every county and of every city and county must ascertain in the manner provided for in subdivisions one and two of section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of the Political Code, the total number of teachers for the county, or the city and county.

Minimum amount of fund. Tax rate. Second—The county superintendent of every county and of every city and county must calculate the amount required to be raised at five hundred fifty dollars per teacher and the total amount so determined shall be the minimum amount of county, or city and county school fund needed for the ensuing school year; provided, that if this amount is less than sufficient to raise a sum equal to twenty-one dollars for each pupil in average daily attendance in the county, or city and county, for the school year closing June thirtieth preceeding, then the minimum amount shall be such a sum as will be equal to twenty-one dollars for each pupil in average daily attendance in the county, or city and county, for the school year ending June thirtieth preceding; but in no case shall the rate of tax levied for county or city and county school purposes in any one year exceed fifty cents on each one hundred dollars of taxable property in the county or city and county. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1192.]

§ 1838. Estimate of amount needed for building purposes. Levy of tax. Building fund. Maximum rates. Tax levied in addition to maintenance taxes. The board of school trustees or the board of education of any school district or of any city, or city and county, may, at least fifteen days before the first day of the month in which the board of supervisors is required by law to levy the taxes required for county purposes, submit to the county superintendent of schools an estimate of any amount of money which will be required for purchasing school lots for building or purchasing one or more school buildings or making alterations or additions to any school building or buildings, for repairing, restoring or rebuilding any school building damaged, injured, or destroyed by fire, or other public calamity, for insuring school buildings, for supplying school buildings with furniture or necessary apparatus, or for improving school grounds in their several districts for the ensuing school year.

The county superintendent of schools shall thereupon examine said estimates, and submit copies of the same with his approval or disapproval indorsed thereon, to the board of supervisors and to the county auditor at the time he submits to them his estimate for the county school tax for the ensuing school year. If the county superintendent of schools approve such estimate, the said board of supervisors may, at the time and in the manner of levying other taxes, levy and cause to be collected in the several school districts for which estimates have been submitted and approved as herein provided, the excess amounts so submitted and approved. The funds so levied and collected shall be known as the building fund of — school district (as the case may be), and shall be available for any or all of the purposes hereinbefore enumerated and the moneys drawn from such fund shall be paid out in the same manner as are moneys from the building funds of school districts; provided, that the maximum rate of taxation which may be levied under this section shall not exceed fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars; provided, this section shall not be so construed as to repeal sections one thousand eight hundred thirty and one thousand eight hundred thirty-seven, inclusive, and one thousand eight hundred forty of the Political Code, or any part or parts thereof and any tax levied under the provisions of this section shall be in addition to any tax for maintenance levied under the provisions of section one thousand eight hundred forty of the Political Code. [Amendment approved May 11, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 478.]

This section was added June 1, 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1560.

§ 1858. Apportionment of school moneys. The school superintendent of every county and city and county must apportion all state and county school moneys for the elementary grades of his county or city and county as follows:

Number of teachers in each district. First—He must ascertain the number of teachers each school district is entitled to by calculating one teacher for every district having thirty-five or a less number of units of average daily attendance and one additional teacher for each additional thirty-five units of average daily attendance, or fraction of thirty-five not less than ten units of average daily attendance as shown by the annual school report of the school district for the next preceding school year; and two additional teachers shall be allowed to each district for every seven hundred units of average daily attendance; and in districts wherein separate classes are established for the instruction of the deaf, as provided in section one thousand six hundred eighteen of this code, an additional teacher for each nine deaf children, or fraction of such number, not less than five, actually attending such classes.

Total number of teachers. Second—He must ascertain the total number of teachers for the county or city and county by adding together the number of teachers allowed to the several districts. He must make an annual report of the schools of his county or city and county under oath to the superintendent of public instruction not later than August first of each year, and must report the number of teachers ascertained and allowed to his county or city and county by the rule or provisions of subdivision one hereof.

Apportionment for each district. Third—Eight hundred dollars shall be apportioned to every school district for every teacher so allowed to it; provided, that to districts having over thirty-five or a multiple of thirty-five units of average daily attendance and a fraction of less than ten units of average daily attendance, forty dollars shall be apportioned for each unit of average daily attendance in said fraction.

Apportionment of balance. Fourth—All school moneys remaining on hand, after apportioning to the school districts the moneys provided for in subdivision three of this section, must be apportioned to the several districts in proportion to the average daily attendance in each district during the next preceding school year. In any newly organized school district where school was not maintained during the school year in which it was organized the county superintendent shall apportion eight hundred dollars to the newly organized school district for the purpose of maintaining school therein during the school year next succeeding the school year in which it was organized.

Daily and average attendance. Fifth—A minimum full day's attendance on the regular full-time elementary day school as hereby established is, for a pupil of the first, second, or third grade, two hundred minutes, and for a pupil of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, or eighth grade, two hundred forty minutes, of actual attendance for any given day upon school sessions, exclusive of intermissions. When a pupil is absent from the first, second, or third grade of a regular full-time day school, for any day, session, or part of a session, five per cent of a day's absence must be recorded for each full ten-minute period of absence; and when a pupil is absent from any other grade of said elementary school for any day, session or part of a session, five per cent of a day's absence must be recorded for each full twelve-minute period of absence; provided, however, that such record may not for any one day exceed one hundred per cent. The actual attendance of a pupil upon a regular full-time day school for any given length of time shall be the number of days school was actually taught during such time less the sum of his absences. Attendance upon evening schools and special day and special evening classes of day schools of elementary and secondary grade shall be kept according to regulations prescribed by the state board of education. A full day's attendance upon such schools or classes shall be four sixty-minute hours. Units of average daily attendance in elementary schools shall be construed to be the quotient arising from dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance in the regular full-time day and evening elementary schools including the special day and evening classes of the elementary schools of the district for the school year by the number of days school was actually taught in the regular elementary day schools of the district during said year; and units of average daily attendance in secondary schools shall be construed to be the quotient arising from dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance in the regular full-time secondary schools, the evening secondary schools, the special day and evening classes of secondary schools, and the part-time vocational courses of the district for the school year by the number of days school was actually taught in the regular secondary day schools of the district during said year; provided, that where a high school maintains during the school year four terms of school of at least twelve weeks each, and where the course of instruction is so arranged that students may complete a full year's work in any three of these terms, the total number of days of pupils' attendance, as specified above, shall be divided by the greatest number of days school was actually taught in any three of the four terms, but in no case shall said divisor be less than one hundred seventy-five; provided, further, that in making up the aggregate attendance, if the number of days of attendance of any pupil for the fiscal year exceeds the above-mentioned divisor, the number of days which may be included on account of such pupil's attendance shall equal said divisor.

Regulations for keeping attendance. Sixth—Subject to the provisions of this code, the state board of education shall adopt uniform regulations governing the keeping of attendance in all secondary schools. In adopting regulations governing the keeping of the attendance of pupils upon the part-time vocational courses provided for in section one thousand seven hundred fifty c of this code, the state board may, in its discretion, provide that the time spent by a pupil in practical vocational work shall be counted in making up each six-hour minimum daily unit of attendance.

Where school is closed for part of term. Seventh—Where a school in a district maintaining more than one school is closed for a part of a term by order of a city or county board of health or of the state board of health, on account of contagious disease, or where such school has been closed on account of fire, flood or other public disaster, the average daily attendance of said school shall be estimated separately and added to the average daily attendance of the other schools of the district. The units of average daily attendance of said school shall be determined by dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance upon such school including the special day and evening classes and the part-time vocational courses by the number of full-day sessions actually maintained in such school during the year; provided, that where such number is less than one hundred twenty days the divisor shall be one hundred twenty.

Transfer of moneys to make up deficit. Eighth—Whenever in any school year, prior to the receipt by the school districts of any county, or city and county of this state, of their state, county, or city and county, or special or high school fund, the school districts of that county, or city and county shall not have sufficient money to their credit to pay the lawful demands against them, the county or city and county superintendent shall give the treasurer of said county or city and county, an estimate of the amount of school money that will next be paid into the county or city and county treasury, stating the amount to be apportioned to each district. Upon the receipt of such estimate it shall be the duty of the treasurer of said county, or city and county, to transfer from any fund not immediately needed to pay the claims against it, to the proper school fund an amount not to exceed ninety per cent of the amount estimated by the superintendent, and he shall immediately notify the superintendent of the amount so transferred. The funds so transferred to the school fund shall be retransferred by the treasurer to the fund from which they were taken, from the first money paid into the school fund after the transfer. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1260.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1385.

§ 1877. Printing for school officers by state printer. All printing or binding required by the superintendent of public instruction or the state board of education or by any educational institution except the University of California supported entirely out of state funds, and all school registers and blank forms prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction for the use of officers charged with the administration of the laws relating to the public schools, including blank teachers' certificates, and diplomas of graduation from elementary schools in districts not governed by city boards of education, must be executed by the state printer in the form and manner and at the prices of other state printing and be paid for in like manner. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 158.]

§ 1878. School year, commencement and end. [Repealed May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 708.]

§ 1884. Time of issuing bonds approved at election. Limitation of issue. On the seventh day after said election, at one o'clock P. M., the returns having been made to the board of trustees, board of education, or other governing body of such school district, the board must meet and canvass said returns, and if it appears that two-thirds of the votes cast at said election was in favor of issuing such bonds, then the board shall cause an entry of that fact to be made upon its minutes, and shall certify to the board of supervisors of the county all the proceedings had in the premises, and thereupon said board of supervisors shall be and they are hereby authorized and directed to issue the bonds of such district, to the number and amount provided in such proceedings, payable out of the interest and sinking fund of such district, naming the same, and that the money shall be raised by taxation upon the taxable property in said district, for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of the interest thereon; provided, that the total amount of bonds so issued shall not exceed five per cent of the taxable property of the district, as shown by the last equalized assessment-book of the county. [Amendment approved May 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 400.]

§ 1887. Tax for interest and redemption of bonds. The board of supervisors, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, must levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in such district, for the interest and redemption of said bonds, and such tax must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest of said bonds for that year, and such portion of the principal as is to become due during such year, and in any event must be high enough to raise, annually, for the first half of the term said bonds have to run, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon; and during the balance of the term high enough to pay such annual interest, and to pay, annually, a proportion of the principal of said bonds equal to a sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and dividing it by the number of years said bonds then have to run; and all moneys so levied when collected shall be paid into the county treasury to the credit of the interest and sinking fund of such district, and be used for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, and for no other purpose. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be paid by the county treasurer, upon the warrant of the auditor, out of the fund provided therefor; and it shall be the duty of the auditor to cancel such bonds and coupons and retain them when he draws his warrants on the treasurer in favor of the owners thereof. [Amendment approved May 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 401.]

§ 1891. School districts in different counties. When any school district is situated partly in two or more counties, all returns, reports, certificates, estimates, petitions and other papers of any kind required to be filed with or presented to the board of supervisors by any provision of this code relating to schools and school districts shall be filed with or presented to the supervisors of every county in which any portion of said district may be situated, and all action required to be taken by the board of supervisors regarding any such matters shall be taken by the concurrent action of the respective boards of supervisors of every county in which any portion of said district may be situated. The assessor of each of such counties shall annually certify to the board of supervisors of each of the counties in which any portion of such school district is situated the assessed value of all taxable property in such county situated in such school district as appears from the last assessment roll of his county, such certificate to be made in the same manner and at the same time as is required for school districts located wholly within the boundaries of one county. The board of supervisors of each county shall thereupon determine the rate of taxation necessary to be levied upon the property in said district situated in the county, such rate to be sufficient to meet the proportion of taxes necessary to be raised in the county for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of the bonds of the district and all other expenses of the district as shown by the estimate of the county superintendent of schools having jurisdiction over such district. Such taxes shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner and at the same time as county taxes are assessed, levied and collected, and the moneys so received shall, on demand of the board of trustees of any such school district, be deposited in the county treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such school district, and said county treasury is hereby declared to be the legal depository of such school district. The moneys so deposited shall be placed in the school fund of such school district to be expended in the same manner as moneys of other school districts are expended. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917, Stats. 1917, p. 711.]

§ 1918. Articles of war of United States army adopted. The articles of war governing the United States army so far as such articles are not inconsistent with the rights reserved to the state of California and guaranteed under the constitution of the state of California, are hereby adopted for the government of the national guard of this state. No punishment under such articles of war which shall extend to the taking of life shall in any case be inflicted except in time of actual war, invasion, or insurrection, declared by proclamation of the governor to exist and then only after the approval by the governor of such punishment. Imprisonment other than in the guardhouse shall be executed in jails or in prisons designated by the governor for that purpose. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 303.]

§ 1919. Application of United States laws, rules and regulations. All acts of congress and all rules and regulations for the government of the United States army so far as the same are not inconsistent with the rights reserved to the state of California and guaranteed under the constitution of the state of California, constitute the rules and regulations for the government of the national guard. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 303.]

§ 1924. Bond of adjutant-general. The adjutant-general must execute an official bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars, and the assistant adjutant-general must execute an official bond in the sum of two thousand dollars. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 303.]

§ 1925. Staff departments of national guard. Duty of commander-in-chief concerning organization. The national guard of California shall consist of the following staff departments, to wit: An adjutant-general's department, an inspector-general's department, a judge advocate-general's department, a quartermaster corps, a medical department, a corps of engineers, an ordnance department, a signal corps, an aviation corps, and such other staff departments as may be prescribed and authorized by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the various amendments thereto; it shall also consist of the commissioned officers who shall hereafter be placed in the national guard reserve; it shall also consist of all organizations now forming the national guard of this state under the terms of the said national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the amendments thereto; and shall include the naval militia of this state; it shall also consist of such other organizations as may be required by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the amendments thereto. The commander-in-chief shall have the power, and it shall be his duty to change the organization of the national guard of this state so as to conform to any organization, system of drill or instruction now or hereafter prescribed by the laws and regulations of the United States for the organization and government of the national guard, and for that purpose the number of officers and noncommissioned officers of any grade may be increased or diminished or the grades may be altered or created whenever necessary to procure such uniformity. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 303.]

Another section 1925 was adopted at the same session of the legislature, as follows:

§ 1925. National guard organization under national defense act of June 3, 1916. The national guard of California shall consist of the following staff departments, to wit: An adjutant-general's department, an inspector-general's department, a judge advocate-general's department, a quartermaster corps, a medical department, a corps of engineers, an ordnance department, a signal corps, an aviation corps, and such other staff departments as may be prescribed and authorized by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the various amendments thereto; it shall also consist of the commissioned officers who shall hereafter be placed in the national guard reserve; it shall also consist of all organizations now forming the national guard of this state under the terms of the said national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the amendments thereto; and shall include the naval militia of this state; it shall also consist of such other organizations as are now formed under or as may be required by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the amendments thereto. The commander-in-chief shall have the power, and it shall be his duty to change the organization of the national guard of this state so as to conform to any organization, system of drill or instruction now or hereafter prescribed by the laws and regulations of the United States for the organization and government of the national guard, and for that purpose the number of officers and noncommissioned officers of any grade may be increased or diminished or the grades may be altered or created whenever necessary to procure such uniformity. [Amendment approved March 2, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 10.]

§ 2. Urgency measure. Inasmuch as the present unsettled and threatening condition of international relations makes it essential that the state shall have at its disposal at the earliest possible moment every military organization within its borders, the amendments to section one thousand nine hundred twenty-five of the Political Code hereby made are declared to be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace and safety and this act is declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of section one of article four of the constitution.

Another section 1925 was adopted at the same session of the legislature. See prior section.

§ 1926. Rules and regulations not inconsistent with those of United States. The commander-in-chief shall make such rules and regulations for the government, administration and control of the departments, corps and organizations of the national guard not inconsistent with the laws, regulations and customs of the service of the United States army or navy, and the laws of this state, as he may deem necessary to render the departments, corps and organizations efficient. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 304.]

§ 1927. Adjutant-general's department. Appointment. Qualifications. Clerical force. The adjutant-general's department shall consist of one brigadier-general, and one lieutenant-colonel, both of whom shall be either commissioned in the adjutant-general's department or detailed from officers of other arms of the service or in the national guard reserve and such other officers as may be prescribed by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the various amendments thereto. The brigadier-general shall be chief of the department and his designation shall be the adjutant-general, state of California; the lieutenant-colonel shall be designated the assistant adjutant-general, state of California. The adjutant-general will be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the governor or until his successor is appointed and qualifies. The assistant adjutant-general will be appointed by the governor, taking into consideration the recommendation of the adjutant-general, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the governor, or until his successor is appointed and qualifies; provided, that the qualifications for the appointment to the grades of brigadier-general and lieutenant-colonel in the adjutant-general's department shall be the same as prescribed in section one thousand nine hundred thirty-four of this code for a general officer. The officer appointed the assistant adjutant-general shall be on duty in the adjutant-general's office. All officers in the adjutant-general's department shall be appointed by the governor, taking into consideration the recommendation of the adjutant-general, and, with the exception of the adjutant-general and the assistant adjutant-general, shall hold their positions until they shall have reached the age of sixty-four years, unless retired prior to that time by reason of resignation, disability, or for cause to be determined by a court-martial legally convened for that purpose; provided, that the officers of the adjutant-general's department that are to be assigned to brigades shall be appointed as provided for other staff officers in section one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven of this code. All officers appointed to the grade of major in the adjutant-general's department shall have served not less than two years as commissioned officers in the national guard of California. There shall be employed in the adjutant-general's office the following clerical force: one chief clerk; three clerks; and one stenographer and clerk. There shall also be employed in the adjutant-general's office one military storekeeper, and one assistant military storekeeper and porter. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 304.]

§ 1928a. Inspector-general's department. The inspector-general's department shall consist of such officers of the grades and numbers as may be prescribed by the commander-in-chief and the same shall be of the grades and numbers as are authorized and prescribed by the laws and regulations of the war department for the corresponding department of the United States army and as are authorized and prescribed by said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. The duties of the officers of the inspector-general's department shall be such as prescribed by the commander-in-chief and shall conform to the duties prescribed by orders and regulations of the war department for like officers of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 305.]

§ 1928b. Judge advocate-general's department. The judge advocate-general's department shall consist of such officers of the grades and numbers as may be prescribed by the commander-in-chief and the same shall be of the grades and number as are authorized and prescribed by the laws and regulations of the war department for the corresponding department of the United States army, and as are authorized and prescribed by said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. The duties of the officers of the judge advocate-general's department shall be as are prescribed by the commander-in-chief, and shall conform to the duties prescribed by the orders and regulations of the war department for like officers of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 305.]

§ 1928d. Quartermaster corps. The quartermaster corps shall consist of a quartermaster-general (who shall be adjutant-general), and of such officers, enlisted men and civilian employees as are deemed necessary by the commander-in-chief in organizing said corps under the provisions of section one thousand nine hundred twenty-five of this title, and such officers and enlisted men shall have the same titles as those of corresponding grade in the United States army, and shall be of the same grades and numbers as are authorized or prescribed by the laws and regulations of the United States for the corresponding corps of the United States army, or as authorized or prescribed by the said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. The enlistments in the quartermaster corps and the appointments of noncommissioned officers and the employment of civilian employees therein shall be as prescribed by the commander-in-chief. The duties of the officers, the enlisted men and civilian employees of the quartermaster corps shall be such as prescribed by the commander-in-chief and shall conform to the duties prescribed by orders and regulations of the war department for a like corps of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 305.]

§ 1929. Medical department. The medical department of the national guard of California shall consist of a medical corps, dental corps, a hospital corps, the medical department of the naval militia, and of such officers and enlisted men as are deemed necessary by the commander-in-chief in organizing said department under the provisions of section one thousand nine hundred twenty-five of this title, and such officers and enlisted men shall have the same title as those of corresponding grades of the United States army or United States navy, and shall be of the same grades and numbers, as are authorized or prescribed by the laws and regulations of the United States for the medical department of the United States army or navy, or as authorized and prescribed by the said laws or regulations of the war or navy departments for the national guard or naval militia. The duties of the officers and enlisted men of the medical department shall be such as prescribed by the commander-in-chief and shall conform to the duties prescribed by orders or regulations of the war or navy departments for a like department of the United States army or navy. When deemed necessary by the commander-in-chief a medical reserve corps, or female nurse corps, or both, may be provided. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 306.]

§ 1930. Corps of engineers. The corps of engineers shall consist of such officers and enlisted men of the grades and numbers as may be prescribed by the commander-in-chief, and the same shall be of the grades and numbers as are authorized and prescribed by the laws and regulations of the war department for the corresponding corps of the United States army, and as are authorized and prescribed by the said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. The duties of officers and enlisted men of the corps of engineers shall be such as prescribed by the commander-in-chief and shall conform to the duties prescribed by the orders and regulations of the war department for like officers and enlisted men of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 306.]

§ 1931. Signal corps. The signal corps shall consist of such officers and enlisted men of the grades and numbers as may be prescribed by the commander-in-chief, and the same shall be of the grades and numbers as are authorized and prescribed by the laws and regulations of the war department for the corresponding corps of the United States army, and as are authorized and prescribed by said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. The duties of the officers and enlisted men of the signal corps shall be as prescribed by the commander-in-chief and shall conform to the duties prescribed by the orders and regulations of the war department for like officers and enlisted men of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 306.]

§ 1932. Coast artillery. The coast artillery shall be organized as a corps and shall consist of such number of companies as may be authorized. The number and qualifications of the officers and enlisted men belonging to such coast artillery corps shall conform to the tables of organizations for such corps prescribed by the rules and regulations of the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 307.]

§ 1932½. Field artillery. The field artillery shall be organized into batteries, battalions, separate battalions, and regiments, conforming to similar organizations of the United States army as to numbers, ranks and grades of commander, officers, staffs, enlisted men and equipment; provided, that the commander of a separate battalion shall have on his staff one veterinarian, who when in active service shall draw the same pay as a veterinarian of the United States army. He shall be appointed as staff officers are appointed. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 307.]

§ 1933. Cavalry. The cavalry shall consist of such number of troops as the commander-in-chief shall designate. The troops of cavalry shall be organized into regiments, or squadrons, at the discretion of the commander-in-chief. Such number of officers and enlisted men of the ranks and grades that obtain in the United States army for similar organizations, shall constitute the organizations of the cavalry of the national guard; provided, however, that for a separate squadron of cavalry the commander-in-chief shall appoint one veterinarian who shall be on the staff of the squadron commander, and who, when in active service, shall receive the same pay as a veterinarian in the United States army. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 307.]

to a regiment of infantry, separate battalion or squadron. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 309.]

§ 1958. Officers of the line. Officers of the line shall be appointed as provided for the appointment of staff officers in section one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven hereof, and in accordance with the terms of, the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the various amendments thereto. All line officers shall hold their positions until they shall have reached the age of sixty-four years, unless retired prior to that time by reason of resignation, disability or for cause to be determined by a court-martial legally convened for that purpose. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 310.]

§ 1959. Appeal from an election. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 302.]

§ 1960. Oath of office. Every officer duly commissioned shall take his oath of office in the manner and within the time prescribed by the national defense act of June 3, 1916, the various amendments thereto and the regulations prescribed by the war department. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 310.]

§ 1980. Who may be enlisted. Enlistment contract. Any male who is a citizen of the United States or who has legally declared his intention of becoming a citizen, of more than eighteen and less than thirty-five years of age, able-bodied, free from disease, of good character and temperate habits, may be enlisted in the national guard of this state under the provisions of the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the various amendments thereto, for six years. The first three years of which shall be in an active organization and the remaining three years shall be in the national guard reserve; and such enlisted man shall have the privilege of continuing in active service during the whole of the enlistment period or of re-enlisting. The qualifications for enlistment shall be the same as those prescribed for admission to the regular army, and all men enlisting in the national guard must sign an enlistment contract, and take and subscribe to the oath set forth in section seventy of the national defense act of June 3, 1916. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 310.]

§ 1982. Oath. All officers of the national guard on becoming members, and before performing duty, must take and subscribe to the oath contained in section seventy-three of the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and amendments thereto. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 310.]

§ 2006. Officers and members absent. Court-martial. All officers or members of the national guard who absent themselves from three consecutive assemblages, without an excuse acceptable to their immediate respective commanding officers, are debarred from the privileges and exemptions provided for members of the national guard; and all non-commissioned officers or privates upon being reported as having been so absent shall forthwith be court-martialed by order of the regimental, or unattached battalion or squadron commander in their respective commands, and in all other organizations not attached to regiments, battalions, or squadrons, but attached to brigades, by order of the brigade commander, and in all unattached organizations, by order of the governor, and, upon conviction by court-martial, the delinquent shall be punished in such manner as the court-martial convicting him may prescribe. The proceedings of such court-martial shall be subject to approval and review as in other cases. Neglect or refusal to pay any fine imposed by a court-martial within thirty days after such fine was imposed is hereby declared to be sufficient cause for the dishonorable discharge of such delinquent from the national guard. [Amendment of May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 311.]

§2018. Military courts. The military courts of the state shall be: (1) general courts-martial; (2) special courts-martial; (3) summary courts-martial; (4) courts of inquiry. The constitution and jurisdiction of general courts-martial, special courts-martial, summary courts-martial, and courts of inquiry, the form and manner in which the proceedings are conducted and recorded, the forms of oaths and affirmations taken in the administration of military law by such courts, the limits of punishment and the proceedings in the revision thereof, shall be governed by the terms of the articles of war, the national defense act of June 3, 1916, and the amendments thereto, the laws and regulations governing the army of the United States, and the law and procedure of similar courts of the United States army, except as otherwise provided in this title. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 311.]

§2019. Who may appoint courts-martial. The following officers may appoint courts-martial: (1) The President of the United States or the governor of the state of California may appoint general courts-martial. (2) The commanding officer of each garrison, fort, post, camp, or other place, brigade, regiment, detached battalion, or other detached command, may appoint special courts-martial for his command, but such special courts-martial may in any case be appointed by superior authority when by the latter deemed desirable. (3) The commanding officer of each garrison, fort, post, or other place, regiment or corps, detached battalion, company, or other detachment of the national guard, may appoint for such place or command a summary court to consist of one officer who shall have power to administer oaths and to try the enlisted men of such place or command, for breaches of discipline, and violations of law governing such organizations. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 311.]

§2020. General courts-martial. 1. General courts-martial shall have the power to impose fines not exceeding two hundred dollars; to sentence to forfeiture of pay and allowances; to a reprimand; to dismissal or dishonorable discharge from the service; to reduction of noncommissioned officers to the ranks; or any two or more of such punishments may be combined in the sentences imposed by such courts. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 312.]

2. Special courts-martial. Special courts-martial shall have the power to try any person subject to military law, except a commissioned officer, for any crime or offense made punishable by the military laws of the United States, and such special courts-martial and [shall] have the same powers of punishment as the general courts-martial, except that fines imposed by such special courts-martial shall not exceed one hundred dollars. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917; p. 312.]

§ 1934. Infantry. The organization of infantry of the national guard shall conform in numbers and grades, of commander, staffs, officers and enlisted men, to similar organizations of the United States army. The infantry shall be organized into brigades, regiments, battalions, separate battalions, companies, separate companies, and detachments, conforming as to officers, staff, personnel and equipment to like organizations of the United States army. The minimum strength of an infantry company of the national guard in time of peace shall be such officers and enlisted men of such numbers and grades as are deemed necessary by the commander-in-chief, and in conformance with the laws and regulations of the United States for similar companies of the United States army, or to the said laws and regulations of the war department for the national guard. No person shall be commissioned as a general officer in the national guard of this state unless he shall have attained to the grade of field officer and shall have had four years previous experience either as a commissioned officer in command, or in service with, troops of the line of this state or of another state, or territory, or District of Columbia, or of the United States army or marine corps, or in any or all of said services combined. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 307.]

§ 1951. Commissions. All officers shall be commissioned by the commander-in-chief, but he may refuse to issue a commission to any person if the person be in any way unqualified or unworthy to be an officer in the national guard; but no one shall be commissioned unless the conditions set forth in sections one thousand nine hundred fifty-three and one thousand nine hundred fifty-four of this chapter, have been complied with, and no one shall be recognized as an officer unless he shall have been duly commissioned, and shall have taken the oath of office, and filed the bond in the manner and as required in this title. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 308.]

§ 1953. Qualifications for commissioned officers. Commissioned officers must be citizens of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years and upward. No person who has been in the military or naval service of the United States, of this state, or of any other state in the United States, and who has not been honorably discharged therefrom, shall be commissioned in the national guard of California. No person shall be commissioned unless he shall possess the additional requirements herein prescribed for the particular office to which he is to be commissioned and in addition thereto must successfully pass such examination as may be required by the war department. All medical officers shall be regularly graduated, licensed, and practicing physicians or surgeons, licensed to practice their profession in California, or shall have been surgeons in the United States army or navy. All judge advocates of the national guard of California shall be members of the bar of the supreme court of the state of California. All engineer officers, except engineer officers of the naval militia of California, must be qualified to design, as well as to direct, engineering works. All chaplains shall be regularly ordained priests or ministers of the gospel of some denomination. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 308.]

every officer of the national guard must have passed a satisfactory physical examination before a medical officer of the national guard, and a satisfactory examination before a board of commissioned officers as to his knowledge of military affairs and general knowledge and fitness for the service, and anyone failing to pass such examination shall not be eligible for an office in the national guard or for promotion for a period of one year after date of such failure; provided, that officers on the staff of the commander-in-chief are exempt from examination. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 308.]

§ 1955. Boards of examination. Boards of examination under the preceding section shall consist of three officers. Such boards shall have the same power to take evidence, administer oath, and compel witnesses to attend and testify, produce books and papers, and punish their failure to do so, as is possessed by a general court-martial. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 309.]

§ 1956. Officers now serving. All officers now serving in the active national guard of this state, or who may hereafter be commissioned therein, shall hold their positions until they shall have reached the age of sixty-four years, unless retired prior to that time by reason of resignation, disability, or for cause to be determined by a court-martial legally convened for that purpose; provided, that all officers commissioned in the national guard of this state shall have had military experience prior to such commission, excepting officers of the judge advocate-general's department, medical department and officers of engineers, who shall not be required to have had such prior service. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 309.]

§ 1957. Vacancies. When a vacancy occurs among the general officers of the line of the national guard, the governor shall propose to the war department, upon the recommendation of the adjutant-general, the name of an officer to fill the vacancy. The officer so recommended will be required to take such examination as may be prescribed by the war department. When notified by the war department that the officer has successfully passed such examination, the governor shall commission him. The officers on the staff of a brigade, regiment, unit of coast artillery corresponding to a regiment of infantry, battalion or squadron, shall be recommended to the adjutant-general by the brigade, regimental, battalion or squadron commander, or commanding officer of unit of coast artillery corresponding to a regiment of infantry, who may recommend not to exceed three candidates of the adjutant-general, who will cause such candidates to be examined. In making these recommendations seniority of candidates will be taken into consideration. In the case of officers of separate organizations, the adjutant-general will select not to exceed three candidates, whom the adjutant-general will cause to be examined. The candidate receiving the highest rating in such examination will be recommended by the adjutant-general to the governor for commission, subject to such examination as may be prescribed by the war department. All officers shall be commissioned in the arm of the service in which they are appointed and shall be assigned to duty by the adjutant-general upon recommendation of the commanding officer of the regiment, unit of coast artillery corresponding for by said commanding officer in the same manner as are other state funds. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 314.]

§ 2079. Allowances to commanding officers, etc. There must be audited and allowed by the adjutant-general and paid out of the appropriation for military purposes, upon the warrant of the state controller, to the commanding officer of each infantry, coast artillery, engineer, field hospital, ambulance company, and the headquarters company of each regiment of infantry, and each division and marine company of the naval militia, except the engineer division of the naval militia, the sum of one hundred fifty dollars per month; to the commanding officer of each machine gun company, signal company, troop of cavalry, battery or field artillery, supply company, and the engineer divisions of the naval militia, the sum of two hundred dollars per month; to each supply company of separate battalions and squadrons the sum of seventy-five dollars per month; the sum so paid to be used for armory rent, care of arms, and proper incidental expenses of the company, troop, battery, field hospital, or division. There shall be audited, allowed, and paid out of the same appropriation to the commanding officer of each brigade the sum of two hundred dollars per month; to the commanding officer of the naval militia the sum of two hundred dollars per month; to the commanding officer of each regiment of infantry, and to the commanding officer of each unit of coast artillery corresponding to a regiment of infantry, two hundred dollars per month; to the commanding officer of each separate battalion of field artillery, naval militia, engineer troops and squadron of cavalry, the sum of fifty dollars per month, and to the commanding officer of each separate fort command, coast artillery, the sum of twenty-five dollars per month; the sums so paid to be used for rent of headquarters, clerical expenses, stationery, printing, postage and proper incidental expenses of the commanding officer of the organization for which said sums are audited, allowed and paid. There shall be audited, allowed and paid to the commanding officer of the naval militia, the adjutant of each regiment of infantry and coast artillery, which shall have attached to it a uniformed and organized band of not less than twenty-five men, the sum of seventy-five dollars per month for such band; to the chief surgeon the sum of fifty dollars per month for rent and proper incidental expenses; and to the adjutant-general sum of fifteen thousand dollars per annum, to be expended by him in promoting target practice. There must be audited and allowed by the adjutant-general, and paid out of the appropriation for military purposes, to the medical officer in charge of each detachment of the medical department on duty with each regiment of infantry, coast artillery, the naval militia, separate battalions and squadrons, the sum of fifty dollars per month for rent and proper incidental expenses of such detachments, and to the medical officer in charge of detachment of the medical corps attached to each separate fort command, coast artillery the sum of ten dollars per month for proper incidental expenses. No claim shall be allowed under the provisions of this section except upon demand made quarterly in duplicate, signed and sworn to by the officer claiming the same, before any officer of the national guard, or notary public, and forwarded through the headquarters of the regiment, coast artillery corps, separate battalion, or separate squadron, or naval militia, with the approval of each commanding officer, through whose headquarters they are required to pass, direct to the adjutant-general; provided, that the adjutant-general may make expenditures at any time for the promotion of target practice, out of the appropriation for that purpose herein provided for. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 314.]

§ 2086. Salaries; adjutant-general's department. There shall be allowed and paid out of the general fund in the state treasury to officers, clerks and other employees in the adjutant-general's department, the following salaries payable monthly: To the brigadier-general of the adjutant-general's department (the adjutant-general), a sum not to exceed five thousand dollars per annum to be fixed by the governor; to the lieutenant-colonel of the adjutant-general's department, three thousand dollars per annum; to the chief clerk, one thousand nine hundred dollars per annum; three clerks, one thousand seven hundred dollars per annum each; one stenographer and clerk, one thousand five hundred dollars per annum; one military storekeeper, one thousand two hundred dollars per annum; one assistant military storekeeper and porter, nine hundred dollars per annum. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 316.]

§ 2107. Armories and arsenals. The adjutant-general shall have control of all armories and arsenals built by the state, or that may come into possession of the state, or any building or buildings that may be erected, purchased, leased or provided by any town, city, county, or city and county, for armory or arsenal purposes pursuant to any legislative act. It shall be the duty of the adjutant-general, under direction of the governor, to make and enforce regulations for the government and control of such armories, arsenals and buildings, and where appropriations have been made therefor, to advertise for and receive bids for the construction of armories, or arsenals, to enter into contract for the construction and completion thereof, to contract for and purchase the furnishings therefor, and to purchase and lease real estate for the purpose of erecting armories or arsenals thereon; provided, that it shall be the duty of the state engineer to furnish the plans, estimates and specifications for all armories and arsenals, and to superintend the erection and construction of such buildings. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 316.]

§ 2111. Naval militia. The organized naval militia of California shall consist of such members of deck and engineer divisions and companies of marines as the commander-in-chief may, from time to time, prescribe, in conformity with the requirements of the navy department. The naval militia shall be located throughout the coast of the state of California at the discretion of the commander-in-chief. The words "division" and "company" as used in this chapter in connection with the naval militia shall have the same meaning and effect as "company" when used in connection with infantry as used in this chapter, and the word "battalion" as used in this chapter in connection with the naval militia shall have the same meaning and effect as "battalion" when used in connection with infantry as used in this chapter. The several divisions and companies of marines of the naval militia shall

No claim shall be allowed under the provisions of this section except upon demand made quarterly in duplicate, signed and sworn to by the officer claiming the same, before any officer of the national guard, or notary public, and forwarded through the headquarters of the regiment, coast artillery

corps, separate battalion, or separate squadron, or naval militia, with the approval of each commanding officer, through whose headquarters they are required to pass, direct to the adjutant-general; provided, that the adjutant-general may make expenditures at any time for the promotion of target practice, out of the appropriation for that purpose herein provided for. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 314.]

§ 2086. Salaries; adjutant-general's department. There shall be allowed and paid out of the general fund in the state treasury to officers, clerks and other employees in the adjutant-general's department, the following salaries payable monthly: To the brigadier-general of the adjutant-general's department (the adjutant-general), a sum not to exceed five thousand dollars per annum to be fixed by the governor; to the lieutenant-colonel of the adjutant-general's department, three thousand dollars per annum; to the chief clerk, one thousand nine hundred dollars per annum; three clerks, one thousand seven hundred dollars per annum each; one stenographer and clerk, one thousand five hundred dollars per annum; one military storekeeper, one thousand two hundred dollars per annum; one assistant military storekeeper and porter, nine hundred dollars per annum. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 316.]

§ 2107. Armories and arsenals. The adjutant-general shall have control of all armories and arsenals built by the state, or that may come into possession of the state, or any building or buildings that may be erected, purchased, leased or provided by any town, city, county, or city and county, for armory or arsenal purposes pursuant to any legislative act. It shall be the duty of the adjutant-general, under direction of the governor, to make and enforce regulations for the government and control of such armories, arsenals and buildings, and where appropriations have been made therefor, to advertise for and receive bids for the construction of armories, or arsenals, to enter into contract for the construction and completion thereof, to contract for and purchase the furnishings therefor, and to purchase and lease real estate for the purpose of erecting armories or arsenals thereon; provided, that it shall be the duty of the state engineer to furnish the plans, estimates and specifications for all armories and arsenals, and to superintend the erection and construction of such buildings. [Amendment approved May 10, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 316.]

§ 2111. Naval militia. The organized naval militia of California shall consist of such members of deck and engineer divisions and companies of marines as the commander-in-chief may, from time to time, prescribe, in conformity with the requirements of the navy department. The naval militia shall be located throughout the coast of the state of California at the discretion of the commander-in-chief. The words "division" and "company" as used in this chapter in connection with the naval militia shall have the same meaning and effect as "company" when used in connection with infantry as used in this chapter, and the word "battalion" as used in this chapter in connection with the naval militia shall have the same meaning and effect as "battalion" when used in connection with infantry as used in this chapter. The several divisions and companies of marines of the naval militia shall

§ 2141. Powers of lunacy commission. The commission has power:

1. To appoint a secretary whose term of office shall be four years from and after the date of his appointment and to fix his salary, which shall not be changed during his term of office, and which shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as are the salaries of other state officers, and to appoint such other employees as it may deem necessary and fix their compensations;

2. To appoint, by its order, a competent person to examine the books, papers, and accounts, and also into the general condition and management of any institution in this chapter mentioned, to the extent deemed necessary and specified in such order;

3. To fix the annual salaries of the resident officers and treasurers of the state hospitals, which must be uniform in all the state hospitals for the insane and as near uniform as possible in all state hospitals, and to classify the other officers and employees in grades, and determine the salaries and wages to be paid in each grade, which must be uniform in all hospitals for the insane, and as near uniform as possible in all state hospitals;

4. To determine the kind and character of all employees who shall be employed at any state hospital according to the needs and objects of the hospital;

5. To permit any religious or missionary corporation or society to erect a building on the grounds of any state hospital for the holding of religious services, said building when erected to become the property of the state and to be used exclusively for the benefit of the inmates and employees of such state hospital and subject to such regulations and conditions as may be determined or imposed by said commission;

6. To establish and supervise a training school for attendants and nurses in any state hospital, under rules and regulations of the commission. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 274.]

§ 2180. Monthly rate for insane at state hospitals. The monthly rate for the care, support, and maintenance of all insane patients at state hospitals for the insane, where there is liability to pay for such care, support and maintenance, shall be twenty dollars per month, payable in advance, as may be set by the state commission in lunacy; provided, however, the medical superintendent of a state hospital for the insane shall, on the order of the commission, reduce or remit the amount to be paid by the estate or the relatives, as the case may be, liable for the care, support and maintenance of any insane person committed thereto and confined therein, on satisfactory proof that said estate or said relatives, as the case may be, are unable to pay the said sum of twenty dollars per month. If any insane person die at any time, while his estate is liable for his care, support, and maintenance and other expenses at a state hospital, the claim for such amount as may be due, may be presented to the executor or administrator of his estate and paid in the same manner as are other debts and claims against the estate of a deceased person. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 272.]

§ 2187. Transfer of patients from one hospital to another. (a) When the building of any state hospital becomes overcrowded with patients or inmates, or the number of buildings is reduced by fire, or other casualties, or for other sufficient cause, the commission may, in its discretion, cause the transfer of patients or inmates therefrom or direct that patients or inmates required to be sent thereto, be transferred to another state hospital, where they can be conveniently received, or make, in emergencies, temporary provision for their care, preference to be given in such transfer to a hospital in an adjoining rather than a remote district. The expense of such transfer is chargeable to the state, and the bills for the same, when approved by the commission, must be paid by the treasurer of state on the warrant of the controller, out of any moneys provided for the care or support of the insane.

(b) Transfer on request of relatives or friends. Patients may be transferred at the request of relatives or friends; provided, there is room in the hospital to which transfer is sought, but in case of transfers made as last provided the expense of such transfers shall be paid by such relatives or friends; provided, further, that transfers as last provided, shall not be made unless the consent of the commission and the medical superintendents of the hospitals from which and to which said transfer is to be made be obtained. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 275.]

(c) Transfer from home for feeble-minded to state hospital. The commission, when it deems it necessary, may transfer any inmate of the home for feeble-minded for care and treatment to a state hospital for the insane for care and treatment therein and the counties, guardian, relatives or friends of such inmate shall be liable for his care, support and maintenance in said hospital for the insane in the same manner and to the same extent as if the said patient were still an inmate of said home. The commission, when it deems it necessary, may transfer any patient in any state hospital for the insane to the said home for care and treatment therein. The estate, relatives or friends of such patient, or the county from which such patient was originally committed, shall be liable for the care, support, and maintenance of such patient at the said home in the same manner and to the same extent as if the said patient had been originally committed to the said home at the date of such transfer. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 275.]

§ 2192. Petition to commit imbecile, etc., to home. Financial condition of parent or guardian. Peremptory discharge. Whenever any parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of an imbecile or feeble-minded person, or any idiot, or epileptic who is not insane, desires him to be admitted into the home for the feeble-minded, he may petition the superior court of the county in which he resides, for an order admitting such person to such hospital; provided, that any peace officer may petition said court for an order admitting such a person to such hospital. The judge must inquire into the condition or status of such person, and if he finds him to be an imbecile, feeble-minded person, idiot or epileptic, and that he has been a resident of the state for one year next preceding the presentation of the petition, such judge must make an order that he be received, maintained and educated in such hospital, and upon the presentation of such order the superintendent must receive him therein, if the hospital is not already full, or the fund available for its support exhausted; but the imbecile, feeble-minded person, idiot, or epileptic, need not be received if, in the judgment of the management of the hospital or the commission, he is not a suitable subject for admission thereto. The judge must inquire into the financial condition of the parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of any such person, and if he finds him able, in whole or in part to pay his expenses at such hospital, he must make a further order requiring such parent, guardian, or other person charged with the support of such person to pay to the hospital at stated periods such sums as, in the opinion of the judge, are proper during such time as the person may remain in such hospital. This order may be enforced by such further orders as the judge deems necessary, and may be varied, altered, or revoked in his discretion, and the board of managers may, with the approval of the commission, cause the peremptory discharge of any person who has been an inmate or patient for the period of one month. For each child or other person committed to such home there shall be paid by the county from which he is committed to the state treasury such sum not exceeding twenty dollars monthly as may be set by the state commission in lunacy for, and during each month, or part of month, such person so committed remains an inmate of the hospital, in case the payments herein provided to be made by the parent, guardian, or other person, charged with the support of any such person shall not be made. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 271.]

§ 2207c. Powers of directors of Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for Adult Blind. The board of directors has power:

1. To make by-laws for its government and the government and direction of the home, and prescribe conditions for the admission of applicants thereto, and the admission pursuant to such conditions, having regard to an equitable representation from each county of the state;

2. To designate the trades which must be regularly taught in the institution;

3. To elect a general superintendent and all subordinate officers and employees, and to determine the number thereof when not fixed by this chapter;

4. To elect a physician, not a member of the board, whose salary must not exceed one thousand two hundred dollars per annum;

5. To elect a secretary, whose salary must not exceed six hundred dollars per annum, who must give bond in the sum of five thousand dollars;

6. To prescribe in particular the duties of the superintendent, physician, and secretary;

7. To purchase, from time to time, such materials as may be suitable to the requirements of the manufacturing and other departments of the home, to audit the bills therefor, and to forward them to the state board of examiners;

8. To fix the market price of all wares manufactured in the home, and of all wares manufactured elsewhere by nonresident beneficiaries, and to provide for and regulate the sale of all such manufactured wares;

9. To fix the compensation of common laborers and of all other employees in the home, whose wages are not herein established;

10. To grade and fix the price of skilled and unskilled labor and the amount of work required in the various departments to constitute a day's labor, and to permit the inmates to work at piecework;

11. To authorize work to be let out to blind people, so that such beneficiaries as in their judgment may require it, may receive it at their residence, and for such piecework to pay liberal prices, so as to yield, as near as possible, the compensation of resident laborers; but in no case, to incur any indebtedness for labor contracts with the beneficiaries, resident or otherwise, when there is not sufficient money on hand to pay the same;

12. To take, receive, manage, and invest all moneys or property hereafter bequeathed or donated to said home, in accordance with the wishes of the testator or donor; or if no conditions are attached to the bequests or donations, then to invest such moneys or proceeds of property for the best interests of the home. If any donation or bequest is trammelled with any religious conditions of a sectarian character, or conditioned in any manner antagonistic to the provisions of this chapter, or in conflict with any necessary rule or regulation of the home, the board may refuse to accept such donation or bequest, and is hereby authorized to reject the same. Donations or bequests may be received by the state treasurer, or by the president of the board of directors; but no donation or bequest accompanied by any condition must be received until it has been ordered approved and received by the board, and notice thereof given by the secretary to the state controller. Any bequest or donation received or collected by the president of the board must be immediately paid over by him to the state treasurer, and at the same time the president must forward to the state controller a statement thereabout, verified by his oath. All moneys received by the state treasurer must be placed to the credit of the "fund of the industrial home of adult blind." The investment of funds by the board can be made only in the same manner as the approval of claims, subject likewise to the action of the state board of examiners thereon.

13. To appoint field officers or teachers to teach handicrafts to the adult blind of the state who are not inmates of the home and give them such other instruction as may ameliorate their condition, and to prescribe the duties and fix the compensation of such field officers and teachers who shall be under the direction and supervision of the superintendent of the home.

14. To discharge from the home any inmate thereof, whenever in the discretion of the board such discharge is in furtherance of the primary object of the home, to give instruction in a trade or trades to the greatest possible number of the blind of the state to enable them to become self-supporting and to effect an equitable geographical distribution of the benefits of the home. [Amendment approved May 23, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1197.]

§ 2207f. The superintendent.

The title to chapter 548 of the Statutes of 1919 (Stats. 1919, p. 1197) stated that it amended § 2207f. There was, however, no amendment of the section in the body of the statute.

§ 2210a. Directors of Women's Relief Corps Home. The home is managed and controlled by a board of seven directors, appointed by the governor, to hold office for two years from and after their appointment, unless sooner removed by him for cause. Each must, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, file with the secretary of state his oath of office, in the form prescribed by law. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1190.]

§ 2210b. Election and compensation of officers. The board of directors must elect from their number a president, a vice-president, a secretary and a treasurer, each of whom holds office for one year from his election. No member of said board other than the secretary and treasurer shall receive any compensation for his services. The secretary and treasurer shall receive for their services twenty-five dollars per month each, payable from the state treasury at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers are paid. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1190.]

§ 2210c. Powers of board. The board of directors must be known by the name and style of "the board of directors of the Women's Relief Corps Home of California," and by this name may sue and be sued in any of the courts of the state. Such board has power to manage such home, administer its affairs, make laws for its government, and adopt rules and regulations for its management, and a majority of its members constitute a quorum to transact its business. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1190.]

§ 2210e. Biennial appropriation. There shall be appropriated for each biennial period such sum of money as may be deemed necessary to support the inmates of said institution in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. [Amendment approved May 25, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1190.]

§ 2283. Appropriation; orphan aid. There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, to each and every institution in this state conducted for the support and maintenance of needy minor orphans, half-orphans, or abandoned children, and to each and every county, city and county, city, or town maintaining such orphans, half-orphans, or abandoned children, or any or all of such classes of persons, aid not in excess of the sum of one hundred twenty dollars per annum for each such orphan, half-orphan or abandoned child supported and maintained in such institution or by such county, city and county, city, or town; but each abandoned child maintained by an institution must have been an inmate thereof for one year prior to such institution receiving aid therefor, as provided in this chapter; provided, however, that upon receiving such aid, such institution shall also be entitled to reimbursement from the state for said year in a sum not in excess of one hundred twenty dollars per annum for each such abandoned child where proof of abandonment sufficient to demonstrate the genuineness of the claim is presented to the state board of control; provided, further, that, in addition to the amount paid by the state for each half-orphan maintained at home by its mother, the county, city and county, city, or town may pay for the support of such half-orphan, an amount equal to the sum paid by the state; and provided, further, that in any case where any such half-orphan is denied aid by the county, upon a petition setting forth the facts in full as to the necessity of aid, verified by five reputable citizens of the county, city and county, city, or town, the mother of such child shall have the right of appeal direct to the state board of control for aid for her child, and should her appeal be sustained by said board, payment must be made for the child as above provided. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 473.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 560.

§ 2285. Books to be kept. Every institution, county, city and county, city, or town entitled to aid under this chapter must keep the following records, which at all times must be open to the state board of control or to any person appointed by them to examine the same, or to any committee of the legislature, or to any clerk or officer thereof duly authorized to make such examination:

1. Date of admission, etc. A record on which must be entered the date of admission, name, age, sex, and place of birth of each and every orphan, half orphan, and abandoned child, who is or may hereafter be received or admitted into such institution, or to county aid, and the date of discharge of any such child, when such discharge is made, the parentage, if known; the estate, if any, to which the child is heir, and the insurance, if any, on the father's or mother's life; so far as can be ascertained, the place where either parent or both died, the nativity of the parents, where married, the marriage certificate, where recorded, when they came to California, place of residence in California, and habits of sobriety.

2. Monthly accounts. A book entitled "monthly accounts." In it must be entered on the debtor side, all the moneys received from any and all sources segregated under the proper heads; on the credit side must be entered all disbursements made, specifying for what purposes made, and the amount entered in detail so disbursed, segregated under their proper heads.

3. Pay-roll. A pay-roll of the employees, and the amounts disbursed to each.

4. Amounts paid for support. A book in which must be entered in detail the amounts paid for the specific support of every orphan, half orphan, or abandoned child and the date of such payments.

5. Transcript of books and pay-roll. A transcript of the books and pay-roll, verified under oath by the manager or person in charge of such institution entitled to or claiming state aid under this chapter, must, when demanded by the state board of control, be made and forwarded to the said board at the time of presenting claim for state aid.

6. List of inmates. A list of all the inmates other than employees or orphans supported wholly or in part by any institution presenting a claim for state aid under this chapter, must also be forwarded with such claim for aid. [Amendment approved May 15, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 561.]

§ 2286. Board of control may inquire into institutions. Children's agents. Salaries. Expense of transporting children. County to pay one-half. The state board of control is authorized, in behalf of the state, at any time to inquire, either in person or by authorized agent, into the management of any such institution or into the management by any county, city and county, city or town, of aid to orphans, half-orphans and abandoned children; and any institution or county, city and county, city or town refusing, upon due demand, to permit such inquiry or to comply with regulations established by said board for the proper maintenance and care of children receiving state aid must not thereafter receive any aid under this chapter until it has complied with all requirements. To carry out the provision of this act, the state board of control may appoint a chief children's agent and such other agents as may be needed who shall, under the rules of said board, visit the homes and the institutions in which are children to whom state aid is being given or for whom aid is being asked, to obtain such information as the board may need in carrying out the provisions of this chapter. Such chief agent shall receive necessary traveling expenses and a salary of two hundred twenty-five dollars per month. Such other agents shall receive their necessary traveling expenses and a salary to be fixed by the board of control, which salary shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the salaries of other state officers. All expenses incurred in visiting said asylums and homes, when there are not other available funds, may be audited and allowed by the state board of control out of the appropriation for support of orphans, half-orphans and abandoned children. The board of control may also pay out of these funds the expense of transporting children for whom proper homes are offered outside the state; provided, that the county from which the children are removed shall pay one-half of the total expense necessarily incurred by the state. In addition an advisory committee of three persons serving without pay or expense to the state may be appointed by the board of control, to act in any county in conjunction with the children's agents. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 474.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 562.

§ 2289. In order that the provisions of this chapter shall not be abused, it is hereby declared:

1. Institution must have twenty inmates. That no institution which has less than twenty inmates of either or all of the classes mentioned in section two thousand two hundred eighty-three, must be deemed an institution for the support and maintenance of minor orphans, half-orphans, or abandoned children, within the intent and meaning of this chapter.

2. Age of minor. That no child over the age of fifteen years shall be deemed a minor orphan, half-orphan, or abandoned child, within the intent and meaning of this chapter.

3. Receiving twenty dollars for child. That no child for whose specific support there is paid to any such institution the sum of twenty dollars or more per month shall be deemed a minor orphan, half-orphan, or abandoned child within the intent and meaning of this chapter.

4. Home for child. Residence in state. That no child maintained in an institution for whom a bona fide offer of a proper home has been made shall be considered eligible for further state aid; it is further provided, however, that no institution shall be required to surrender a child to any person of religious faith different from that of the child or the parents of the child.

That a child who has not resided in this state for a period of at least two years prior to the application for aid shall not be eligible to receive state aid unless such child is born in this state. [Amendment approved May 9, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 475.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 562.

§ 2302. Salary state librarian. The annual salary of the state librarian is five thousand dollars. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1663.]

§ 2319. State commissioner of horticulture. Deputies, etc. Traveling expenses. Deputy commissioner. Salaries. Offices for commissioner. San Francisco office. Quarantine officers. State insectary. Superintendent. Assistant. Field deputy. The state commissioner of horticulture of California shall be a citizen and resident of this state, and his term shall be for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. The governor may remove such commissioner from office at any time upon filing with the secretary of state a certificate of removal signed by the governor. In the case of vacancy in said office by death, resignation, removal from office, or other cause the governor shall fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. In appointing such commissioner and his successor or successors, it shall be the duty of the governor to disregard political affiliations, and to be guided in his selection entirely by the professional and moral qualifications of the person so selected for the performance of the duties of said office. Said commissioner shall be a civil executive officer. The salary of said commissioner shall be four thousand dollars per annum, and he shall be allowed his traveling and incidental expenses necessary in the discharge of his duties. For the direction and accomplishment of his work the said commissioner may and is hereby empowered to appoint certain deputies, secretary, quarantine officers, superintendents, assistants, and clerk as hereinafter provided, who shall hold office at the pleasure of said commissioner and perform any and all duties pertaining to their office or employment which the said commissioner may require of each of them, and may be removed from office or position at any time by said commissioner filing with the secretary of state a certificate signed by said commissioner so removing such deputy, secretary, quarantine officer, superintendent, assistant, or clerk. The traveling and other necessary expenses incurred by the officers and employees herein provided for in the performance of their duties shall be paid from the funds appropriated for the support of the office of the state commissioner of horticulture. Said commissioner may arrange his office into three divisions, to wit: executive office, quarantine division, insectary and pathological division.

Said commissioner shall appoint a deputy commissioner who shall be an expert entomologist and horticulturist, and who shall perform such duties as may be required of him by said commissioner, and shall be acting commissioner in the absence of the commissioner. Such deputy commissioner shall receive a salary of two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall appoint two field deputies, each of whom shall be versed in horticulture and have a practical knowledge of the methods of control of insect pests and plant diseases. Said field deputies shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum each. Said commissioner shall appoint a secretary who shall be a civil executive officer. Said secretary shall perform all such duties as may be required of him by said commissioner. Such secretary shall receive a salary of two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall appoint a clerk whose salary shall be one thousand six hundred dollars per annum. The main office of such commissioner shall be at the city of Sacramento.

The secretary of state shall furnish and set aside at the capitol rooms suitable for offices for said commissioner, and if the secretary of state shall make and file an affidavit with the said commissioner stating that it is not possible for him, as such secretary of state, to provide and set aside an office for said commissioner in the capitol or in any state building under his control, because there is no such office or rooms available, then, and after the making and delivery of such affidavit to such commissioner, the said commissioner may rent rooms convenient and suitable for his offices at a rental not to exceed one thousand dollars per year. The office of said commissioner shall be kept open every day except holidays. Said commissioner may also keep and maintain an office in the city and county of San Francisco adequate to the purposes and requirements of the quarantine division, at a yearly rental not to exceed the sum of seven hundred fifty dollars. Said commissioner shall appoint a chief deputy quarantine officer, who shall be a skilled entomologist and particularly conversant with the nature of foreign insect pests and plant diseases and effective means of preventing their introduction, and shall have charge of the work of the quarantine division provided for in this section of this act. Such chief deputy quarantine officer shall receive a salary of two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall appoint two deputy quarantine officers who shall be competent entomologists for the purpose of quarantine work. Such deputy quarantine officers shall each receive a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall also properly maintain and operate the state insectary located on the state capitol grounds in Sacramento from funds provided by law for such purpose, and shall appoint for the work of the insectary division a superintendent of the insectary, who shall be an expert entomologist able to perform all the necessary duties with reference to the importation, rearing and distribution of beneficial insects. The salary of the superintendent of the state insectary shall be two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall appoint an assistant superintendent of the insectary, who shall be an economic entomologist, at a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum. Said commissioner shall appoint a field deputy for the insectary division, who shall be a practical entomologist and whose salary shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum. The salaries of all the officers above mentioned shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. Said commissioner may also appoint such assistants from time to time as may be required and such assistants shall receive such reasonable compensation as may be fixed by said commissioner. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 638.]

§ 2319a. Duties of commissioner of horticulture. State horticultural quarantine officer. Quarantine guardians. It shall be the duty of the state commissioner of horticulture to promote and protect the plant industry of the state; to prevent the introduction and spread of injurious insect or animal pests, plant diseases and noxious weeds; to cause to be put into execution such horticultural laws of a regulatory nature as are written into the statutes, and to introduce and distribute such insects as are useful in reducing the cost of crop production. Such commissioner shall collect books, pamphlets and periodicals and other documents containing information relating to horticulture and shall preserve the same; collect statistics and other information showing the actual condition and progress of horticulture in this state and elsewhere; correspond with horticultural societies, colleges and schools, and with the county horticultural commissioners existing or that may exist in this state, and with all other persons necessary to secure the best results to horticulture in this state. He shall require reports from county horticultural commissioners in this state, and may print the same or any part thereof as he may select, either in the form of bulletins or in his annual reports or both, as he shall deem proper. He shall issue and cause to be printed and distributed to county horticultural commissioners in this state, and to such other persons as he may deem proper, bulletins or statements containing all the information best adapted to advance the interest, business and development of horticulture in this state. Such commissioner shall be deemed to be the state horticultural quarantine officer mentioned in that certain act entitled "An act for the protection of horticulture and to prevent the introduction into this state of insects, or diseases, or animals injurious to fruit or fruit trees, vines, bushes or vegetables, and to provide for a quarantine for the enforcement of this act," which became a law under constitutional provisions without the governor's approval on March 11, 1899, for the purposes of that act, and shall be empowered to perform the duties which under that act are to be performed by the state horticultural quarantine officer; provided, that in any case where it shall become necessary in the judgment of the state commissioner of horticulture to quarantine a county or district within the state against another or other county or counties or districts within the state, or to quarantine the state or a county or district of the state against another state or a foreign country or countries then it shall be necessary that said quarantine shall be made by and with the approval of the governor as provided in this chapter.

The state commissioner of horticulture may issue commissions as quarantine guardians to the county horticultural commissioners, deputies and inspectors appointed by them. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; p. 640.]

§ 2319b. Quarantine regulations. Said commissioner may, by and with the approval of the governor, establish, maintain and enforce such quarantine regulations as may be deemed necessary to protect the nurseries, trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit-pits, fruit, seeds, vegetables or other articles of horticulture, against contagion or infestation by injurious plant disease, insects, or animal or weed pests, by establishing such quarantine at the boundaries of this state or elsewhere, within the state, and he may make and enforce, with the approval of the governor, any and all such rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary to prevent any infected or infested stock, tree, shrub, plant, vine, cutting, graft, scion, bud, fruit-pit, fruit, seeds, vegetable or other article of horticulture, from passing over any quarantine line established and proclaimed pursuant to this act, and all such articles shall, during the maintenance of such quarantine, be inspected by such commissioner or by deputies appointed in writing by said commissioner, and he and the deputies so conducting such inspection shall not permit any such article to pass over such quarantine line during such quarantine, except upon a certificate of inspection signed by such commissioner or in his name by such deputy who has made such inspection. All approvals by the governor given or made pursuant to this act shall be in writing and signed by the governor in duplicate, and one copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state and the other in the office of said commissioner before such approval shall take effect. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 641.]

§ 2319c. Quarantine against plant diseases, etc. May enter premises. Notice in writing. Upon information received by such commissioner of the existence of any infectious plant disease, insect or other animal or weed pest, new to or not generally distributed within this state, dangerous to any article, or to the interests of the plant industry of this state, or that there is a probability of the introduction of any such infectious plant disease, insect or other animal or weed pests into this state or across the boundaries thereof, he shall proceed to thoroughly investigate same and may establish, maintain and enforce quarantine as hereinbefore provided, and may make and enforce such regulations as are in his opinion, necessary to circumscribe and exterminate such infectious plant diseases, insect or other animal or weed pests and prevent the extension thereof. Such commissioner may disinfect, or take such other action with reference to, any trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit-pits, fruit, seeds, vegetables or any crops infested or infected with, or which, in his opinion may have been exposed to infection or infestation by, any such infectious plant diseases, insect or other animal or weed pests, as in his discretion shall seem necessary to carry out and give effect to the provisions of this act. Such commissioner is hereby authorized to enter upon any ground or premises to inspect the same or to inspect any tree, shrub, plant, vine, cutting, graft, scion, bud, fruit-pit, fruit, seed, vegetable or other article of horticulture or implement thereof or box or package pertaining thereto, or connected therewith or that has been used in packing, shipping or handling the same, and to open any such package, and generally to do, with the least injury possible under the conditions to property or business, all acts and things necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter; and provided, however, that whenever any nursery or other premises whereon are being grown for planting or propagation purposes any nursery stock, trees, plants, shrubs, vines or seeds is found to be infested or infected with any insect or other animal pest or plant disease not generally distributed over the state and which, in the opinion of the state commissioner of horticulture, would cause damage or be liable to cause damage to the orchards, vineyards, gardens or farms of any portion of this state, the owner or person in charge of such premises shall be notified in writing to that effect by the state commissioner of horticulture. Such written notice shall include the name or names of the insects or other animal pests or plant diseases, and known host plants thereof, together with the best known means of eradicating or controlling such insects or other animal pests or plant diseases, and it shall be unlawful knowingly to sell, offer for sale, ship or deliver for shipment the host plants of, or seeds infested or infected with, any such insect or other animal pests or plant diseases. When in the opinion of the state commissioner of horticulture such insect or other animal pests or plant disease has been eradicated or satisfactorily controlled, he shall in writing release such host plants or host seeds for sale or shipment. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 256.]

§2319d. Pests to be reported to county horticultural commissioners. Duty of commissioner. Upon the discovery of any infectious plant disease, injurious insects or weed or other pests, such commissioner shall immediately report the same to such quarantine guardians or county horticultural commissioners of the counties wherein such discovery is made, together with a statement as to the best known means or method for circumscribing, exterminating, eradicating or controlling the same, and shall state therein specifically what treatment or method should be applied in each case, as the matter may require, with a detailed statement or prescription as to the method of making or procuring and of applying any preparation or treatment so recommended therefor, and the time and duration for such treatment, and if chemicals or articles be required other than those usually obtainable in any town, the place or places where they are most readily to be obtained; and upon the receipt of such statement by any quarantine guardian or county horticultural commissioner it shall be the duty of such quarantine guardian or county horticultural commissioner to distribute such statement in written or printed form to every person owning or having charge or possession of any orchard, nursery stock, tree, shrub, plant, fruits or other article of horticulture within their county, where there may be or is likely to be any danger to the interests of horticulture, and such a statement must be served with or be a part of the notice to be given to the owner or owners or person or persons, in possession of any orchard, nursery, tree, shrub, plant, fruits or other articles of horticulture, referred to, provided for, and required to be served in and by section two thousand three hundred twenty-two of the Political Code of the State of California. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 642.]

§2319i. Nurserymen, etc., to register. License number. Agent for nurseryman. Any nurseryman, agent, jobber, person, firm or organization operating in the state of California, who ships, sells or handles nursery stock, trees, plants, shrubs or vines which are for planting or propagation purposes within the borders of the state, shall register with the state commissioner of horticulture and shall pay the same one dollar for such registration for a period of one year. The state commissioner of horticulture shall issue to each applicant a special license number, and it shall be unlawful to ship or deliver within the state of California any package or other container or shipment of nursery stock, trees, plants, shrubs or vines for planting or propagation purposes within this state, which does not bear such special license number in a conspicuous manner and place; provided, however, that an agent or agents acting as salesman for a nurseryman, jobber, person, firm or organization shall not be granted a license number but shall be required to use the license number assigned the nurseryman, jobber, person, firm or organization by whom such agent or agents are employed. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 255.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 643.

§ 2319j. Permit to ship nursery stock, etc., into state. Any nurseryman, jobber, person, firm or organization doing business without the state of California who desires to ship nursery stock, trees, plants, vines, or shrubs into this state for planting or propagation purposes from any other state, territory or district of the United States, shall first make application to the state commissioner of horticulture for a permit to so do, filing with the application a statement of the location of the nursery, or place of business owned or operated by him or them, and an official certificate of inspection of such premises signed by the state inspector of the state in which said premises are located. Permits herein provided shall be issued by the state commissioner of horticulture upon request and without making any charge therefor whenever in his judgment such permits may be issued without endangering the horticultural interests of this state. Such permits shall bear a special number, and all shipments thereafter made by any nurseryman, jobber, person, firm or organization into the state of California must contain this number affixed to the package of nursery stock, trees, plants, vines or shrubs shipped by him. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 643.]

§ 2319k. Penalty. Any person, firm, corporation, company or organization who shall violate any of the provisions of this chapter or shall willfully refuse to comply with any order lawfully made under and pursuant to this chapter shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 256.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 644.

§ 2319l. Payment of moneys. All moneys paid hereunder shall be paid by the state treasurer from moneys appropriated for the support of the officer of state commissioner of horticulture, and expenses other than the salary of the commissioner, the compensation of his deputies, secretary, quarantine officers, superintendents, assistants, and clerk, as allowed and provided by this chapter, must be certified by the said commissioner and be approved by the state board of control before being audited and paid. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 644.]

§ 2322. Petition to board of supervisors stating existence of infectious diseases, etc. List of eligibles. Term. Bond. Qualifications of commissioner. State board of horticultural examiners. Examinations. Appointments. County board of horticultural commissioners superseded. Whenever a petition is presented to the board of supervisors of any county or city and county, and signed by twenty-five or more persons each of whom is a resident freeholder and possessor of an orchard, or greenhouse or nursery, or rice fields, stating that certain or all orchards or nurseries or trees or plants of any variety or rice fields, are infested with any infectious diseases, or insects of any kind injurious to fruit, fruit trees, vines or other plants or vegetables, or that there is growing therein the Russian thistle or saltwort (Salsola kali var. tragus), Johnson grass (Sorghum halepense) or other noxious weeds, or red rice, or water-grasses or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, codlin moth or other insects, ground squirrels, gophers or other animals that are destructive to trees and plants; or that serious pests, plant diseases injurious to fruit, fruit trees, vines, or other plants or vegetables, or noxious weed seed are being shipped into the county which would cause damage or be liable to cause damage to the orchards, vineyards, gardens or farms of the county or state; and praying that a commissioner be appointed by them whose duties shall be to supervise the eradication, the control, or the destruction of said insects, ground squirrels, gopher or other animals, diseases or Russian thistle or saltwort, Johnson grass or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, when growing in fields of rice or fields adjacent thereto, or in canals or ditches used for the purpose of conveying water to rice fields for the irrigation thereof, as herein provided, the board of supervisors shall immediately notify the state board of horticultural examiners to furnish them a list of eligibles or competent persons as hereinafter provided, and from such list the said supervisors shall appoint a commissioner in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, whose term of office shall be for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified and who shall give a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his duties. The said term of office of any and all county commissioners heretofore or hereinafter appointed shall commence on the date of appointment, and be for a period of four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, at the end of which period the said term shall terminate, and said term shall run with and be attached to said office. In any case where such petition has already been presented or submitted, or is on file at the time of the passage of this act, as the basis for the appointment of a board of horticultural commissioners under this chapter as heretofore existing, such petition shall continue in full force and effect and the board of supervisors of any county, or city and county with which any such petition has been filed, or in which any board of horticultural commissioners has heretofore existed, must appoint a county horticultural commissioner. The person appointed to such position must be especially qualified for his duties and must be chosen and appointed by the board of supervisors from a list of eligible persons recommended and nominated to said board as hereinafter provided. Said appointment to be made within thirty days after receipt of said list by said board of supervisors; provided, this act shall in no wise affect any other act or acts providing for the destruction of ground squirrels or applying to the proceedings thereunder but it is intended to and does provide the alternative system of proceedings for the extermination of ground squirrels and gophers referred to in this act; and it shall be within the discretion of the governing body of each county, city and county, city or town herein mentioned to provide for the destruction of ground squirrels whether under the provisions of this act or under the provisions of such other act or acts; but when any proceedings are commenced under this act, the provisions of this act, and of such amendments as may hereafter be adopted, and no other, shall apply to all such proceedings and any provision contained in any other act or acts in conflict with the provisions hereof shall be void and of no effect as to the proceedings commenced under the provisions of this act.

The said board of supervisors shall provide a suitable office for the said county horticultural commissioner, and shall furnish and equip the said office with all necessary furniture and effects for the proper discharge of the commissioner's duties. The said board of supervisors may also provide the county horticultural commissioner with all necessary field equipment for the proper discharge of the duties of his office. All expense ordered by the board of supervisors for such office, furniture and equipment, and for stenographic and other office help and expense shall be a county charge and the board of supervisors shall allow and pay the same out of the general fund of the county. A state board of horticultural examiners is hereby created consisting of the dean of the agricultural college of the University of California, the state commissioner of horticulture and the superintendent of the state insectary, who are ex-officio members of said board. They shall serve without pay and said board shall provide convenient means for the examination of candidates for appointment as horticultural commissioner. While in the performance of their duties as members of said board they shall be allowed all their necessary expenses for traveling, printing, postage and other incidental matters to be paid out of any appropriations made for the support of the office of the state commissioner of horticulture. At least thirty days before the date of the examination of candidates for the said appointment the state board of horticultural examiners shall post or cause to be posted in three public places in said county a notice of the time and place at which such examination will be held, setting forth the conditions and subjects of said examination. At the time and place stated in said notice such examination shall be held. Said examination shall be in writing and the board of horticultural examiners may appoint one of their own number, or some other reliable, competent person to conduct the holding of such examination in each county and forward the papers of each applicant to the board for consideration. Within twenty days after the examination is held said examiners shall certify to the board of supervisors of the county, or city and county for which the examination was had, the names of such persons examined as they deem competent and qualified for the office and from the list of names so certified the supervisors shall, within thirty days after the receipt of said list of names, appoint a horticultural commissioner.

If for any reason the board of supervisors refuse or neglect to appoint a county horticultural commissioner at the expiration of the thirty days, or if they refuse or neglect to appoint a county horticultural commissioner to fill an unexpired term as elsewhere provided in this act, then the state board of horticultural examiners shall select and appoint a county horticultural commissioner from the list of qualified persons certified to the board of supervisors of that county, whose term of officer shall be for four years, and until his successor has qualified. Whenever the state board of horticultural examiners shall appoint a county horticultural commissioner as herein provided, then the county board of supervisors must provide for the payment of such appointee's compensation and expenses in the same manner as if such appointment had been made by the board of supervisors. As far as possible the board of horticultural examiners shall consult the resident horticulturists of the county in determining the responsibility and moral qualifications of candidates for appointment as commissioners and whose names they certify to the boards of supervisors of the several counties. If no person or persons present themselves for examination before said board of horticultural examiners or if after such examination no person is found qualified, the state board of horticultural examiners shall name five competent persons and certify them to the board of supervisors and from these names the board of supervisors shall, within thirty days after the receipt thereof, appoint a county horticultural commissioner, and in such event the commissioner so appointed shall hold office for the term of one year. In case of vacancy in the office of the horticultural commissioner the vacancy shall be filled first from the list of eligibles certified to the board of supervisors under the provisions of this chapter, and if there be no person named on the said list of eligible persons as in this section first above provided, then said vacancy shall be filled from the list of competent persons named as in this section last above provided, and if said vacancy shall be filled from the said list of eligibles, the said person so appointed shall hold for the balance of the unexpired term, and if the said vacancy be filled from the said list of competent persons, the said person shall hold for the balance of the unexpired term, if the said unexpired term be not longer than one year, but if said unexpired term be longer than one year then such person shall not by virtue of such appointment hold longer than one year from the date of his appointment.

At the expiration of the term of office of the county horticultural commissioner, the state board of horticultural examiners shall submit to the board of supervisors of that county where such term shall have expired a new list of qualified persons who shall have qualified before said board of horticultural examiners by examination as provided in this section, such list to include without further examination any person who has previously qualified before the state board of horticultural examiners, and who has held office as county horticultural commissioner or deputy horticultural commissioner for a term of at least two years immediately preceding the expiration of the term of county horticultural commissioner and in the county where such term shall have expired.

Whenever elsewhere in the laws of this state reference is made to a county board of horticultural commissioners such reference must be understood to mean or relate to the county horticultural commissioner herein provided for and said county board of horticultural commissioners and the members thereof shall cease to exist; provided, that all county boards of horticultural commissioners existing at the time of the passage of this act shall continue in office, with full power as heretofore existing until the election or appointment to succeed them of a county horticultural commissioner under the provisions of this act.

Upon the petition of twenty-five resident freeholders each of whom is possessed of an orchard, greenhouse or nursery, the state board of horticultural examiners may disqualify a county horticultural commissioner for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office after a hearing of the petition. Such hearing must be held at the county seat of the county where such petition is filed, and notice in writing of the time and place of such hearing and a copy of the petition must be served on the accused horticultural commissioner at least ten days prior to the date of said hearing. At such hearing the state board of examiners shall hear such evidence as is offered and thereafter make an order, either sustaining or disqualifying the accused. In case of such disqualification the board of supervisors of the county where the county horticultural commissioner has been disqualified shall upon the request of the state board of horticultural examiners remove said commissioner of horticulture and shall immediately proceed to fill the said office for the unexpired term as in cases of vacancy as hereinbefore provided. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 627.]

§ 2322a. Duty of commissioner. Notice to destroy pests. When pests are on public property. Nonresident owners. Declared a public nuisance. Expense of abating. Lien. Power to abate. Fumigators and sprayers. Certificate. It shall be the duty of the county horticultural commissioner in each county, whenever he shall deem it necessary to cause an inspection to be made of any premises, orchards or nurseries, or trees, plants, vegetables, vines or fruits, or any fruit-packing house, storeroom, salesroom, or any other place or article in his jurisdiction, and if found infected or infested with infectious diseases, scale insects, or codlin moth, or other insect or animal pests injurious to fruits, plants, vegetables, trees or vines, or with their eggs or larvae, or if there is found growing thereon the Russian thistle or saltwort, Johnson grass or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, he shall in writing notify the owner or owners, or person or persons in charge, or in possession of the said places or orchards or nurseries, or trees or plants, vegetables, vines, or rice fields, or fields adjacent to rice fields, or canals or ditches used for the purpose of conveying water to rice fields for the irrigation thereof, or fruit, or article as aforesaid, that the same are infected or infested with said diseases, insects, animals or other pests, or any of them or their eggs, or larvae, or that the Russian thistle or saltwort, Johnson grass or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, is growing thereon, and require such person or persons, to eradicate, or destroy or to control, to the satisfaction of the county horticultural commissioner the said insects, animals or other pests, or their eggs or larvae, or Russian thistle or saltwort, Johnson grass or other noxious weeds or red rice, or water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, within a certain time to be therein specified. Said notices may be served upon the person or persons, or either of them, owning or having charge, or having possession of such infested place or orchard or nursery, or trees, plants, vegetables, vines, or fruit, or articles, as aforesaid, or premises where the Russian thistle or saltwort, Johnson grass or other noxious weeds or red rice, water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, shall be growing, or upon the agents of either, by any commissioner, or by any person deputed by the said commissioner for that purpose in the same manner as a summons in a civil action. In case infectious diseases, scale insects, codlin moth, or other insect or animal pests injurious to fruit, plants, vegetables, trees, or vines, or their eggs, or larvae, are found to exist on trees or shrubs in public parks or along streets, highways, or other property subject to the control of a city or county government, or if there is found growing in any public park, street, highway or on other property subject to the control of a city or county government any Russian thistle, or saltwort, Johnson grass, or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, when said public park, street, highway, or other property subject to the control of the city or county government is adjacent to rice fields, or canals or ditches used for the purpose of conveying water to rice fields for the irrigation thereof, then said notice in writing shall be served on the chairman of the governing body of said city or county, and in case the work of eradication, or of control, or of destruction of the said pests, diseases, or noxious weeds in the said public parks, streets, highways, or other public property shall be performed by the county horticultural commissioner, then the cost thereof shall become a city or county charge, as the case may be, and shall be paid from the general fund of said city or county; provided, however, that if any such infected or infested articles, property or premises as hereinabove specified belong to any person who is not a resident of the county, and there is no person in control or possession thereof, and such nonresident person has no tenant, bailee, depositary or agent upon whom service can be had; or if the owner or owners of any such articles, property or premises cannot after due diligence be found, then such notice may be served by posting the same in some conspicuous place upon such articles, property or premises, and by mailing a copy thereof to the owner thereof at his last known place of residence, if the same is known or can be ascertained; or if not known then to the county seat of the county wherein said property is situated. Any and all such places, or orchards, or nurseries, or rice fields or fields adjacent to rice fields, or canals or ditches used for the purpose of conveying water to rice fields for the irrigation thereof, or trees, plants, shrubs, vegetables, vines, fruits, or articles thus infested or infected, or premises where the Russian thistle or saltwort or Johnson grass or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture, or where any squirrels, gophers or other predatory animals shall be found are hereby adjudged and declared to be a public nuisance; and whenever any such nuisance shall exist at any place within his county, and the proper notice thereof shall have been served as herein provided, and such nuisance shall not have been abated within the time specified in such notice, it shall be the duty of the county horticultural commissioner to cause said nuisance to be at once abated, by eradicating, or by controlling, or by destroying said diseases, insects, animals or other pests, or their eggs, or larvae, or Russian thistle or saltwort, or Johnson grass or other noxious weeds, or red rice, water-grasses, or other weeds or grasses detrimental to rice culture. The expense thereof shall be a county charge, and the board of supervisors shall allow and pay the same out of the general fund of the county; any and all sum or sums so paid shall be and become a lien on the property and premises from which said nuisance has been removed or abated in pursuance of this chapter. A notice of such lien shall be filed and recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the said property and premises are situated within thirty days after the right to the said lien has accrued. An action to foreclose said lien shall be commenced within ninety days after the filing and recording of said notice of lien, which action shall be brought in the proper court by the district attorney of the county in the name and for the benefit of the county making such payment or payments, and when the property is sold, enough of the proceeds shall be paid into the county treasury of such county to satisfy the lien and costs; and the overplus, if any there be, shall be paid to the owner of the property, if he be known, and if not, into the court for his use when ascertained.

Whenever a notice of eradication, or of control, or of destruction is served on any person or persons, the county horticultural commissioner may, at his option, cause a copy thereof to be filed for record in the office of the county recorder within which the said property is situated, and if the said property is encumbered with a mortgage, lien, contract, option, bond, or other encumbrance, the said county horticultural commissioner may, at his option, cause a copy thereof to be served on the person or persons holding such encumbrance.

Whenever a lien is filed on a piece of property for the purpose of collection of such sums as have been expended in the eradication, or in the control, or in the destruction of insects, diseases, weeds, or animals found upon such property and a copy of a notice of the eradication, or of the control, or of the destruction shall have been filed in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein such property is situated, and served on the person or persons holding any such encumbrance, as hereinabove provided, then such lien shall take precedence over and be paramount to all other liens upon the said land excepting only the lien of taxes.

The county horticultural commissioner is hereby vested with the power to cause any and all such nuisances to be at once abated in a summary manner.

The county horticultural commissioner shall have power and authority to prescribe and enforce rules for the examination and qualification of fumigators or sprayers who desire to engage in such business for hire, and to issue certificates to all persons whom he shall find by examination or otherwise to be duly qualified for engaging in such work. Such certificate shall be revocable whenever the county horticultural commissioner shall deem such revocation necessary. No person shall be permitted to engage in the business of fumigating or spraying for hire within the state of California for the purpose of controlling or eradicating plant pests or diseases, who has not first secured a certificate in the manner herein provided. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 631.]

§ 2322c. Record and report of commissioner. It is the duty of the said county horticultural commissioner to keep a record of his official doings, and to make a report to the state commissioner of horticulture on or before the first day of October of each year of the condition of the horticultural interests in their several districts, what is being done to eradicate, or to control, or to destroy insect pests, also as to disinfecting, and as to quarantine against insect and other pests and diseases, and as to the carrying out of all laws relative to the greatest good of the horticultural interests, and to furnish from time to time to the state commissioner of horticulture such other information as he may require. Said state commissioner of horticulture may publish such reports in bulletin form or may incorporate so much of the same in his annual report as may be of general interest. It is also made the duty of the county horticultural commissioner to advise himself with reference to all infectious diseases, scale insects or codlin moth or other pests injurious to fruit, plants, vegetables, trees or vines, and with their eggs or larvae and all noxious weeds or grasses or animal pests that may exist in his county or be likely to exist therein and for the purpose of so advising himself and of eradicating and preventing injury from such causes, and for the purpose of advising himself on the best and most efficacious methods of performing his duties and conducting his office he shall attend the annual meeting of the state association of county horticultural commissioners, and such other meetings as the state commissioner of horticulture shall require, and he shall be paid his per diem compensation and traveling expenses while so engaged, or while on any service that requires him to go outside the county when the performance of such service has been authorized by the board of supervisors, or the state commissioner of horticulture. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 634.]

§ 2322d. Salaries of inspectors, deputy and commissioner. The salary of inspectors working under the county horticultural commissioner is three dollars and fifty cents per day, and the necessary traveling expenses. The salary of the deputy shall be five dollars per day when in the actual performance of his duties, and the necessary traveling expenses. In the case of the commissioner himself his compensation shall be fixed by the board of supervisors, either at not less than one thousand eight hundred dollars per year, or at not less than six dollars per day when actually engaged in the performance of his duties. He shall also be allowed the necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his regular duties as prescribed in this chapter. [Amendment approved May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 634.]

§ 2322f. Notice of arrival of imported nursery stock, etc. Any person, persons, firm or corporation, who shall receive, bring, or cause to be brought into any county or locality of the state of California from another county or locality within said state any nursery stock, trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, or fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed, for the purpose of planting or propagating the same, or any or all such shipments of nursery stock, trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, or fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed or containers thereof or other orchard appliances, which the county horticultural commissioner or the state commissioner of horticulture may consider liable to be infested or infected with dangerous insect pests or plant diseases or noxious weed seeds and which if so infested or infected would constitute a dangerous menace to the orchards, farms and gardens of the county or state, shall immediately after the arrival thereof notify the county commissioner of horticulture, his deputy, or nearest inspector of the county in which such nursery stock, or fruit or vegetables, or seed, are received, of their arrival, and hold the same without unnecessarily moving or placing such articles where they may be harmful, for immediate inspection by such county commissioner of horticulture, his deputy, inspector, or deputy quarantine officer or guardian. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 635.]

§ 2322g. Marking of shipments. Manifests. Each carload, case, package, crate, bale, or bundle of trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed, imported or brought into any county of the state of California from another county within said state for planting or propagation purposes, shall have plainly and legibly marked thereon in a conspicuous manner and place, the name and address of the shipper, owner or owners, or person forwarding or shipping same, and also the name of the person, firm or corporation to whom the same is forwarded or shipped, or his or its responsible agents. A manifest showing the contents of each shipment, also the name of the locality where the contents were grown and a statement of the contents therein shall be made to the county horticultural commissioner having jurisdiction at the point of destination when shipment is made. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 636.]

§ 2322h. Infected shipments public nuisance. Shipment disinfected. When returned or destroyed. When disinfected. When any shipment of nursery stock, trees, vines, plants, shrubs, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed, imported or brought into any county or locality of the state of California from another county or locality within such state, is found to be infested or infected with any species of injurious insects, or their eggs, larvae or pupae, or other animal or plant diseases or noxious weed seeds which would cause damage or be liable to cause damage to the orchards, vineyards, gardens or farms of any county of the state of California, all material in shipment found to be so infested or infected shall be deemed a public nuisance, shall be refused delivery, and shall be immediately returned to the point of shipment or destroyed, at the option and expense of the owner or owners, or his or their responsible agents. The remainder of such shipment shall be disinfected under the directions of the county horticultural commissioner making such inspection and in a manner as provided for in section two thousand three hundred twenty-two of this act; provided, however, that when any shipment of nursery stock, trees, vines, plants, shrubs, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed or their containers or orchard appliances imported or brought into any county or locality of the state of California from another county or locality within said state, is found to be infested or infected with any species of injurious insects, or their eggs, larvae, or pupae, or other injurious animal or plant diseases or noxious weed seeds not known to exist in the county or locality in which said shipment is delivered, or if there is reasonable cause to presume it may be so infested or infected the entire shipment shall be refused admittance and shall be immediately returned to point of shipment or destroyed at the option and expense of the owner or owners, or his or their responsible agents; provided, further, that when any shipment of nursery stock, trees, vines, plants, shrubs, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, fruit pits, or fruit or vegetables, or seed, imported or brought into any county or locality of the state of California from another county or locality within said state, is found to be infested or infected with any species of injurious insects or their eggs, larvae or pupae, or plant diseases or noxious weed seeds which are of common occurrence in the county or locality into which it is shipped or transported, and which may be exterminated by such treatment as may be prescribed in section two thousand three hundred twenty-two i of this act and under the direction of the county horticultural commissioner of the county in which it is received, the same may be disinfected or cleaned at the expense of the owner or owners or his or their responsible agents, in a manner satisfactory to the county horticultural commissioner making the inspection, and after such treatment the shipment may be delivered to the consignee. Any and every provision of this act relating to shipment or transportation of nursery stock, trees, shrubs, plants, vines, cuttings, grafts, scions, buds, or fruit pits, or fruit, or vegetables, or seed from one county of the state of California to another county of said state, shall apply equally and identically to such shipment or transportation of such articles from one locality to another locality within the same county of said state. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 636.]

§ 2322i. Names of insects, etc., promulgated. Advice on treatment. The state commissioner of horticulture is hereby empowered and directed from time to time to ascertain and determine, and promulgate the names and descriptions of insects, animals and diseases that may cause injury to orchards, vineyards, gardens, fruit or nut bearing or ornamental trees, vines, plants, nursery stock, fruit, nuts, vegetables or seed, and to ascertain, and advise the proper methods of treatment, disposal and disinfection of nursery stock, trees, vines, plants, fruit, nuts, vegetables or seed, and the containers thereof which may be found to be infested or infected with, or which may have been exposed to infection or infestation by any such insect or its eggs, larvae or pupae, or any such animal or plant diseases. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 637.]

§ 2323j. Penalty. Any person, persons, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding six months or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. [New section added May 17, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 638.]

§ 2524. Possession and control of portion of bay of San Francisco. Boundaries. Jurisdiction of harbor commissioners. Seawalls. Wharves. Repairs. Preserving piles. Contracts. Dockage. Rules. Landings. Leases. Railroads. Spur-tracks. The commissioners shall have possession and control of that portion of the bay of San Francisco, together with all the improvements, rights, privileges, easements, appurtenances connected therewith, or in any wise appertaining thereto, for the purposes in this article provided (excepting such parcels thereof as are held by the lessees, or their assigns, on valid leases, which parcels so held it is hereby made the duty of the commissioners to take possession of, together with the improvements thereon, as soon as said leases terminate, and also to see that the lessees, or their successors or assigns, do not exercise rights and privileges that are not conferred by said leases), bounded as follows, to wit: Commencing at the point where the easterly line of the Presidio reservation intersects the water-line front, as established by the board of state tide-land commissioners; thence easterly along said water-line front to the center of Webster street; thence southerly along the center of Webster street to the center of Lewis street; thence easterly along the center of Lewis street to the center of Polk street; thence southerly along the center of Polk street to the center of Tonquin street; thence easterly along the center of Tonquin street to the center of Larkin street; thence southerly along the center of Larkin street to the center of Jefferson street; thence easterly along the center of Jefferson street to the center of Powell street; thence southerly along the center of Powell street to the center of Beach street; thence easterly along the center of Beach street to the center of Dupont street; thence southerly along the center of Dupont street to the center of North Point street; thence easterly along the center of North Point street to the center of Kearny street; thence southerly along the center of Kearny street to the center of Francisco street; thence easterly along the center of Francisco street to the center of Montgomery street; thence southerly along the center of Montgomery street to the center of Chestnut street; thence easterly along the center of Chestnut street to the center of Sansome street; thence southerly along the center of Sansome street to the center of Lombard street; thence easterly along the center of Lombard street to the center of Battery street; thence southerly along the center of Battery street to the center of Greenwich street; thence easterly along the center of Greenwich street to the center of Front street; thence southerly along the center of Front street to the center of Vallejo street; thence easterly along the center of Vallejo street to the center of Davis street; thence southerly along the center of Davis street to the center of Pacific street; thence easterly along the center of Pacific street to the westerly line of East street; thence southerly along the westerly line of East street to the center of Folsom street; thence westerly along the center of Folsom street to the center of Steuart street; thence southerly along the center of Steuart street to the center of Harrison street; thence southerly on a direct line with said Steuart street two hundred fifty-three feet nine inches, to the center of a street the name of which is not on the map; thence at right angles westerly along the center of said street to the center of Spear street; thence southerly along the center of Spear street to the center of Bryant street; thence westerly along the center of Bryant street to the center of Beale street; thence southerly along the center of Beale street to the center of Brannan street; thence westerly along the center of Brannan street to the center of First street; thence southerly along the center of First street to the center of Townsend street; thence westerly along the center of Townsend street five hundred fifty feet, to the center of a street the name of which is not on a map; thence at right angles southerly along the center of said street to the center of King street; thence westerly along the center of King street to the center of Second street; thence southerly along the center of Second street to the center of Berry street; thence westerly along the center of Berry street to the center of Third street; thence southerly along the center of Third street to the northerly line of Channel street; thence westerly along the last-mentioned line to the easterly line of Fifth street; thence southerly along said last-mentioned line to the southerly line of said Channel street; thence easterly along said last-mentioned line to the center of Kentucky street; thence southerly along the center of Kentucky street to the center of Fourth street; thence along the center of Fourth street to the center of Louisiana street; thence southerly along the center of Louisiana street to the center of El Dorado street; thence westerly along the center of El Dorado street to the center of Illinois street; thence southerly along the center of Illinois street to the center of Solano street; thence easterly along the center of Solano street to the waterfront line established by the board of state tide-land commissioners; thence southerly along said last-mentioned line to the center of Tulare street; thence westerly along the center of Tulare street to the center of Texas street; thence southerly along the center of Texas street to the center of Islais street; thence easterly along the center of Islais street to the center of Waterfront street; thence southerly along the center of Waterfront street to the center of India street; thence westerly, southerly and easterly along the center of said India street to the center of Waterfront street, to the center of China street; thence westerly along the center of China street to the center of Third avenue; thence southerly along the center of Third avenue to the northerly line of the property of the California Dry Dock Company; thence easterly along said last-mentioned line to the waterfront established by the board of state tide-land commissioners; thence southerly along and around said Dry Dock Company's land to the southeasterly corner thereof; thence westerly along the line of said land to the center of Waterfront street; thence southerly along the center of Waterfront street to the center of Nineteenth avenue; thence westerly along the center of Nineteenth avenue to the center of Dock street; thence southerly along the line of Dock street to the center of Twenty-third avenue; thence westerly along the center of Twenty-third avenue to the center of H street; thence southerly along the center of H street to the center of Twenty-fourth avenue; thence easterly along the center of Twenty-fourth avenue to the center of Waterfront street; thence southerly along the center of said Waterfront street to the southern boundary of the city and county of San Francisco; thence along the southerly, easterly and northerly boundary lines of said city and county to a point due north of the place of commencement, and thence south to the place of commencement. But no harbor embankment of seawall shall be constructed outside of the following named points and lines, to wit: Commencing at the point where the eastern boundary line of the Presidio reservation, extended in a northerly direction, intersects the three-fathom contour line shown upon the chart of the United States survey, and running thence in an easterly and southerly direction, upon straight or curved lines, in such a manner as to approach as near as practicable the extreme outer projections of the water-line front, as described in an act to provide for the disposition of certain property of the state of California, passed March twenty-sixth, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and fifty-one, to a point at or near the intersection of Second and Berry streets; thence continuing southerly, upon straight or curved lines, in such a manner as to approach as near as practicable the extreme outer projections of the water-line front, as established by the board of state tide-land commissioners, to the southerly boundary of said city and county of San Francisco; and said commissioners, in addition to a general control over said premises shall have authority to use for loading and landing merchandise, with a right to collect dockage, wharfage and tolls thereon, such portion of the streets of the city and county of San Francisco, ending or fronting upon the waters of said bay as may be used for such purposes without obstructing the same as thoroughfares; and authority to rent an office in the city and county of San Francisco, between Montgomery, Market and Pacific streets and the city front; and purchase from time to time suitable books for the records of the secretary and accounts of the wharfingers, together with such stationery as may be required by the board; and to fix and regulate, from time to time, the rates of dockage, wharfage, crannage, tolls and rents; and collect such an amount of revenue therefrom as will enable the commissioners to perform the duties required of them by authority of this article. The commissioners shall construct such number of wharves as the wants of commerce shall require, and shall locate such wharves at such points and upon such lines as the board may deem most suitable for the best interests of commerce, and shall repair and maintain all the wharves, piers, quays, landings and thoroughfares the wants of commerce may require, and generally to erect all such improvements as may be necessary for the safe landing, loading and unloading, and protection of all classes of merchandise, and for the safety and convenience of passengers passing into and out of the city and county of San Francisco by water. And for the purpose of repairing said wharves, piers, quays and landings, the commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase or construct pile-drivers, and the necessary machinery to be used therewith, and employ men for operating the same; nor shall any such wharf be constructed upon such place or line as will cause any slip or dock to be less than one hundred and thirty-six feet wide at the most narrow point between the wharves. The commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase or construct works for preserving piles and timber, and the necessary machinery to be used therewith, and operate said works, and for that purpose to employ men and purchase chemicals, or such other materials as may be necessary for the preserving of piles and timber. The purchase of chemicals can be made without advertising for proposals therefor. When they determine that a new wharf shall be erected, or any other necessary improvement constructed, or repairs made, or dredging machines, pile-drivers, scows, steam tugs, or any necessary machinery or material obtained, the costs of which shall exceed three thousand dollars, they shall advertise for sealed proposals for a period not less than ten days, in one or more of the daily newspapers in the city and county of San Francisco. Every proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check for an amount equal to five per cent of the amount of such proposal, such check to be made payable to the order of the secretary of said board; conditioned, if the proposal is accepted and the contract awarded, and if the bidder shall fail or neglect to execute the contract and give the bond required within six days after the award is made, in that case, the said sum mentioned in said check shall be paid into the state treasury by said secretary, as liquidated damages for such failure and neglect, as a portion of the San Francisco harbor improvement fund. Such advertisement shall contain a general description of the work to be done, the material to be used, the place where to be used, and must refer to specifications, which must contain a full and accurate description of the work to be performed, the material to be used, and where it is to be used; which specifications shall be kept in the office of the secretary of the board in such manner that all persons may inspect the same during the usual business hours of all days except Sundays and holidays. On a day named in the advertisement, the commissioners shall open the bids in the presence of such bidders as are present, and award the contract to the lowest bidder, who shall furnish sufficient sureties to guarantee the performance of the work. If, in the opinion of the commissioners, the bids are too high, they may reject them, and advertise anew in like manner as before. If, in the opinion of the commissioners, the second bids are too high, they may reject them likewise, and enter into contract with responsible parties without giving further notice. Any contract entered into without giving public notice and receiving bids, must be at least ten per cent lower than the lowest rejected bid. The board may construct such harbor embankment or seawall as shall be necessary to protect the harbor of San Francisco, and dredge such number of slips and docks as the commerce of the port of San Francisco may require, to a depth that will admit of the easy and free ingress and egress of all classes of water craft that load and discharge cargoes at the wharves, piers, quays, landings, and thoroughfares in the harbor of San Francisco; to perform which dredging the board of state harbor commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase or construct dredging machines, scows, steam tugs, and the necessary machinery, and employ men for operating the same. When any portion of the premises described in this article shall be dredged, the sand, mud, or other substance shall be deposited in a place designated by the board, in not less than fifteen fathoms of water. All classes of water craft that uses or makes fast to any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare, and lands upon or loads therefrom any goods, wares, or merchandise, shall be liable and must pay the commissioners such rates of dockage as shall be fixed by authority of this article; and all such water craft as shall discharge or receive any goods, wares, or merchandise, while moored in any slip, dock or basin within the jurisdiction of the commissioners, shall pay one-half the regular rates of dockage. Any water craft that shall leave any wharf, pier, quay, landing, thoroughfare, slip, dock, or basin, unless forced to do so by stress of weather, without first paying the dockage due from such vessel, shall be liable to pay double the regular rates. The charge for wharfage and tolls shall be a lien upon all goods, wares and merchandise landed upon any of the wharves, piers, quays, landings or thoroughfares upon the premises described in this article; and the commissioners, their agents or lessees, may hold possession of any such goods, wares, or merchandise so landed as aforesaid, to secure the payment of such wharfage and tolls; and for the purpose of such lien are deemed to have possession of such goods, wares and merchandise so landed until such charge for wharfage and tolls are paid. The commissioners shall have power to make reasonable rules and regulations concerning the control and management of the property of the state which is intrusted to them by virtue of this article, and said commissioners are hereby authorized and required to make, without delay, and from time to time, and publish not less than thirty days in a daily newspaper of general circulation published in the city and county of San Francisco, all needful rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of the state or of the United States in relation to the mooring and anchoring of vessels in said harbor, providing and maintaining free, open, and unobstructed passageways for steam ferry-boats and other steamers navigating the waters of the bay of San Francisco and the fresh-water tributaries of said bay so that such steamers can conveniently make their trips without impediment from vessels at anchor or other obstacles. And said commissioners may also make all needful rules and regulations governing the removal of such vessels from the wharves and other landings, and from slips and docks as are not engaged in receiving or discharging cargo, prescribing the time during which goods, wares, and merchandise landed upon any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare shall be permitted to remain thereon, and may divide the same into several classes, and may, by such rules and regulations, provide that in case any such goods, wares, or merchandise remain upon any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare beyond the term so prescribed, the respective wharfinger may, under the order of the commissioners, remove and deposit the same in a suitable place, at the charge, risk, and expense of the owner thereof. When any goods, wares, or merchandise shall have remained upon any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare more than twenty-four hours, the commissioners may, in their discretion, charge such additional rates for each subsequent day as in their opinion is just and equitable. The commissioners may, in their discretion, set apart and assign for the exclusive use of the water craft used by the officers of the federal government, such convenient and safe landings as such officers may require, together with suitable premises near such landings as may be set apart and assigned for their use, upon which premises such officers may cause to be erected offices and storehouses to suit their convenience; and the commissioners shall charge a reasonable compensation per month for the use of such landings and office and storehouse premises; set apart and assign a suitable and proper locality for the use of the harbor police of the city and county of San Francisco, and also a suitable place for a boathouse station, for the exclusive use of the quarantine and health officers of said city and county, without compensation; set apart and assign, for the exclusive use of steam ferry-boats, suitable slips, in which such structures may be erected as will secure the safe and convenient landing of passengers and safe landing and delivery of freight; set apart and assign suitable wharves, berths, or landings for the exclusive use of vessels; to construct suitable sheds, gates and other temporary structures as may be necessary for the safe and convenient landing of passengers and safe landing and delivery of freight; and set apart and assign, for the sole and exclusive use of the fishermen of the city and county of San Francisco, such place or places as the said commissioners shall deem proper, sufficient, and adapted for the requirements and necessities of said fishermen; provided, the premises set apart by said commissioners shall be used only for the legitimate business of said fishermen, and for no other purpose; and provided, said commission shall charge said fishermen for the use thereof such rates as said commission shall fix from time to time. The commissioners may assign suitable places for the landing of horses, cattle, sheep, swine; and when such places have been assigned, it shall be a misdemeanor for a commander of any water craft to land any greater number than ten at any one time from any water craft at any other place. The commissioners may set apart, for the uses and purposes of drydocks and marine railways, such portions of the waterfront northwesterly of the northerly end of Kearny street, and southerly of the easterly end of Solano street, as the wants of commerce may require. The commissioners shall not have the right to renew any lease, or to lease any premises under their control for any purpose whatever, except as otherwise specially provided, but they may permit any property under their control to be used by any corporation, firm, association, person, or company, but in no case shall any corporation, firm, association, person, or company enjoy the use of any of the property under the commissioners' charge, except such use as shall be terminated as herein provided; and the said commissioners may condemn, purchase, and pay a reasonable compensation for such structures as may have been erected upon the said premises, which structures, in the opinion of the board and engineer may be useful for such commercial purposes as this article is intended to promote. No person or company shall land or remove any goods, wares or merchandise, or other things, upon or from any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare situated upon the premises described in this article; nor shall any corporation, firm, association, company or person collect dockage, wharfage, cranage, or toll within the boundaries of the premises described in this article, without first obtaining permission to do so from said commissioners. Any use permitted of the property by the commissioners may be terminated at any time by them, on thirty days' previous notice to the party or parties so using the same. Said board may, when the wants of commerce require, lay down such number of tracks along and on any portion of said waterfront as may be necessary to meet such wants, and permit the use thereof to any corporation or association, or any person or persons, under such rules, regulations, and at such compensation as said board may determine; and make such agreements with persons, firms and corporations owning spur or industry tracks relative to the use by the state of such tracks as said board may determine to be necessary; provided, that no special privileges shall be awarded thereon to any corporation, association, person or persons; provided, that nothing herein shall apply to or restrict the use of any premises leased for terminal facilities under or by reason of an act of the legislature entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled "An act to amend section six of an act entitled 'An act concerning the waterfront of the city and county of San Francisco,' approved March 15, 1878, and to confer further powers upon the board of state harbor commissioners," approved March 17, 1880,' approved March 19, 1889, conferring further powers upon said board," approved March 26, 1895, and which has not been declared forfeited by the board of harbor commissioners; and provided, further, that switches from said railroad track or tracks may, with the permission of said board, and under the limitations and conditions of this act, be constructed by corporations, or any person or persons, leading to any warehouse or place of business. Nor shall any person or company place, or cause to be placed, any obstructions in that portion of the bay of San Francisco described in this article, nor upon any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare, without the consent of the board. Whenever any wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare in the harbor of San Francisco shall be encumbered, or their free use interfered with, by goods, wares, merchandise, or other substance, whether loose, or built upon, or fixed to any such wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare, it shall be the duty of the commissioners to notify, in writing (which service may be served by a wharfinger, or the secretary or assistant secretary of the board), the owner, agent, or occupant, or person placing or keeping such obstruction thereon, to remove the same within twenty-four hours after the serving of such notice; and in case of failure to comply with such notice, and remove such obstructions, the owner, agent, occupant, or person notified shall be liable to pay the commissioners the sum of twenty-five dollars for each and every day during which such obstruction shall remain upon any such wharf, pier, quay, landing, or thoroughfare; and the commissioners shall have power, in their discretion, to remove any such encumbering substance, and store the same in any suitable, convenient, and safe place, and a sum equal to the amount of the expenses of the removal, together with all other necessary charges, shall be paid by the owner of such encumbering substance to the commissioners, and such sum and necessary charges shall be a lien on such substance until paid. Dockage shall not be collected on any vessel lying at anchor outside of dock, wharf, or slip. Nothing in this section shall be construed as authorizing the board of harbor commissioners to construct any railroad along and upon any open canal extending inland from said waterfront. But said harbor commissioners may, when a waterfront railroad shall be constructed by them, construct the same across the outlet of such open canal.

§ 2. Repealed. All acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

§ 3. Time of taking effect. This act shall take effect and be in force immediately after its passage. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 343.]

§ 2528. Disposition of moneys collected by state harbor commissioners. All moneys collected shall be paid into the state treasury and be credited to the San Francisco harbor improvement fund, at least once in each month, except so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the salaries of officers and employees, office rent, cost of office furniture, books, stationery, lights, fuel, expense of dredging, expense of pile-driving and piles, expense of preserving piles and timber, cleaning the wharves and bulkheads, legal and other incidental expenses, and in addition ten thousand dollars per month for urgent repairs, which last sum, if so much be required, may be used in repairing the wharves, piers, landings, thoroughfares, sheds, and other structures, and the streets bounding on the waterfront under the jurisdiction of the board, without advertising for proposals therefor. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 486.]

§ 2552. Salaries of harbor commissioners, etc. The monthly salaries of the officers of the board shall be as follows: The president, four hundred sixteen and sixty-six hundredths dollars; each of the other two commissioners, two hundred fifty dollars; the secretary, two hundred fifty dollars; the attorney, two hundred dollars; the wharfingers, not less than one hundred sixty dollars nor more than one hundred seventy-five dollars; and the collectors, one hundred twenty-five dollars. The board must fix the compensation of the other employees. Said salaries and compensation shall be paid out of the San Francisco harbor improvement fund. No ex-officio officer nor consulting engineer shall receive any compensation, except traveling and other incidental expenses. The president shall be chief executive officer of the board and business manager of harbor affairs and shall actively superintend and supervise the conduct of the dock system and the state belt railway and all other departments of the harbor business. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1208.]

§ 2643. Powers of supervisors over roads. The boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state shall have general supervision over the roads within their respective counties. They must by proper order:

(1) Surveys, etc. Cause to be surveyed, viewed, laid out, recorded, opened, and worked, such highways as are necessary to public convenience, as in this chapter provided.

(2) Record highways. Cause to be recorded as highways all highways which have become such by usage, dedication or abandonment to the public, or by any other means provided by law, and to prepare and record proper deeds and titles thereto.

(3) Abandon. Abolish or abandon such as are not necessary.

(4) Right of way. Acquire the right of way over private property for the use of public highways, and for that purpose require the district attorney to institute proceedings, under Title seven, Part three, of the Code of Civil Procedure, and to pay therefor from the general road fund or the district road fund of the county.

(5) Road tax. Levy a property tax for road purposes.

(6) Guide-posts. Cause to be erected and maintained, at the intersections and crossings of highways, guide-posts, properly inscribed.

(7) Apportionment of road tax. Cause the road tax collected each year to be apportioned to the several road districts entitled thereto, and kept by the county treasurer in separate funds.

(8) Audit claims. Audit all claims on the funds set apart for highway purposes, and specify the fund, or funds, from which the whole or any part of any claim, or claims, must be paid.

(9) Gates. In their discretion, they may provide for the establishment of gates on the public highways, in certain cases, to avoid the necessity of building road fences, and prescribe rules and regulations for closing the same, and penalties for violating said rules; provided, that the expense for the erection and maintenance of such gates shall in all cases be borne by the party or parties for whose immediate benefit the same shall be ordered.

(10) Sprinkling. Work costing over three thousand dollars. For the purpose of sprinkling the roads in any part of the county with oil or water, the board of supervisors may erect and maintain waterworks and oil tanks and reservoirs, and for such purposes may purchase or lease real or personal property. The costs of such waterworks, oil tanks and reservoirs and the sprinkling of said roads with oil or water may be charged to the general county fund, the general road fund, or the district fund of the district or districts benefited.

Whenever it is determined by a four-fifths vote of the board of supervisors of any county that the public convenience and necessity demand the acquisition or construction of a new road in excess of three miles in length or the grading, regrading, paving or macadamizing of any existing road, in excess of three miles in length, and that the cost of such new road when acquired and constructed, or the cost of grading, regrading, paving or macadamizing such existing road, will be too great to pay out of any of the road funds of the county, the board of supervisors may, by resolution passed by a four-fifths vote of said board, determine to acquire or construct such new road, or grade, or regrade, pave, or macadamize such existing road, and if the cost of such new road when constructed, or the cost of grading, regrading, paving or macadamizing such existing road, when completed, shall exceed three thousand dollars, such cost may be charged to the general county fund, the general road fund or the district fund of the district or districts benefited.

(11) Surveyor to submit estimates of cost. Advertising for bids. Form of advertisement. Awards. In counties with charters. Whenever it shall be determined that any grading, graveling, macadamizing, ditching, sprinkling, or other work upon highways is necessary, and is to be done, and where the estimated cost of such work amounts to more than one thousand dollars, the board of supervisors must, by proper order, direct the county surveyor to make definite surveys of the proposed work, and to prepare profiles and cross-sections thereof, and to submit the same with the estimate of the amount or amounts of work to be done, and cost thereof, and with specifications thereof. Said report shall be prepared in duplicate, one copy to be filed in the surveyor's office, and the other to be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors. The board upon receipt of such report must advertise for bids for the performance of the work specified. Such advertisement for bids must be published prior to the day fixed for the opening of bids, for at least once a week for a period of two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the county.

Such advertisement shall be in substantially the following form:

"Office of the clerk of the board of supervisors.
— county, —, 19—

Sealed bids will be received by the clerk of the board of supervisors of — county, at his office, until — o'clock —M., —, 191—, for —, on —, in — district, in — county.

Specifications for this work are on file in the office of the said board, to which bidders are hereby referred.

—, —,
Clerk of the board of supervisors of the county of —."

Bids must be inclosed in sealed envelopes, addressed to the clerk of the board of supervisors, and must be indorsed, "Bids for —," and must be delivered to said clerk prior to the hour specified in the advertisement. The board shall publicly open and read such bids as may be submitted, and must award the contract for the work to the lowest bidder; unless it shall appear to the board that the bids are too high, and the work can be done more cheaply by day labor, in which case the bids must be rejected, and the work ordered done by the road commissioner or commissioners, in whose district or districts the work may be situated. In case the work shall be let by contract, monthly or quarterly payments may be made thereon upon the receipt of a certified estimate by the county surveyor of the amount of work done during the preceding month or quarter, to the extent of seventy-five per cent of the value of said work, the remaining twenty-five per cent being due on the completion of the work. Upon the completion of the work, the county surveyor must examine the same, and if completed in accordance with the specifications thereof, he must submit to the board of supervisors a certificate over his signature and official seal to the effect that such work by the contractor therefor, has been completed in accordance with the specifications therefor, and recommending its acceptance. The board shall thereupon audit the same and direct its payment out of the proper fund or funds.

Whenever any county has adopted a county charter under article eleven, section seven and one-half of the constitution of the state of California, providing for the appointment of a road commissioner as a county officer, and the organization of a permanent road department for the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges, the board of supervisors of such county shall have charge of construction, maintenance and repair of all highways and employ an engineer as road commissioner to have charge of the construction and the repairing and maintenance of all roads in such county, under the orders and direction of said board, and may employ such workmen and purchase such materials, equipment, tools and appliances as may be necessary to construct and maintain said roads and to keep them in repair, the cost of such construction, maintenance and repair to be paid out of the county road funds or the general fund of the county, as provided for by the law.

(12) Side paths. In their discretion, they may set apart on any public road or highway a strip of land for a side path, and make an order designating the width of such path and cause the lines separating the path from the road to be located and marked by stakes or posts, placed at such distances apart as they shall deem proper. After said paths have been set apart, and the lines separating the same from the road have been located and marked, as aforesaid, the use of the same is hereby restricted to pedestrians and riders of bicycles and other vehicles propelled solely by the power of the rider.

Expense of erecting and maintaining such path may be charged to the general county fund, the general road fund, and the district fund of the district or districts benefited.

(13) Use of highway in adjoining county. The boards of supervisors of any county in the state may by and through an ordinance duly passed permit the use of any of its public highways connecting with any main public highway of an adjoining county by the board of supervisors or highway commissioners of such adjoining county, for the purpose of constructing and maintaining thereon a highway or boulevard serving the needs of residents of both counties; and the board of supervisors of any such adjoining county, if it accepts the provisions of the ordinance adopted by the board of supervisors of the county granting the use, shall have the power to construct and maintain any such highway or boulevard, or to construct or maintain such bridge or bridges on such highway or boulevard as it may deem necessary, or to macadamize, pave, curb or gutter such highway or boulevard in such manner as it may determine, and the cost or expense thereof shall be paid out of the general fund of the county treasury, or such other fund as the board of supervisors may designate, or which shall otherwise be provided, of the county to which the use is granted. The board of supervisors of any counties proceeding under the provisions of this act may acquire real property adjacent to such public highway in an adjoining county for county purposes, and may expend thereon such funds as said board of supervisors shall deem necessary for county purposes. The boards of supervisors of any counties proceeding under the provisions of this act may by mutual consent, expressed through ordinances of the respective boards, retransfer the use, control, maintenance and jurisdiction of any highway or boulevard constructed under the provisions hereof to the county originally granting the use. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 167.]

There was an amendment of section 2643 passed at the same session on March 25, 1919. See Stats. 1919, p. 14. The sections were substantially the same except that the earlier section omitted the last paragraph of subdivision 11. Section 2643 was also amended twice in 1917. See Stats. 1917, pp. 196, 1208.

§ 2646. Highways in charge of supervisors. Whenever any of the highways of a county have been constructed or improved under the provisions of an act entitled "An act providing for the laying out, constructing, straightening, improvement and repair of main public highways in any county, providing for the voting, issuing and selling of county bonds and the acceptance of donations to pay for such work and improvements, providing for a highway commission to have charge of such work and improvements, and authorizing cities and towns to improve the portions of such highways within their corporate limits and to issue and sell bonds therefor," approved March 19, 1907, and all acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto, the board of supervisors of said county shall have the charge of the maintenance and repair of said highways and may employ a superintendent or inspector to have charge of the repairing and maintenance of all of said roads under the orders and direction of said board, and may employ such workmen and purchase such materials, equipments, tools and appliances as may be necessary to maintain said roads and keep them in repair, the cost of such maintenance and repair to be paid out of the general fund of the county. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the board from having any such work of repair or maintenance done by contract under the provisions of section two thousand six hundred forty-three, if they deem it advisable. At the option of the board of supervisors, expressed by resolution, the provisions of this section shall apply to such highways of the county as may be specified in such resolution, constructed or improved under the provisions of subdivision ten of section two thousand six hundred forty-three of the Political Code, and paid for out of the general fund of said county. [Amendment approved April 16, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 137.]

§2692. Opening of private ways for canals. Bond. Private or by-roads or private ways for an irrigation, seepage or drainage canal may be opened, laid out, or altered for the convenience of one or more residents or freeholders of any road district in the same manner as public roads are opened, laid out, or altered, except that only one petitioner shall be necessary, who must be either a resident or freeholder in said road district; and the board of supervisors may for like cause order the same to be veiwed, opened, laid out, or altered, the person for whose benefit said road or private way for an irrigation, seepage or drainage canal is required paying the damages awarded to land owners, and keeping the same in repair; provided, that the petitioners must accompany the petition with the bond mentioned in section two thousand six hundred eighty-three, conditioned as provided in said section, and with a further condition that the bondsmen will pay to the person over whose land said road or private way for an irrigation, seepage or drainage canal is sought to be opened, his necessary costs and disbursements in contesting the opening of such road or private way for an irrigation, seepage or drainage canal, in case the petition be not granted, and the road or private way for a canal finally not opened; provided, that all private roads laid out, under the provisions of this act, shall be upon section or half section lines wherever practicable; provided, further, that any private way for an irrigation, seepage or drainage canal shall follow as nearly as possible the line of natural watercourses, but where this is not practicable, it shall follow as nearly as practicable section or half section lines. [Amendment approved April 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 117.]

§2697. Petition to abandon highways. Any ten freeholders, two of whom must be residents of the road district in which some part of the property affected is situated, and who are taxable therein for road purposes, may petition the board of supervisors in writing to vacate, discontinue, abandon and abolish any public highway, road, street, avenue, alley, lane or place, or any part of any such road, street, avenue, alley, lane or place. [Amendment approved March 23, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 24.]

§2713. Construction and repair of bridges. In counties with charter. No bridge, the cost of construction or repair of which will exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, must be constructed or repaired except on the order of the board of supervisors. When ordered to be constructed or repaired, the contract therefor may, in their discretion, be let out, and if let, it must be after reasonable notice given by the board of supervisors, by publication at least once a week for two weeks in a county newspaper; and if no paper is published in said county, then by three posted notices, one at the courthouse, one at the point to be bridged, and one at some other neighboring place in the county. All bids shall be sealed; they shall be opened at the time specified in the notice, and the contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The board may, however, reject any and all bids. The contract and bond for its performance must be entered into and approved by the board of supervisors; except, however, in cases of great emergency, by the unanimous consent of the whole board they may proceed at once to replace or repair any and all structures of whatever nature, without notice. Bridges crossing the line between counties must be constructed by the counties into which such bridges reach, and each of the counties into which any such bridge reaches shall pay such portion of the cost of such bridge as shall have been previously agreed upon by the boards of supervisors of said counties; provided, that where such bridge or bridges, crossing the line between counties shall reach within the limits of an incorporated town, or city, or city and county, the provisions of this section shall apply.

Whenever any county has adopted a county charter under article eleven, section seven and one-half, of the constitution of the state of California, providing for the appointment of a road commissioner as a county officer, and the organization of a permanent road department for the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges, the board of supervisors of such county shall have charge of construction, maintenance and repair of all highways and employ an engineer as road commissioner to have charge of the construction and the repairing and maintenance of all roads in such county, under the orders and direction of said board, and may employ such workmen and purchase such materials, equipment, tools and appliances as may be necessary to construct and maintain said roads and to keep them in repair, the cost of such construction, maintenance and repair to be paid out of the county road funds or the general fund of the county, as provided for by the law. [Amendment approved May 5, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 162.]

§ 2745. Municipal corporation may be included in road division. Any portion of a county not contained in a permanent road division may be formed into a permanent road division under the provision of this act, and when so formed shall have the powers herein enumerated and such as may hereafter be conferred thereon by law; provided, that a municipal corporation for the purpose of this act shall not be considered a permanent road division and may be included therein. [Amendment approved April 19, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 144.]

§ 2979a. Duties of coroner regarding contagious diseases. Duties of physician. Duties of state board of health. It is the duty of each coroner, and of every county, city and county, city or town health officer, knowing or having reason to believe, that any case of cholera, plague, yellow fever, malaria, leprosy, diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox, typhus fever, typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever, anthrax, glanders, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis, tuberculosis, pneumonia, dysentery, erysipelas, uncinariasis or hookworm, trachoma, dengue, tetanus, measles, German measles, chickenpox, whooping cough, mumps, pellagra, beriberi, Rocky Mountain spotted (or tick) fever, syphilis, gonococcus infection, rabies, poliomyelitis, or any other contagious or infectious disease exists, or has recently existed, within the city, county, city and county, town, or township of which he is such officer, to take such measures as may be necessary to prevent the spread of such disease, and to report at once in writing such cases to the secretary of the state board of health at Sacramento.

It is also the duty of every attending or consulting physician, nurse, or other person having charge of or caring for any person afflicted with any of said contagious diseases, to report at once in writing to the local health officer the nature of the disease, the name of the person afflicted and the place of his or her confinement; provided, however, that syphilis and gonococcus infection shall be reported by office number only; provided, further, that official records of tuberculosis cases shall be for official use only and not open to private inspection.

The state board of health, or its secretary, upon being informed of any such contagious or infectious disease, may thereupon take such measures as may be necessary to ascertain the nature of such disease and prevent the spread of such contagion, and to that end, said state board of health, or its secretary, may, if deemed proper, take possession or control of the body of any living person, or the corpse of any deceased person, and may direct and take such means as may be deemed expedient to arrest or prevent the further spread of such disease. [Amendment approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 171.]

§ 2984. Rules of state board of health: duty of local officers. Reports to state board. Registration of deaths, enforcement of act for. It shall be the duty of the health officer of each municipality and incorporated town within this state to enforce within such municipality and incorporated town all orders, rules, and regulations concerning health and quarantine, and the registration, certification, and reporting of births, marriages and deaths as prescribed or directed by the state board of health, and it shall be the duty of such health officer to report in writing to the state board of health at such times as said board shall require, all infectious, contagious and communicable diseases in man or beast which shall come to his knowledge, upon blanks furnished by the state board of health. Said health officer, in cases of local epidemic of disease shall report to the state board of health all facts concerning the disease and the measures taken to prevent or abate its spread, infection, or contagion. Every such health officer shall strictly observe and enforce within such municipality or incorporated town the provisions of "An act for the registration of deaths, the issuance and registration of burial and disinterment permits and the establishment of registration districts in counties, cities and counties, cities and incorporated towns, under the superintendence of the state bureau of vital statistics and prescribing the powers and duties of registrars, coroners, physicians, undertakers, sextons and other persons in relation to such registration and fixing penalties for the violation of this act," approved March 18, 1905, and also the provisions of chapter three of title seven of part three (sections three thousand seventy-four to three thousand eighty-four) of the Political Code of the state of California relating to the registration, certification and reporting of marriages, births, and deaths, and shall promptly report to the state board of health all violations of the state health laws and of the law relating to the registration, certification and reporting of marriages, births and deaths which shall come to his knowledge. [Amendment approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 172.]

§ 3061. Health officer appointed. Duties. The board of trustees, council or other legislative body, by whatever name known, of any incorporated city or town of this state, shall by ordinance adopt for the regulation of sanitary matters within the city or town, such rules and regulations relative thereto as are necessary and proper, and not contrary to law, and shall supervise all matters pertaining to the sanitary condition of the city or town; provided, that no part of this section shall be construed to prevent the appointment by the board or council or other legislative body of a board of health which shall be advisory to the health officer.

Every such board or council or other legislative body shall appoint a health officer who shall receive for his services such compensation as may be determined by said appointing body and shall hold office at its pleasure. Immediately after the appointment of the health officer the board or council shall notify the secretary of the state board of health of the appointment and the name and address of the appointee.

Each health officer of an incorporated city or town must:

First—Enforce and observe—

(a) All orders and ordinances of the board of trustees or council of his city or town pertaining to health and sanitary matters.

(b) All orders, quarantine regulations and rules prescribed by the state board of health.

(c) All statutes relating to the public health and to vital statistics.

Second—Report to the secretary of the state board of health at Sacramento at such times as the state board may require:

(a) The sanitary condition of his locality.

(b) The number of deaths, with the cause of each, as near as can be ascertained, within its jurisdiction during the preceding month.

(c) The presence of epidemic or other dangerous, contagious, or infectious diseases and such other matters within his knowledge or jurisdiction as the state board may require. [Amendment approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 171.]

§ 3062. Appointment of public health nurses in cities. The board of trustees, council or other corresponding board of any incorporated town or city of this state may employ one or more public health nurses, each of whom shall be a registered nurse possessing such qualifications as may, at the date of her employment, be prescribed by the state board of health. The public health nurse shall attend to such matters pertaining to the health and sanitary conditions of the town or city wherein she is employed, as the board of trustees, council or other corresponding board may, from time to time, assign to her, and shall receive such compensation as may be determined by said board. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 180.]

§ 3064. Failure to provide health officer. The board of supervisors must fix the salary or compensation of health officers, and provide for the expenses of enforcing the provisions of this article. If the board of supervisors or board of trustees, council, or other corresponding board of any incorporated town, neglects to provide a health officer by the first day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, the state board of health may direct the district attorney of the county to begin an action against such board of supervisors, or board of trustees, or corresponding board, to compel the performance of their duty, or may appoint a health officer for such town or city, and the expenses of such health officer shall be a charge against the incorporated city or town for which such appointment shall be made; and when the appointment is made for unincorporated towns, the expenses of the health officer are a charge against the county. [Amendment approved April 24, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 173.]

§ 3074. Bureau of vital statistics. Duty of state registrar. The state board of health shall maintain, at the city of Sacramento, a bureau of vital statistics for the complete and proper registration of births, marriages and deaths, for legal, sanitary and statistical purposes, which bureau shall be under the supervision of the state registrar of vital statistics. The duty of the state registrar of vital statistics shall be to promulgate and enforce all rules and regulations required to carry out the provisions of this chapter and that may be adopted from time to time by the state board of health. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 41.]

§ 3075. Employees of state board of health. There shall be a clerk of the state board of health who shall receive an annual salary of one thousand six hundred dollars, such salary to be paid in the same manner and at the same time as salaries of state officers. The state board of health may employ and fix the compensation of other additional clerical and professional assistants, but such compensation shall be paid from its fund for contingent expenses provided for in the general appropriation act. [Amendment approved May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 436.]

§ 3366. Power to impose business license tax. Boards of supervisors of the counties of the state, and the legislative bodies of the incorporated cities and towns therein, shall, in the exercise of their police powers, and for the purpose of regulation, as herein provided, and not otherwise, have power to license all and every kind of business not prohibited by law, and transacted and carried on within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, and all shows, exhibitions and lawful games carried on therein, to fix the rates of license tax upon the same, and to provide for the collection of the same by suit or otherwise; provided, that every honorably discharged soldier, sailor, or marine of the United States or confederate states who has served in the Civil War, any Indian War, the Spanish-American War, any Philippine insurrection or in the Chinese relief expedition, who is physically unable to obtain a livelihood by manual labor, and who shall be a qualified elector of the state of California, shall have the right to distribute circulars, and to hawk, peddle, and vend any goods, wares or merchandise, except spirituous, malt, vinous or other intoxicating liquor, without payment of any license tax or fee whatsoever, whether municipal, county or state, and the board of supervisors or legislative body shall issue to such soldier, sailor or marine, without cost, a license therefor; provided, however, no license can be collected or any penalty for the nonpayment thereof enforced against any commercial traveler whose business is limited to the goods, wares, and merchandise sold or dealt in in this state at wholesale.

§ 2. Construction of. This act shall not be deemed to repeal any act vesting municipal corporations with power to license for revenue purposes. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 279.]

§ 3446. Petition for formation of reclamation district. Whenever the holders of title or evidence of title representing one-half or more of any body of swamp and overflowed, salt marsh, or tide-lands, or other lands subject to flood or overflow, susceptible of one mode of reclamation, desire to reclaim the same, they may present to the board of supervisors of the county in which the lands, or the greater part thereof are situated, at a regular meeting of the board, a petition setting forth that they propose to form a district for the reclamation of the same. Said petition must also set forth the following:

- (1) A description of the exterior boundaries of the proposed district.
- (2) The total number of acres situate within the said exterior boundaries.
- (3) The names of each and every owner of record of real property situate within the said exterior boundaries.
- (4) The county or counties within which said proposed district lies, and if in more than one county, the number of acres of said district in each county. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1191.]

§ 3447. Verification and publication. The petition must be verified by the affidavit of one of the petitioners, and must be published for two weeks preceding the hearing thereof in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the greater part of the lands are situated, together with a notice of the time when said petition will be presented to the board of supervisors; an affidavit of publication must be filed with such petition. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1191.]

§ 3449. Hearing. Petition approved. If the board of supervisors find, on the hearing of the petition, that its statements are correct, they must make an order approving the same. If it is shown that any land has been improperly included in the proposed district, they must, in their order, exclude the same therefrom. If the board shall conclude that any lands susceptible of the same mode of reclamation have been improperly omitted from the proposed district, and the owners thereof shall not have appeared at such hearing, the board of supervisors shall by order continue the further hearing of the said petition, and direct that notice shall be given to all such nonappearing landowners, requiring them to appear before said board, and show cause, if any they have, why their lands should not be included in the proposed district. Said notice must be given either by publication in the same manner as the original petition and for the same period or by personal service thereon of each such nonappearing land owner. If such notice be given by personal service, such service must be made at least three days prior to the date fixed for said further hearing. Proof of publication of the said notice or of any such personal service shall be filed with the clerk of said board on or before the day to which such continuance is had.

The board may grant further continuances, by order entered upon its minutes to the end that a full hearing may be had. Upon the final hearing of said matter the board shall make an order approving the said petition, as originally presented, or in a modified form. Such order shall describe the exterior boundaries of the district, as determined by the board, and shall be indorsed upon or attached to the petition, and be signed by the chairman and attested by the clerk of the board. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1192.]

§ 3452. By-laws for government of district. The owners of land embraced in the district, or those owning a majority in acreage thereof, must adopt by-laws, not inconsistent with the laws of the state, for the government and control of the affairs of the district. The by-laws thus adopted must be signed by the holders of certificates of purchase, patents, or other evidences of title, representing a majority in acreage of the land embraced in the district, and must be by them filed for record with the county recorder of the county, and by him recorded in a book kept by him for the purpose of recording instruments and writings relating to reclamation. By-laws thus adopted may be amended at any time in the same manner that the original by-laws were adopted. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1192.]

§ 3453. Election of district trustees. Proceeding to determine legality of district. No proceeding against district existing five years. After the formation of the district and the adoption of by-laws the board of supervisors of the county where the greater part of the district is situated, on the application of any land owner of the district, must call an election in compliance with the provisions of section three thousand four hundred ninety-one of this code, at which election there must be elected under and in pursuance of the provisions of said section three thousand four hundred ninety-one, three eligible persons, each of whom must be the owner of record of land within the said district or a duly authorized representative of a corporation which is an owner of record; who shall constitute, when elected and qualified, the board of trustees of the district, for the management of the affairs thereof, and who shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified under and in pursuance of the provisions of said section three thousand four hundred ninety-one. From and after the election of said trustees said district shall be deemed organized and shall have power to sue and be sued.

The trustees of any reclamation district may commence a proceeding in the superior court of the county where the greater portion of the district is situated to determine the legality of the existence of such district. The complaint in such proceedings shall describe the district by number and the exterior boundaries thereof, and shall contain a prayer that such district be adjudged a legal reclamation district. The summons in such proceeding shall be served by publishing a copy thereof for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county where any part of said district is situated. Within thirty days after the last publication of said summons any person who may be interested may appear and answer said complaint, in which answer the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of the district shall be set forth. If no answer shall be filed, the court must render judgment, as prayed for in the complaint. If any answer shall be filed, the court shall thereafter proceed as in other civil cases, but no district shall be adjudged invalid when it appears that such district has for five years prior to the commencement of such proceeding been prosecuting or maintaining its works of reclamation in good faith. The proceeding under this section is hereby declared to be a proceeding in rem, and the judgment rendered therein shall be conclusive against all persons whomsoever and against the state of California.

No proceeding in quo warranto, nor any similar action, or proceeding, shall be maintained in the name of the people of the state of California against any reclamation district that shall have continuously for five years next preceding the commencement of such proceeding been acting as such and prosecuting or maintaining its works of reclamation in good faith; provided, that this provision shall not affect proceedings that are now pending. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1192.]

§ 3454. Powers of trustees. A. Said board of trustees shall have powers and duties as follows, to wit:

(1) To keep an office in or near the district for the transaction of the business thereof, and, the books, maps, papers, records, contracts, and all other documents pertaining to the affairs of the district must be open to inspection at all times by any person interested.

(2) President. To elect one of its members president of said board of trustees.

(3) Secretary. To elect one of its members or any other person secretary of said board of trustees. It shall be the duty of the secretary to have charge of the office of the board of trustees and to keep the minutes of all meetings and to attest all documents requiring the signature of the president and to keep true and accurate accounts of all expenditures made in behalf of said district, which accounts, and all contracts that may be made by the said board of trustees shall be open to the inspection of the board of supervisors and every person interested.

(4) Money from reclamation board. To receive from the reclamation board any money allowed on account of uncollected assessments previously levied on lands purchased by said board for rights of way, and to distribute said money among the land owners of said district in proportion to their payments on the last assessment-roll or place the same in the county treasury to the credit of said district.

(5) Revolving fund. To create by order duly entered in the minutes of the board of trustees a revolving fund. No warrant for creation or replenishment of this fund shall be paid by the county treasurer unless a bond in double the amount of said fund, signed by the members of the board of trustees with sureties and conditioned as security for the safety and proper disbursement of said fund, approved by the board of supervisors, shall be on file with the county treasurer. Said fund shall be disbursed by checks or drafts, signed by at least two members of the board of trustees, or some person by unanimous vote of the board of trustees authorized to do so. The board of trustees shall within thirty days after any payment from this fund file the vouchers therefor in the office of the county treasurer retaining a duplicate thereof in the office of the secretary of the board of trustees. The board of trustees shall have authority by order entered in the minutes of said board to issue warrants for the creation and replenishment of said fund. No warrant for the replenishment of said fund shall be approved by the board of supervisors or paid by the county treasurer, except to the extent that proper vouchers for previous legal disbursements from said fund have been filed with the county treasurer as hereinbefore provided. Said fund shall not exceed the sum of two thousand dollars. The order creating said revolving fund must receive the unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

Any land owner within the district may maintain an action for the benefit and in behalf of the reclamation district in the superior court of the county in which the district, or any part thereof is situated against any member or members of the board of trustees for any improper disbursement of the funds of the district made with his or their consent and also against the members of the board of trustees and their sureties upon the said bond for any improper disbursement from said revolving fund.

(6) Engineers, etc. To employ engineers and others to survey, plan, locate and report on the works necessary for the reclamation of the lands of the district, and estimate the cost thereof; thereafter, at any time, modify or change such original plan or plans, or adopt new, supplemental, or additional plan or plans, when, in its judgment, the same shall become necessary.

(7) Rights of way, etc. To acquire by purchase, condemnation, gift, or other legal means, whatever real property, rights of way, materials, or labor that it shall deem necessary for the construction of the works of reclamation or necessary or useful in connection with carrying out the original plan or plans of reclamation, or any supplemental or additional plan of reclamation.

(8) Canals, sluices, etc. To acquire by purchase, condemnation, gift, or other legal means, such drains, canals, sluices, bulkheads, water-gates, levees, embankments, pumping plants, and to purchase, construct, or otherwise acquire, maintain, and keep in repair all things reasonably necessary or convenient for the reclamation of the lands embraced in said district either within or without the boundaries of the district.

(9) Labor and machinery. To employ such labor and to purchase and operate or hire such tools, machinery, material and equipment and to make and enter into such contracts and agreements as they shall deem necessary in order to accomplish the proper construction, maintenance, repair or operation of the works of reclamation of the said district.

(10) Disposal of property. To sell, convey, transfer, lease to others or otherwise dispose of such real or personal property belonging to the said district which said board of trustees shall find no longer necessary for the construction, maintenance or operation of the works of reclamation of said district; also to lease to others or to operate for hire any tools or machinery belonging to the said district which is not at the time needed by the district.

(11) Proceedings to determine legality of district. To commence proceedings in the superior court of the county where the greater portion of the district is situate to determine the legality of the existence of such district in the manner provided by section three thousand four hundred fifty-three of this code.

(12) Distribution of funds not needed. To distribute, among the land owners of the district, after having first provided by order duly entered in their minutes, any funds in the treasury belonging to said districts and not needed for the purposes of reclamation, such distribution to be made among the several land owners in the said district in proportion as said owners were assessed on the last assessment made by said district.

(13) Report of plans. To report to the supervisors every original plan, and every new, supplemental or additional plan for the reclamation of the lands within said district in the manner provided by section three thousand four hundred fifty-five of this code.

(14) Cancel warrants. To cancel all warrants of the district not paid within four years after date of issuance unless the payment thereof is extended in the manner provided by section three thousand four hundred fifty-seven of this code.

(15) Collection of assessments. To perform such duties with respect to the collection of assessments as is provided by section three thousand four hundred sixty-six of this code.

(16) Bond elections. To perform such duties with respect to the calling of bond election and the issuance of bonds as is provided in section three thousand four hundred eighty.

(17) Reapportionment of assessments. To reapportion the assessment or assessments upon any tract of land that has been subdivided into smaller parcels in such manner as will charge each of said smaller parcels with a just proportion of the assessment or assessments previously made upon said tract so subdivided, in the manner provided by section three thousand four hundred sixty hereof.

(18) General supervision over works. To exercise a general supervision and complete control over the construction, maintenance and operation of the works of reclamation and generally over the affairs of the district.

(19) Seal. To provide a seal which shall contain the number of the district and the county in which the lands or the greater portion thereof are located and all documents requiring the approval by the board of trustees shall hereafter bear the seal of the district.

(20) General powers. And to do and perform all acts and things which the said trustees may deem advisable, necessary or convenient for constructing, maintaining, or operating the works of reclamation, or accomplishing the purposes for which said reclamation district was formed.

B. Compensation. The several members of the board of trustees shall each be entitled to receive such compensation for services actually and necessarily performed as the said board of trustees may determine to be just and reasonable, and shall be reimbursed for such expenses as they may necessarily incur in the performance of their said duties as trustees. All claims by or in behalf of trustees for services rendered or expenses incurred shall be presented to the board of trustees, and if allowed shall be paid in the same manner as other indebtedness of the district, but no warrants drawn in favor of a trustee shall be valid until approved by the board of supervisors of the proper county. No trustee shall be disqualified from participating in any and all proceedings of the board of trustees, excepting that he shall not cast the deciding vote upon a motion of resolution approving a claim or awarding a contract in favor of himself.

C. Regular meeting. All meetings of the board of trustees at which all trustees are present or of which all members of the said board of trustees shall have received notice in writing of such meeting at least one day prior to the time set for such meeting to convene shall be deemed a regular meeting at which any business may be transacted. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1193.]

§ 3455. (a) Within Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district. If and when any such district is located, in whole or in part, within the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district;

(1) Plans to be reported to supervisors. The board of trustees of such reclamation district must report to the board of supervisors of the county within which the district, or the greater part thereof, is situate, by filing, with the county clerk of said county, three copies of the original plan or plans of the works of reclamation and three copies of every new, supplemental, or additional plan, if any, together with the estimates of the cost of the contemplated works of the district, including incidental expenses, maintenance and repair necessary for the reclamation of the lands of the district in pursuance of any such plan or plans. The term "works of reclamation" as used in this chapter shall include not only such public works and equipment, as are necessary for the unwatering of lands in reclamation districts, but shall also include such like works as may be necessary to water or irrigate the same lands in such districts.

(2) Two copies to be certified. Within five days after said three copies of such plans and estimates are filed with him, the said county clerk shall certify two of said copies and transmit the same to the secretary of the reclamation board.

(3) Hearing for objections to plans. Notice. Form of notice. Upon receipt of said certified copies of said plan or plans, the secretary of the reclamation board shall immediately set a date when the reclamation board will hold a meeting for considering objections, if any, to said plans. All such hearings by the said reclamation board shall be held not less than twenty, nor more than sixty days after the day the secretary of the reclamation board receives the certified copies of the said plans. Notice of said hearing before the said reclamation board shall be given by the secretary of said board by publishing a notice of such hearing once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published within said district or, if there be no such newspaper so published, then in the county seat of the county within which the said district or the greater part thereof, is situate. Said notice shall be in substantially the following form:

"Notice to the land owners of reclamation district ——. Notice is hereby given to the land owners of reclamation district number — that there has been filed with the county clerk of the county of — and with the secretary of the reclamation board, original (supplemental or new, as the case may be) plans for the reclamation of lands of said district; that the reclamation board will hold a meeting at its office in the city of Sacramento, county of Sacramento, state of California, on the — day of —, A. D. 191—, at — o'clock, at which time any interested party may appear and object to the said plans."

(4) Action on plans at hearing. At said hearing the reclamation board shall hear such evidence as may be offered with respect to said plans, and thereafter shall approve, modify, amend or reject the said plans; provided, however, that the said reclamation board shall not have the power to modify, amend or reject any plans so submitted on the ground that said plans provide for a levee which in their judgment is of excessive strength either in height, slopes or crown width; but no claim for compensation shall thereafter be made against the reclamation board or the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district for any part of such levees which said board may consider to be in excess of what is required to comply with its plans for flood control. The reclamation board shall have power to continue or adjourn the said hearing from time to time and shall have authority to cause such investigation and report of said plans to be made by the engineers connected with the reclamation board or by such other competent authority as said board shall deem necessary.

(5) Action taken shall be final. When the said reclamation board shall have taken action approving, modifying, or rejecting any such original, supplemental or new plan of reclamation after a hearing as herein provided, such action shall be final, and thereafter the sufficiency of said plans shall not be subject to attack either before the reclamation board or in any court; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the board of trustees of any district from at any time filing with the county clerk of the county within which the district, or the greater part thereof, is situate, three copies of any amendatory, additional or supplemental plan of reclamation. In the event any such amendatory, additional or supplemental plan of reclamation is filed with the said clerk, two certified copies thereof shall be transmitted to the secretary of the reclamation board, who shall set the time for hearing, and thereafter the same proceedings shall be had and with like effect with respect to said amendatory, additional or supplemental plan as is herein provided for the original plan.

(b) Outside of Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district. If and when neither the whole nor any part of such district is situate within the boundaries of the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district;

(1) Plans to be reported to supervisors. The board of trustees of such reclamation district must report to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district, or the greater part thereof is situate, by filing with the county clerk of said county two copies of every new, supplemental, or additional plan, if any, together with estimates of the cost of the contemplated works of the district, including incidental expenses, maintenance and repairs, necessary for the reclamation of the lands of the district in pursuance of any such plan.

(2) Commissioners to view and assess lands. Thereupon the board of supervisors of such county must appoint three commissioners, who shall have no interest in any real estate within said district, each of whom, before entering upon his duties, shall make and subscribe an oath that he is not in any manner interested in any real estate within said district, directly or indirectly, and that he will perform the duties of a commissioner to the best of his ability. Said commissioners must view and assess upon the land within said district the said sum so estimated and shall apportion the same according to the benefits that will accrue to each tract of land in said district, respectively, by reason of the expenditures of said sums of money, and shall estimate the same in gold coin of the United States. The same must be collected and paid into the county treasury as hereinafter provided, and be placed by the treasurer to the credit of the district, and paid out for the works of reclamation upon the warrants of the trustees, approved by the board of supervisors, or, if bonds of such district have been issued upon said assessment, then said treasurer shall set the same apart as a separate fund for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of such bonds, and shall not pay any part of the moneys received from such assessment for any purpose other than the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds.

(c) What plans and estimates may include. Any of the said plan or plans and estimates may include any levees or other reclamation works already constructed or in course of construction and payments therefor may be made to the person or persons who constructed the same or to the grantee of the lands for the benefit of which such levees or other works of reclamation were constructed by the owner of such lands, and no trustee shall be disqualified to make or approve such plans or estimates because of his ownership of any levee or other reclamation works included in such plan, or the cost of which is embraced in said estimates but he shall be disqualified to vote for the issuance of any warrant or order to himself in payment therefor. [Amendment approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 604.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1197.

§ 3456. (a) Commissioners to assess lands. Sums paid to county treasury. If such reclamation district is located, in whole or in part, within the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district, then if and when the said reclamation board shall have approved the plan or plans of the works of reclamation, after a hearing as provided in section three thousand four hundred fifty-five of this code, then the board of trustees of the reclamation district shall so report to the board of supervisors of the county within which the district or the greater part thereof is situate, and shall set forth in their said report the estimated cost of the said works of reclamation, and petition the said board of supervisors to appoint three commissioners who shall have no interest in any real estate within said district, each of whom, before entering upon his duties, shall make and subscribe an oath that he is not in any manner interested in any real estate within said district, directly or indirectly, and that he will perform the duties of a commissioner to the best of his ability. Upon receipt of said petition from the board of trustees the board of supervisors to whom the same was presented must within not more than sixty days appoint said assessment commissioners above referred to. Said commissioners must view and assess upon the land within said district the said sum so estimated and shall apportion the same according to the benefits that will accrue to each tract of land in said district, respectively, by reason of the expenditures of said sums of money, and shall estimate the same in gold coin of the United States. The sums must be collected and paid into the county treasury as hereinafter provided, and be placed by the treasurer to the credit of the district, and paid out for the works of reclamation upon the warrants of the trustees, approved by the board of supervisors, or, if bonds of such district have been issued upon said assessment, then said treasurer shall set the same apart as a separate fund for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of such bonds, and shall not pay any part of the moneys received from such assessment for any purpose other than the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds.

(b) Funds for maintenance and repair. Commissioners to prepare assessment list. Hearing. Action in superior court. Amounts needed thereafter. New assessment list. In all cases when the work contemplated by the original or any supplemental plan of reclamation of any reclamation district shall have been completed, the trustees may so report to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district, or the greater part thereof is situate, together with a petition to the said board of supervisors to appoint assessment commissioners. Said report and petition shall set forth that the work contemplated by the original or supplemental plan of reclamation has been completed, and that hereafter the said reclamation district will only require funds for the maintenance and repair of the said works of reclamation. Upon filing said report and petition the said board of supervisors shall appoint three commissioners, each of whom shall be similarly qualified, and shall make and subscribe the same oath as is provided hereinabove for commissioners. When so appointed and so qualified such commissioners shall prepare an assessment-list, which list shall contain the following information in separate columns:

1. A description of each tract assessed by legal subdivisions, swamp-land surveys, or other boundaries sufficient to identify the same.
2. The number of acres in each tract.
3. The names of the owners of each tract, if known; and if unknown, that fact; but no mistake or error in the name of the owner or supposed owner of the property assessed, and no mistake in any other particular, shall render the assessment thereof invalid.
4. The assessment valuation per acre of each tract assessed.
5. The total assessment valuations of each said tract.
6. A blank column for rate to be fixed as shown hereinafter.
7. A blank column for amount of assessment to be computed as shown hereinafter.

Thereafter said assessment valuations shall be used as a basis for assessments in raising funds for the maintenance and repair of the works of reclamation and incidental expenses of said district. Said assessment list, when completed, shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors in the same manner as a report made under an original or modified plan of reclamation. Thereupon the said board of supervisors shall appoint a time when it will meet for the purpose of hearing objections; said objections, if any, must be in writing, verified, and filed with the clerk of said board of supervisors. Notice of the said hearing shall be given in the same manner and for the same time as notice of hearing objections to an original assessment. At said hearing, the board of supervisors shall hear such evidence as may be offered in support of said written objections, and may modify or amend the said assessment valuations in any particular. No objections to said assessment valuations shall be considered by the board of supervisors, or allowed in any other action or proceeding, unless said objections shall have been made in writing to the board of supervisors within thirty days after the first publication of notice of hearing objections, if any, to said assessment valuations.

Any person aggrieved by the decision of the board of supervisors may commence an action in the superior court of the county in which the greater part of the said district is situate, to have said assessment valuations corrected, modified or annulled. Such action must be commenced within thirty days after said assessment valuations have been approved by the board of supervisors. If said action shall not be commenced within thirty days, no action of defense shall thereafter be maintained attacking the legality of said assessment valuations in any respect.

Thereafter, whenever, in the opinion of the trustees of the district, it shall be necessary to raise any sum for the construction, maintenance or repair of the works of reclamation, or for the incidental expenses of the district, the said board of trustees shall make an order, which order shall be entered in the minutes of the board and shall recite the total amount necessary to be raised and shall fix a rate designating the number of cents to be levied on each one hundred dollars of assessment valuation shown on the list prepared and approved in the manner hereinabove provided.

Thereafter the board of trustees must complete said assessment list by inserting the rate and the total assessment in columns six and seven as provided therefor.

The assessment made in pursuance hereof shall be filed with the county treasurer and thereafter collected in the same manner provided for the collection of any original assessment; provided, however, that the board of trustees may, in their discretion, direct the payment of any such assessment in one installment.

The report of assessment commissioners as herein provided, fixing the assessment valuations for reclamation purposes, after having first been approved by the board of supervisors as hereinabove provided, shall continue in force as the basis for raising necessary funds for construction, maintenance and repair of the works of reclamation, and for incidental expenses of the district until the trustees of said district, or the holders of title or evidence of title representing fifteen per cent or more of the lands within the district, shall petition said board of supervisors to make an order directing the commissioners who made the original assessment list or other commissioners, to be named in such order to prepare a new assessment list. Such commissioners must have the same qualifications and take the same oath as the original assessment commissioners.

The assessment list when so prepared by said commissioners shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors, and shall thereafter in all respects be subject to the same provisions as an original assessment list. All provisions of this code relating to collection of assessments and sale of land for delinquent assessments, shall be applicable to assessments levied in accordance with the provisions of this section. [Amendment approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 607.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1196.

Clerk of board of supervisors.

When registered this warrant bears seven per cent interest annually, computed from its date to the date of payment.

This warrant will outlaw and cannot legally be paid four years after date.

The warrants drawn by the trustees must be presented to the treasurer of the county, and if they are not paid on presentation, such indorsement must be made thereon, and they must be registered and bear interest from their date at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and such warrants are and shall be considered as contracts in writing for the payment of money, and the period prescribed for the commencement of an action based upon said warrants, or connected therewith, is and shall be the term of four years from the date of said warrants; provided, however, that all warrants shall be approved by the board of supervisors before the same shall be paid or registered by the county treasurer.

All warrants shall be paid by the county treasurer strictly in the order in which they shall have been registered.

Whenever a warrant shall have been outstanding one year or more, the board of trustees shall on the demand of the holder of said warrant cancel the same and issue a new warrant for the face value of the old warrant and a separate warrant for the amount of interest then due thereon; or, the board of trustees may allow a claim for the amount of interest due on any warrant so outstanding one year or more and may draw a warrant therefor; upon drawing this warrant they shall indorse on the reverse of the old warrant the fact that interest has been paid to the date of drawing the warrant for interest and the warrant drawn for the interest must state that it is for interest on warrant No. — to — (date); the board of trustees shall notify the county treasurer upon drawing these warrants for interest and he shall note on his register of warrants the fact that interest has been paid on such warrants; provided, that any warrant not paid or presented for reissuance may within four years after its date upon the demand of the holder, be extended for a like period of four years, upon presentation to the board of trustees of the district, such extension being indorsed thereon by said board. The board of trustees and the county treasurer may cancel all warrants not paid, reissued or extended within four years after their date.

In case an action or proceeding based upon any warrant or connected therewith, be commenced within four years after the date of such warrant, and final judgment be obtained in favor of the holder or owner thereof, such warrant shall be paid the same as if it had been paid before the expiration of said four years from the date of said warrant.

In any proceeding for a writ of mandate to compel the trustees to issue a warrant, if a controversy arises as to the amount that may be due to the plaintiff, the court must determine the same in the manner provided for determining controversies in other civil actions, and shall cause a writ to issue for such sums as may be found to be due. The date of a warrant shall be the day on which the same is signed by the board of trustees. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1202.]

§ 3459. Additional assessments. If the original assessment is insufficient to provide for the complete reclamation of the lands of the district, or if further assessments are from time to time required to provide for the protection, maintenance and repair of the reclamation works, the trustees may file with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which the district or the greater part thereof, is situated two copies of the plan of reclamation and a statement of the work done or to be done and its estimated cost, and the same proceedings shall be had thereon as provided in section three thousand four hundred fifty-five for an original plan of reclamation. If the reclamation district is located, in whole or in part, within the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district, then when said plan shall have been approved by the state board of reclamation, and if a reclamation district is not so situate, then at any time, the trustees of the district shall report to the board of supervisors, and such board must make an order directing the commissioners who made the original assessment, or other commissioners, to be named in such order, to assess the amount of such estimated cost as a charge upon the lands within the district, which assessment must be made and collected in the same manner as the original assessment. [Amendment approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 610.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1204.

§ 3460. Commissioners to make assessment list. The commissioners appointed by the board of supervisors must make a list of the charges assessed against each tract of land; and if there be any error or mistake in the description of the land, or in the name of the owner, or if any land which should be assessed has been or shall be omitted from the list, or if there is any error or mistake in any other respect, the commissioners may amend or correct the same at any time before the lists shall have been approved by the board of supervisors as hereinafter provided. When any tract of land upon which an assessment or assessments shall have been made shall be subdivided into smaller parcels, the board of trustees of the district shall reapportion the assessment or assessments upon such tract in such manner as will charge each of said smaller parcels with a just proportion of assessment or assessments previously made upon said tract so subdivided. Said board of trustees shall file with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county a list or lists of the charges assessed against each of said parcels. Said reapportionment shall be approved by the board of supervisors in the manner provided in section three thousand four hundred sixty-two of this code. Said lists after such approval shall be filed with the county treasurer of the county and shall have the same effect as on original assessment. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1204.]

§ 3462. List filed with clerk of supervisors. Objection to assessment. Action in superior court. Said lists, when completed, shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county. The board of supervisors shall appoint a time when it will meet for the purpose of hearing objections to said assessment, and notice of such hearing shall be given by publication for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in said county.

At any time before the date of such hearing, any person interested in any land upon which any charge has been assessed may file written objections to such assessment, stating the grounds of such objections, which said statement shall be verified by the affidavit of such person, or some other person who is familiar with the facts. At said hearing the board of supervisors shall hear such evidence as may be offered in support of said written objection and may modify or amend the said assessment in any particular, or make a reapportionment of the entire assessment. If the amount of any assessment in said list shall be changed, the board of supervisors shall set a day for hearing objections to said assessment as changed, and shall give notice thereof by publication for two weeks in some newspaper published in the county. At such hearing objections in writing may be made by any person interested, and the board of supervisors shall proceed to hear the same in the same manner as upon the original hearing. If the amount of any assessment shall again be changed the board of supervisors shall proceed as before to give notice and to hear objections thereto, and shall proceed in a similar manner until the amount of each assessment shall be finally fixed and approved. The board of supervisors shall then make an order approving said assessment, and shall indorse such order upon said assessment list, which said indorsement shall be signed by the chairman of said board of supervisors and attested by the clerk thereof, and such decision of said board of supervisors shall be final, and thereafter said assessment list shall be conclusive evidence that the said assessment has been made and levied according to law, except in an action commenced as hereinafter provided. The lists shall then be filed with the county treasurer, or, if the district is situated in more than one county, then the original list must be filed in the county where the greater portion of the lands of said district is situated, and copies thereof certified by the treasurer must be filed with the treasurer of each of the other counties.

No objection to such assessment shall be considered by the board of supervisors, or allowed in any other action or proceeding, unless such objection shall have been made in writing to the board of supervisors as above specified.

Any person aggrieved by the decision of the board of supervisors may commence an action in the superior court of the county in which the greater part of said district is situated to have said assessment corrected, modified or annulled. Such action must be commenced within thirty days after said assessment list has been filed in the office of the county treasurer. If said action shall not be commenced within thirty days, no action or defense shall thereafter be maintained attacking the legality of said assessment in any respect.

The provisions of this section shall apply in all respects to an assessment list made under the provisions of subdivision B of section three thousand four hundred fifty-six. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1204.]

§ 3463. Charges assessed become lien. Assessment may not be invalidated. When the board of supervisors shall have finally taken action modifying or approving any assessment liens as provided in section three thousand four hundred sixty-two of this code, the charges assessed thereby upon tracts of land within the county shall constitute a lien thereon and shall impart notice thereof to all persons.

When the board of trustees of any reclamation district shall cause assessment lists to be prepared and filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors, whereon they shall assess any sum necessary to be raised to the several tracts of land within the said district in the manner provided in section three thousand four hundred fifty-five, or in section three thousand four hundred fifty-six of this code, the charges so assessed upon any said tract shall constitute a lien thereon and shall impart notice thereof to all persons.

No subsequent act or conduct of the trustees of the reclamation district shall invalidate any such assessment, after the same shall have become a lien in the manner herein provided, but such trustees may be compelled by mandate, or other proper proceeding, to perform their duties as required by law. [Amendment approved May 16, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 610.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1206.

§ 3465. Payments. The lists must remain in the office of the county treasurer for thirty days; and during the time they so remain any person may pay the amount of the charge assessed against any tract of land to the county treasury in gold coin of the United States or in warrants of the district drawn by order of the trustees thereof, and approved by the board of supervisors of the county. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1206.]

§ 3466. Collection of unpaid assessments. Sale of property. Purchase by district. Redemption. At the end of thirty days unless bonds shall have been authorized the treasurer must return the list to the board of trustees of the district, and all unpaid assessments shall thereafter bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum. Thereafter all unpaid assessments and accrued interest shall be collected by and paid to the county treasurer, or the board of trustees may designate an agent to effect such collection who shall deposit said moneys with the county treasurer to the credit of the district. Whenever the board of trustees shall appoint an agent to collect assessments, they shall require that such agent give a bond in such an amount as they may consider sufficient for the faithful performance of his duties. All such payments shall be made in separate installments, of such amounts, and at such times, respectively, as the said board, from time to time, in its discretion by order entered in its minutes may direct. Upon making such order the secretary shall also enter in the minutes of the board a notice in substantially the following form:

(Name of reclamation district, location or principal place of business.) Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the board of trustees held on the (date), an installment of (amount) was ordered paid within sixty days from date thereof to — at —. Any installment which shall remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent together with the accrued interest thereon.

The notice must be personally served upon each owner of land in said district, or in lieu of personal service, must be sent through the mail addressed to such owner at his place of residence, if known or entered upon the assessment-roll of the county, and if not known, at the place where the principal office of the district is situated, or be published once a week for two weeks successively in some newspaper of general circulation and devoted to the publication of general news, within the district, and if no such newspaper be published within the district then publication may be made in some newspaper published in the county seat of the county where the greater portion of said district is situated.

If any such installment shall remain unpaid at the expiration of said sixty days from the date of the order, then the whole remaining uncalled portion of said assessment shall become delinquent together with the accrued interest thereon and a penalty of ten per cent of the amount of said installment and interest shall be added thereto and collected for the use of the district.

Immediately after the said installment has become delinquent, the trustee of the district must publish in one notice a list of all of said delinquencies at least once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where said district or the greater part thereof is situated, which notice shall contain a description of the property assessed, the name of the person to whom it is assessed, or a statement that it is assessed to unknown owners, if such is the fact; the amount then due on said property, and a notice that the property assessed will be sold on the date therein stated, in front of the courthouse of said county to pay the amount then due on said property. The date of said sale shall be not less than ten days after the date of the last publication of said notice. And at said time stated in said notice, or such other time to which said sale may have been postponed, the trustees must sell said property to the highest bidder for gold coin of the United States. Out of the proceeds of said sale the trustees must pay the amount due on said property as shown in said notice to the county treasurer who shall place the same in the proper funds of said district. The trustees must pay to the owner of said property any surplus remaining after such payment to the county treasurer. The trustees may postpone said sale from time to time for not less than ten nor more than thirty days at any one time by a written notice posted at the place of sale.

If no bid is made for said property equal to the amount due thereon, the district shall become the purchaser, and the said property must be struck off to the district for said amount. A certificate of such sale shall be executed by the trustees to the purchaser, or to the district, if the property shall have been struck off to the district, and said certificate of sale shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of said county. Any person interested in said property may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of said sale, by paying to the county treasurer the amount for which said property was sold, and interest on the said sums at the rate of two per cent per month from the date of said sale.

If no redemption shall be made within said one year, the purchaser, or the district, if said property shall have been sold to the district, shall be entitled to a deed executed by said trustees, and the effect of such deed shall be to convey said property free of all liens and encumbrances, excepting state, county and municipal taxes, and any subsequent district assessment. The trustees may sell said property at any time at public auction after notice given for the said period and in the same manner as is herein provided for sales for delinquent assessments, but not for a sum less than the amount for which said property was sold, together with any subsequent assessment and the deed executed in pursuance of such sale shall convey said property free of all encumbrances, except state, county and other municipal taxes. Assessments heretofore made in any reclamation district shall be validated and collected in the manner provided by law at the time such assessments were made. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1208.]

§ 3467. Work of reclamation to be done under direction of trustees. [Repealed May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1208.]

§ 3468. Accounts to be kept open to inspection.' [Repealed May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1208.]

§ 3480. Reclamation district may issue bonds. Special election and conduct of. Evidence of ownership and value. Bonds and coupons. Sale of bonds. Notice. Action to determine bonds legal obligation. Warrants. Bonds legal investment. Additional assessment and bonds. Installments. Delinquency. Sale of property. Whenever in any reclamation district in this state, now formed or which may hereafter be formed, any assessment has been levied and assessed upon the lands of said district, and remains unpaid in whole or in part, where in the judgment and opinion of the board of trustees of said district it would be for the best interest of said district or the land owners therein to issue bonds for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the costs of reclamation, the indebtedness of the district, or any other legal charge, or when a petition signed by the owners of more than one-half of the land in the district is filed with the secretary of the board, the board of trustees of such district shall by order entered upon the records of said board, order a special election to be held at some place in said district to be designated by said board of trustees, at which said special election shall be submitted to the owners of land in said district the question of whether or not bonds of said district shall be issued in an amount equal to the amount of such assessment, or the part of such assessment remaining unpaid, which said amount shall be entered by said board of trustees in its records and stated by them in the order for such special election.

For all purposes of this article relating to signing petitions and by-laws and voting at any election of reclamation districts the equalized assessment-roll for the year last preceding, in each county wherein any land of the district is situated shall be sufficient evidence of ownership and of value of lands in the district as hereinafter provided. Guardians, executors, administrators and other persons holding land in a trust capacity under appointment of court may sign such petitions or by-laws or may vote without obtaining special authority therefor.

Notice of such special election must be given by the board of trustees by posting notices thereof in at least three public places in the district at least twenty-one days prior thereto, and also by publication for the same length of time in some newspaper of general circulation published in each county in which any portion of said district may be situated; and such notice must specify the time and place of holding such election, the aggregate face value of bonds proposed to be issued and the names of three landholders of the district to act as a board of election. Affidavits of the publication and posting of such notice must be filed with the county clerk of the county in which said district or the greater part thereof is situated (herein designated as the main county), together with a copy of said order calling the election, certified by the president of the board of trustees.

At such election each owner of lands in the district shall be entitled to vote in person or by proxy and shall have the right to cast one vote for each dollar's worth of real estate owned by him in the district, such value and ownership thereof to be determined from the next preceding assessment-roll of the county or counties in which the lands of said district are situate, and the board of trustees of the district shall, prior to the election, cause to be prepared and certified by the proper officer and furnished to the board of election, a true and correct copy of the said next preceding assessment-roll of the said county or counties, which said certified roll shall be used by the said board of election in determining the number of votes each voter is entitled to cast. Executors, administrators, special administrators and guardians may cast the votes of the estates represented by them.

No person shall vote by proxy at such election unless authority to cast such vote shall be evidenced by an instrument in writing, duly acknowledged and certified in the same manner as grants of real property and filed with the board of election. The ballots cast at such election shall contain the words: "Bonds—yes," or the words "Bonds—no," and also the name of the person casting the ballot with the number of votes cast by him. A list of the ballots cast shall be made by the board of election, containing the name of each voter, and, if the ballot be cast by proxy, the name of the person casting it, and the number of votes cast by each, and whether the same be cast for or against the issuing of the bonds.

If any person appointed as a member of the board of election shall fail to attend at the opening of the polls, the voters then present may appoint in his place any landholder of the district. Each member of such board of election, must, before entering upon his duties take and subscribe an official oath, which oath may be administered by an officer authorized to administer oaths or by any landholder in the district. The polls shall be kept open from ten o'clock A. M. of the day of election until four o'clock P. M. At the close of the polls the board of election shall at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result and shall forward a certificate showing such result and the number of votes cast for and against the issuing of bonds, to the county clerk of the main county, and shall deliver a duplicate thereof to the board of trustees of the district, and shall also deliver to the said county clerk of the main county all ballots cast at such election and all documents and papers used at such election. Any person interested may contest such election within twenty days after such filing of said certificate with the said county clerk by bringing suit in the superior court of the main county; otherwise the declaration of the result by the board of election shall be final and conclusive.

If a majority of the votes cast at such election are in favor of the issuance of bonds, the board of trustees of the district shall cause bonds in the amount stated in the order for the election to be executed and delivered, together with the assessment list, to the treasurer of said main county. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars each; they shall be signed by the president of the board of trustees of the district and attested by the county auditor of said main county, and shall be numbered consecutively in the order of their maturity, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of January and the first day of July in each year at the office of said county treasurer upon the presentation of the proper coupons therefor. Coupons for each installment of interest shall be attached to said bonds and shall bear the facsimile signature of the county auditor. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable on the first day of July, or the first day of January, and in such years as the trustees may prescribe, but said bonds shall be payable serially within twenty years from their date in the manner following, to wit:

(1) Not less than ten per centum of the aggregate face value of bonds issued shall be payable within ten years from their date.

(2) Not less than ten per centum of the aggregate face value of bonds remaining unpaid at the end of ten years shall be payable each year beginning with the eleventh year from their date, until the whole amount of said bonds has been paid. Said bonds shall be substantially in the following form:

The treasurer of said main county shall place the bonds prepared pursuant to this act to the credit of the district. Thereafter when directed by resolution of the trustees of the district, the treasurer of said county may sell the whole or any designated number of said bonds for the best price obtainable therefor, but in no event for less than ninety per cent of the face value of said bonds and the accrued interest thereon. Before making a sale of said bonds, notice shall be given by the said county treasurer by publication at least once a week for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in said main county, that he will sell a specified amount of said bonds, and stating the day, hour and place of such sale, and asking sealed proposals for the purchase of said bonds, or any part thereof. At the time appointed the county treasurer shall open the bids and award the bonds to the highest responsible bidder. He may, and upon written request of a majority of the trustees must, reject any and all bids. Any sale by the county treasurer and delivery of the bonds thereunder shall be conclusive evidence in favor of the purchaser and all subsequent holders of the bonds that such sale was made upon due authority and notice. The proceeds of sale of said bonds shall be placed in the county treasury to the credit of said district, and a proper record of such transaction shall be made upon the books of said county treasurer. At any time within thirty days after said bonds shall have been delivered to the treasurer of the county, an action may be commenced in the superior court of said main county by the trustees of said reclamation district in its name against the lands in said district and all persons owning the same or interested therein, to have it determined that said bonds are a legal obligation of such reclamation district, and in the event no such action is brought then the same may be commenced by any land owner in the district within thirty days thereafter. It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands in the district (naming it) without a more specific description. The summons shall be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending. Within thirty days after the first publication of summons any owner of land in such district, or any person interested, may appear and answer the complaint, which answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions in such court, and judgment rendered declaring such matter so contested either valid or invalid. Any party not in default may have the right to appeal to the supreme court within thirty days, after entry of judgment. Judgment for the plaintiff in such pro-

year at the office of said county treasurer upon the presentation of the proper coupons therefor. The treasurer of said main county shall place the bonds prepared pursuant to this act to the credit of the district. Any sale by the county treasurer and delivery of the bonds thereunder shall be conclusive evidence in favor of the purchaser and all subsequent holders of the bonds that such sale was made upon due authority and notice. The proceeds of sale of said bonds shall be placed in the county treasury to the credit of said district, and a proper record of such transaction shall be made upon the books of said county treasurer. At any time within thirty days after said bonds shall have been delivered to the treasurer of the county, an action may be commenced in the superior court of said main county by the trustees of said reclamation district in its name against the lands in said district and all persons owning the same or interested therein, to have it determined that said bonds are a legal obligation of such reclamation district, and in the event no such action is brought then the same may be commenced by any land owner in the district within thirty days thereafter. It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands in the district (naming it) without a more specific description. The summons shall be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the action is pending. Within thirty days after the first publication of summons any owner of land in such district, or any person interested, may appear and answer the complaint, which answer shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions in such court, and judgment rendered declaring such matter so contested either valid or invalid. Any party not in default may have the right to appeal to the supreme court within thirty days, after entry of judgment. Judgment for the plaintiff in such proceedings shall be considered as a judgment in rem and shall be conclusive against said district and against all lands therein and all owners thereof and other interested persons.

The board of trustees of said district may draw warrants upon the said county treasurer against the funds provided by sale of bonds, which said warrants shall be approved by the board of supervisors of said main county.

All moneys collected by any county treasurer upon any assessment upon which bonds shall have been issued, including all moneys derived from sale of land for delinquent installments, or from redemption thereof, or from sale of lands bought by the treasurer at any such sale, shall be by such treasurer forthwith paid into the main county treasury to the credit of the bond fund of such reclamation district, and shall be used exclusively for the payment of principal and interest of said bonds issued on such assessment.

The bonds of reclamation districts issued pursuant to this act which have been investigated and certified by any officer of this state now or hereafter authorized to make such investigation and certification and by the authority of which certification are declared to be legal for investments by savings banks of this state may be lawfully purchased, or received in pledge for loans by savings banks, trust companies, insurance companies, guardians, executors, administrators and special administrators, or by any public officer or officers of this state or of any county, city or county or other municipal or corporate body within this state having or holding funds which they are allowed by law to invest or loan.

If the trustees deem it advisable they may order a special election to be held prior to making an assessment, to determine whether or not bonds shall be issued for an amount to be stated in the order for such election, but no bonds shall, in such instance, be issued until an assessment for the amount of the bonds authorized at such election shall have been made and filed with the county treasurer.

The lien of any unpaid assessment upon which bonds shall have been issued shall continue until all said bonds shall have been paid in full, and if for any reason any part of such principal or interest of said bonds shall remain unpaid after enforcement of said assessment as in this article provided, the board of supervisors of the main county shall order an additional or supplemental assessment to be made as provided in section three thousand four hundred fifty-nine, sufficient to pay such unpaid principal and interest; which additional or supplemental assessment shall be enforced and collected in the same manner as the original assessment.

If any district having authorized the issuance of a series of bonds shall issue an additional series of bonds based on another assessment, the dates of maturity of such additional series of bonds shall be such that the latest maturities thereof shall not exceed thirty years and the earliest maturity of bonds of such additional series shall be later than the latest maturity of bonds of any earlier series. All provisions of this section relative to the original issue of bonds shall apply to such additional series of bonds so far as applicable and also so far as applicable shall affect existing reclamation districts as well as those hereafter formed.

Any district which has issued bonds of different denominations, may, by an order entered in its minutes, upon request of holders thereof, and upon the deposit of the bonds issued and outstanding with the board of trustees, issue to the holders of such deposited bonds, bonds of the district in the same form but in different denominations, but having the same aggregate face value and maturity. Such bonds shall be executed by all of the persons who are required by law to execute the original bonds for which such exchange is made, and the said bonds so deposited shall be thereupon canceled by the treasurer of the main county and the board of trustees of the district.

Whenever in any reclamation district in the state a bond issue of said district has been authorized prior to this amendment then the provisions of this section hereby amended in respect to the manner of procedure by which the assessments are called in to meet payments on account of principal or interest of such bonds, and also the provision herein contained by which the assessment shall continue in full force and effect as constituting a lien upon the several tracts of land within said district under the provisions of section three thousand four hundred sixty-three of this code until the principal and interest of all bonds issued on the basis of said assessment shall have been paid in full, shall apply to and inure to the benefit of the bonds which may have been issued by any reclamation district in this state prior to the date of the enactment of this amendment.

Upon a sale of any of the bonds provided herein the county treasurer of the main county is hereby authorized to accept in payment for said bonds, either in whole or in part, outstanding warrants of such district at their face value, together with the accrued interest thereon.

Where bonds of the district have been authorized to be issued on such assessments all unpaid assessments shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of the bonds issued thereon until such bonds shall have been fully paid and discharged, and the interest due at any time on said unpaid assessments may be called without calling any installment of the said assessment. The word "installment" as used in this section shall be construed as applying to interest as well as the principal as the case may be.

At least ninety days before any interest date of the bonds, the county treasurer of the main county shall estimate the amount of money necessary to pay interest and principal maturing on such interest date after crediting thereon the funds in the treasury applicable to the payment thereof, and shall add thereto fifteen per cent of such aggregate sum to cover possible delinquencies, and said county treasurer shall thereupon cause to be published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in said county a notice substantially in the following form:

(Name of reclamation district.) Notice is hereby given that an installment of assessment (describing it) of (amount or proportion thereof including interest thereon or only for interest) is payable within thirty days from (date) by all assessed land owners of said district in the county of (name of county) to the treasurer of said county. All or any part of said installment or interest which shall remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent, together with accrued interest thereon, with twenty per cent of such installment and interest added as penalty.

Dated (date).

(Signed) — — —,
Treasurer of — — — county.

If no newspaper is published in said county, such publication shall be made in a newspaper published in an adjoining county. If any part of such installment or any interest thereon shall remain unpaid at the expiration of thirty days from the date of said notice, it shall become delinquent and twenty per cent of the unpaid amount of said installment and interest shall be added thereto and collected by said treasurer. When any installment shall have become delinquent, said treasurer shall within ten days publish once a week for two weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in said county (or if no newspaper is published therein, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county), a notice containing a description of each parcel of land assessed in the district in said county whereon such installment is delinquent, as such description appears on the assessment list, the name of the person to whom it is assessed, to unknown owners if such is the fact; the amount of the installment delinquent on such parcel, the amount of interest thereon reckoned to the day of sale, the amount of said twenty per cent penalty thereon, and a notice that each of said parcels will be sold at public auction by said county treasurer in front of the courthouse of said county, at a specified day and hour which shall not be less than thirty days nor more than sixty days from the date of delinquency, to pay said delinquent installment, with said accrued interest and penalty. At the time stated in said notice, the county treasurer shall sell each parcel of land described in said notice to the highest bidder, unless prior thereto he shall have received payment in full of said delinquent installment together with such interest and penalty. No bid for any parcel shall be accepted less than the aggregate sum then due on said installment thereon, with interest and penalty, and such sale shall be made for cash (except the treasurer may receive from any purchaser at their face value in lieu of cash, bonds of said district or their interest coupons, issued on said assessment and then matured or to mature within sixty days after such sale). Any bond or coupon so received in payment shall be by the treasurer forthwith canceled and filed in the office of the treasurer of the county wherein the greater part of the land of the district is situated, hereinafter called the main county. If the entire amount of any such bond or coupon tendered in payment shall not be required to complete payment of the purchase money, the treasurer shall indorse thereon as paid, the amount of such purchase money credited thereon. If no bid is made for any parcel at such sale equal to the amount of the installment delinquent thereon, with interest and penalty, the treasurer shall bid in and sell said parcel to himself and his successors in office, as trustee of the bond fund of said district, as purchaser, for the amount of said installment, interest and penalty. The treasurer shall execute to each purchaser, including himself as a trustee, a certificate of sale, and shall record a duplicate in the county recorder's office. Any person interested in the said property may redeem the same at any time within one year after the date of sale, by paying to the county treasurer for such purchaser a sum equal to the purchase price stated in the certificate, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of sale to such redemption. If no redemption shall be made within one year, the treasurer upon demand and surrender of such certificate of purchase, shall execute to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, a deed of conveyance of the parcel of land described in such certificate, which deed shall convey to the grantee therein named the said land free and clear of all encumbrances, except state, county and municipal taxes, and except any portion of any reclamation assessment remaining unpaid at the date of said sale; each installment whereof may be called and collected as herein provided, except that no parcel sold and conveyed to the district shall thereafter be subject to sale by the treasurer for delinquent installments. Every deed by a county treasurer purporting to be executed under this section shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of the matters therein recited, and of ownership by the grantee to the lands therein described. The treasurer of the main county shall credit to the bond fund of the district all money collected by him by sale or otherwise, upon assessments against which bonds shall have been issued, including interest and penalties, and all moneys received by him from treasurers of other counties upon account of such assessments, and he shall likewise credit to said fund the amounts of purchase money paid in bonds or coupons on sales made for said assessment by himself or reported to him by any other treasurer. Each treasurer shall charge to the general fund of the district, or to its bond fund if he has no money to the credit of its general fund, the expense of publication of notices and of recording certificates of sale. The treasurer of any county other than the main county shall without delay account for and transmit to the treasurer of the main county all money collected by him upon any assessment by sale or otherwise, deducting his expenses of publication and recording and shall also transmit all canceled bonds and coupons received in payment on any delinquent sale, and a memorandum of all sums indorsed as paid upon account of purchase money on any bonds or coupons, specifying the same. All moneys collected by any treasurer upon account of an assessment on which bonds shall not have been issued shall be similarly accounted for and transmitted to the treasurer of the main county, and shall be credited by him to the general fund of the district. Any parcel of land bid in and purchased by a treasurer as aforesaid, as trustee of the bond fund of the district, may be sold and conveyed by him or his successor in office at any time after the expiration of said redemption period of one year, at public or private sale and with or without notice, to any person paying him the amount for which said parcel was bid in by said treasurer at delinquent sale, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum, compounded yearly, from the date of said delinquent sale, and also the amount of all subsequent installments then delinquent, with accrued interest and penalties thereon. Such payment may be made either in cash or in matured bonds and coupons issued on said assessment, taken at their face value, and the treasurer shall execute a deed to such purchaser upon such sale, conveying said property free of encumbrance except state, county and municipal taxes, and the unpaid balance of said assessment. If any land so held by a county treasurer as trustee of the bond fund of a district shall remain unsold after the final installment of the assessment shall have been collected by payment or sale, then each such treasurer shall sell all said land so held by him at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, upon two weeks published notice, and shall deposit the proceeds of such sale in the treasury of the main county, to the credit of the bond fund of the district. Any balance remaining in such bond fund, after payment in full of the principal and interest of all outstanding bonds of the district, shall be by the treasurer transferred to the general fund of the district.

In the event that ownership of any property in the district is changed after the making of the last assessment-roll for the district, the owner thereof shall be entitled to vote thereon upon production of the original or of certified copy of the record thereof in the office of the county recorder of the county in which the property is situate. Any person not legally qualified to vote who shall make any false statement in respect to his right to vote shall incur all of the penalties provided in the Penal Code of the state of California for persons illegally voting at elections. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1181.]

§ 3513. Nonpayment of principal and interest on state lands. Certificate of purchase void, when. Land excepted. Notice of forfeiture. In case payment is not made within fifty days, the lands described in the survey or location revert to the state without suit, and the survey or location is void. All subsequent payments must be made to the county treasurer, in like manner, who must indorse the same upon the certificate of purchase. The treasurer must direct the purchaser to take the certificate of purchase so indorsed to the auditor, who must charge the treasurer with the amount received, and make his check upon the indorsed receipt. If any interest on the unpaid portion of the purchase price of said lands, be not paid on or before the thirtieth day of June following the first day of January upon which such interest becomes due, ten per centum of the amount thereof is hereby added as a penalty for such delinquency. If such delinquent interest, and penalty, be not paid on or before the thirty-first day of December of such year an additional penalty of ten per centum of the amount of such delinquent interest is hereby imposed upon the person or persons liable for the payment thereof. If such delinquent interest, and penalties, be not paid on or before the thirtieth day of June of the year following, the certificate of purchase shall ipso facto become null and void, and the lands described therein revert to the state without suit, and shall again become subject to entry and sale in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as apply to other state lands of like character. In the event of the happening of the contingency last mentioned, all moneys previously paid on account of the purchase price of such lands, whether for principal or interest, shall become, and are hereby determined and declared to be forfeited to the state, and neither such delinquent purchaser nor anyone claiming under him shall be entitled to recover the same or any part thereof. The penalties and forfeitures herein provided for shall not apply to any land for which certificates of purchase were issued prior to May first, A. D. one thousand nine hundred eleven, nor to lands within any reclamation district, after certificate of the board of supervisors that works of reclamation have been commenced in such district has been filed in the register's office. Whenever any penalty, or penalties, hereby imposed has, or have, accrued, the treasurer must in all cases collect the full amount thereof before indorsing his receipt upon such certificate, and the auditor must ascertain such fact before appending his check thereto. Immediately following the thirtieth day of June, A. D. one thousand nine hundred eighteen, and annually thereafter, the register of the state land office shall note upon his records all forfeitures herein and hereby declared, and shall forward to the recorder of each county wherein any of said lands may be situate a notice of such forfeiture, stating therein the name and postoffice address of the purchaser, and the name and postoffice address of the assignee, grantee, or successor in interest of such purchaser in all cases wherein notice of any assignment of such certificate of purchase, or of any conveyance or other transfer of title, to any part of the lands therein described shall have been filed in his office prior to the date of such forfeiture, such notice shall also show the number and date of the survey or location and of the certificate of purchase, and shall contain a description of the lands affected thereby. It shall be the duty of the recorder to receive and file such notice and to record the same in a book of deeds. Such notice is, from the time it is filed in the recorder's office, constructive notice of the contents thereof to subsequent purchasers and mortgagees, and to all other persons who may thereafter attempt to acquire any interest in, or lien upon, any of the lands in such notice described. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 64.]

§ 3571. Certificates of lands sold by but not owned by state. Amount to be repaid. Time no bar to authority. If any land was not the property of the state of California, at the date application was filed therefor, or if the land applied for was swamp and overflowed land but the application became or was void by reason of the fact that the land had not been segregated, or if subsequent to March 20, 1889, any money has been accepted by the state as a part of or on account of the purchase price of any state land under an application or certificate of purchase which at the time of accepting such money had become invalidated by reason of an act of the legislature of the state of California entitled "An act respecting the payment in full by holders of certificates of purchase for lands sold by the state of California prior to March 27, 1872, and for which the said state has at any time heretofore issued certificates of purchase to subsequent purchasers," approved March 20, 1889, the owner of such certificate of purchase or patent aforesaid may receive in exchange therefor, from the register of state land office, a certificate showing the amount paid and the class of land upon which payment was made (if the land is lieu land or indemnity land the register's certificate shall not issue until the selection therefor is canceled by authority of the department of the interior), by conveying by quitclaim deed to the state of California, all of his right, title and interest in and to said land; provided, however, that in all cases where money has been paid since the passage of said act of March 20, 1889, on account of the purchase price of lands where said certificates or applications, became invalidated by reason of said last-mentioned act, the amount to be repaid as shown in the certificate to be issued by the register in exchange for the certificate of purchase, shall be only such amount as shall have been paid on account of the purchase price of such lands subsequent to the passage of said act of March 20, 1889.

The authority of the said register to issue such certificate and likewise the authority of the auditor and controller to issue their warrants, as provided in section three thousand five hundred seventy-two of this code, shall not be barred by any period of time which may have elapsed since the issuance of the certificate of purchase or patent, but in the issuance of the certificate herein provided for, the said register shall first determine that the person applying for said certificate is the owner of the certificate of purchase or patent, and has not assigned or conveyed his interest therein or in the land therein described or any part thereof, and that it is a proper case for the issuance of a certificate as herein provided. A copy of a patent duly certified by the county recorder of any county where the same may have been recorded shall have the same force and effect as the original. [Amendment approved April 8, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 55.]

§ 3607. Property subject to taxation. All property in this state, except as otherwise provided in the constitution of this state, is subject to taxation. Nothing in this code shall be construed to require or permit double taxation. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 427.]

§ 3608. Shares of stock in corporations. Shares of stock in corporations possess no intrinsic value over and above the actual value of the property of the corporation which they stand for and represent. The assessment and taxation of such shares, and also of all corporate property would be double taxation. All property belonging to corporations shall be assessed and taxed, in the manner provided by law; but no assessment shall be made of shares of stock in any corporation except as prescribed in the constitution of this state and the laws enacted pursuant to such provisions of the constitution. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 427.]

§ 3612. 1. Procedure for tax exemption of veterans. The state board of equalization shall prescribe all procedure, affidavits and forms required to carry into effect the tax exemption on property specified in section one and one-fourth of article thirteen of the constitution.

2. Affidavits of applicants for exemption. Every person entitled to or applying for the exemption from taxation specified in said provision of the constitution shall appear before the assessor or deputy assessor and shall give all information required and answer all questions contained in the forms and affidavit prescribed by said board, and thereupon shall subscribe and swear to the same before such assessor or deputy. Any false statement made or sworn to in such affidavit shall constitute and be punishable as perjury.

3. Assessor may require additional proof. Any assessor may, in his discretion, require other or additional proof of the facts stated by such affiant before allowing the exemption claimed. Failure upon the part of any person entitled to such exemption to make affidavit or furnish evidence as required by this section between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July of each year shall be deemed and treated as a waiver of such exemption by such person.

4. Recognized wars. The following are recognized as wars within the intent and meaning of said section of the constitution:

- (a) Revolutionary war—April 19, 1775–January 14, 1784;
- (b) Second war with England—June 18, 1812–February 17, 1815;
- (c) Black Hawk war—April 6, 1832–August 2, 1832;

§ 3627. Assessed at full cash value. All taxable property must be assessed at its full cash value. Land and improvements thereon shall be separately assessed. Cultivated and uncultivated land, of the same quality, and similarly situated, shall be assessed at the same value. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 428.]

§ 3628. Assessment of taxable property. Except as otherwise provided in the constitution of this state, all taxable property shall be assessed in the county, city, city and county, town, township, or district in which it is situated. Land shall be assessed in parcels, or subdivisions, not exceeding six hundred forty acres each; and tracts of land containing more than six hundred forty acres, which have been sectionized by the United States government, shall be assessed by sections or fractions of sections. Land sold by the state for which no patent has been issued, shall be assessed the same as other land, but the owner shall be entitled to a deduction from such assessed valuation in the amount due the state as principal upon the purchase price. The assessor must, between the first Mondays in March and July of each year, ascertain the names of all taxable inhabitants, and all the property in his county subject to taxation, except such as is required to be assessed by the state board of equalization and must assess such property to the persons by whom it was owned or claimed, or in whose possession or control it was, at twelve o'clock meridian of the first Monday in March next preceding; but no mistake in the name of the owner or supposed owner of real property shall render the assessment thereof invalid. In assessing solvent credits, not secured by mortgage or trust deed on real estate, a deduction therefrom shall be made of debts due to bona fide residents of this state. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 428.]

§ 3629. Statement of property owned. The assessor must exact from each person a statement, under oath, setting forth specifically all the real and personal property owned by such person, or in his possession, or under his control, at twelve o'clock M. on the first Monday in March. Such statement shall be in writing, showing separately:

1. All property belonging to, claimed by, or in the possession or under the control or management of such person.

2. All property belonging to, claimed by, or in the possession or under the control or management of any firm of which such person is a member.

3. All property belonging to, claimed by, or in the possession or under the control or management of any corporation of which such person is president, secretary, cashier, or managing agent.

4. The county in which such property is situated, or in which it is liable to taxation, and, if liable to taxation in the county in which the statement is made, also the city, town, township, school district, road district, or other revenue districts in which it is situated.

5. An exact description of all lands, in parcels or subdivisions, not exceeding six hundred forty acres each, and the sections and fractional sections of all tracts of land containing more than six hundred forty acres, which have been sectionized by the United States government, improvements and personal property, including all vessels, steamers, and other watercraft; and all taxable state, county, city, or other municipal or public bonds, and the taxable bonds of any person, firm, or corporation, and deposits of money, gold-dust, or other valuables, and the names of the persons with whom such deposits are made, and the places in which they may be found.

6. All solvent credits, unsecured by deed of trust, mortgage, or other lien on real or personal property, due or owing to such person, or any firm of which he is a member, or due or owing to any corporation of which he is president, secretary, cashier, or managing agent, deducting from the sum total of such credits such debts only, unsecured by trust deed, mortgage, or other lien on real or personal property, as may be owing by such person, firm, or corporation to bona fide residents of this state. No debts shall be so deducted unless the statement shows the amount of such debt as stated under oath in aggregate. Whenever one member of a firm, or one of the proper officers of a corporation, has made a statement showing the property of the firm or corporation, another member of the firm, or another officer, need not include such property in the statement made by him; but his statement must show the name of the person or officer who made the statement in which such property is included. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 429.]

§ 3641. Property of firm or corporation assessed where situated. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 429.]

§ 3643. Ferries. A ferry-boat is a vessel traversing across any of the waters of the state, between two constant points, regularly employed for the transfer of passengers and freight, authorized by law so to do. Where ferries connect more than one county, the wharves, storehouses, and all stationary property belonging to or connected with such ferries, must be assessed, and the taxes paid, in the county where located. The value of all watercraft, and of all toll bridges connecting more than one county, must be assessed in equal proportions in the counties connected by such ferries or toll bridges. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 429.]

§ 3650. Assessment-book. Listing of property. The assessor must prepare an assessment-book, with appropriate headings as directed by the state board of equalization, in which must be listed all property within the county, and which shall show under the appropriate head:

1. The name and postoffice address, if known, of the person to whom the property is assessed.

2. Land, by township, range, section, or fractional section; and when such land is not a congressional division or subdivision, by metes and bounds, or other description sufficient to identify it, giving an estimate of the number of acres, not exceeding in any tract six hundred forty acres, locality, and the improvements thereon. When any tract of land is situated in two or more school, road, or other revenue districts of the county, the part in each such district must be separately assessed. The improvements to be assessed against the particular section, tract, or lot of land upon which they are located; city and town lots, naming the city or town, and the number of the lot and block, according to the system of numbering in such city or town, and the improvements thereon.

3. All property within the limits of an incorporated city or town shall be assessed in an assessment-book separate and distinct from the assessment-book containing the assessment of property situate outside the limits of such incorporated city or town; or, if but one assessment-book is used, then in a separate and distinct part of such book; provided, that all property assessed shall be arranged on the assessment-book by elementary school districts, as such districts are legally formed and exist on the first Monday in March of each year; provided, further, that where any school district embraces property situate both within and without the limits of an incorporated city or town, such property shall be assessed and kept separate and distinct on the assessment-book.

4. All personal property, showing the number, kind, amount, and quality; but a failure to enumerate in detail such personal property does not invalidate the assessment.

5. The cash value of real estate.

6. The cash value of improvements on such real estate.

7. The cash value of improvements on real estate assessed to persons other than the owners of the real estate.

8. The cash value of all personal property, exclusive of money.

9. The amount of money.

10. Taxable improvements owned by any person, firm, association, or corporation, located upon land exempt from taxation, shall, as to the manner of assessment, be assessed as other real estate upon the assessment-book. No value shall, however, be assessed against the exempt land, nor under any circumstances shall the land be charged with or become responsible for the assessment made against any taxable improvements located thereon.

11. The school, road, and other revenue districts in which each piece of property assessed is situated.

12. The total value of all property.

13. In entering assessments containing solvent credits subject to deductions, as provided in section three thousand six hundred twenty-eight of this code, he must enter in the proper column the value of the debts entitled to exemption and deduct the same. In making the deductions from the total value of property assessed, as above directed, he must enter the remainder in the column provided for the total value of all property for taxation.

14. Such other things as the state board of equalization may require. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917. p. 1643.]

§ 3663. Water ditches. Water ditches constructed for mining, manufacturing, or irrigation purposes, and wagon and turnpike toll roads, must be assessed the same as real estate by the assessor of the county, at a rate per mile for that portion of such property as lies within his county. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 430.]

§ 3664. Taxes for state purposes. Taxes levied, assessed and collected as hereinafter provided upon railroads, including street railways, whether operated in one or more counties; sleeping-car, dining-car, drawing-room car and palace-car companies, refrigerator, oil, stock, fruit, and other car-loaning and other car companies operating upon railroads in this state; companies doing express business on any railroad, steamboat, vessel, or stage line in this state; telegraph companies; telephone companies; companies engaged in the transmission or sale of gas or electricity; insurance companies; banks, banking associations, savings and loan societies, and trust companies; and taxes upon all franchises of every kind and nature, shall be entirely and exclusively for state purposes, and shall be assessed and levied by the state board of equalization, and collected in the manner hereinafter provided. The word "company" and the word "companies" as used in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and in the sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect shall include persons, partnerships, joint stock associations, companies, and corporations [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 337.]

Old section 3664, relating to statements by officers of corporations to the state board of equalization, was repealed in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 336).

§ 3664a. Public utilities to pay state tax. Percentage of gross receipts. 1. All railroad companies, including street railways, whether operated in one or more counties; all sleeping-car, dining-car, drawing-room car and palace-car companies, all refrigerator, oil, stock, fruit, and other car-loaning, and other car companies, operating upon the railroads in this state; all companies doing express business on any railroad, steamboat, vessel, or stage line in this state; all telegraph and telephone companies; and all companies engaged in the transmission or sale of gas or electricity shall annually pay to the state a tax upon their franchises, roadways, roadbeds, rails, rolling stock, poles, wires, pipes, canals, conduits, rights of way, and other property, or any part thereof, used exclusively in the operation of their business in this state, computed as follows: Said tax shall be equal to the percentages hereinafter fixed upon the gross receipts from operation of such companies and each thereof within this state.

2. Companies partly within and without state. When such companies are operating partly within and partly without this state, the gross receipts within this state shall be deemed to be all receipts on business beginning and ending within this state, and a proportion, based upon the proportion of the mileage within this state to the entire mileage over which such business is done, of receipts on all business passing through, into, or out of this state.

3. Percentages. The percentages above mentioned shall be as follows: On all railroad companies, including street railways, five and one-fourth per cent; on all sleeping-car, dining-car, drawing-room car, palace-car companies, refrigerator, oil, stock, fruit, and other car-loaning, and other car companies, three and ninety-five hundredths per cent; on all companies doing express business on any railroad, steamboat, vessel or stage line, nine-tenths of one per cent; on all telegraph and telephone companies, four and two-tenths per cent; on all companies engaged in the transmission or sale of gas or electricity, five and six-tenths per cent.

4. In lieu of other taxes. Such taxes shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, state, county, and municipal, upon the property above enumerated of such companies except as otherwise provided in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state.

5. "Municipal" defined. The word "municipal" as used in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and in the sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect shall apply to incorporated towns and cities formed under article eleven of the constitution of this state and to none other. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 337.]

§ 3664b. Tax on gross premiums of insurance companies. Every insurance company or association doing business in this state shall annually pay to the state a tax of two per cent upon the amount of the gross premiums received upon its business done in this state, less return premiums and reinsurance in companies or associations authorized to do business in this state; provided, that there shall be deducted from said two per cent upon the gross premiums the amount of any county and municipal taxes paid by such companies on real estate owned by them in this state. This tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, state, county, and municipal, upon the property of such companies, except county and municipal taxes on real estate, and except as otherwise provided in the constitution of this state; provided, that when by the laws of any other state or country, any taxes, fines, penalties, licenses, fees, deposits of money, or of securities, or other obligations or prohibitions, are imposed on insurance companies of this state, doing business in such other state or country, or upon their agents therein, in excess of such taxes, fines, penalties, licenses, fees, deposits of money, or of securities, or other obligations or prohibitions, imposed upon insurance companies, of such other state or country, so long as such laws continue in force, the same obligations and prohibitions of whatsoever kind must be imposed by the insurance commissioner upon insurance companies of such other state or country doing business in this state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 337.]

§ 3664c. Tax on bank stock. 1. The shares of capital stock of all banks, organized under the laws of this state, or of the United States, or of any other state and located in this state, shall be assessed and taxed to the owners or holders thereof by the state board of equalization, in the manner hereinafter provided, in the city or town where the bank is located and not elsewhere. There shall be levied and assessed upon such shares of capital stock an annual tax, payable to the state, of one and sixteen hundredths per centum upon the value thereof. The value of each share of stock in each bank, except such as are in liquidation; shall be taken to be the amount paid in thereon, together with its pro rata of the accumulated surplus and undivided profits. The value of each share of stock in each bank which is in liquidation shall be taken to be its pro rata of the actual assets of such bank.

2. In lieu of other taxes. This tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, state, county, and municipal, upon such shares of stock and upon the property of such bank, except county and municipal taxes on real estate and except as otherwise provided in the constitution of this state.

3. Value of real estate deducted. In determining the value of the capital stock of any bank there shall be deducted from the value, as defined above, the value, as assessed for county taxes, of any real estate, other than mortgage interests therein, owned by such bank and taxed for county purposes.

4. Banks liable for tax. The banks shall be liable to the state for this tax and the same shall be paid to the state by them on behalf of the stockholders in the manner and at the time hereinafter provided, and they shall have a lien upon the shares of stock and upon any dividends declared thereon to secure the amount so paid.

5. Tax on unincorporated banks. The moneyed capital, reserve, surplus, undivided profits, and all other property belonging to unincorporated banks or bankers of this state, or held by any bank located in this state which has no shares of capital stock, or employed in this state by any branches, agencies, or other representatives of any banks doing business outside of the state of California, shall be likewise assessed and taxed to such banks or bankers by the said board of equalization, in the same manner as above provided for incorporated banks, and taxed at the same rate that is levied upon the shares of capital stock of incorporated banks, as provided in the first paragraph of this section.

6. Branch of bank doing business outside of state. In the case of a branch, an agency, or other representative of any bank doing business outside of this state, the capital of said branch, agency, or representative used in this state shall be taken to be the average amount owed by the said branch, agency, or representative to the bank of which it is a branch, agency, or representative during the year ending the first Monday in March. The value of said property shall be determined by taking the entire property invested in such business, together with all reserve, surplus, and undivided profits, at their full cash value, and deducting therefrom the value as assessed for county taxes of any real estate, other than mortgage interests therein, owned by such bank or banker and taxed for county purposes. Such taxes shall be in lieu of all other taxes and licenses, state, county and municipal, upon the property of the banks and bankers mentioned in this section, except county and municipal taxes on real estate, and except as otherwise provided in the constitution of this state. All moneyed capital and property of the banks and bankers mentioned in this paragraph shall be assessed and taxed at the same rate as an incorporated bank, provided for in this section. In determining the value of the moneyed capital and property of the banks and bankers mentioned in this section, the said state board of equalization shall include and assess to such banks all property and everything of value owned or held by them which would go to make up the value of the capital stock of such banks and bankers, if the same were incorporated and had shares of capital stock.

7. "Banks" defined. The word "banks" as used in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and in the sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect shall include banking associations, unincorporated banks and bankers, branches, agencies or other representatives of any banks doing business outside of the state of California, savings and loan societies, and such trust companies, as conduct the business of receiving money on deposit, but shall include building and loan associations. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 338.]

§ 3664d. Assessment and tax of franchises. All franchises, other than those of the companies mentioned in sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four a, three thousand six hundred sixty-four b, and three thousand six hundred sixty-four c of this code, shall be assessed at their actual cash value, after making due deduction for goodwill, in the manner hereinafter provided, and shall be taxed at the rate of one and two-tenths per centum each year, and the taxes collected thereon shall be exclusively for the benefit of the state. These franchises shall include the actual exercise of the right to be a corporation and to do business as a corporation under the laws of this state and the actual exercise of the right to do business as a corporation in this state when such right is exercised by a corporation incorporated under the laws of any other state or country, also the right, authority, privilege, or permission to maintain wharves, ferries, toll roads, and toll bridges, and to construct, maintain or operate, in, under, above, upon, through or along any streets, highways, public places, or waters, any mains, pipes, canals, ditches, tanks, conduits or other means for conducting water, oil, or other substances. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 338.]

§ 3665. Municipal franchises and privileges. Nothing in any section of this code shall be construed to release any company from the payment of any amount agreed to be paid or required by law to be paid, now or hereafter, for any special privilege or franchise granted by any of the municipal authorities of this state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 340.]

The old section 3665, relating to the assessment of railway franchises and property, was repealed in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 336).

§ 3665a. "Gross receipts from operation" defined. Hearing on claim of double taxation. 1. The term "gross receipts from operation" as used in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code is hereby defined to include all sums received from business done within this state, during the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, including the company's proportion of gross receipts from any and all sources on account of business done by it within this state, in connection with other companies described in said section.

Any company claiming that the levy of the percentage fixed by section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code on the total gross receipts of such company results in double taxation of the property of such company, may make application to the state board of equalization for a hearing on such matter. Said board shall have power to take evidence and determine the facts with respect to such claim and in event said board finds the claim of such company to be true, said board may authorize such company to deduct from its reported gross receipts that amount of such receipts which, if included in such total gross receipts, would cause such double taxation.

2. Companies partly within and without state. In case of companies operating partly within and partly without this state, the gross receipts within this state shall be deemed to be all receipts on business beginning and ending within this state, and the proportion based upon the proportion of the mileage within this state to the entire mileage over which such business is done, of receipts on all business passing through, into or out of this state.

3. No deductions allowed. No deduction shall be allowed from the gross receipts from operation for commissions, rebates, or other repayments, except only such refunds as arise from errors or overcharges; nor shall any deduction be allowed for payments from gross receipts to other companies for any purpose whatsoever, except such refunds as arise from errors or overcharges.

4. Income from nonoperative property not included. Income derived from property not defined in this section and in sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four a, three thousand six hundred sixty-five b and three thousand six hundred sixty-five c of this code as operative property shall not be included in the gross receipts for the purpose of determining the tax on the property and franchises provided for in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 341.]

§ 3665b. "Operative property." The term "operative property" as used in any section of this code shall include:

(a) Railroad companies. In the case of railroad companies, including street railways: The franchises, roadway, roadbed, rails, rolling stock, rights of way, sidings, spur-tracks, switches, signal systems, cranes and structures used in loading and unloading cars, fences along the right of way, poles, wires, conduits, power lines, piers, used exclusively in the operation of the railroad business, depot grounds and buildings, ferry-boats, tugs and car-floats used exclusively in the operation of the railroad business; machine-shops, repair-shops, roundhouses, car barns, power-houses, substations, and other buildings, used in the operation of the railroad business and so much of the land on which said shops, houses, barns, and other buildings are situate as may be required for the convenient use and occupation of said buildings.

(b) Car companies. In the case of sleeping car, dining car, drawing-room car and palace-car companies, refrigerator, oil, stock, fruit, and other car-loaning, and other car companies operating upon railroads in this state: The franchises, cars, and other rolling stock.

(c) Express companies. In the case of companies doing express business on any railroad, steamboat, vessel, or stage line in this state: The franchises, cars, trucks, wagons, horses, harness, and safes.

(d) Telegraph and telephone companies. In the case of telegraph and telephone companies doing business in this state: The franchises, rights of way, poles, wires, pipes, conduits, cables, switchboards, telegraph and telephone instruments, batteries, generators, and other electrical appliances, and exchange and other buildings used in the telegraph and telephone business and so much of the land on which said buildings are situate as may be required for the convenient use and occupation of said buildings.

(e) Gas and electric companies. In the case of companies engaged in the transmission or sale of gas or electricity: The franchises, towers, poles, wires, pipes, canals, tunnels, ditches, flumes, aqueducts, conduits, rights of way, dams, reservoirs, water and water rights used exclusively in the business of the transmission or sale of gas or electricity; transformers, substations, gas-holders, gas and electric generators, switches, switchboards, meters, electrical and gas appliances, oil-tanks, power plants, power-houses, and other buildings and structures used in the operation of the business of the transmission or sale of gas or electricity and so much of the land on which said buildings and structures are situate as may be required for the convenient use and operation of said buildings; provided, that the operative property of the companies enumerated in this section, shall also include any other property not above enumerated that may be reasonably necessary for use by said companies exclusively in the operation and conduct of the particular kinds of business enumerated in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code. The operative property mentioned in subdivisions (a), (b), (c), (d), and (e), of this section shall not be subject to taxation for county, municipal, or district purposes except as otherwise provided for in the constitution and laws of this state; provided, however, that when any piece or parcel of property in this state owned by any of the companies mentioned in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code is used partially by such company for any use reasonably necessary to the operation of any of the lines of business enumerated in said section and such property is also partially rented to or used by others or is partially used by the company for some other lines of business not among those so enumerated, or for purposes not reasonably necessary to the operation of any of said enumerated lines of business, it shall be considered operative property in that proportion only which that part of the property mentioned in this proviso used by the company in the operation of any of said enumerated lines of business bears to the whole of the property mentioned in this proviso.

2. Construction property nonoperative. Any property of the classes mentioned in this section owned by a company constructing a new railroad, street railway, telegraph or telephone system, or plant or system for the transmission or sale of gas or electricity, no part of which new road, line, plant or system is in operation, and the same classes of property when held by an operating company solely for the construction of a new railroad or railway line, a new telegraph or telephone system, or a new plant or system for the transmission or sale of gas or electricity, and not to be used for betterments or additions to roads, lines, plants, or systems already under operation, shall not be considered operative property and shall be subject to assessment and taxation for county, municipal, and district purposes. Any part of such property of any company mentioned in this section shall be classed and assessed as operative property when the state board of equalization shall determine that such property is rendering a substantial public service.

3. Rules of state board of equalization. The state board of equalization shall have power to make rules and issue instructions not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this state for the guidance of assessors in determining what is operative property and what is non-operative property of companies named in this section. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 341.]

§ 3665c. Annual report by companies. Such person or officer, as the state board of equalization may designate, of each of the companies mentioned in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code, shall within ten days after the first Monday in March of each year, file with the said board a report signed and sworn to by one or more of said persons or officers, showing in detail for the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, the various items as follows:

1. Name, etc. The name of the company, its nature, whether a person or persons, a partnership (with names of partners), an association, or corporation, and under the laws of what state, territory or country organized, the nature of its business, the location of its principal place of business, the names and postoffice addresses of its president, secretary, auditor, treasurer, superintendent, and general manager, the location of its principal place of business in this state, the name and postoffice address of its chief officer or managing agent in this state, and the names and addresses of all subsidiary companies whose property and business are operated by it and the names and addresses of any company of which it may be subsidiary.

2. Operative property. Each of the companies mentioned in said section shall report, in such detail as the state board of equalization shall prescribe, all of its property in this state which comes under the definition of operative property in section three thousand six hundred sixty-five b of this code. When any such company operates both within and without this state it shall report the mileage over which it operates both within and without this state. It shall also report the location of said property within this state by counties, cities and counties, municipalities, and districts, in such manner and in such detail as said board of equalization shall prescribe. It shall also, at the same time, furnish a duplicate of the report covering so much of said property as is located in any county, city and county, municipality, or district, to the assessor of the county, city and county, city or district in which such property is located.

The state board of equalization may require the filing in its office of maps descriptive of all the operative property of any such companies, and may prescribe the form and size of such maps and the details to be shown therein, and may require that similar maps descriptive of the operative property within each county, city and county, municipality, or district, shall be filed in the assessor's office in each county, city and county, city, or district in which any of said property is located.

3. Capital stock. The amount of capital stock issued, and the amount of money received therefor, showing separately the capital stock issued and the money received therefor of the operating company and of each subsidiary company in this state.

4. Dividends. The dividends paid during the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, the surplus fund, if any, on said thirty-first day of December, or between such periods as the state board of equalization may determine, those of the operating company and of each subsidiary company in this state to be shown separately.

5. Debts. The funded and floating debts and the rate of interest thereon, showing separately the debts of the operating company and of each subsidiary company in this state, on the thirty-first day of December last preceding.

6. Value of stock. The market value of the stock and of the outstanding bonds, or, when said stock or bonds have no market value, the actual value thereof, for such periods and for such dates as the state board of equalization shall prescribe.

7. Improvements. The amounts expended for improvements during the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, how expended and the character of the improvements.

8. Gross receipts. The gross receipts from operation within this state for the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, the gross receipts from such classes of business as the state board of equalization may designate, to be reported separately; also, where the property and business are partly within and partly without this state, the gross receipts for said period on all business beginning and ending entirely within this state, and that proportion of the gross receipts from all business passing through, into, or out of this state, which the mileage within this state bears to the total mileage over which such interstate business is done as further defined in section three thousand six hundred sixty-five a of this code.

9. Expenses. The operating and other expenses.

10. Profit and loss. The balances of profit and loss, between such periods as the state board of equalization may determine.

11. Other matters. Subsidiary companies. Defined. Such other matters as the state board of equalization may deem necessary in order to enable it to assess and levy the taxes provided for in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state.

Each such company shall include in its report the property and business of all subsidiary companies as that term is hereinafter defined in this section, whose property and business are operated by it, whether by virtue of a lease, an operating contract or agreement, or by virtue of control through the ownership of stock or otherwise, even though such subsidiary companies maintain an independent legal existence and separate accounts.

The term "subsidiary company" is hereby defined as applying to a company which is merged in the operating system of an operating company in any of the ways above stated, whose property and franchises would be taxable under section three thousand six hundred sixty-four a of this code if the same were operated independently. No separate report need be rendered by a subsidiary company whose property, franchises, and operations are fully and completely covered by the report of an operating company, unless the state board of equalization shall deem such a separate report necessary.

Each such company operating the property or business of a subsidiary company in some line of business to which a different percentage of the gross receipts is applied by said section from that applied by said section to the gross receipts of the operating company, shall report such receipts of the subsidiary company separately. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 343.]

§ 3666. Notice by assessor of property regarded nonoperative. Hearing. 1. If any assessor finds in the report of the operative property in his county, city and county, municipality, or district, furnished to him by any of the companies as required in section three thousand six hundred sixty-five c of this code, any piece or parcel of property which he regards as nonoperative property, or partially operative and partially non-operative, he shall, within thirty days after receiving such report, notify the state board of equalization thereof by mail, which notice shall contain a general description of the property and the assessor's reasons for regarding the same as nonoperative property. He shall also mail a copy of the notice to the company whose property is involved. The said board shall investigate the nature of the property and its use, and, if an agreement between the said board, the assessor, and the company as to the proper classification of such property cannot be reached, then the said board shall, under such rules of notice as it may deem reasonable, set a date for a hearing, at which the assessor and the company may be present or represented. At such hearing the board shall, from the evidence presented and from the best information it can obtain decide the matter in dispute, and determine whether such property is operative or nonoperative or in what proportion operative and in what proportion nonoperative. The said board shall enter its decision in its minutes, and shall send a copy thereof to the county assessor and the company, and also to the proper officer of any municipality affected thereby. Said decision shall be binding upon all parties, the state, the county, city and county, municipality, or district, and the company, unless set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction, and each such assessor must note the decision on his assessment-roll, and must assess such property accordingly.

2. Notice by state board of equalization of property regarded nonoperative. Hearing. If the state board of equalization shall find in the report of operative property furnished to said board by any company under the provisions of section three thousand six hundred sixty-five c of this code, any piece or parcel of property which said board regards as nonoperative property, or partially operative and partially nonoperative, the board shall, within thirty days after receiving such report, notify said company thereof in writing, which notice shall contain a general description of the property and the reasons for regarding the same as nonoperative. It shall also mail a copy of the notice to any assessor in whose county, city and county, municipality, or district the property is located. If an agreement between the said board, the assessor, and the company as to the proper classification of such property cannot be reached, then the said board shall, under such rules of notice as it may deem reasonable, set a date for a hearing, at which the assessor and the company may be present or represented. At such hearing the board shall, from the evidence presented and from the best information it can obtain, decide the matter in dispute, and determine whether such property is operative or nonoperative, or in what proportion operative and in what proportion nonoperative. The said board shall enter its decision in its minutes, and shall send a copy thereof to the county assessor and the company, and also to the proper officer of any municipality affected thereby. Said decision shall be binding upon all parties, the state, the county, city and county, municipality, or district, and the company, unless set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction, and each such assessor must note the decision on his assessment-roll and must assess the property accordingly. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 345.]

Old section 3666 relating to the record of assessment of railways was repealed May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 336.

§ 3666a. Report by insurance commissioner. List of companies subject to additional tax. Statements by companies to insurance commissioner. The insurance commissioner of this state must on or before the last day of March in each year make and file with the state board of equalization a report showing:

1. All companies, domestic and foreign, and all firms, associations, or persons, engaged in the business of insurance in this state.

2. The total amount of the gross premiums received from its business in this state by each of said companies, firms, associations, and persons during the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding.

3. The amount of return premiums paid on business done in this state and the amount of reinsurance on business done in this state paid to other insurance companies or associations authorized to do business in this state, by said companies, firms, associations, and persons, during said year.

4. The amount of any county and municipal taxes paid during said year by such companies on real estate owned by them in this state, and where said real estate is located.

In making this report he shall list separately all those companies, firms, associations, or persons, which, under the second proviso in subdivision (b) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution and of section three thousand six hundred sixty-four b of this code, are subject to a tax at a rate higher than two per cent on their gross premiums, or to any additional tax or burden, and shall indicate in each case the amount and character of said tax or burden. Every company, firm, association, or person engaged in the business of insurance in this state shall file with the insurance commissioner on or before the first Monday in March in each year such statements in addition to, or in modification of, the statements required to be rendered under the provisions of article sixteen of chapter three of title one of part three of the Political Code as said insurance commissioner shall deem necessary to enable him to prepare the report required of him in this section and said statements shall be verified in the same manner as is provided for the verification of other statements by insurance companies in section six hundred ten of the Political Code, except that, those filed by foreign companies shall be verified by the oath of the manager thereof residing within this state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 347.]

§ 3666b. Statement by banks. The president, secretary, treasurer, cashier, or such other officer as the state board of equalization may determine, of every bank referred to in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, shall on the first Monday in March or within ten days thereafter make and file with the state board of equalization a sworn statement showing the condition of said bank at the close of business on the first Monday in March, and showing the amount of its authorized capital stock, the number of shares issued and the par value thereof, the amount received for stock issued, the amount of its surplus and undivided profits, if any, a complete list of the names and residences of its stockholders and the number of shares held by each as of record on the books of the bank at the close of business on the first Monday in March; or, in the case of unincorporated banks and bankers, of banks having no capital stock and of branches, agencies, or other representatives of banks doing business outside of this state, the moneyed capital, reserve, surplus, undivided profits, and other taxable property, as further defined in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, used by them in the banking business in this state, also a description of the real estate, other than mortgage interests therein, and the value of each piece thereof as assessed for the purpose of county taxation for the then current fiscal year.

Branches, agencies, or other representatives of banks doing business outside of this state shall report the average amount owed by said branches, agencies, or representatives, to the banks of which they are branches, agencies, or representatives, during the year ending the first Monday in March, also a description of the real estate other than mortgage interests therein, and the value of each piece thereof as assessed for the purpose of county taxation for the then current fiscal year.

The state board of equalization shall prescribe the form of reports, the manner of their verification, and may require the submission of tax receipts, or copies thereof certified to be correct by any notary public, in order to verify the statements as to the assessed value of the real estate, and may require such further information or statements as said board may deem necessary. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 347.]

§ 3666c. Report on corporations by secretary of state. The secretary of state shall daily report to the state board of equalization the name, corporate number, principal place of business, date of incorporation, term of existence, funded debt, if any, authorized capital stock, and postoffice address of all corporations, whether formed under the laws of this state or of any other state or country, a copy of the articles of incorporation of which is filed in his office and corporations which are authorized to do business in this state. He shall also report at said time all certificates of increase or decrease of capital stock or funded debt, dissolution, or other termination of corporate existence, change of name, consolidation and mergers, change of principal place of business, and such other information regarding corporations as said state board may require to assist it in making the assessments and levying the taxes as provided in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 348.]

§ 3667. Report by holders of franchises. The owner or holder of every franchise subject to taxation as provided in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four of this code, shall within ten days after the first Monday in March in each year make a written report to the state board of equalization, signed and sworn to by the holder or owner himself, if an individual, or by one of the copartners if such owner or holder is a copartnership, or by the president or vice-president and the treasurer or secretary if the owner is a corporation, containing such a concise statement or description of every franchise possessed or enjoyed on said day by such owner or holder, as the state board of equalization may prescribe, a copy of the law, grant, ordinance, or contract under which the same is held, or if possessed or enjoyed under a general law, a reference to such law, a statement of any condition, obligation, or burden imposed upon such franchise, or under which the same is enjoyed, and containing also:

1. Name, etc. The name of the company, its nature, whether a person or persons, a partnership (with names of partners), an association, or corporation, and under the laws of what state, territory, or country organized, the nature of its business, the location of its principal place of business, the names and postoffice addresses of its president, secretary, auditor, treasurer, superintendent, and general manager, the location of its principal place of business in this state, the name and postoffice address of its chief officer or managing agent in this state, and the names and addresses of all subsidiary companies whose property and business are operated by it.

2. Capital stock. The amount of its authorized capital stock, the amount thereof issued and outstanding on the first Monday in March, and the amount paid in thereon or the value of the property received therefor.

3. Debts. The funded and floating debts and the interest paid thereon showing separately the debts of the operating company and of any subsidiary companies in this state on the thirty-first day of December last preceding.

4. Value of stock. The market value of the stock and of the outstanding bonds, or, when said stock or bonds have no market value, the actual value thereof, for such periods and for such dates as the state board of equalization shall prescribe.

5. Assessed value of property. The assessed value of its property as shown by the last completed assessment-roll in each county, city and county, and city in the state for the purposes of taxation, and if any property of such corporation be assessed and taxed outside of the state of California the place where assessed, the amount of such assessment and taxes there paid the current fiscal year.

6. Value of property. The market and actual value of all non-assessable real and personal property owned by such company.

7. Amount and value of property. The amount and actual value of all of said real and personal property referred to in the last two preceding subdivisions of this section that is owned and possessed by the company at the date of its report; also, the amount and actual value of any other and additional real or personal property owned by the company at the date of said report.

8. Dividends. The dividends paid during the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, the surplus fund, if any; on said thirty-first day of December, or between such periods as the state board of equalization may determine. Those of the operating company and of each subsidiary company in this state to be shown separately.

9. Gross receipts. The gross receipts from all sources for the year ending the thirty-first day of December last preceding, from the entire property and business, the gross receipts from such classes of business as the state board may designate, to be reported separately; also, the total gross receipts from intrastate business and from interstate business so far as the same relate to this state, the same to be separately stated.

10. Expenses. The operating and other expenses.

11. Profit and loss. The balances of profit and loss, between such periods as the state board of equalization may determine.

12. Other matters. Such other matters as the state board of equalization may deem necessary in order to enable it to assess and levy the taxes provided for in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state. The state board of equalization shall ascertain and determine from the foregoing reports or from the best information it can obtain the actual cash value on the first Monday in March of each such franchise, and shall assess and levy the taxes thereon in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (d) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 349.]

The old section 3667, relating to the notice to the controller of the county rate of taxation, was repealed in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 336).

§ 3667a. Report by assessor or auditor. Every assessor or auditor shall, in the manner, at the times, and for the year required by the state board of equalization, report to said board upon such forms as may be prescribed by said board the valuation placed by him upon the property of any company subject to an assessment upon its franchise under the provisions of sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four d and three-thousand six hundred sixty-seven of this code. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 350.]

§ 3667b. Estimates by state board of equalization when no report furnished. Penalty. If any company mentioned in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four of this code shall fail or refuse to furnish to the state board of equalization within the time prescribed by law the verified report provided for by law, the state board of equalization must note such failure or refusal in the record of assessments for state taxes provided for in section three thousand six hundred sixty-eight a of this code, and must make an estimate of the amount of the gross receipts, gross premiums, value of the shares of capital stock, or value of the franchises, of such company and must assess the same at the amount thus estimated, which assessment shall be the assessment upon which the taxes upon the property or franchise of the company for such year shall be levied and collected. And if in the succeeding year any such company shall again fail or refuse to furnish the verified report required by law, the state board shall make an estimate of the amount of the gross receipts, gross premiums, value of the shares of capital stock, or value of the franchise of such company, which estimate shall not be less than twice the amount of the estimate made by said board in the previous year, and shall note such failure or refusal as above provided, and the said estimate so made shall be the assessment upon which the taxes upon the property or franchise of the company for such year shall be levied and collected. In case of each succeeding consecutive failure or refusal the said board shall follow the same procedure until a true statement shall be furnished.

Any company failing or refusing to make and furnish any report prescribed by law to be made to the state board of equalization, or rendering a false or fraudulent report shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than three hundred dollars and not exceeding five thousand dollars for each such offense.

Any person required to make, render, sign, or verify any report, as aforesaid, who makes any false or fraudulent report, with intent to defeat or evade the assessment required by law to be made, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall for each such offense be fined not less than three hundred dollars and not more than five thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding one year in the county jail of the county where said report was verified, or be subject to both said fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 350.]

§ 3667c. Extension of time for report. The state board of equalization may, for good cause shown, by order entered upon its minutes, extend for not exceeding thirty days, the time fixed for filing any report required by said board. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 351.]

§ 3668. Assessment and levy of taxes. Request of bank to assess entire taxable value of shares of stock. Form. Notice of completion of assessments. The state board of equalization must meet at the state capital on the first Monday in March of each year, and continue in open session from day to day, Sundays and holidays excepted, until the first Monday in July. Between the first Monday in March and the third Monday before the first Monday in July the board must assess and levy the taxes as and in the manner provided for in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect.

The assessments must be made to the company, person or association owning or operating the property subject to said tax, or, in the case of banks, banking associations, savings and loan societies and trust companies, to the stockholders therein; provided however, that in the case of banks of liquidation the assessment shall be made to the receiver, trustee or officer in charge of such liquidation, as the case may be, as the representative of the stockholders thereof.

If the name of the owner is unknown to the board, such assessment must be made to unknown owners.

Clerical errors occurring or appearing in the name of any company, person, association, or stockholder whose property is correctly assessed, or in the making, or extension of any assessment upon the records of the state board of equalization, which do not affect the substantial rights of the taxpayer, shall not invalidate the assessment.

Provided, however, that if any bank shall by resolution of its board of directors, request the state board of equalization to assess to and in the name of such bank so requesting, the entire taxable value of all the shares of the capital stock of such bank, as determined by said state board, instead of assessing such shares to and in the name of the individual stockholders or shareholders owning the same, and if such bank shall promise that it will, upon being notified by said state board, of such assessment thereof to said bank, and of the amount of taxes to be paid upon such assessment, pay such taxes at the times when taxes assessed and levied under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect are due and payable, which request to assess said bank and promise to pay said tax shall be in substantially the following form:

The state board of equalization is hereby instructed to assess in the name of this bank and not to the individual stockholders or shareholders therein, the taxable value of all the shares of capital stock in this bank and such bank hereby promises to pay to the state treasurer the amount of the tax levied upon such assessment when such taxes are due and payable under the laws of this state.

By (here insert title of official signing).

Then the state board may assess the capital stock to and in the name of such bank and said promise to pay the taxes shall be binding upon such bank and collection of such taxes from such bank may be enforced in the manner and by the same method as is provided for the collection of other taxes assessed and levied under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect.

On the third Monday before the first Monday in July the said board shall publish a notice in one daily newspaper of general circulation published at the state capital, in one daily newspaper of general circulation published in the city and county of San Francisco, and in one daily newspaper of general circulation published in the city of Los Angeles, that the assessment of property for state taxes has been completed, and that the record of assessments for state taxes will be delivered to the controller on the first Monday in July, and that if any company, person, or association is dissatisfied with the assessment made by the board, it may, at any time before the taxes thereon shall become due and payable, apply to the board to have the same corrected in any particular. The board shall have power at any time on or before the first Monday in July to correct the record of assessments for state taxes and may increase or decrease any assessment therein if in its judgment the evidence presented or obtained warrants such action. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 351.]

The old section 3668, relating to the publication by the controller, was repealed in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 336).

§ 3668a. Record of assessments for state taxes. Certificate. The state board of equalization must prepare each year a book, in one or more volumes, to be called the "record of assessments for state taxes," in which must be entered, either in writing or printing, or by both writing and printing, each assessment and levy made by said board upon the property and franchises mentioned in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four of this code, describing the property assessed, and such assessments shall be classified and entered, in such separate parts of said record as the board shall prescribe. On the first Monday in July the secretary of the state board of equalization must deliver to the controller of state the record of assessments for state taxes, certified to by the chairman and secretary of the board, which certificate shall be substantially as follows: "We, —, chairman, and —, secretary, of the state board of equalization of the state of California do hereby certify, that between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July, 19—, the state board of equalization made diligent inquiry and examination to ascertain all property and companies subject to assessment and taxation for state purposes, as required by the constitution of this state; that said board has faithfully complied with all the duties imposed upon it by the constitution and laws of the state of California; that said board has not imposed any unjust or double assessment through malice or ill will, or otherwise; nor allowed any company or property to escape a just assessment through favor or reward, or otherwise."

But the failure to subscribe such certificate to such record of assessments for state taxes, or any certificate, shall not in any manner affect the validity of any assessment. Such record of assessments shall constitute the warrant for the controller to collect the taxes assessed and levied upon the property and franchises mentioned in section three thousand six hundred sixty-four of this code. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 353.]

§ 3668b. Taxes payable, when. Taxes not fully secured by personal property. Sale of property at public auction. Notice. Bill of sale. Notice by state controller. The taxes assessed and levied as provided in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, and in and by the provisions of this code enacted to carry the same into effect, shall be due and payable on the first Monday in July in each year, and one-half thereof shall be delinquent on the sixth Monday after said first Monday in July at six o'clock P. M., and unless paid prior thereto, fifteen per cent shall be added to the amount thereof, and unless paid prior to the first Monday in February next thereafter at six o'clock P. M., an additional five per cent shall be added to the amount thereof; and the unpaid portion, or the remaining one-half of said taxes shall become delinquent on the first Monday in February next succeeding the day upon which they became due and payable, at six o'clock P. M.; and if not paid prior thereto five per cent shall be added to the amount thereof; provided, that all taxes provided for or levied under said section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and the provisions of this code enacted to carry the same into effect which are not fully secured by real property are due and payable at the time the assessment is made. When in the opinion of the state board of equalization any of the taxes provided for in this section are not a lien upon real property sufficient to secure the payment of the taxes, said board may direct the controller, or his duly authorized representative, to collect the same at any time before the first Monday in August thereafter, and the controller may collect the taxes by seizure and sale of any property owned by the company against whom the tax is assessed.

The sale of any property so seized shall be made at public auction and of a sufficient amount of the property to pay the taxes, penalties and costs, and be made after one week's notice of the time and place of such sale given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the property seized is situate, or if there be no newspaper of general circulation published in such county, then by posting of such notice in three public places in such county.

Said notice shall contain a description of the property to be sold together with a statement of the amount of the taxes, penalties and costs due thereon and the name of the owner of said property and a further statement that unless the taxes, penalties and costs are paid on or before the day fixed in said notice for such sale of said property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said taxes, penalties and costs, said property will be sold in accordance with law and said notice.

On payment of the price bid for any property sold, the delivery thereof with bill of sale executed by the controller vests the title in the purchaser. The unsold portion of any property so seized, may be left at the place of sale at the risk of the owner. All of the proceeds of any such sale in excess of the taxes, penalties, and costs, must be returned to the owner of the property sold, and until claimed must be deposited with the state treasurer, as trustee for such owner, and subject to the order of the owner thereof, his heirs, or assigns.

Within ten days after the receipt of the record of assessments for state taxes, the controller must begin the publication of a notice to appear daily for two weeks, in one daily newspaper of general circulation published at the state capital, in one daily newspaper of general circulation published in the city and county of San Francisco, and in one daily newspaper of general circulation published in the city of Los Angeles, specifying:

1. That he has received from the state board of equalization the record of assessments for state taxes.

2. That the taxes therein assessed are due and payable on the first Monday in July and that one-half thereof will be delinquent on the sixth Monday after the first Monday in July at six o'clock P. M., and that unless paid to the state treasurer at the capital prior thereto, fifteen per cent will be added to the amount thereof, and unless paid prior to the first Monday in February next thereafter at six o'clock P. M., an additional five per cent will be added to the amount thereof; and that the remaining one-half of said taxes will become delinquent on the first Monday in February next succeeding the day upon which they became due and payable, at six o'clock P. M.; and if not paid to the state treasurer at the capital prior thereto, five per cent will be added to the amount thereof. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 354.]

§ 3668c. Taxes lien on property and franchises. The taxes levied under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect shall constitute a lien upon all the property and franchises of every kind and nature belonging to the companies subject to taxation for state purposes, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March of each year. Every tax herein provided for has the effect of a judgment against the company, and every lien created by the constitutional and statutory provisions aforesaid has the effect of an execution duly levied against all property of the delinquent; the judgment is not satisfied nor the lien removed until such taxes, penalties, and costs are paid, or the property sold for the payment thereof. No final discharge in bankruptcy or decree of dissolution shall be made and entered by any court, nor shall the county clerk of any county or the secretary of state file any such discharge or decree, or file any other document by which the term of existence of any corporation shall be reduced or terminated until all taxes, penalties, and costs due on assessments made under the constitutional and statutory provisions aforesaid shall have been paid and discharged. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 355.]

§ 3669. Taxes paid to state treasurer. 1. All taxes assessed and levied under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and sections of this code enacted to carry the same into effect shall be paid to the state treasurer, upon the order of the controller, without deduction for any taxes assessed and levied to pay the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness mentioned in subdivision (c) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, and the amount due to the cities, cities and counties, counties, towns, townships, and districts on account of said taxes assessed and levied for such bonded indebtedness shall be paid to said cities, cities and counties, counties, towns, townships, or districts in the manner provided by law. The controller must mark the date of payment of any tax on the record of assessments for state taxes.

2. Controller's receipt. The controller must give a receipt to the person paying any tax, or any part of any tax, specifying the amount of the assessment and the tax, or part of tax, paid, and the amount remaining unpaid, if any, with a description of the property assessed; provided, that the receipt for the second half of the taxes may refer, by number or in any other intelligible manner, to the receipt given for the first half of said taxes, in lieu of a description of the property assessed.

3. Taxes in excess of what was legally due. Whenever any taxes, penalties, or costs collected and paid to the state treasurer as hereinbefore provided, shall have been paid more than once, or shall have been erroneously or illegally collected, or when any taxes shall have been collected and paid pursuant to said provisions of law upon a computation erroneously made by reason of clerical mistake of the officers or employees of the state board of equalization, or shall have been computed in a manner contrary to law, the state board of equalization shall certify to the state board of control the amount of such taxes, penalties, or costs, collected in excess of what was legally due, from whom they were collected or by whom paid, and if approved by said board of control, the same shall be credited to the company or person to whom it rightfully belongs, at the time of the next payment of taxes. No claim for such credit shall be so audited, approved, allowed, or paid unless presented within one year after the payment sought to be refunded.

4. Cancellation of assessment. In case the assessment of any property or any company is duplicated upon the record of assessments for state taxes, or there appears thereon the assessment of any company whose charter has been forfeited or right to do business in this state has been forfeited, or the assessment of any company which, for any reason, could not be legally assessed, the state board of equalization or the controller shall certify such fact to the state board of control and said board of control shall authorize the cancellation of such assessment. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 356.]

The old section 3669, providing that certain taxes were to be paid to the state treasurer, was repealed in 1917 (Stats. 1917, p. 336).

§ 3669a. Action for recovery of tax. 1. Any company, person or association claiming and protesting as herein provided that the assessment made against him or it by the state board of equalization is void in whole or in part may bring an action against the state treasurer for the recovery of the whole or any part of such tax, penalties or costs paid on such assessment upon the grounds stated in such protest, but no such action may be brought later than the third Monday in February next following the day on which the taxes were due, nor unless such company, person or association shall have filed with the state controller at the time of payment of such taxes a written protest stating whether the whole assessment is claimed to be void, or if a part only, what part, and the grounds upon which such claim is founded; and when so paid under protest the payment shall in no case be regarded as voluntary.

2. Procedure. Whenever under the provisions of this section an action is commenced against the state treasurer, a copy of the complaint and of the summons must be served upon the treasurer, or his deputy. At the time the treasurer demurs or answers, he may demand that the action be tried in the superior court of the county of Sacramento, which demand must be granted. The attorney general must defend the action. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to the pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings herein provided for. A failure to begin such action within the time herein specified shall be a bar against the recovery of such taxes. In any such action the court shall have power to render judgment for plaintiff for any part or portion of the tax, penalties or costs found to be void and so paid by plaintiff upon such assessment.

3. No judgment for plaintiff, when. In no case shall any judgment be rendered in favor of plaintiff in any action brought against the state treasurer to recover any tax, when said action is brought by or in the name of an assignee of the person, company or corporation paying said tax, or by any person, company or corporation other than the person, company or corporation that has paid said tax. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 357.]

§ 3669b. Reassessment. Every assessment of property made after November 8, 1910, under the provisions of section fourteen, article thirteen of the constitution and under the provisions of any law enacted to carry into effect said section of the constitution which is, or may hereafter be adjudged to be invalid by reason of any illegality, invalidity, or irregularity, declared or existing, in the assessment of such property, or in the mode provided for the assessment thereof, shall be remade and the property reassessed and equalized for each year for which such assessment is invalid as aforesaid, and for the year for which the assessment of such property was invalid as aforesaid, and such reassessment and equalization shall be made by the same officers and boards, at the same time or times, as are prescribed by law for the assessment and equalization of property, of the same classes or kinds as the property which hereby is required to be reassessed. The assessment and equalized assessment of such property shall be entered on the several assessment-rolls or books in the same manner that assessments of such property are or were required by law to be entered for the year or years for which such reassessments shall be made. And there is hereby levied for state purposes the same rates of taxation for each of such respective years as were levied upon such property for each of said years for said state purposes.

2. Manner of reassessment. All property herein and hereby authorized to be reassessed shall be reassessed and equalized by the proper officers and boards at the value to which and to the person or corporation to whom or to which such property ought, for each of such years, to have been assessed, under such rules of notice and at the times and in the modes as are prescribed for the assessment and equalization of like classes of property; and the assessment and equalization thereof, and the levy and collection of taxes thereunder, shall be made by the proper officers at the time, upon like notice and in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for making assessments and equalizing the same, and for the levy and collection of taxes on like classes of property; and if the taxes so relieved shall become delinquent; there shall be added thereto and the amount thereof the same percentage as a penalty for such delinquency as is added to other delinquent taxes on like classes of property; and such delinquent taxes and penalties added thereto shall be collected by the proper officers in the manner now or hereafter provided by law for the collection of delinquent taxes and penalties upon like classes of property, the collectors of such taxes to allow as credits thereon all payments theretofore made on the tax as first levied.

3. No limitation on action for collection of taxes. There shall be no limitation or limitations as to the time in which actions for the collections of taxes levied under this section may be commenced, and all the provisions of law now or hereafter provided in respect to assessments, equalization, levy, and collection of taxes shall, where applicable, apply to reassessments, equalization, and relieves and collections of taxes made under the provisions of this section. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 357.]

§ 3669c. Suspension of corporate powers on failure to pay taxes. List sent to county clerk and county recorder. 1. Within ten days after the first Monday in February, the controller shall send by mail to the last known address of any company whose taxes are delinquent a notice of the amount of said taxes, penalties, and costs, and that if the said taxes, penalties, and costs are not paid on or before the Saturday preceding the first Monday in March next thereafter at six o'clock P. M. of said day, the corporate powers, rights and privileges of such delinquent company, if it be a domestic corporation, will be at that time suspended and thereafter incapable of exercise, and that if the delinquent company be a foreign corporation it will thereupon forfeit its right to do intrastate business in this state. If the taxes, penalties, and costs are not paid within the time specified in said notice, the controller shall, on said Saturday preceding the first Monday in March at six o'clock P. M. of said day, mark on the record of assessments for state taxes opposite the assessment of the delinquent corporation the words "corporate powers suspended," if the delinquent corporation be a domestic corporation, and thereupon said corporate powers shall be suspended and incapable of exercise until restored as hereinafter provided; and if the delinquent corporation be a foreign corporation, the controller shall mark on the record of assessments for state taxes opposite the assessment of such delinquent corporation the words "right to do intrastate business forfeited" and thereupon said right to do such business shall be so forfeited. He shall at once report to the secretary of state the name and number of charter of each corporation whose corporate powers have been suspended or right to do business has been forfeited for nonpayment of taxes.

On or before the first Monday in April of each year the controller shall make a list of all corporations subject to the tax imposed under sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four a, three thousand six hundred sixty-four b, three thousand six hundred sixty-four c, and three thousand six hundred sixty-four d of this code and which have failed to pay the same and transmit a certified copy thereof to each county clerk and county recorder in this state. Said county clerks and county recorders shall file such certified copies in their respective offices in such manner that the same shall be preserved in the form of a permanent record of such office and easily identified by and available to the public. Said copies so certified by the controller and filed as herein provided shall in the case of each corporation state whether such corporation is a domestic or foreign corporation and specify the penalty which each corporation has incurred for failure to pay the tax imposed by this act. Such certified copies so filed with either of said county officers, or any copy thereof certified by the controller shall be received in evidence in any court in lieu of the original record on file with the controller and shall be prima facie evidence of the truth of all statements contained therein.

2. Corporate powers suspended, when. Penalty for exercising powers after suspension. After six o'clock P. M. of the Saturday preceding the first Monday in March in any year, the corporate rights, privileges and powers of every domestic corporation which has failed to pay said tax and money penalty shall, from and after said hour of said day, be suspended, and incapable of being exercised for any purpose or in any manner, except to defend any action brought in any court against such corporation, until said tax with all accrued penalties, and all taxes and charges due the state under the corporation license act are paid as hereinafter provided. The right and privilege of every foreign corporation to transact intrastate business in this state shall, for failure to pay said tax and money penalty, be forfeited at said hour of said day, and the controller shall make a record of such forfeiture. In the case of foreign corporations such forfeiture may be relieved and the corporation's privilege to transact intrastate business in this state restored in the manner hereinafter provided. After said hour of said day and until such taxes, penalties and charges are paid, every person who attempts or purports to exercise any of the rights, privileges or powers of any delinquent corporation, or, who transacts or attempts to transact any intrastate business in this state in behalf of any forfeited foreign corporation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars and not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than fifty days or more than five hundred days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The jurisdiction of such offense shall be held to be in any county in which any part of such attempted exercise of such powers, or any part of such transaction of business was had or occurred. Every contract made in violation of this section is hereby declared to be void.

3. Procedure for restoration of powers. Controller's certificate. All corporate powers, rights and privileges suspended, or forfeited may be revived and restored to full force and effect by the payment of all accrued taxes and penalties due to the state under sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four a, three thousand six hundred sixty-four b, three thousand six hundred sixty-four c, and three thousand six hundred sixty-four d of this code and also, in addition thereto, a sum of money equal to the tax last assessed under the provisions of said sections of this code, for each year succeeding the year in which such tax was levied, and to the time of such revivor. "Year" within the meaning of the preceding sentence is hereby defined as the period between the first Monday in March of any calendar year and the first Monday in March of the following calendar year. In addition to the payment of the amounts above provided for, such reviving corporation shall pay to the secretary of state that proportion of the license tax specified in section three of any act known as the "corporation license act," as now in force or as hereafter amended, which the unexpired number of months of the calendar year in which such revivor or reinstatement occurs (including the month in which such revivor or reinstatement occurs), bears to the entire year. Upon payment of all such taxes and penalties the state controller shall issue a certificate under his seal evidencing such payment and restoration, which certificate, when recorded in the office of any county recorder shall constitute a release of all existing liens for such taxes upon the property of such corporation. Each county recorder shall keep an index of all such controller's certificates recorded by him. Upon presentation of such controller's certificate of revivor to any county clerk said officer shall make a record thereof in his office in a book kept for such purpose. The record so made by said county clerk shall be prima facie evidence of the restoration to such corporation of all previously suspended or forfeited rights, powers and privileges unless it appears from the records in the office of such county clerk or of the secretary of state that subsequent to the date of such certificate of revivor the powers of said corporation have been suspended or its right to do intrastate business forfeited.

4. Action by controller to collect delinquent taxes. Duty of attorney general. Service of summons. Evidence of unpaid taxes. The controller may, on or before the thirtieth day of April next following said delinquency and suspension or forfeiture, bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county of Sacramento in the name of the people of the state of California, to collect any delinquent taxes, together with any penalties, or costs, which have not been paid in accordance with the provisions of this code and appearing delinquent upon the record of assessments for state taxes hereinbefore mentioned.

The attorney general must prosecute such action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials, and appeals are applicable to the proceedings herein provided for. In such action a writ of attachment may be issued, and no bond or affidavit previous to the issuing of said attachment is required.

In the case of companies whose right to do business has been forfeited or corporate powers suspended, service of summons may be made upon the persons provided for by law to be served as agents or officers of any of such companies and such persons shall be deemed to be the agents of such companies for all purposes necessary in order to prosecute such action. In the case of corporations whose powers have been suspended, the persons constituting the board of directors thereof shall have the power and right to defend such action. Payment of the taxes and penalties, or amount of the judgment recovered in such action must be made to the state treasurer. In such actions the record of assessments for state taxes, or a copy of so much thereof as is applicable in said action, duly certified by the controller, or by the secretary of the state board of equalization, showing unpaid taxes against any company, person or association assessed by the state board of equalization, is prima facie evidence of the assessment upon the property and franchises, the delinquency, the amount of the taxes, penalties, and costs due and unpaid to the state, and that the company, person, or association is indebted to the people of the state of California in the amount of taxes and penalties therein appearing unpaid, and that all the forms of law in relation to the assessment and levy of such taxes have been complied with. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 181.]

This section was added in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 358.

§ 3669d. Procedure for relieving forfeiture. 1. Any corporation which has heretofore failed to pay any tax and penalty imposed under the provisions of section fourteen, article thirteen, of the constitution, and chapter three hundred thirty-five, statutes 1911 and amendments thereof, and for such nonpayment suffered a forfeiture of the charter of such corporation or of its right to do business in this state, may be relieved of such forfeiture, or may be restored to its right to do business in this state, upon making application therefor in writing and paying the tax and penalties for nonpayment of which such forfeiture occurred. Application for restoration, under the provisions of this section, shall be made in writing, shall be signed by four-fifths of the surviving trustees or directors of said corporation, duly verified by said trustees or directors, and filed with the state controller. In case such application for revivor is made in any year other than the year in which such forfeiture occurred then upon payment of twice the amount of the tax and penalty due the state for the year in which such forfeiture occurred, together with the amount of the license fee due the state under the corporation license tax act for the year in which such forfeiture occurred and for the year in which such revivor is sought, the state controller shall issue a certificate of revivor to such corporation, and thereupon such corporation is revived and its powers restored to full force and effect.

The revivor of a corporation under the provisions of this section shall be without prejudice to any action or proceeding, defense or right, which has occurred by reason of the original forfeiture.

2. Reviving corporation under new name. In case the name of any corporation which has suffered a forfeiture under the provisions of chapter three hundred thirty-five, statutes of 1911 or amendments thereof, has been adopted by any other corporation since the date of said forfeiture, or in case any corporation has adopted subsequent to such forfeiture any name so closely resembling the name of such reviving corporation as will tend to deceive, then such reviving corporation shall be entitled to a certificate of revivor pursuant to the terms of this section only upon the adopting by such corporation seeking revivor of a new name, and in such case nothing in this section contained shall be construed as permitting such reviving corporation to carry on any business under its former name. Such reviving corporation shall have the right to use its former name or take such new name only upon filing an application therefor with the secretary of state, and upon the issuing of a certificate to such corporation by the secretary of state, setting forth the right of such corporation to take such new name or use its former name as the case may be. The secretary of state shall not issue any certificate permitting any corporation to take or use the name of any corporation heretofore organized in this state and which has not suffered a forfeiture under either of the acts in this section first above mentioned, or to take or use a name so closely resembling the name of any corporation heretofore organized in this state as will tend to deceive.

The provisions of title nine, part three of the Code of Civil Procedure, in so far as they conflict with this section of this code are not applicable to corporations seeking revivor under this section. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 361.]

§ 3669e. Powers of state board of equalization. In addition to the powers and duties prescribed elsewhere in this code, it is the duty of the state board of equalization, and the said board shall have power, for carrying into effect the provisions for assessments under section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state:

1. Prescribe forms. To prescribe the forms upon which the reports required by sections three thousand six hundred sixty-five c, three thousand six hundred sixty-six b and three thousand six hundred sixty-seven of this code shall be made.

2. Inspect property. Whenever deemed necessary, to visit as a board, or by the individual members thereof, or to send its secretary or duly appointed representative to any portion of this state for the purpose of inspecting property and learning the value thereof, and of collecting information to enable it to justly assess and levy the taxes provided for as aforesaid.

3. Call public officials. To call before it, or any member thereof, or before its secretary or duly appointed representative on such visit, any public official, and to require him to produce any public record, papers or documents in his custody.

4. Issue subpoenas. To issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses or the production of books before the board, or any member thereof; which subpoenas must be signed by a member of the board and may be served by any person.

5. Require attendance. To require any person having knowledge of the business of any of the companies mentioned in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, or having the custody of the books and accounts of such companies, to attend before the board or any member thereof, or before the secretary or the duly appointed representative of said board and bring with him for inspection any books, or papers, of such company in his possession or under his control, and to testify under oath touching any matter relating to the assessment to be made under the provisions of the constitution aforesaid. A member of the board, its secretary, or duly appointed representative is authorized to administer such oath.

6. Examine books and accounts. Said board of equalization is hereby authorized and empowered to examine the books and accounts of all companies required by law to report to it and to employ an expert accountant or accountants to assist in the examination of the books and accounts of any such companies when in the judgment of said board the exigencies of the case may so require.

7. Unlawful to divulge information. It shall be unlawful for any member or ex-member of the state board of equalization, or for any agent employed by it, or for the controller, or ex-controller, or for any person employed by him or for any person who may at any time have obtained such knowledge from any of the foregoing officers or persons, to divulge or make known in any manner whatever not provided by law, any of the following items of information concerning the business affairs of companies reporting to the said board:

(a) Any information concerning the business affairs of any company which is gained during an examination of its books and accounts or in any other manner, and which information is not required to be reported to the state board of equalization in the reports or statements provided for in paragraphs numbered one to twelve of section three thousand six hundred sixty-five c and paragraphs numbered one to ten of section three thousand six hundred sixty-seven of this code.

(b) Any information, other than the assessment and the amount of taxes levied, obtained by the state board of equalization in accordance with the provisions of sections three thousand six hundred sixty-five c and three thousand six hundred sixty-seven of this code, from any company other than any of those enumerated in sections three thousand six hundred sixty-four a, three thousand six hundred sixty-four b and three thousand six hundred sixty-four c of this code.

(c) Any particular item or items of information relating to the disposition of its earnings contained in the report of a quasi-public corporation which any such corporation may, by written communication specifying the items and presented at the time when it files its report, request shall be treated as confidential.

Provided, however, that the governor may authorize examination of such reports by other state officers, in which event the information obtained by such officers shall not be made public, and he may also direct that any of the information herein referred to be made public, in which event it shall no longer be unlawful to divulge or make known the same.

Any violation of the provisions of subdivision seven of this section shall be a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 363.]

§ 3670. Equalization of assessments on real estate of banks. On the second Monday in August of each year the auditor of each county must report to the state board of equalization, in addition to the items required to be so reported by him under section three thousand seven hundred twenty-eight of this code, the value of each piece of real estate other than mortgage interests therein belonging to each bank in his county as assessed and equalized for purposes of county taxation.

Whenever the state board of equalization is satisfied after investigation that any county assessor, or board of equalization, has assessed any real estate belonging to any bank above its full cash value and has thereby unjustly reduced the amount of taxes due the state from said bank, said state board shall, under such rules of notice to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county affected thereby as the said state board shall deem reasonable, equalize the assessed value of such real estate and shall upon completion of said equalization issue an order to said assessor or board of equalization and to the county auditor of the county in which said real estate is located, fixing the assessed value of said real estate.

The value so equalized and fixed, and no other, shall be deemed the value, as assessed for county taxes, of such real estate, and the sole basis of taxation upon such real estate for county taxes.

A copy of the order certified by the secretary of the state board of equalization shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of all proceedings of the board resulting in the action which is the subject matter of the order. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 364.]

The old section 3670 relating to actions by the controller for taxes was repealed May 11, 1917. Stats. 1917, p. 336.

§ 3670a. Equalization of assessments on real estate of insurance companies. The state board of equalization shall immediately after the county and city assessments have been completed, ascertain the value of any real estate belonging to any insurance company as assessed and equalized for purposes of county and of city taxation.

Whenever the state board of equalization is satisfied after investigation that any county, city and county, city, or district assessor, or board of equalization, has assessed any real estate belonging to any insurance company above its full cash value and has thereby unjustly reduced the amount of taxes due the state from said insurance company, said state board shall, under such rules of notice to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county or the proper officer of the city affected as the board shall deem reasonable, equalize the assessed value of such real estate and shall upon the completion of said equalization, issue an order to said assessor or board of equalization and to the county, city and county, city or district auditor or clerk of the county, city and county, city, or district in which said real estate is located, fixing the assessed value of said real estate.

The value so equalized and fixed, and no other, shall be deemed the value, as assessed for county, city and county, city, or district taxes, of such real estate, and the sole basis of taxation upon such real estate, for county, municipal and district taxes.

A copy of the order certified by the secretary of the state board of equalization shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of all proceedings of the board resulting in the action which is the subject matter of the order. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 365.]

§ 3670b. Segregation by assessor. Each county, city and county, city and district assessor must segregate on his assessment-roll, as directed by the state board of equalization:

1. Assessments by state board of equalization. The assessments made by the state board of equalization, and apportioned to the county, city and county, city, town, township, or district, upon the franchises, roadway, roadbed, rails and rolling stock of all railroads operated in more than one county in this state under the provisions of the Political Code as the same existed and were in force on the seventh day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten; and

2. Assessments by assessors. Equalization of assessments. Separate tax rate for bonded indebtedness. Payment by controller to county treasurer. The assessments made by said assessors of any other property enumerated in subdivisions (a), (b), and (d) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, which is located in the county, or city and county, or any city, town, township, or district in which it is subject to taxation for paying the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any city, city and county, county, town, township, or district prior to the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten, as provided in subdivision (e) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state.

Immediately upon completion of the assessment and equalization of property for the purposes of taxation in each year the auditor or clerk of each county, city and county, city, town, or district must transmit to the state board of equalization a duplicate of that part of the assessment-roll containing the assessments and apportionments referred to in paragraphs one and two of this section.

Whenever the state board of equalization is satisfied after investigation that any county, city, or other assessor, or board of equalization, has assessed for taxation to pay the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any county, city and county, city, town, township, or district prior to the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten, as provided in subdivision (e) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, any of the property taxed exclusively for state purposes as provided in subdivisions (a), (b) and (d) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, or has assessed for purposes of county, city and county, city or district taxation the property other than the franchise of any company taxable for a franchise under subdivision (d) of said section and article of the constitution, above its full cash value and has thereby unjustly reduced the amount of taxes due the state on such property, said state board shall, under such rules of notice to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county, or city and county, or to the city clerk of the city, affected thereby as the board shall deem reasonable, equalize the assessed value of such property, and shall issue an order to said assessor or board of equalization and to the county or city auditor or clerk of the county, city and county, or city in which the property is located, fixing the assessed value of such property.

The value so equalized and assessed, and no other, shall be deemed the value of said property, and its assessment for taxes levied to pay the principal and interest of any such outstanding bonded indebtedness, and in the case of companies taxable for franchise under said subdivision (d) of said section and article of the constitution shall be deemed the value of the said property, and its assessment for taxes for county, city and county, municipal and district purposes.

When making the tax levy and fixing the rates of taxation for county, city and county, city, town, township, or district purposes, the board of supervisors of any county, or city and county, and the corresponding authority in any city, having bonded indebtedness issued and outstanding on the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten shall fix the tax rate for such bonded indebtedness separate and apart from all other tax rates, whether for subsequent bonded indebtedness or for other purposes.

The county, city and county, or city auditor or clerk shall extend on the assessment-roll against the assessments segregated as herein provided, the taxes necessary to pay the principal and interest of said bonded indebtedness at the same rate as said taxes for payment of principal and interest of said outstanding bonded indebtedness shall be levied upon the other classes of property within the same county, city and county, city, town, township, or district, and the amount of each such taxes shall be certified by said auditor or clerk to the controller and the amount so certified shall then be credited by the controller to the county, city and county, city, town, township, or district to which it is due; and said amount shall be paid by said controller to the treasurer of such county, or city and county, as provided in section three thousand six hundred seventy c of this code, and upon such payment said treasurer shall forthwith certify such fact to the auditor who shall thereupon mark upon the assessment-roll the date of payment and the words "paid by the state treasurer." The city clerk or auditor shall in the certificate mentioned in this paragraph also state the date when taxes in such city shall become delinquent. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 340.]

This section was added in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 366.

§ 3670c. Money credited to what fund. 1. The controller shall out of the taxes collected by him under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state and the provisions of the sections of this code applicable thereto, credit to the fund created by an act of the thirty-ninth session of the legislature entitled: "An act appropriating money for the purpose of payment of that part of the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any city, city and county, county, town, township or district on the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten, which is provided for in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, and as provided in an act of the thirty-ninth session of the legislature entitled 'An act to carry into effect the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of the State of California as said constitution was amended November 8, 1910, providing for the separation of state from local taxation, and providing for the taxation of public service and other corporations for the benefit of the state, all relating to revenue and taxation,'" or any act or acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto, the money due to each county, city and county, city, town, township, or district on account of taxes to pay the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any city, city and county, county, town, township or district, on the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten.

2. Time for settlements with county treasurer. The controller shall in the months of October and March in each year settle with the treasurer of each county and city and county for the money collected by said controller under this section, for the moneys due said county or city and county and the townships and districts within such county or city and county, in the same manner as settlements are made between the county or city and county treasurers and the controller as provided for in section three thousand eight hundred sixty-six of this code.

3. Settlement with city and town treasurers. The controller shall at the same times, settle with each city and town for the moneys due such city or town for the purposes mentioned in this section, and when ready for such settlement shall notify the city or town treasurer of the amount of money due the city or town for said purposes, and that upon receipt of proper authority so to do, he will forward to said city or town treasurer a warrant for the amount thereof; provided, however, that upon receipt of notice from any such city or town treasurer that any bond issue matures for principal or interest before the date of such settlement, which notice shall state the amount thereof due from the state and the date of maturity, and that said amount due from the state is required in order to pay the same, the said controller must, before said date of maturity, forward his warrant to such city or town treasurer in the manner above provided for the amount ascertained by him to be due. The treasurer of the county or city and county shall forthwith, upon receipt by him of the moneys so hereinbefore directed to be paid by said controller, credit the amount so received by him to the county, city and county, township or district, respectively entitled thereto, and pay the same in the manner provided by law.

4. Repayment of excess. Any excess paid by the controller to a county, city and county, city, town, or to a county or city and county or any township or district, over and above the state's share of the amount actually expended by such county, city and county, city, town, township or district, to pay the interest and principal of said bonded indebtedness in any year, shall be repaid to the state in such manner as the controller shall direct. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 367.]

§ 3671. Reimbursement of counties until 1918. Until the year one thousand nine hundred eighteen the state shall reimburse any and all counties which sustain loss of revenue by the withdrawal of railroad property from county taxation for the net loss in county revenue occasioned by the withdrawal of railroad property from county taxation in the manner, at the times, and in the amounts specified in an act of the thirty-ninth session of the legislature entitled "An act to provide for the reimbursement of counties in this state which sustain net loss of revenue by the withdrawal of railroad property from county taxation, under the provisions of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state," or any act or acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 369.]

The old section 3671, relating to the basis for county taxation was repealed May 11, 1917. Stats. 1917, p. 336.

§ 3671a. Expenses of county treasurer. The provisions of section three thousand eight hundred seventy-six of the Political Code shall not apply to the settlements made with the state treasurer under sections three thousand six hundred seventy c and three thousand six hundred seventy-one of this code, but the county board of supervisors may if it deem necessary allow the county treasurer the actual expenses incurred in collecting the money due the county from the state. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 369.]

§ 3671b. Reimbursement of districts. The board of supervisors of each county shall in the month of September of each year determine the amount of loss to each district in the county where loss is occasioned in such district by the withdrawal from local taxation of property taxed for state purposes only, and in the month of December next thereafter shall reimburse such district from the general funds of the county for one-half of such loss, and in the month of May next thereafter shall reimburse such district from the general fund of the county for the remaining one-half of such loss. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 369.]

§ 3671c. Tax to meet deficiency in state revenue. Any tax required to be levied for state purposes as provided in subdivision (e) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution as amended the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten, to meet any deficiency in the state revenue shall be assessed, levied and collected on all property in the state, not exempt from taxation including the classes of property enumerated in section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution of this state, under the provisions of the Political Code relating to the assessment, levy and collection of state and county taxes as said provisions were in force on the seventh day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 369.]

§ 3671d. Laws in effect. All laws in force prior to the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten, relating to taxation, in so far as said laws may be necessary for the assessment, levy, and collection of state, county, city and county, municipal or district taxes, or in so far as said laws may be necessary for the assessment, levy and collection of the taxes for state purposes, on all the property in the state, not exempt from taxation, to meet a deficiency in the revenues for the support of the state government, or to pay the principal and interest of any bonded indebtedness created and outstanding by any city, city and county, county, town, township, or district, both as provided in subdivision (e) of section fourteen of article thirteen of the constitution as amended on the eighth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred ten shall be and remain, for such purposes, in full force and effect. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 370.]

§ 3678. Statement by auditor. To assist the assessor in the performance of his duties, the auditor must annually transmit to the assessor, within ten days after the first Monday in March of each year, a complete and true statement of all property which has been redeemed under or by virtue of any sale made to the state for delinquent taxes, together with a complete and true statement of all property sold to the state and remaining unredeemed. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 430.]

§ 3679. Supervisors to use record in equalizing assessments. [Repealed May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 427.]

§ 3700a. Salary, secretary state board of equalization. The annual salary of the secretary of the state board of equalization is four thousand dollars, payable monthly in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers are paid. [New section added May 14, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 473.]

§ 3701. Duties of secretary. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep an accurate record of the proceedings of the board in a book specially provided for such purposes. When required by the board or the chairman he shall visit the several counties and collect data and information relative to the assessment of property therein, or the railway property therein, and consult and advise with all officers charged with enforcement of the revenue laws, and report such data and information to the board. To prepare, biennially, the report of the board to the governor, and when printed, to distribute such report, as required by law and as directed by the board. To do and perform all other acts and things enjoined by law or required by the board. The secretary is a civil executive officer and is authorized to administer and certify oaths in any county in the state. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 430.]

§ 3714. Limit for bonded indebtedness. The board of supervisors of each county must on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of September of each year, fix the rate of county taxes, designating the number of cents levied for each fund on each one hundred dollars of property, and must levy the state and county taxes upon the taxable property in the county; provided, that it shall not be lawful for any board of supervisors of any county in the state to levy, nor shall any tax greater than fifty cents on each one hundred dollars of property be levied and collected in any one year, to pay the bonded indebtedness, or judgment arising therefrom, of this state, or of any county or municipality in this state. [Amendment approved March 20, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 13.]

§ 3714a. Statement of tax rate sent to controller. When the board of supervisors of each county, and city and county shall have fixed the rate of county, or city and county taxation, the clerk of the board of supervisors must, within three days after such rate has been fixed, transmit by mail, postage paid, to the controller, in such form as the controller shall direct, a statement of the rate of taxation levied by the board of supervisors for county, or city and county taxation. If the clerk fails to transmit such statement in the time herein provided for, he shall forfeit to the state one thousand dollars, to be recovered in an action brought by the attorney general, in the name of the controller. [New section added May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 430.]

§ 3719. Levy of state school tax. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 431.]

§ 3728. Statements from "assessment-book." The auditor must, on or before the second Monday in August in each year, prepare from the "assessment-book" of such year, as corrected by the board of supervisors, duplicate statements, showing in separate columns—

1. The number of acres of land.
2. The total value of all property.
3. The value of real estate.
4. The value of improvements thereon.
5. The value of personal property, exclusive of money.
6. The amount of money.

7. Such other information as the state board of equalization may require. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 431.]

§ 3734. Tax collector charged with taxes levied. Taxes due county charged to state. On delivering the assessment-book to the tax collector the auditor must charge the tax collector with the full amount of the taxes levied and forthwith transmit by mail to the controller of state in such form as the controller may prescribe a statement of the amount so charged, but the taxes to be paid to the county by the state under the provisions of section three thousand six hundred seventy c of this code shall be charged to the state by the auditor. Any auditor failing to forward the statement herein provided for to the controller within ten days after the roll has been delivered to the tax collector forfeits to the state one thousand dollars, to be recovered in an action brought by the attorney general, in the name of the controller. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 342.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 431.

§ 3739. Notice of redemption of property. Currently as property is redeemed from tax sales the auditor shall notify the tax collector of such redemptions. The tax collector must use such information in the enforcements of sections three thousand seven hundred seventy-one, three thousand eight hundred thirteen, and three thousand eight hundred fourteen. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 174.]

§ 3746. Publication of collector's notice that taxes are due, etc. On or before the third Monday in October, the tax collector must publish a notice specifying:

1. That the taxes on all personal property secured by real property, and one-half of the taxes on all real property, will be due and payable on the third Monday in October, and will be delinquent on the first Monday in December next thereafter, at five o'clock P. M., and that unless paid prior thereto fifteen per cent will be added to the amount thereof, and that if said one-half be not paid before the last Monday in April next, at five o'clock P. M., an additional five per cent will be added thereto. That the remaining one-half of the taxes on all real property will be payable on and after the second Monday in January next, and will be delinquent on the last Monday in April, next thereafter, at five o'clock P. M., and that unless paid prior thereto, five per cent will be added to the amount thereof.

2. That all taxes may be paid at the time the first installment, as herein provided, is due and payable.

3. The times and places at which payment of taxes may be made. [Amendment approved April 4, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 29.]

§ 3753. Statement by tax collector. On the first Monday in each month the tax collector must settle with the auditor for all moneys collected for the state or county, and pay the same to the county treasurer, and on the same day must deliver to and file in the office of the auditor a statement under oath, showing:

1. An itemized account of all his transactions and receipts since his last settlement, which account must show the amount collected for each fund or district extended on the assessment-book.

2. That all money collected by him as tax collector has been so paid to the county treasurer. [Amendment approved May 11, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 431.]

§ 3757. When taxes become delinquent. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 431.]

§ 3759. When delinquent list must be completed. On the fourth Monday in May of each year, in each of the counties, and cities and counties of this state, the tax collector must attend at the office of the auditor with the assessment-book, having all items of taxes and penalties collected marked "paid," and at the same time he shall deliver to the auditor a complete delinquent list of all persons and property then owing taxes. [Amendment approved April 4, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 31.]

§ 3764. Annual publication of delinquent tax-lists. Arrangement of lists. On or before the eighth day of June of each year, the tax collector must publish the delinquent list, which must contain the names of the persons and a description of the property delinquent, and the amount of taxes, penalties, and costs due, opposite each name and description, with the taxes due on personal property, the delinquent state poll, road and hospital tax, the taxes due each school, road, or other lesser taxation district, added to the taxes on real estate, where the real estate is liable therefor, or the several taxes are due from the same person; provided, however, that before publication of said list the tax collector and auditor shall jointly arrange said list in such manner that said publication shall designate in some particular manner the property contained in said list which was sold to the state five years previous under the provisions of section three thousand seven hundred seventy-one of this code, on which the taxes remain unpaid, or which property has not been redeemed or the sale thereof canceled, and which property the state would otherwise be entitled to a deed thereof after the lapse of five years from said previous sale. [Amendment approved April 4, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 31.]

§ 3769a. Land sold for taxes encumbered by trust deed or mortgage.
[Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 431.]

§ 3771. Property sold to state. On the day and hour fixed for the sale, all the property delinquent, upon which the taxes of all kinds, penalties, and costs have not been paid, shall, by operation of law and the declaration of the tax collector, be sold to the state, and said tax collector shall make an entry, "Sold to the state," on the delinquent assessment list, opposite the tax, and he shall be credited with the amount thereof in his settlement, made pursuant to sections three thousand seven hundred ninety-seven, three thousand seven hundred ninety-eight and three thousand seven hundred ninety-nine; provided, that on the day of sale the owner or person in possession of any property offered for sale for taxes due thereon, may pay the taxes, penalties, and costs due; and provided, further, that when the original tax amounts to the sum of three hundred dollars or more upon any piece of property or assessment delinquent, the state may bring suit against the owner of said property for the collection of said taxes, penalties, and costs, as provided in section three thousand eight hundred ninety-nine; and provided, further, that any property contained in the advertised list as provided for in section three thousand seven hundred sixty-four of this code, which has not been redeemed from the sale made to the state five years previously, shall be sold by the tax collector at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States; but no bid shall be accepted at such sale for less than the amount of all taxes, penalties and costs due as shown in said advertised list. After such bid has been made and accepted the right of redemption shall cease, except as to the purchaser, who shall have thirty days within which to make redemption, as provided in section three thousand seven hundred eighty-five of this code, and if not so redeemed or if no sale is had under the provisions of this paragraph, then said property shall be deeded to the state as provided in section three thousand seven hundred eighty-five of this code; and provided, further, when any property is to be sold at public auction as provided in this section, within five days after the first publication of said delinquent list, the tax collector shall mail a copy of said list or publication, postage thereon prepaid and registered, to the party to whom the land was last assessed next before such sale, at his last known postoffice address, or in lieu of mailing the entire printed list said tax collector may mail to the party to whom the land was last assessed next before the sale at his last known postoffice address, postage thereon prepaid and registered, a printed notice of such sale, which notice shall be in substance, and may be in form as follows:

"NOTICE OF TAX SALE.

In pursuance of law, notice is hereby given that unless sooner redeemed, the undersigned will on the — day of —, 19—, commencing at — o'clock, — M., and continuing from day to day thereafter if additional time is required to complete the sale, offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, all properties which were sold to the state for delinquent taxes for the year 19—, on which the taxes remain unpaid, of which the following described property is a part and which property was assessed for the year 19— to and described as follows:

Redemption of the above-described property may be had at any time prior to said sale.

For full information as to the amount necessary to redeem the property, apply to the county auditor of said — county.

(Signed) — — —,

Tax collector of said — county."

The money received hereunder shall be distributed as provided in section three thousand eight hundred ninety-eight of this code. The charge for advertising shall be at the rate fixed by the board of supervisors for other advertising in said county. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 142.]

§ 3787. Tax deed conclusive evidence. Such deed, duly acknowledged or proved, is (except as against actual fraud) conclusive evidence of the regularity of all other proceedings, from the assessment by the assessor, inclusive, up to the execution of the deed.

Such deed conveys to the state the absolute title to the property described therein, free of all encumbrances, except any lien of taxes levied for municipal or irrigation district purposes and except when the land is owned by the United States or this state; in which case it is the prima facie evidence of the right of possession, accrued as of the date of the deed to the state. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 241.]

§ 3801. List of land sold for delinquent taxes. It shall be the duty of the tax collector within thirty days after the sale of any land for delinquent taxes to furnish to the auditor a complete printed list of all such land so sold, and thereupon the auditor shall enter upon the assessment-book of the current year immediately after the description of the property the fact that said property has been sold for taxes and the date of such sale. The auditor shall transmit said list to the assessor who shall thereupon enter upon the proper books of his office the fact that said property has been sold for taxes and the date of such sale. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 157.]

§ 3804. Refund of erroneously collected taxes, etc. In school district. Verified claim. Action for enforcement of claim. Any taxes, penalties or costs thereon heretofore or hereafter paid more than once, or heretofore or hereafter erroneously or illegally collected, or any taxes heretofore or hereafter paid upon an assessment in excess of the actual cash value of the property so assessed by reason of a clerical error of the assessor as to the excess in such cases, or any taxes heretofore or hereafter paid upon an erroneous assessment of improvements on real estate not in fact in existence, when said taxes became a lien, may, by order of the board of supervisors, be refunded by the county treasurer. Whenever any payment shall have been made to the state treasurer by the county treasurer as provided by section three thousand eight hundred sixty-five and section three thousand eight hundred sixty-six of this code, and it shall afterward appear to the satisfaction of the board of supervisors that a portion of the money so paid should be refunded as herein provided, said board of supervisors may refund such portion of the said taxes, penalties and costs so paid to the state treasurer, to the person paying the same or to his guardian, or in case of his death, to his executor or administrator, out of the general fund, and upon the rendering of the report required by section three thousand eight hundred sixty-eight of this code the auditor shall certify to the controller, in such form as the controller may prescribe, all amounts so refunded, and in the next settlement of the county treasurer with the state, the controller, if satisfied of the legality of such refunding by the said board, shall give such treasurer credit for the state's portion of the amounts so refunded, as prescribed in section three thousand eight hundred seventy-one of this code. When the taxes, penalties and costs hereinbefore referred to are levied in behalf of any school district or any municipal or other public corporation, and collected by the officers of the county, the same may be refunded upon order of the board of supervisors, and the county treasurer shall pay the amount to be refunded out of any money in his possession belonging to the appropriate fund of such school district or municipal or other public corporation. No order for the refund of taxes, penalties or costs under this section shall be made except upon a verified claim therefor verified by the person who has paid said tax, or by his guardian, or in case of his death, by his executor or administrator, which said claim must be filed within three years after the making of the payment sought to be refunded.

All such payments not refunded under the provisions of this section within the time allowed therefor may be transferred to the general fund of the county upon an order to that effect by the board of supervisors.

In no case shall any judgment be rendered in favor of plaintiff in any action brought for the enforcement or allowance of any rights or claims under this section (except in actions brought by the county treasurer to enforce any credits hereinabove provided for) if the said action be brought by an assignee of the person paying said tax, or by any person other than the person who has paid said tax, or by his guardian, or in case of his death, by his executor or administrator. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 449.]

§ 3804b. Property assessed by two or more counties. Cancellation of double assessment. Where real property shall hereafter be assessed by the assessors of two or more counties for the same year the owner thereof may file an action in the superior court of one of said counties against the co-owning tenants and discharge the obligation by paying the largest amount of taxes assessed and levied on said land by any of said counties into court and compel said counties to interplead and litigate their several claims among themselves in accordance with section three hundred eighty-six of the Code of Civil Procedure. Where real property has heretofore been assessed by the assessors of two or more counties for the same year and the owner thereof has paid all of the taxes on one of such assessments, upon proof of the payment of such taxes on one of such assessments for any year, by the production of a tax receipt or certificate of the auditor of the county in which such payment has been made, the board of supervisors of any other county claiming the right to assess and tax such real property, shall thereupon enter an order upon its minutes directing the auditor to cancel such double assessment of such property by an entry on the margin of the assessment-book, as also upon the delinquent list, should such double assessment be carried therein. If the property assessed under such double assessment has been sold to the state and a certificate of sale or deed therefor has been issued to the state, the order of the board shall further direct the recorder to cancel such erroneous certificate and deed so issued except where the state has disposed of the property thereby conveyed. [New section added April 13, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 118.]

§ 3817. When former owners may redeem lands sold for delinquent taxes. Penalties payable when state's title ceases. Record of controller's receipt. State lands. In all cases where real estate has been sold, or may hereafter be sold for delinquent taxes to the state, and the state has not disposed of the same, the person whose estate has been, or may hereafter be sold, his heirs, executors, administrators, or other successors in interest, shall, at any time after the same has been sold to the state, and before the state shall have disposed of the same, have the right to redeem such real estate by paying to the county treasurer of the county wherein the real estate may be situated, the amount of taxes, penalties and costs due thereon at the time of said sale, with interest on the aggregate amount of said taxes, at the rate of seven per cent per annum; and also all taxes that were a lien upon said real estate at the time said taxes became delinquent; and also all unpaid taxes of every description assessed against the property for each year since the sale; or, if not so assessed, then upon the value of the property as assessed in the year nearest the time of such redemption, with interest from the first day of July following each of said years, respectively, at the same rate, to the time of redemption; and also all costs and expenses of such redemption, and penalties as follows, to wit: Ten per cent if redeemed within six months from July first following the date of sale; twenty per cent if redeemed within one year therefrom; thirty per cent if redeemed within two years therefrom; forty per cent if redeemed within three years therefrom; forty-five per cent if redeemed within four years therefrom; and fifty per cent, if redeemed within five or any greater number of years therefrom. The penalty shall be computed upon the amount of each year's taxes in like manner, reckoning from July first following the date when the lands would have been sold for the taxes of that year, if there had been no previous sales thereof.

The county auditor shall, on the application of the person desiring to redeem, make an estimate of the amount to be paid, and shall give him triplicate certificates of the amount, specifying the several amounts

...ates shall be delivered to the county treasurer, ... money, and the county treasurer shall give triplicate ... or indorsed upon said certificates, to the redemptioner, ... one of said receipts to the state controller, and one to ... auditor, taking their receipts therefor.

... county treasurer shall settle for the moneys received as for other ... and county moneys. Upon the payment of the money specified in ... certificate, and the giving of the receipts aforesaid by the treasurer, ... controller, and auditor, any deed or certificate of sale that may have ... been made to the state shall become null and void, and all right, title ... and interest acquired by the state, under and by virtue of the tax sale, ... shall cease and determine. Upon consummation of the redemption, the ... auditor shall report the same to the tax collector and recorder; the ... recorder shall, without payment of fee, note on the margin of the certifi- ... cate of sale, or deed, if issued, the fact of such redemption, date thereof, ... and by whom redeemed.

The receipt of the controller may be recorded in the recorder's office ... of the county in which said real estate is situated, in the book of deeds, ... and the record thereof shall have the same effect as that of a deed of ... reconveyance of the interest conveyed by such deed or certificate of ... sale.

This act shall not apply to state lands sold by the state when the full ... amount of the purchase price has not been paid to the state therefor, ... after the deed to the state, provided for in section three thousand seven ... hundred eighty-five has been filed with the surveyor general. [Amend- ... ment approved May 18, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 727.]

§ 3818. Partial redemption of land sold for delinquent taxes. If land has separate valuation. If no separate valuation. Notice. Hearing of protest. In all cases where a lot, piece, or parcel of land contained in any assessment has been sold or may hereafter be sold for delinquent taxes to the state, and the state has not disposed of the same, a partial redemption may be made, separately from the whole assessment, of any such lot, piece or parcel of land as follows:

If such lot, piece or parcel of land has a separate valuation on the assessment-roll, such partial redemption shall be made in the manner following: In the estimate provided for in the preceding section, the auditor shall estimate the amount of state and county taxes due on such lot, piece or parcel of land, together with a proper proportion of the taxes due on personal property under such assessment, and of the taxes due each school, road, lesser or other taxation district; and such redemption shall be made in the manner provided for in the preceding section.

If such lot, piece or parcel of land does not have a separate valuation on the assessment-roll, the auditor shall investigate and ascertain the relative or proportionate value such lot, piece or parcel of real property bears to the whole tract assessed, and the auditor shall estimate the amount of such taxes due on such lot, piece or parcel of land according to such relative or proportionate value and the taxes due on any improvements on the portion sought to be so redeemed, together with a relative proportion of the taxes due on personal property under such assessment, and of the taxes due each school, road, lesser or other taxation district; whereupon such redemption shall be made in the manner provided for in the preceding section; provided, that no lot, piece or parcel of land owned or claimed under contract by the person so redeeming shall be divided for the purpose of such redemption. A notice by registered mail of the proposed division must be given by the auditor to the person or persons to whom the same was assessed, if known to the auditor, if not so known, by posting a notice of such proposed division for a period of twenty days in three public places in said county, and if no protest against said division be filed with the auditor within twenty days from the date of the posting or mailing of such notice, the auditor shall thereupon issue an estimate as above stated. In cases where written protest is filed within said twenty days to said division, the auditor shall withhold his estimate and refer the matter to the board of supervisors for decision. The board of supervisors shall set a time for hearing said protest, and cause a notice of the date of said hearing to be mailed by its clerk to the person or persons who have filed a written protest with the auditor, as above provided, at the postoffice address named in such protest, at least five days prior to the date of such hearing, and at the termination of said hearing may confirm the act of the auditor or modify or set aside the same and its decision in the premises shall be final. In the event of such reference to the board of supervisors and of their dividing the assessment, the estimate of the auditor shall conform to the action of the board. A partial redemption may be made, in like manner, separately from the whole assessment, of an undivided interest in any real property, if such property has a separate valuation on the assessment-roll; the auditor estimating the amount of taxes due on such undivided interest according to the proportion which such interest in said real property bears to the whole assessment. The recorder shall note, on the margin of the record of the certificate of sale a description of the property or undivided interest redeemed under this section, and shall specifically set forth the several amounts of taxes paid upon such redemption. [Amendment approved June 1, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1633.]

§ 3827. Entry of tax collections. The assessor must note in the assessment-book opposite the name of each person from whom taxes have been collected, the amount thereof. [Amendment approved April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 184.]

§ 3862. Compensation for collecting poll tax. [Repealed 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 432.]

§ 3866. Settlements of county treasurers with state. Deferred settlements. The treasurers of all of the counties and cities and counties of this state must, between the fifteenth and thirtieth days of December and May of each year, settle in full with the controller of state and pay over in cash to the treasurer of state all funds belonging to the state which have come into their hands as county treasurers before the close of business on and including the first Monday of said months, except principal and interest received on account of state school lands which shall be settled for up to and including the last day of the month prior to the month of settlement. If, in the opinion of the controller of state, it appears from the report of the county auditor that sufficient taxes or other revenues have not been collected to make it for the interest of the state that a settlement should be made, the controller shall defer the settlement until the next regular settlement. No mileage, fees or commissions shall be allowed any officer for any deferred settlement; provided, that in case any settlement is so deferred, the county auditor in his next report to the controller of state, shall include therein all moneys required to be reported since the date of his last report upon which a settlement was made. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 159.]

§ 3876. Expenses of county treasurers in making settlements with state. The county treasurer in the settlement shall receive from the state his actual expenses necessarily incurred in making the trip from the county seat to Sacramento and return to the county seat. The controller is hereby authorized to draw his warrant in favor of the respective county treasurers on consummation of the settlement with the state and the treasurer of state is directed to pay the same. [Amendment approved May 2, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 186.]

§ 3881. Correction of clerical errors in assessment-book. Defects in description or defects in form or clerical omissions of the assessor, or clerical errors of the assessor, in any assessment-book, when it can be ascertained from the assessment-book, or from the assessor's maps or block-books, or other papers in the assessor's office, what was intended, or what should have been assessed, may, with the written consent of the district attorney, be supplied or corrected by the assessor at any time after the assessment was made, prior to the sale for delinquent taxes; provided, that where said change will decrease the amount of taxes charged against the taxpayer by reason of said assessment, the consent of the board of supervisors shall also be necessary to said change; and provided, further, that where said change will increase the amount of taxes charged against the taxpayer by reason of said assessment, the person so charged shall be given at least five days' notice of the time when the matter will be heard by the board of supervisors, and he may at such time present any objections he may have to such change to the board of supervisors and their decision in the matter shall be conclusive. The date and nature of every such correction shall be entered on the assessment-book opposite said assessment, and the written authority therefor shall be filed by the assessor with the auditor and preserved by the auditor as a public record, and he shall make the proper charges or credits in his account with the tax collector. In the city and county of San Francisco the written consent of the city attorney shall have the same force and effect as the written consent of the district attorney. [Amendment approved May 26, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 968.]

§ 3888. Taxes payable in legal tender. Taxes must be paid in legal tender or in money which is receivable in payment of taxes by the government of the United States. A tax levied for a special purpose shall be paid in such funds as may be directed. [Amendment approved April 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 130.]

§ 3898. Distribution of moneys received from sale. 1. The moneys received from such sale shall be distributed as follows: The tax collector shall deduct the penalties, costs and other amounts received as expenses of such sale in such cases as the property so sold shall have been sold for a sum not less than the amount of all taxes levied thereon and all interest, costs, penalties and expenses up to the date of such sale, but where the property so sold shall have been sold for a sum less than said amount, the tax collector shall deduct only the amounts received as expenses attending such sale, and the balance shall be distributed between the state and the county, or city and county, in the proportion that the state rate bears to the county, or city and county, rate of taxation; said tax collector shall pay all amounts into the county treasury, and the treasurer shall account to the state for its portion in the settlement required by section three thousand eight hundred sixty-five and section three thousand eight hundred sixty-six.

2. Deed to purchaser. Form. No charge for deed. On receiving the amount bid, as prescribed in the preceding section, the tax collector must execute a deed to the purchaser, which deed shall be in substance and may be in form as follows:

"This indenture, made the — day of —, 19—, between —, tax collector of the county of —, state of California, first party, and — of the county of —, state of —, second party, witnesseth:

That whereas the real property hereinafter described was duly sold and conveyed to the state of California for the nonpayment of taxes which had been legally levied and which were a lien upon said property under and in accordance with law; and

Whereas in conformity with law the state of California, acting by and through —, tax collector as aforesaid, did offer said property, hereinafter described, for sale at public auction to the highest bidder, at which sale said second party became the purchaser of the whole thereof for the sum of $—.

Now, therefore, the said first party in consideration of the premises and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, does hereby grant to the said second party, his heirs and assigns, that certain real property hereinbefore referred to, and situate in the — county of —, state of California, more particularly described as follows, to wit:

In witness whereof, said first party has hereunto set his hand the day and year first above written.

Tax collector of the county of —."

No other matters need be recited in the said deed than those provided for in the above form. No charge shall be made by the tax collector for the making of any such deed, and the acknowledgment of all such deeds shall be taken by the county clerk free of charge. Said deed shall be prima facie evidence of all the facts recited therein and shall operate to convey all of the interest of the state in and to said property.

3. Tax collector's report of sales. Within ten days after each sale as provided in the preceding section the tax collector shall report to the assessor and recorder, giving the name or names of all persons to whom deeds have been issued under the provisions of this section, together with the dates of such deeds, the amount for which the property was sold, a description of the property conveyed, together with the numbers and dates of the certificates of sale and of the tax deeds by which title to such property so granted was conveyed to the state.

4. Recorder's notations. The recorder shall note on the margin of each certificate of sale and of each tax deed involved in the sale and transfer of such property, the name of the purchaser, the date of the deed to the purchaser and the consideration named therein. The assessor shall use such report in his determination of the ownership of such property for assessment purposes.

5. Refund to purchaser not finally awarded property. (a) Whenever in any action at law, it has been or shall be determined by a court that the sale and conveyance provided for in this and the preceding section or in section three thousand seven hundred seventy-one of this code heretofore or hereafter made are void for any reason, and that the purchaser from the state may not be finally awarded the property so purchased, no decree of the court shall be given declaring a forfeiture of the property until the former owner, or other party in interest, shall have repaid to the purchaser the full amount of taxes, penalties and costs paid out and expended by him, to be determined by the court, in pursuit of the state's title to the property so sold. The said purchaser may within one year after such decree becomes final also present a claim against the county, in the manner provided by law, for a refund of the amount paid into the county treasury as the purchase price of such property in excess of the amount for which he may have been reimbursed for taxes, penalties and costs as herein provided, and such excess shall be refunded in accordance with section three thousand eight hundred four of this code.

(b) Refund for government land erroneously sold. Whenever it shall be determined to the satisfaction of the board of supervisors of the county in which the land is situated that any land belonging to the United States government or to this state, a municipality or other political subdivision of this state has been erroneously sold and conveyed under the provisions of this or the preceding section, or section three thousand seven hundred seventy-one of this code, and the said land should not have been so sold, the purchaser at said sale may present a claim against the county in the manner provided by law for a refund of the amount so paid into the county treasury by reason of such sale. [Amendment approved May 18, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 715.]

§ 4014. Township officers. The officers of a township are, two justices of the peace, two constables, and such subordinate officers as are provided by law. In townships containing cities, or parts of cities, of the second, third, fourth, or fifth class, in which city justices or recorders are elected or appointed, there shall be but one justice of the peace, and in townships having a population of less than seven thousand seven hundred fifty, there shall be but one justice of the peace and one constable; provided, however, that in townships containing cities of the first and one-half class there shall be six justices of the peace and one constable. For the purpose of this section, the population of township in the state of California is hereby determined to be the population of such townships as shown by the federal census taken in the year A. D. 1910, or by a subsequent census taken as in section four thousand fifty-five of this code provided; provided, however, that appointments to fill any additional offices created by this section shall not be made by the board of supervisors except upon the presentation of a petition therefor to said board, signed by not less than forty per cent of the qualified electors residents of such townships, whose names appear upon the general register of the county at the last general election. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 163.]

§ 4022. Official bonds of county officers. The board of supervisors of each county shall, on or before the first Monday in September, preceding the election of the following officers, prescribe the amount in which said officers must execute official bonds: Treasurer, county clerk, auditor, sheriff, tax collector, district attorney, recorder, assessor, surveyor, superintendent of schools, public administrator, coroner, justice of the peace, and constable. The judge or judges of the superior court shall on or before the said first Monday of September prescribe the amount in which each member of the board of supervisors must execute an official bond before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office. The bonds and sureties of such officers must, before the bonds can be recorded and filed, be approved by the judge or majority of judges, if there be more than one, of the superior court; provided, however, that in counties having five or more judges, the approval of three judges will be sufficient. All persons offered as sureties on official bonds may be examined on oath touching their qualifications, and no person can be admitted as surety on any such bond unless he is a resident and freeholder or householder within the state, and is worth in real or personal property, or both, situate in this state, the amount of his undertaking, over and above all sums for which he is already liable, exclusive of property exempt from execution and forced sale. All official bonds shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder and then filed and kept in the office of the county clerk. The official bond of the county clerk shall, after being recorded, be filed and kept in the office of the county treasurer. The tax collector shall also before qualifying give a bond as license collector in such sum as may be fixed by the board of supervisors, to be approved as provided in this section. [Amendment approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 523.]

§ 4041. Powers of supervisors. The boards of supervisors, in their respective counties shall have jurisdiction and power, under such limitations and restrictions as are prescribed by law:

1. Supervise work of county officers. To supervise the official conduct of all county officers, and officers of all districts and other subdivisions of the county and particularly those charged with the assessing, collecting, safekeeping, management, or disbursement of the public revenues; to see that they faithfully perform their duties, direct prosecutions for delinquencies, and, when necessary, require them to renew their official bonds, make reports and present their books and accounts for inspection.

2. Divide counties into districts. To divide the counties into townships, election, school, road, supervisor, sanitary, and other districts required by law, change the same, and create others, as convenience requires.

3. Establish election precincts. To establish, abolish, and change election precincts, and to appoint inspectors, clerks and judges of election, canvass all election returns, declare the result, and order the county clerks to issue certificates thereof; provided, that no election precinct shall be established or abolished or the boundaries of any election precinct changed within ninety days prior to any election.

4. Build roads. To acquire and take by purchase, condemnation or otherwise land for the uses and purposes of public roads, highways, boulevards, turnpikes, and other public ways, and to lay out, maintain, control, construct, repair, and manage public roads, boulevards, highways, turnpikes and other public ways, and to incur a bonded indebtedness for any such purposes; provided, that no such indebtedness shall be incurred for any of such purposes until after the question of the issue of bonds therefor shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of the county, at a special election called for that purpose, and two-thirds of the electors of the county voting at such election shall have voted in favor of issuing such bonds; said election to be called and held and said bonds, if authorized, to be issued, sold and made payable in the manner and form prescribed by section four thousand eighty-eight of this code. Said boards shall also have power to make and enforce rules and regulations for the protection, management, control and use of such public boulevards, roads, highways, turnpikes and other public ways.

4a. Maintain summer bridges. To construct, operate, manage or maintain summer bridges or ferries under such rules and regulations and at such times and places as they may deem necessary; such bridges or ferries to be paid for out of the county general fund.

5. Maintain ferries. To lay out, maintain, control, construct, repair and manage public ferries, wharves, chutes and other shipping facilities and bridges within the county, unless otherwise provided by law, and grant franchises and licenses to collect tolls thereon.

6. Acquire land for courthouse, etc. To purchase, receive by donation, lease or otherwise acquire water rights or real or personal property necessary for the use of the county, for a courthouse, jail, hospital, historical museum, art gallery, art institute, stadium and almshouse, public pleasure ground, public parks, and other public purposes, and also property upon which to sink wells to obtain water for sprinkling roads and other county purposes, and to improve, preserve, take care of, manage and control the same; provided, that no purchase of real property shall be made unless a notice of the intention of the board of supervisors to make such purchase, describing the property to be purchased, the price to be paid therefor, from whom it is proposed to be purchased, and fixing the time when the board will meet to consummate such purchase, has been published for at least three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county; or if none be published in the county, then that has been posted at least three weeks prior to the time when the board meets to consummate such purchase, in at least three public places in each supervisorial district.

7. Build hospitals, etc. Work costing over five hundred dollars done by contract. Awarding contract and doing work. In counties having a purchasing agent. To construct or lease, build or rebuild, furnish or repair hospitals and almshouses, courthouse, jail, historical museum, county free library building, branch library building, art gallery, art institute, stadium and such other public buildings as may be necessary to carry out the work of the county government, and to provide all necessary officers, employees, attendants, and supplies for the proper maintenance of the same; provided, that a suitable graduate in medicine shall be appointed to attend to the indigent sick or dependent poor, or to the patients in such hospitals and almshouses provided with respect to county free libraries that are now or may hereafter be maintained either under the provisions of this section or under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the state of California entitled "An act to provide for the establishment and the maintenance of county free libraries," approved February 16, 1911, the provisions of said act shall control except as to section twelve thereof and said libraries shall be maintained under either the provisions of this section or said section twelve at the option of the board of supervisors; provided further, that the board shall not let the care, maintenance, or atten-ance of such indigent sick or dependent poor by contract to any person. Whenever the cost of construction of any bridge, wharf, chute, or other shipping facilities, or of any hospital, almshouse, courthouse, jail, historical museum, county free library building, branch library building, art gallery, art institute, stadium or other public buildings, or the cost of any repairs thereto, or furnishing thereof shall exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, such work shall be done by contract, and any contract therefor shall be void unless the same shall be let as hereinafter provided. The board of supervisors shall adopt plans and specifications, strain-sheets and working details therefor, and must advertise for bids for the performance of the said work in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county for at least twenty days. In case there is no newspaper published in said county, then such notice shall be given by posting in three public places for at least twenty days. All bidders shall be afforded opportunity to examine such plans and specifications, strain-sheets and working details, and said board shall award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, and the person, firm or corporation to whom the contract shall be awarded must perform the work in accordance with the said plans and specifications, strain-sheets and working details, unless the same be modified by a unanimous vote of the members of the board of supervisors; and in every such case if the cost of the work be reduced by reason of the modification, compensation must be made to the county therefor, and the person, firm, or corporation, to whom the contract shall be awarded must execute a bond to be approved by the said board for the faithful performance of such contract; provided, that for the construction of any bridge, wharf, chute, or other shipping facilities, or any repairs thereto if the board of supervisors shall be advised by the county surveyor that the work can be done for a sum less than the lowest responsible bid, it shall then be their privilege to reject all bids and to order the work done or structure built by day's work, under the supervision and direction of the said surveyor; provided, that the road commissioners or road overseers in their respective districts shall employ all labor required, and direct the conduct of work of any kind upon any and all public roads; provided, further, that in cases of great emergency, caused by flood, fire, earthquake, or act of God, by the unanimous consent of the whole board, they may proceed at once to replace or repair any and all bridges and structures without adopting the plans and specifications, strain-sheets, or working details, or giving notice for bids to let contract; the work to be done by day labor under the direction of the board or by contract, or by a combination of the two; if wholly or in part by contract, the contractor to be paid the actual cost of material and labor expended by him in doing the work, plus fifteen per cent to cover all profits, supervision, use of machinery, and tools, and other expenses; provided, that no more than the lowest current market prices shall be paid for material; provided, however, that in counties employing a purchasing agent that furnishings, materials and supplies used in the work mentioned in this subdivision costing not more than one thousand dollars, may be purchased by said purchasing agent in accordance with the provisions of subdivision twenty-one of this section without the formality of obtaining bids, letting contracts, preparing specifications, and doing the other things required by this section for purchases costing more than five hundred dollars.

8. Provide poor farm. To provide a farm in connection with the county hospital or almshouse and make regulations for working the same.

9. Maintain necessary machinery. To purchase, acquire, construct, equip and maintain all necessary tanks, reservoirs, pumps, apparatus, motor vehicles and other machinery necessary or proper to facilitate the performance of the work in the county.

9a. Acquire cement plants. To purchase, lease, construct or otherwise acquire, own, operate, manage and control, in any county in the state, cement manufacturing plant; and to sell the products of the same in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to them shall be deemed proper; provided, that the state of California and municipalities or public corporations of the state shall have a preferred right at the same price as the products are offered to private persons to purchase the same; and to purchase, lease, or otherwise acquire real or personal property to be used in connection with such plant; provided, however, that no such plant shall be purchased, leased, or otherwise acquired, neither shall said works be constructed on real or personal property purchased or acquired until notice of the intention to make such purchase or construct such works shall have been given for a period of thirty days by publication in a newspaper of general circulation published within the county, or, if there be none, then by posting a notice for said period in a conspicuous place in three public places in the county; such notice shall contain a description of the property to be purchased or works to be constructed, a statement of the amount of money to be invested, the terms upon which it is to be invested and the time when the proposition will come before the board of supervisors to be acted upon.

10. Sell county property no longer needed. To sell at public auction at the courthouse door or at such other place within the county as the board may, by four-fifths vote, order, after five days' notice, given either by publication in a newspaper published in the county or by posting in three public places in the county, and convey to the highest bidder, cash any property belonging to the county not required for public use, paying the proceeds into the county treasury for the use of the county; provided, if in the unanimous judgment of the board, the property does not exceed in value the sum of seventy-five dollars, or if it be the product of the county farm, the same may be sold at private sale, without advertising, by any member of the board empowered for that purpose by majority vote of the board, such sale to be reported to and confirmed by such board of supervisors.

11. Audit accounts. To examine and audit, at least every twelve months the accounts of all officers having the care, management, collection, or disbursement of moneys belonging to the county or moneys received or disbursed by them under authority of law.

12. Allow charges against county. To examine, settle, and allow accounts legally chargeable against the county, except salaries of officers and such demands as are authorized by law to be allowed by some other person or tribunal, and order warrants to be drawn on the county treasurer therefor.

13. Levy taxes. To levy taxes upon the taxable property of the respective counties for all county purposes, and also upon the taxable property of any district, for the construction and repair of roads and highways and other district purposes; provided, that no tax shall be levied upon any district until the proposition to levy the same has been submitted to the qualified electors of such district and received a majority of all the legal votes cast upon such proposition.

14. Maintain public pounds. To maintain, regulate and govern public pounds, fix the limits within which animals shall not run at large, and appoint pound keepers, who shall be paid out of the fines imposed and collected from the owners of impounded animals, and from no other source.

15. Equalize assessments. To equalize assessments.

16. Direct county suits. To direct and control the prosecution and defense of all suits to which the county is a party and by a two-thirds vote of all the members, may employ counsel to assist the district attorney in conducting the same.

17. Insure buildings. To insure the county buildings and other property in the name and for the benefit of the county.

18. Establish salary fund. To establish a salary fund, and such other county funds as they may deem necessary for the proper transaction of the business of the county, and to transfer moneys from one fund to another, as the public interest may require.

19. Fill vacancies. To fill, by appointment, all vacancies that may occur in any office filled by the appointment of the board of supervisors and elective county or township officers, except in those of judge of the superior court and supervisor, the appointee to hold office for the unexpired term or until the next general election.

20. Reproduce county records. To employ the copyists necessary to reproduce any of the county records and indices thereto that may have been lost or destroyed by conflagration, public calamity or otherwise, or that may be in danger of destruction by age, obliteration, or constant use in any of the county offices.

21. Employ purchasing agent. To employ a purchasing agent, whose duties shall be to purchase for the county and the officers thereof all stationery, clothing, bedding, groceries, provisions, drugs, medicines, furnish machinery, implements, and all other personal property, material or supplies, the same to be purchased only upon a proper requisition therefor; also employ for said purchasing agent such assistants as may be necessary for him to properly fulfill his duty; provided, that the purchasing agent may engage independent contractors to perform sundry services for the county with or without furnishing material where the aggregate cost does not exceed fifty dollars, such services to be ordered upon proper requisition as herein provided.

22. Advertising for bids. Whenever a board of supervisors shall employ a purchasing agent as herein provided for it shall not be necessary for them to advertise for bids for furnishing county supplies as provided in section four thousand forty-eight of the Political Code, with the exception of advertising.

23. Make own regulations. To make and enforce such rules and regulations for the government of their body, the preservation of order, and the transaction of business, as may be necessary and the supervisors may attend annual state meetings of the state supervisors association and shall be allowed their actual expenses, in going to, attendance upon and returning from any such state association meetings and their actual and necessary traveling expenses when traveling outside their counties on official business.

24. Adopt a seal. To adopt a seal for the board, a description and impression of which must be filed in the office of the county clerk and of the secretary of state.

25. License business. Soldiers licensed without fee. To license, the exercise of their police powers, and for the purpose of regulation as herein provided, and not otherwise, all and every kind of business not prohibited by law, and transacted and carried on within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, and all shows, exhibitions, and lawful games carried on therein, to fix the rates of license tax upon the same and to provide for the collection of the same by suit or otherwise; provided, that every honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine of the United States who is unable to obtain a livelihood by manual labor shall have the right to hawk, peddle and vend any goods, wares or merchandise, except spirituous, malt, vinous or other intoxicating liquors without payment of any license, tax or fee whatsoever, whether municipal, county or state, and the board of supervisors or legislative body shall issue to such soldier, sailor or marine, without cost, a license therefor; provided, however, no license can be collected, or any penalty for the nonpayment thereof enforced against any commercial traveler whose business is limited to the goods, wares and merchandise sold or dealt in this state at wholesale.

26. Destroy pests. To provide for the destruction of gophers, squirrels, other wild animals, noxious weeds, and insects injurious to fruit or fruit trees, or vines, or vegetable or plant life.

27. Protect sheep. To provide for the prevention of injuries to sheep by dogs, and to tax dogs and direct the application of the tax.

28. Protect fish and game. To provide, by ordinances, not in conflict with the general laws of the state, for the protection of fish and game, and may shorten the season for taking or killing of fish and game within the dates fixed by the general state laws, but shall not lengthen the same.

29. Work prisoners. To provide for the working of prisoners, confined in the county jail, under judgment of conviction of misdemeanor under the direction of some responsible person, to be appointed by the sheriff whose compensation shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month, upon the public grounds, roads, streets, alleys, highways, public buildings, or in such other places as may be deemed advisable for the benefit of the county.

29a. Care for poor. To provide for the care and maintenance of the indigent sick or dependent poor of the county, and for such purpose levy the necessary property or poll taxes, or both.

30. Bury indigent dead. To provide for the burying of the indigent dead.

31. Make local police regulations. To make and enforce, within the limits of their county, all such local police, sanitary and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws.

32. Make rules for storing gunpowder. To adopt such rules and regulations, within their respective counties, with regard to keeping and storing of every description of gunpowder, Hercules powder, giant powder or other explosives or combustible material, as the safety and protection of the lives and property of individuals may require.

33. Levy tax for advertising. To levy a special tax not to exceed two cents on the one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all property within the county to be used for advertising, exploiting and making known the resources of the county for the purpose of inducing immigration to, and increasing the trade and commerce of, said county, or for the purpose of exhibiting or advertising the agricultural, mineral, manufacturing or other resources of the county; provided, however, that if said rate of two cents will not raise five thousand dollars in any one year the boards of supervisors may appropriate from the general fund of the county an amount sufficient to make up the deficiency existing between the amount raised as the result of the two cent levy and five thousand dollars; and provided, further, that such tax shall be in addition to any tax which may now or hereafter be authorized to be levied for the purpose of creating a fund to be used for collecting, preparing and maintaining an exhibition in any domestic or foreign exposition.

33a. Levy tax for public comfort stations. To levy a special tax not to exceed five cents on the one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all property within the county, to be used for the erection of public comfort stations.

34. Regulate width of wagon tires. To enforce, by ordinance, within the limits of their counties all such regulations concerning the size of wagons and vehicles of all kinds to be used on the roads or highways, and the width of tires on the same, as are not in conflict with general laws.

35. License toll roads, etc. To grant licenses and franchises for the construction, keeping and taking tolls on roads, bridges, ferries, wharves, chutes, booms and piers, and to grant franchises along and over the public roads and highways for all lawful purposes, upon such terms and conditions and restrictions as in their judgment may be necessary and proper, and in such manner as to prevent the least possible obstruction and inconvenience to the traveling public.

36. Take tolls on public roads. To grant, on such terms, conditions and restrictions as in their judgment may be necessary and proper, licenses and franchises for taking tolls on public roads or highways, whenever in their judgment the expense necessary to operate or maintain such public roads or highways as free public highways is too great to justify the county in so operating or maintaining them. It shall always be a condition attached to the granting of such licenses and franchises, that such roads or highways shall be kept in reasonable repair by the person or persons to whom such licenses or franchises may be granted; provided, that the provision of any general law applicable to the granting of franchises by municipal corporations and counties throughout the state shall be complied with in the granting of any franchise by the board of supervisors.

37. Repair roads. To enact ordinances and regulations for the construction, alteration, repair and control of all public roads and highways in the county, unless otherwise provided by law.

38. Levy road fund tax. Levy sanitary tax. To levy a special road fund tax, not to exceed two (2) mills on the one dollar of assessed valuation, on all the property in such counties, outside of any incorporated city or town. Such tax shall be in addition to all taxes otherwise provided for, and the fund so created shall be expended for the construction and maintenance of the main public roads or county highways in the several road districts, in proportion to the amount collected from such districts; provided, that in addition to the tax mentioned in this subdivision the board of supervisors shall have the power and it shall be their duty, upon the petition of a majority of the property owners of any road district, to levy a special road fund tax not to exceed two mills on the one dollar of assessed valuation on all the property in such road district, to be expended in the maintenance of the public roads of such district. To levy a special sanitary tax, not to exceed one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) mill on the one dollar of assessed valuation on all the property of such counties, outside of any incorporated city or town. Such tax shall be in addition to all taxes otherwise provided for, and the fund so created shall be used to prevent the introduction of dangerous infectious or communicable diseases and to eradicate them if introduced, and for the purpose of general sanitation.

39. Encourage tree planting. To encourage, under such regulations as they may adopt, the planting and preservation of shade and ornamental trees on the public roads and highways, and on and about the public grounds and buildings of the county, and pay to persons planting and cultivating the same, for every living tree thus planted, at the age of four years, a sum not exceeding one dollar.

39a. Assume municipal functions. To assume and discharge such municipal functions of the cities and towns within the county as may be authorized by any county charter framed under the provisions of section seven and one-half of article eleven of the constitution of the state of California.

40. Protect river banks. Protect against fire. To provide by ordinance for the organization and government of districts, to protect and preserve the banks of rivers and streams and lands lying contiguous thereto from injury by overflow or the washing thereof, and to provide for the improvement of said rivers and streams, and prevent obstruction thereof, and to provide for the assessment, levy and collection within such districts of a tax therefor. To appropriate a sum not exceeding two cents per one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of their county in any one year, in addition to any sum which may be chargeable to the county for the repayment of money expended by the state for protection against fire in such county, for the purpose of protecting forest, brush and grass lands therein, against fire or other injury, and of aiding the state and federal authorities in forestry work.

40a. Sell maps. To provide for the sale, at not less than cost, of copies of such maps as may be prepared by the surveyor for the use of the assessor under the provisions of section four thousand two hundred eighteen of the Political Code of California, as may be deemed desirable by the board of supervisors.

41. Do other acts required. To do and perform all other acts and things required by law not in this title enumerated, or which may be necessary to the full discharge of the duties of the legislative authority of the county government. [Amendment approved May 20, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 796.]

§4041b. Advisory board to county assessor. Whenever, in the judgment of the board of supervisors of any county, it is deemed to be for the best interest of the county, on account of changes in land values, that there be appointed an advisory board to co-operate with the county assessor in making the annual appraisalment of real property therein for taxation purposes, the board of supervisors, by a four-fifths vote, may appoint such advisory board, which shall consist of three members. Before any person thus appointed shall enter upon the duties of his office, he shall take the oath of office and shall execute such bond as the supervisors may prescribe. The members of the advisory board shall be allowed their necessary expenses and each member shall receive a compensation of not to exceed ten dollars per day while actually engaged in the duties of his office. Competent persons may be employed to compile records necessary for determining the true value of land. All claims for compensation and expenses hereunder shall be paid out of the general fund of the county after approval by the board of supervisors. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 1336.]

§4052c. Erection of historic monuments. The boards of supervisors in the several counties shall have, and they are hereby given, the power to appropriate money from the general fund of the county to erect monuments or to place tablets to commemorate historic spots or places within the limits of the county. [New section added May 31, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 1366.]

§4054a. Transfer of money from general fund to interest and sinking fund. Whenever the principal on any bonds which have been legally issued by any of the several counties, or by any district within a county organized under the laws of the state of California which is not a separate corporate entity, or any interest on said bonds, shall become due and there shall not be sufficient money in the fund established for the payment of said principal or interest to pay the same, the board of supervisors of the county, pending the collection of taxes levied therefor, or pending the collection of any ad valorem assessment therefor which the law provides shall be levied and collected in the same manner as taxes, may order the amount of money necessary to pay the principal or interest, or both, so falling due to be transferred from the general fund of the county to the interest and sinking fund provided for the payment of said principal and interest. The amount of money so transferred shall be deemed a loan to such interest and sinking fund and the county auditor shall retransfer the same to the general fund from the very first money coming into such interest and sinking fund thereafter; provided, that in no instance may the board of supervisors advance to any interest and sinking fund an amount greater than the amount of uncollected taxes or ad valorem assessment which have been levied for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds. [New section approved May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 405.]

§ 4087a. Premiums and accrued interest deposited in interest and sinking fund. Exception. Whenever any bonds issued by any county or by any district, school, drainage, or any other kind, in any county whose accounts are required by law to be kept by the county auditor and treasurer are sold at a premium or with accrued interest, or at a premium and accrued interest, the amounts received for such premium and accrued interest shall be deposited in the interest and sinking fund of such county or district unless it is subsequently expressly provided by law that they shall be deposited in some other fund. This section does not apply to the sale of bonds by counties which have been purchased as investments. [New section added May 10, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 406.]

§ 4095. Warrants to be numbered. All warrants issued by the auditor during each fiscal year, commencing with the first of each fiscal year, must be numbered consecutively and the number, date, amount of each warrant, and the name of the person to whom payable and the purpose for which drawn, must be stated thereon, and they must, at the time they are issued, be registered by him, and after such warrants have remained uncalled for for two years, they shall be canceled. Separate series of numbers may be used for the different kinds of warrants, such as poll warrants and general warrants drawn for miscellaneous supplies and expenses, and special warrants drawn on court orders, etc. [Amendment approved May 6, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 309.]

§ 4097. Monthly count of money in county treasury. The chairman of the board of supervisors, district attorney and auditor must, at least once in each month, count the money in the county treasury, and must and verify, in duplicate, statements showing:

1. The amount of money and the amount of receipts for bank deposits that ought to be in the treasury as shown by the books of the auditor and treasurer.
2. The amount and kind of money and the amount of bank receipts for deposits which are actually in the treasury. [Amendment approved May 13, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 402.]

§ 4101. Duties of county treasurer. The treasurer must:

1. Receive all moneys belonging to the county, and all other moneys by law directed to be paid to him, safely keep the same, and apportion and pay them out, rendering the account thereof as required by law.
2. File and keep the certificates of the auditor delivered to him when moneys are paid into the treasury.
3. Keep an account of the receipt and expenditure of all such moneys in books provided for the purpose, in which must be entered the amount, the time when, from whom, and on what account all moneys were received by him; the warrant number, the amount, time when, and on what account all disbursements were made by him.

4. So keep his books that the amount received and paid out on account of separate funds or specific appropriations are exhibited in separate and distinct accounts, and the whole receipts and expenditures shown in one general or cash account.

5. Enter no moneys received for the current year on his account with the county for the past fiscal year, until after his annual settlement for the past year has been made with the county auditor.

6. Disburse the county moneys and all other money placed in his custody by official authority only on county warrants issued by the county auditor, except on settlement with the state.

7. Disburse the moneys in the treasury on such warrants only when they are based on orders of the board of supervisors, or upon order of the superior court, or as otherwise provided by law. [Amendment approved May 7, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 339.]

§ 4112. County treasurer's report. Each county treasurer must make a detailed report at the first regular meeting held in any month by the board of supervisors of his county, of all money received by him, and the disbursement thereof, so that the receipts into the treasury and the amounts of disbursements may distinctly appear. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 161.]

§ 4115. Money found on dead body. The treasurer upon receiving from the coroner or justice of the peace acting as coroner money found on a dead body must place it to the credit of the county. All said moneys must be kept in a separate fund. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 259.]

§ 4123. Refund of fees erroneously paid to county. The treasurer shall return to the party paying the same, or to his assigns, all fees or other moneys, erroneously paid into the county treasury, the provisions of section three thousand eight hundred four of this code, so far as they apply to the method by which a return of money shall be made, are hereby made applicable to this section. [New section approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 185.]

§ 4131. What to be recorded. He must, upon the payment of his fees for the same, record, separately, in a fair hand, or typewriting, in large well-bound separate books, either sewed books or an insertable leaf, which when placed in the book cannot be removed:

(a) Deeds, grants, transfers and mortgages of real estate, releases of mortgages, powers of attorney to convey real estate, and leases which have been acknowledged or proved.

(b) Mortgages of personal property.

(c) Certificates of marriage and marriage contracts.

(d) Wills admitted to probate.

(e) Official bonds.

(f) Notices of mechanic's liens.

(g) Transcripts of judgments, which by law are made liens upon real estate in this state.

(h) Notices of attachments upon real estate.

(i) Notices of the pendency of an action affecting real estate, the title thereto, or the possession thereof.

(j) Instruments describing or relating to the separate property married women.

(k) Notices of pre-emption claims.

(l) Births and deaths.

(m) Certified copies of decrees and judgments of courts of record and

(n) Such other writings as are required or permitted by law to be recorded.

In lieu of any or all of the separate books above provided for, the recorder may, in his discretion, record any or all of the above instruments in one general series of books to be called "official records" which books shall be numbered consecutively beginning with number one. The recording of instruments in such "official records" will impart notice in like manner and effect as if such instruments were recorded in any of the separate books hereinbefore provided for. [Amendment approved May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 236.]

§ 4146. Duties of coroner as to property of deceased persons. The coroner must within thirty days after an inquest upon a dead body deliver to the legal representatives of the deceased any money or other property found upon the body. If within the said thirty days no such legal representative makes a demand upon the coroner for the said money or property found upon the body of the decedent, then, upon the expiration of the said thirty days, the coroner must deliver to the treasurer a money found upon the body of the deceased, together with the proceeds of the sale of the property found upon the body of the decedent, which sale shall be held in accordance with the provisions of section four thousand and one hundred forty-six of this code, and at the same time an affidavit with the treasurer showing:

1. The amount of money belonging to the estate of the deceased person which has come into his possession since his last statement.

2. The disposition made of such property.

If the coroner or any justice of the peace acting as coroner fails to deliver to the treasurer within forty days after any inquest upon a dead body all money, or proceeds from the sale of property found upon such body, unless claimed in the meantime by the public administrator or other legal representative of the decedent as required by this section, the district attorney must proceed against the coroner or justice of the peace acting as coroner to recover the same by civil action in the name of the county. [Amendment approved May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 258.]

§ 4146a. Sale of property at public auction. If within thirty days after an inquest upon a dead body no legal representative of such decedent shall have demanded from the coroner or any justice of the peace acting as coroner the property found upon the person of the decedent, the coroner or justice of the peace acting as coroner shall sell such property at public auction upon reasonable public notice, and must immediately thereafter deliver the proceeds of such sale to the treasurer, who shall place the same to the credit of the county, in the same manner as prescribed in section four thousand one hundred fifteen of this code. [New section added May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 259.]

§ 4147a. Powers of deputy coroners. If the coroner is absent or unable to attend, the duties of his office may be discharged by any of his deputies with like authority, and subject to the same obligations and penalties as the coroner. [New section added May 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 248.]

§4149b. Appointment of county fish and game wardens. Deputy fish and game wardens. The board of supervisors of each county may, in the discretion of the board, at the first meeting thereof held in January, 1909, and in January every two years thereafter, appoint a suitable person to serve for the period of two years from the date of his appointment as fish and game warden of the county. Such fish and game warden may be removed by the board of supervisors for intemperance, neglect of duty, or other good and sufficient reason. Said fish and game warden shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, execute a bond with sureties in such sum as may be required by the board of supervisors, for the faithful and proper discharge of his duties as such fish and game warden; and provided, further, that in counties of the third class the board of supervisors in their discretion may appoint a deputy fish and game warden. Deputy fish and game wardens shall have the same duties and powers as their principals. The salary of the deputy fish and game warden in counties of the third class shall be seventy-five dollars a month and shall be paid in the same manner and out of the same fund that the salary of the fish and game warden is paid, and the bond of the fish and game warden shall also be conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his deputy, as well as of himself. [Amendment approved April 5, 1917; Stats. 1917, p. 41.]

§4153. Duties of district attorney. The district attorney is the public prosecutor, and must:

1. Attend the courts, and conduct, on behalf of the people, all prosecutions for public offenses.

2. Institute proceedings before magistrates for the arrest of persons charged with or reasonably suspected of public offenses, when he has information that any such offenses have been committed; and for that purpose, when not engaged in criminal proceedings in the superior court, or in civil cases on behalf of the people, must attend upon the magistrates in cases of arrest, when required by them, and attend before and give advice to the grand jury, whenever cases are presented to them for their consideration.

3. Draw all indictments and informations, defend all suits brought in his county against the state or his county wherever brought, prosecute all recognizances forfeited in the courts of record, and all actions for the recovery of debts, fines, penalties, and forfeitures accruing to the state or his county.

4. Deliver receipts for money or property received in his official capacity, and file duplicates thereof with the county treasurer.

5. On the first Monday of each month file with the auditor an account, verified by his oath, of all moneys received by him in his official capacity during the preceding month, and at the same time pay them over to the county treasurer.

6. Give, when required, and without fee, his opinion in writing, to county, district, and township officers, on matters relating to the duties of their respective offices.

7. When requested by the auditor or treasurer so to do, defend or prosecute, except as hereinafter provided, any action brought by or against the auditor or treasurer for the purpose of testing the validity or constitutionality of any act of the legislature providing for the payment of county funds or funds held in trust by the county in the cases only where the interest of the county is not adverse; provided that in counties having a freeholders' charter creating the office of county counsel, it shall be the duty of the county counsel to defend or prosecute any such action and any and all other civil actions or proceedings in which the county or any other officer thereof is concerned or is a party. [Amendment approved May 21, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 79.]

§ 4225a. Contract for county health officer to exercise functions in city. Contract for city health officer to exercise functions in county. The board of supervisors of any county wherein a county health officer has been appointed under the provisions of section four thousand two hundred twenty-five of the Political Code shall have power to contract with any incorporated city or town or chartered city within such county and such incorporated city, town or chartered city therein, through its board of trustees, council or other legislative body, shall have power to contract with such county for the performance by health officers and other employees of health departments of any or all functions relating to public health. Whenever such contract has been duly entered into, the county health officer and his deputies shall thereupon exercise the same powers and duties within such city or town or chartered city as are conferred upon health officers thereof by state law and local ordinance within such city or county. In any such contract the city, town or chartered city shall have power and authority to provide for the payment by such incorporated city or town or chartered city to the county of such consideration as may be agreed upon, the same to be paid to the county treasurer of the county.

The board of supervisors of any county may contract with any incorporated city or town or chartered city within such county, through its board of trustees, council or other legislative body, to secure the performance by the health officer or other health department employees of such city, town or chartered city, or in any unincorporated territory adjacent thereto, of any or all functions relating to public health. Payment for said services in such unincorporated territory shall be made by the county to the city treasurer of such city or town or chartered city.

Said contracts may further provide for the care and support, including medical attendance, of indigent sick, and for compensation therefor. [New section added May 3, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 152.]

Another section 4225a was adopted at the same session of the legislature. See next section.

§ 4225a. Appointment of public health nurses in counties. The board of supervisors in each county may employ one or more public health nurses, each of whom shall be a registered nurse possessing such qualifications as may at the date of her employment be prescribed by the state board of health. The public health nurse shall attend to such matters pertaining to the health and sanitary conditions of the county as the board of supervisors may, from time to time, assign to her and shall receive such compensation as may be determined by said board. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 180.]

Another section 4225a was adopted at the same session of the legislature. See prior section.

§ 4232. Counties of third class, salaries of officers. Alameda. In counties of the third class the county and township officers shall receive as full compensation for the services required of them by law or by virtue of their office, the following salaries:

1. County clerk. The county clerk, five thousand dollars per annum; provided, that in counties of this class there shall be and there hereby is allowed to the county clerk one chief deputy whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars per annum; one deputy to act as judgment clerk, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of two thousand dollars per annum; one deputy to act as assistant judgment clerk whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum; one deputy to act as assistant clerk of the board of supervisors, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of two thousand dollars per annum; one deputy to act as chief registration clerk, whose salary is hereby fixed at two thousand dollars per annum; one deputy to act as assistant registration clerk whose salary is hereby fixed at one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum; twenty-two deputies, whose salaries are hereby fixed at the sum of one thousand six hundred twenty dollars per annum each; two deputies whose salaries are hereby fixed at the sum of one thousand three hundred twenty dollars per annum each. All the foregoing deputies herein provided for, shall be appointed by the county clerk of said county, and their salaries shall be paid by the county in equal monthly installments at the same time and in the same manner and out of the same fund as is the salary of the county clerk; provided, further, that in such years as the compilation of a great register of voters is required by law to be made the county clerk in counties of this class shall be and he is hereby allowed such additional deputies as he may appoint and whose compensation shall not in the aggregate exceed the sum of twelve thousand dollars for such year; provided, further, that in such years as compilation of the great register of voters is required by law to be made the county clerk in counties of this class may appoint one additional deputy in each voting precinct in the county, who shall be a qualified elector of such precinct, for the purpose of registering electors; such additional deputies shall be paid five cents per name for each elector legally registered by them in the same manner as other county claims are paid; provided, further, that in the event of a special election being held throughout the county the county clerk shall be allowed fifteen additional deputies for a period of one month preceding the day of such election, at a compensation of one hundred dollars per month each; such clerks shall be appointed by the county clerk of such county, and during their respective periods of employment their salaries shall be paid by such county in equal monthly installments, at the same time and in the same manner and out of the same fund as is the salary of the county clerk of such county.

(1) In townships having a population of twenty thousand or more, constables shall each receive a salary of one hundred dollars per month for all services rendered by them in criminal cases. As compensation for all services rendered in civil cases and all other matters wherein they may charge fees for their services, a constable may collect and retain for his own use as his compensation such fees as are now, or may hereafter be allowed by law.

(2) In townships having a population of five thousand and less than twenty thousand, constables shall each receive the sum of seventy-seven dollars and fifty cents per month as salary for all services rendered by them in criminal cases. As compensation for all services rendered by them in civil cases and in all other matters wherein they may charge fees for their services, constables may collect and retain for their own use as compensation such fees as are now or may hereafter be allowed by law.

(3) In townships having a population of four thousand four hundred and less than five thousand, constables shall each receive the sum of seventy-seven dollars and fifty cents per month as salary for all services rendered by them in criminal cases, civil cases and in the performance of all other duties imposed upon them by law. All fees chargeable and collectible in both criminal cases, civil cases, and in all other cases wherein fees are chargeable by constables, shall be collected in advance and paid monthly into the county treasury.

(4) In townships having a population of two thousand five hundred and less than four thousand four hundred, constables shall each receive the sum of sixty dollars per month as a salary for all services rendered by them in both civil and criminal cases. All fees collected by them in civil and criminal cases shall be paid monthly by them into the county treasury. For all other services performed by them, they may charge and retain for their own use such fees as are chargeable at law.

(5) In townships having a population of two thousand two hundred fifty and less than two thousand five hundred, constables shall each receive the sum of sixty dollars per month as salary for all services rendered in both civil and criminal cases. All fees collected by them shall be paid monthly by them into the county treasury.

(6) In townships having a population of one thousand and less than two thousand two hundred fifty, constables shall each receive the sum of forty dollars per month as salary for all services rendered in criminal cases. All fees collected by them in criminal cases shall be paid monthly by them into the county treasury. For all other services performed by them they may charge and collect for their own use such fees as are allowed by law.

(7) In townships having a population of less than one thousand, constables shall each receive the sum of thirty dollars per month as a salary for all services rendered by them in criminal cases. All fees collected by them in criminal cases shall be paid monthly into the county treasury. For all other services performed by them they may charge and collect for their own use such fees as are allowed by law.

Constables shall be allowed all necessary expenses incurred in conveying prisoners.

The population herein referred to in classifying townships for the purpose of regulating the compensation of justices of the peace and constables shall be the population found and determined by the federal census taken in the year 1910; provided, however, that a township census may be taken for the purpose of establishing the official census of such township in the manner hereinafter specified and when so taken, such census shall be known as and shall become the official census of such township in which it is taken and the population therein determined shall be and become the official population of such township. Whenever there shall be presented to the board of supervisors of the county a petition signed by the qualified electors of any township or townships in number equal to twenty-five per cent of the votes cast at the preceding general election, praying that said township or townships may be allowed to take the census of said township or townships for the purpose of ascertaining the population therein contained, the board of supervisors may order such census to be taken by one or more suitable persons appointed therefor by the board of supervisors and such census shall be taken by such persons so appointed, of all of the inhabitants of such township or townships. The full name of each person shall be plainly written, the names alphabetically arranged and regularly numbered in one complete series and when completed, shall be verified by the proper official authorized to administer oaths and be filed with the county clerk and thereupon, the same shall be known and shall be the official census of said township or townships.

17. Supervisors. Each supervisor, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum and mileage of ten cents per mile for each mile actually traveled in going to and from their residence to the county seat or the performance of the duties required of them by law or by virtue of their office; provided, that in attending sessions of the board only four mileages shall be allowed for each month and that the total mileage allowed shall not exceed five hundred dollars in any one calendar year; provided, that nothing in this subdivision shall be deemed to affect the compensation or mileage of any incumbent supervisor, but said incumbent shall be paid such compensation and allowed such mileage as now provided and allowed by law.

18. Jurors. The fees of grand jurors and trial jurors in the superior courts of said counties of the fourth class, in civil and criminal cases shall be three dollars, in lawful money of the United States, for each day's attendance, and mileage to be computed at the rate of fifteen cents per mile for each mile necessarily traveled in attending court, in going only. In criminal cases such fees and mileage of said trial jurors in the superior court shall be paid by the treasurer of the county out of the general fund of said county upon warrants drawn by the county auditor upon the written order of the judge of the court in which said juror was in attendance, and the treasurer of said county shall pay said warrants. The board of supervisors of said county is hereby directed to make suitable appropriation for the payment of the fees herein provided for. [Amendment approved May 27, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 992.]

This section was also amended in 1917. See Stats. 1917, p. 1260.

§ 4233a. Counties of fourth class: fees of jurors. In counties of the fourth class, trial jurors in all criminal cases tried in the superior court and grand jurors shall receive three dollars per day for each day's attendance while engaged in the performance of the duties required of them, and in addition thereto, shall receive for each mile actually traveled, in going only, while acting as such juror, fifteen cents; and the judge of said court shall make an order directing the auditor to draw his warrant on the treasurer in favor of such juror for said per diem and mileage and the treasurer shall pay the same. [New section added April 30, 1919; Stats. 1919, p. 239.]

The district attorney, five thousand dollars per annum; provided, that in counties of this class there shall be, and there is hereby created and allowed to the district attorney, the following assistant, deputies and employees, who shall be appointed by the district attorney of said county, and who shall be paid salaries as follows: One assistant district attorney, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of three thousand six hundred dollars per annum; one chief deputy district attorney, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of two thousand seven hundred dollars per annum; two deputy district attorneys, whose salaries are hereby fixed at the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars each per annum, whose duties it shall be, in addition to performing services as deputy district attorneys, to attend preliminary examinations held in all police and justices' courts in the county and to conduct on behalf of the people all prosecutions for felonies at such preliminary examinations, and, also, to attend and appear before the juvenile court of said county and prosecute proceedings therein; one clerk, who shall be a stenographer, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars per annum; one county detective, who shall perform such duties as may be required of him by the district attorney, or by the ordinances of the board of supervisors of the county, whose salary is hereby fixed at the sum of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum; provided, further, that in addition to the salary herein fixed for said county detective he shall be allowed and paid the actual and necessary expenses incurred by him in the performance of his official duties; provided, further, that the said county detective shall file with the board of supervisors, a verified statement and claim showing in detail the amount paid, and the persons to whom and the purpose for which such payments were made; and provided, further, that in counties of this class the district attorney, in addition to the salary herein fixed, shall be allowed his traveling and other personal expenses incurred in criminal cases arising in the county, and in civil actions and proceedings in which the county is interested, and all other expenses necessarily incurred by him in the investigation and detection of crime and the prosecution of criminal cases and in civil actions and proceedings, and all other matters in which the county is interested, all of which said charges and expenses so incurred by him shall be a legal charge against the county.

10. Coroner. The coroner, such fees as are now or may be hereafter allowed by law; provided, the coroner, or other officer holding an inquest upon the body of a deceased person may subpoena a chemist to make an analysis of the contents of the stomach or tissues of the body, or a physician or surgeon to inspect the body, or hold a post-mortem examination of the deceased, and give a professional opinion as to the cause of death; and shall cause the testimony of all the witnesses at such inquest to be reduced to writing under his direction. The coroner in counties of this class shall be and he is hereby allowed the following assistants, namely, one deputy and one stenographer, which offices are hereby created; said deputy shall have the power and it shall be his duty when directed by the coroner to hold inquests, and all such power conferred by law upon the coroner may be exercised by said deputy, who shall receive a salary of one thousand three hundred twenty dollars per annum; the salary of said stenographer shall be one thousand five hundred dollars per annum, which salary shall be in full for all services rendered by him as such stenographer. Said stenographer shall take down in shorthand the testimony of witnesses at inquests and shall transcribe the same into long-hand and file a verified copy thereof with the county clerk. The salaries of said deputy and stenographer shall be paid by the county in the same manner, at the same time and out of the same fund as other county officers are paid. The said deputy coroner and the said stenographer shall each be appointed by the coroner.

No deputy or employee, other than those above mentioned, shall be allowed the coroner, in counties of the sixth class, nor shall any legal charge for salary accrue against the said county for any other deputy or employee employed or appointed by the coroner or the board of supervisors or any other authority in counties of the sixth class, that are in any manner used or employed to assist the coroner or any of his deputies or employees.

11. Public administrator. The public administrator, such fees as are now or may be hereafter allowed by law.

12. Superintendent of schools. The superintendent of schools, three thousand dollars per annum, and actual traveling expenses when visiting schools of the county, not exceeding five hundred dollars per annum; and the said superintendent of schools may appoint one assistant superintendent of schools, which office of assistant superintendent of schools is hereby created, who shall receive as compensation, the sum of one thousand one hundred dollars per annum, and the said superintendent of schools may appoint one deputy superintendent of schools, which office is hereby created, who shall receive as compensation the sum of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum, the salary of said assistant superintendent of schools and deputy superintendent of schools is payable at the same time and in the same manner as the salary of other county officers are paid. Each member of the board of education of the county shall receive five dollars per day as compensation for his services when in actual attendance upon said board, and mileage at the rate of twenty cents per mile, one way only, from his residence to the place of meeting of said board. The secretary of said board of education of said county shall receive five dollars per day for his services for the actual time that the board may be in session. The compensation of the members of the said board and of said secretary shall be paid out of the same fund as the salary of the superintendent of schools. Claims of such services and mileage shall be presented to the board of supervisors and shall be allowed at the rate above named and in the same manner as other claims against the county are allowed. The compensation of members of the county board of education of this county hereby provided is not in addition to that provided in section one thousand seven hundred seventy of this code.

No deputy or employee, other than those above mentioned, shall be allowed the superintendent of schools, in counties of the sixth class, nor shall any legal charge for salary accrue against the said county for any other deputy or employee employed or appointed by the superintendent of schools or the board of supervisors or any other authority in counties of the sixth class, that are in any manner used or employed to assist the superintendent of schools or any of his deputies or employees.

13. Surveyor. The surveyor, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum and in addition thereto all necessary expenses for work performed in the office and all necessary expenses and transportation for work performed in the field; provided, that in counties of this class whenever the board of supervisors shall order or the assessor may require assessor's map or block-books, then the surveyor shall receive, in addition to the salary above noted, the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars additional expenses required for the preparation and completion of said maps or block-books.

14. Justices of peace. In counties of the sixth class, justices of the peace shall be compensated as follows, and all salaries shall be payable monthly in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are payable, viz.:

(1) In townships having a population of twenty-five thousand or more, justices of the peace shall each receive a salary of three hundred dollars per month as full compensation for all services rendered by them in both criminal cases and in civil cases and in all cases wherein justices of the peace perform the duties of coroner. All fees chargeable and collectible by justices of the peace in criminal and civil cases for services rendered by them shall be collected by them and by them paid monthly into the county treasury; provided, however, that in all such townships having a population of twenty-five thousand or more, there shall be one clerk to be appointed by the justices of the peace, such clerk to receive a salary of one hundred fifteen dollars per month, payable monthly in the same manner as salaries of county officers are paid.

(2) In townships having a population of five thousand and less than twenty-five thousand, justices of the peace shall receive the sum of one hundred forty dollars per month as full compensation for all services rendered by them in both criminal cases and civil cases and in all cases wherein justices of the peace perform the duties of coroner. All fees chargeable and collectible by justices of the peace in criminal cases and in civil cases for services rendered by them shall be collected by them and by them paid monthly into the county treasury.

(3) In townships having a population of three thousand and less than five thousand, justices of the peace shall each receive the sum of one hundred twenty-five dollars as full compensation for all services rendered by them in both criminal cases and civil cases and in all cases wherein the justices of the peace perform the duties of coroner. tional assistants as may be required to promptly perform the work required to be done therein. Such assistants shall receive a salary of three dollars each, for each day that they are actually and necessarily employed, and such salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the county upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors; provided, however, that the total amount to be paid such assistants shall not exceed three hundred dollars in any one year.

5. Treasurer. The county treasurer, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum, and one deputy at one thousand five hundred dollars per annum.

6. Tax collector. The tax collector, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum, and one deputy at one thousand five hundred dollars per annum. The tax collector shall also have for use in his office, and under his supervision and control, one stenographer, and said stenographer shall receive a salary of seventy-five dollars per month, to be paid in the same manner and out of the same fund as the salaries of county officers are paid. The said position of stenographer shall be filled by the tax collector in the same manner as deputies are appointed by him. The tax collector shall also have ten clerks at seventy-five dollars per month each for not to exceed two months during each and every year. In addition to said deputy and said clerks, the tax collector shall have the right to employ from time to time in his office, such additional assistants as may be required to promptly perform the work required to be done therein. Such assistants shall receive a salary of three dollars each, for each day that they are actually and necessarily employed and such salary shall be paid out of the general fund of the county upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors; provided, however, that the total amount to be paid such assistants shall not exceed three hundred dollars in any one year.

7. Assessor. The county assessor, two thousand four hundred dollars per annum, a chief deputy at one thousand five hundred dollars per annum, and fifteen field deputies for the months of March, April, May and June of each year, each of which field deputies shall receive a salary of five dollars per day for each day actually employed in the performance of his duties. He shall also have two clerks for the months of January, February, March, April, May and June of each year at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month each, and one index clerk for the months of January, February, March, April, May and June of each year at a salary of seventy-five dollars per month. He shall also have for use in his office, and under his supervision and control, a draftsman, which office of draftsman is hereby by the terms of this act expressly created. It shall be the duty of said draftsman to prepare, under the supervision of the assessor for use in said office, proper books, blanks and plat-books. Said position of draftsman shall be filled by the assessor in the same manner as deputies are appointed by him, and said draftsman shall receive a salary of one thousand five hundred dollars per annum, to be paid in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

8. District attorney. The district attorney, three thousand dollars per annum. He shall have one deputy at a salary of two thousand four hundred dollars per annum, and one deputy at a salary of two thousand one hundred dollars per annum; and he shall also have for use in his office, and under his supervision and control, a stenographer, which office of stenographer is hereby by the terms of this act, expressly created. said position of stenographer shall be filled by the district attorney in the same manner as deputies are appointed by him, and said stenographer shall receive a salary of one hundred dollars per month, to be paid in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

9. Coroner. The coroner, such fees as are now, or may be hereafter allowed by law.

10. Public administrator. The public administrator, such fees as are now, or may be hereafter allowed by law.

11. Superintendent of schools. The superintendent of schools, for his services, including his duties with and on the county board of education, two thousand five hundred dollars per annum, and actual traveling expenses when visiting schools of his county. He shall have a first deputy at a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum and a second deputy at a salary of one thousand two hundred dollars per annum, said first deputy to be a qualified teacher capable of doing either field or office work.

12. Surveyor. The county surveyor shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum, and he shall be allowed one deputy at a salary of one thousand five hundred dollars per annum. The county surveyor shall be allowed all necessary traveling and field expenses of himself and chainmen or other help in the field. In addition, the county surveyor shall be allowed to employ all necessary inspectors and field or office help; provided, however, that before employing such inspectors or field or office help, the surveyor shall first obtain the consent of the board of supervisors to such employment. The salaries and expenses of such inspectors or field or office help shall be paid out of the county general fund upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors. In any county of this class where bonds have been or shall hereafter be issued under the provisions of section four thousand eighty-eight of the Political Code for the construction of roads, bridges or highways, the board of supervisors may at any time during the planning, laying out or construction of such roads, bridges or highways, employ all necessary inspectors and field or office help to assist the surveyor in planning, laying out or constructing such roads, bridges and highways. All inspectors and field or office help so employed by the board of supervisors shall work under the supervision of the surveyor, and board of supervisors, and shall not be employed longer than is necessary to actually complete the roads, bridges or highways constructed with funds created by such bond issue. The salaries of all persons so employed by the board of supervisors as such inspectors or field or office help, shall be as prescribed by the said board, and all such salaries, together with the field expenses of all such inspectors or field or office help, shall be paid out of the fund created by such issue of bonds upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors.

15. Statements of constables and justices. It shall be the duty of each and every constable and justice of the peace to file on or before the first Monday of each and every month, a full and complete statement, showing all business, both civil and criminal, done during the preceding month, with the board of supervisors, and he shall file the same on or before said date above mentioned, with the clerk of said board. The statement of the constable shall contain a full and correct account of all process served in both civil and criminal actions, also in criminal cases the places where defendants were arrested, together with the mileage. And justices of the peace shall file a full and correct statement of all civil and criminal actions and fees received therefrom. Said statements to be sworn to either before the county clerk or some officer allowed by law to administer oaths.

stenographer is hereby by the terms of this act, expressly created. said position of stenographer shall be filled by the district attorney in the same manner as deputies are appointed by him, and said stenographer shall receive a salary of one hundred dollars per month, paid in the same manner as the salaries of county officers are paid.

9. Coroner. The coroner, such fees as are now, or may be hereafter allowed by law.

10. Public administrator. The public administrator, such fees as are now, or may be hereafter allowed by law.

11. Superintendent of schools. The superintendent of schools, for his services, including his duties with and on the county board of education, shall receive two thousand five hundred dollars per annum, and actual traveling expenses when visiting schools of his county. He shall have a first deputy at a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars per annum and a second deputy at a salary of one thousand two hundred dollars per annum, said first deputy to be a qualified teacher capable of doing field or office work.

12. Surveyor. The county surveyor shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum, and he shall be allowed one deputy at a salary of one thousand five hundred dollars per annum. The county surveyor shall be allowed all necessary traveling and field expenses of self and chainmen or other help in the field. In addition, the county surveyor shall be allowed to employ all necessary inspectors and field or office help; provided, however, that before employing such inspectors or field or office help, the surveyor shall first obtain the consent of the board of supervisors to such employment. The salaries and expenses of such inspectors or field or office help shall be paid out of the county general fund upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors. In any county of this class where bonds have been or shall hereafter be issued under the provisions of section four thousand eighty-eight of the Political Code for the construction of roads, bridges or highways, the board of supervisors may at any time during the planning, laying out or construction of such roads, bridges or highways, employ all necessary inspectors and field or office help to assist the surveyor in planning, laying out or constructing such roads, bridges and highways. All such inspectors and field or office help so employed by the board of supervisors shall work under the supervision of the surveyor, and board of supervisors, and shall not be employed longer than is necessary to complete the roads, bridges or highways constructed with funds created by such bond issue. The salaries of all persons so employed by the board of supervisors as such inspectors or field or office help, shall be as prescribed by the said board, and all such salaries, together with the field expenses of all such inspectors or field or office help, shall be paid out of the fund created by such issue of bonds upon proper claims presented therefor to the board of supervisors.

13. Justices of peace. Justices of the peace shall receive the following monthly salaries to be paid each month as salaries of county officers are paid, which shall be in full compensation for all services rendered as hereinafter provided: In townships having a population of three thousand or more, one hundred dollars per month. In townships having a population of not less than two thousand and under three thousand, fifty dollars per month. In townships having a population of not less than one thousand and under two thousand, forty dollars per month.
